KEMPSTON, BEDS

Through the generosity of Mr. P. Inskip, 35 ringers and friends of Kempston belfry had an enjoyable meeting into Oxfordshire on July 26th. Ringing took place at Wheatley, Cowley, Iffley and Warborough, the arrangements being admirably made by Mr. G. Hutchings. Mr. Holloway was of assistance in directing the coach on part of the journey. When the coach was halted about midnight at Houghton Conquest a vote of thanks to Mr. Inskip was proposed by Mr. H. L. Stevens and carried unanimously. Incumbents and tower-keepers, not forgetting Mr. Absolam, of Warborough, are thanked.

A pleasing ceremony took place in the Kempston belfry on August 10th, when Mr. R. Freeman, on behalf of the ringers, presented Mr. P. Inskip with a barometer in recognition of his leadership and also as a birthday present.

STRATTON, CORNWALL

Ringers from Stratton, in Cornwall, and visitors from Kent, Essex and Somerset, held a summer outing on August Bank Holiday Monday.

Ringing began in the morning at St. Stephen-by-Launceston (8), St. Thomas', Launceston (6) and St. Mary's, Launceston (8), and then, after a short run, St. Mary's, Lifton (8), where we enjoyed a Cornish meal of 'parsties,' sauce and beer at the Arundel Arms.

Then on to St. Briochus', Lezant (6), in the afternoon. A good tea was enjoyed in Launceston and ringing continued at Werrington (8), North Petherwin (6) and Tamerton (6).

Methods rung were Grandsire, Plain Bob, Stedman and Kent. Many thanks are due to Mr. Harry Stacey and all friends from Stratton, who made this such a memorable day of our holiday. M. A. L.

OUTINGS

HASLEMERE, SURREY

On August Bank Holiday, a party consisting of ringers from St. Bartholomew's Church, Haslemere, and friends from one or two local towers, set off for the annual outing. Reading was reached at 10 a.m., and ringing took place on the eight at St. Giles' Church (15 cwt.). In the absence of the local ringers the party was welcomed by the Vicar, and it was some while before ringing could commence owing to attempts to disengage a clock hammer, which turned out to be a trap-door! Moving on to Thatcham, an hour was spent on the eight at St. Mary's (13 cwt.) before continuing to Newbury for lunch, with a break of just over an hour, in time to see the commencement of a British Legion carnival.

Then followed the long drive to Hursley, with ringing on the eight (13 cwt.). Whilst for most of the party this was one more new tower, for some it was a return visit from a previous outing made some six years ago. After tea at Hursley, the party moved on to Romsey, where ringing took place at the magnificent old Benedictine Abbey. The eight bells (24 cwt.) were declared without question the best of the day, and a most enjoyable hour was spent there before setting out home for Haslemere, which was reached by 11 p.m.

Mr. A. V. Queen made all arrangements for the very enjoyable trip, and Mr. F. Bowden was Ringing Master. Methods rung included Stedman and Grandsire Triples, Plain Bob and Kent Treble Bob Major, and Cambridge Minor.

AYLESTONE, LEICESTERSHIRE

On Saturday, July 12th, ringers from St. Andrew's, Aylestone, together with friends from neighbouring churches, visited several towers in Derbyshire.

The Dawn Chorus (so the itinerary stated) was to be at Overseale, where Mr. J. W. Cotton (secretary of the Midland Counties Guild) had given permission to ring from 8.30—9 a.m. On these light Taylor bells a good touch of Stedman started the day. The next call was at Ashbourne. Here some difficulty was experienced as the bells are rung from the centre of the church and the ropes are very long.

At Brassington a very good ring of six with a tenor of eight cwt. was discovered. These bells are a delight to ring and are well worth a visit. Ringing at Matlock was delayed owing to a wedding but eventually an excellent course of Cambridge was rung. Lunch was taken here and some misunderstanding arose with the result that three members of the party were left waiting for the bus in the pouring rain for 20 minutes.

The tit-bit of the day, especially put in for those of the Monday band, was the light six at Wormhill. Naturally some trouble was experienced but some members of the party found that the bells could be rung.

Belper was the next tower and on this handy eight some spliced Major was attempted.

The last tower of the day was St. Andrew's, Derby, the only 10-bell tower in the programme. Here we were pleased to meet and welcome Mr. George Freebrey, who never seems to lose any of his enthusiasm despite his age. Ringing here consisted of Grandsire Caters and Kent Treble Bob Royal. Thanks are due to Mr. Russell S. Morris (Ringing Master at Aylestone) for his work in arranging such a varied and enjoyable outing. J.

BELFRY GOSSIP

Five members of the Bedfordshire Association 'took to the water' at St. Neots Regatta on August 2nd and entered a crew in the Maiden Fours event. They lost to the City of Cambridge Boat Club. The crew was Roger A. Lennard cox, Roy A. Ward stroke, Peter J. Shipton 3, John B. Long 2, Bryan Pattison bow. All except Roy Ward are members of the St. Paul's, Bedford, band, and someone in the boat was heard to say at the end of the race that at least City of Cambridge B.C. couldn't ring Grandsire Doubles.

Ringers from Warmley, Glos, spent their holiday this year in Cornwall. They 'grabbed' many new towers and rang a quarter peal at St. Martin-by-Looe. Thanks are accorded to everyone who helped in an enjoyable holiday.

For the peal of Superlative Surprise at Barnard Castle, Co. Durham, Mr. Robin Leale and Mr. Fred Scott travelled up from Stamford in pouring rain on a motor-cycle during the morning. They had at least some good ringing to recompense them.

The band who took part in the peal of Minor at Tilney All Saints, Norfolk, wish to thank Miss Elizabeth Loveland, of Woking, Surrey, who was on holiday at King's Lynn, for standing in at the last minute, and congratulate her on the efficient way in which she rang the treble in her first peal.

Recently appointed as Registrar in Chester, Mr. R. C. H. Sibley, formerly of Northampton, was accorded a hearty welcome when he accepted an invitation to attend a meeting of the Chester Branch at St. Mary's-within-the-Walls. News of his appointment was contained in a peal footnote, and the moral, writes our correspondent, is: 'There is something in every feature of 'The Ringing World'—even footnotes.'

Aldrington, Sussex, band has lost its joint captains. Messrs. Harry and Stan Brown, who have held office since 1950, during which time 150 quarter peals have been rung on the bells. The twins moved to Hurstpierpoint after their respective weddings on August 2nd.

Mr. T. E. G. Taylor, of Gravesend, writes thanking the members of the Irish Association for the enjoyable ringing he had while visiting Bangor. He had a very warm welcome at Bangor, Holywood, Dundela and St. Thomas', Belfast, towers.

On July 31st a band from St. Thomas', Belfast, travelled to Bangor for a quarter peal attempt of Grandsire Triples in honour of the elevation of Canon A. A. Buchanan, Rector of Bangor, to the Bishopric of Clogher. Unfortunately the attempt came to grief after 35 minutes.

Mr. Brian Russell, organist at Norton Cannon, Lemura, Kenya, has sent a request to Canon O. R. Yerburgh, Vicar of Steeple Ashton, Wilts, that he would like to hear the bells of his youth again, preceding the services held in his district, followed by the chiming of the sanctus bell for about five minutes. Steeple Ashton's local band have made such a recording and sent it to him by air.

A peal attempt at Llangibby, Mon, in honour of the new Prince of Wales was brought to an abrupt end. 'Mine host' from across the road suddenly burst into the ground floor ringing chamber and inquired ''Ow you getting on in 'ere?' After it was explained to him just what he had done a very regretful landlord went back to his bar. The ringers returned to the tower, where a quarter peal was successfully brought round.

HANDBELL RINGING IN THE NORTH OF ENGLAND

Random Reminiscences of Thomas Ogden

THE series of articles on 'Music in Bell Ringing' by Mr. Chant and Mr. Painter, together with the correspondence arising therefrom, must, I feel sure, have been of great interest to a large number of ringers.

An old saying, which is nevertheless quite true to-day, is that 'Beauty lies in the eyes of the beholder,' and it is equally true to say that 'Music lies in the ear of the listener.' In proof of this, my dictionary defines the word 'music' as: 'Any succession of sound, so modulated as to please the ear,' and, of course, every individual has his or her own ideas as to what is pleasing to the ear and what is not.

For instance, over the past two years the younger members of my family have gone to considerable trouble and no little expense to amass a collection of gramophone records, the majority of which I can only describe as being of the 'Pop' variety. The youngsters and their friends obviously derive much pleasure from listening to this kind of 'music,' but, to say the least, their mother and I much prefer them to play it when we are out. Personally, I would scrap the lot of these 'Pop' records for a good recording of Stedman Triples or Kent Major rung by a competent band on, say, the bells of St. Thomas' Church, Moorside.

DOUGHTY STRIKERS OF FRIEZLAND

One of my most treasured recordings is one made by that band of doughty strikers at Christ Church, Friezland, in Yorkshire. On one side of this record is a touch of Oxford Minor, while on the other is a plain course of Merchant's Return, both practically faultless. And I can listen to this kind of bell music for a long, long time before tiring of it, but it has little or no appeal to the other members of my family or to my non-ringing friends, most of whom I find get bored and can see nothing of interest in change ringing, however good, after three or four minutes of listening to it.

On the other hand, many of my acquaintances with a musical ear will listen entranced for perhaps an hour or longer to my recordings of tune ringing on handbells, the work of two of the most competent bands of tune ringers in the north of England at the present time.

Two or three summers ago I attended a six-bell ringers' contest at a West Riding tower, my object being not to take part in the contest but just to listen to the ringing. My friend, Mr. Harry Nutt, of Friezland, happened to be the judge on this occasion, and when the contest was over I remarked to him how much I had enjoyed the 'music.' 'Yes, Tom,' he replied, 'but your kind of bell music (meaning tune ringing on handbells) is what the general public appreciate the most,' and this is undoubtedly true, as witness the fact that people will actually pay to attend concerts at which leading bands of tune ringers are the principal artistes.

During the course of my journeyings around the north of England over the past few years I have been made most welcome at many of the towers I have visited on practice nights, and I have also made many good friends of whose kindness I cannot speak too highly, and to whom I look forward to meeting again from time to time as my journeys come round.

About 60 years ago and up to the 1914-18 war, handbell tune ringing in the north of England was probably in its heyday, but the 'Kaiser's War' caused the dispersal of many a band whose bells have since laid silent and forgotten, or have, perhaps, been sold in odd sixes or eights, or even for scrap. Page 176 of 'The Ringing World of March 14th, 1958, contains news of the piecemeal sale of handbells of the once famous Horbury Handbell Ringers, who made two successful tours of North America and who once won the National Handbell Ringing Contest. There were nearly 70 bells in this set (presumably 5½ chromatic octaves) and it is stated that the bells fetched a total of more than £30! I wonder if the people responsible for the dispersal and sale of this set realise that they could have obtained much more than £30 for the set if offered complete, and that breaking up a set of this description is akin to breaking up an organ and selling the parts piecemeal, simply because they have no one to produce music from it!

KEEPING THE ART ALIVE

However, the north of England still has a hard core of handbell tune ringers who have kept the art alive and who are making progress with it, and all honour to their efforts, too. I do not know of them all, but those with whom I have come into contact I should like to briefly mention.

In Cumberland we have Mr. Joe Brownrigg with his band at Crosthwaite, Keswick. They have 36 bells (I think) and have an extensive repertoire of musical items, old and new, and have broadcast very frequently of recent years, usually in a 'Country Dancing' or 'Cumberland Merry Neet' programme. By the way, they have a method of notation all of their own, devised, I suspect, by Mrs. Brownrigg, who seems to be able to arrange any tune for them at a few minutes' notice. All the other bands I know ring from staff notation, suitably abridged for each individual ringer, of which more later on.

Also, at the very southern extremity of Cumberland, at Millom, we have Mr. and Mrs. Overfield with the Millom Handbell Ringers. They have not a large set of bells and are only just beginning tune ringing, but I think they will persevere and make progress as time goes on, and we shall hear more of them, I do not doubt.

Over in North Lancashire on the edge of the bonny Lake District, we have the Silverdale Band, whose leader, Mr. Tom Bolton, has a team second to none, and whose efforts in the face of great drawbacks deserve the highest praise. The Silverdale ringers have broadcast more than once, and in fact 'Their sound has gone out into all the world,' for they took part in an overseas broadcast at Christmas, 1957, and why this was not broadcast in the Home Service I cannot imagine. Certainly it would be an improvement on some of the so-called 'music' that comes over the radio at times.

YORKSHIRE BANDS

In Yorkshire, at Skipton, we have Mr. Joe Wiseman and his band of Yorkshire lasses. I was sorry to hear last week that Cupid has made havoc with his band of ringers recently, which will surprise no one who knows them. This happens, however, in the best of ringing bands and new recruits have to be trained to fill the gaps, as every leader knows. The Skipton ringers have about 48 bells and a good selection of music including hymn and carol tunes in their scores.

In South Yorkshire my friend Norman Chaddock is well known for his band of teenage ringers, most of whom can perform equally well on the bells of Rotherham Parish Church or on his set of 48 handbells, and I have to thank Mr. Chaddock for his help in lending me musical scores to copy out from time to time.

Yorkshire has also a first-class band of tune ringers at Saddleworth, to whom I have listened more than once. The Saddleworth Handbell Ringers won the first prize at the Belle Vue (Manchester) annual contest in 1914, again in 1921, and in the final contest in 1925, the last one to be held, and the present band are certainly one of the best in the north of England.

Todmorden, also in Yorkshire, had quite a promising band up to about 12 months ago, but owing to the call-up for National Service of one member and another leaving the district, they have not practised since. Mr. Colin Ashworth tells me that when the wanderer returns from doing his National Service duties they hope to commence activities again, and I hope it will not be long before they do.

HIS IDEA OF HEAVEN

Over the Mersey, in Cheshire, are the well-known Norbury Handbell Ringers, whose late leader, Mr. Fernley, passed away so tragically some months ago. The Norbury band have 14 ringers and a fine set of about 160 handbells, probably six octaves, with many duplicate and some triplicate bells. They have a splendid repertoire of music, mostly arrangements by their late leader, and I well remember the remark made by a prominent ringer whom I once took to listen to them practising. After listening quietly to two or three of their tune arrangements, he lit his pipe and turning to me said: 'This is my idea of heaven, Tom,' and I certainly agreed with him.

Over in the Fylde district, Mr. Jim Wilson at Singleton is the leader of the Singleton Handbell Ringers. They have about 36 bells and mostly confine their activities to the Christmas and New Year period, when they usually have quite an enjoyable and profitable time touring their extensive parish ringing seasonable tunes and carols.

Finally I must mention the band of which I am a member, the Moorside Handbell Ringers (Oldham). We have 11 ringers and 74 bells at Moorside, a range of 4½ chromatic octaves with 18 duplicates.

My father, who was born in the village, remembered that there was an active band of tune ringers at Moorside as far back as 1884, for he remembered listening to them practising in a little cottage which he had to pass on his way home from church on Sunday mornings. He would then be about 10 years old. Later on, when about 19 years of age, he joined the band of tower ringers at St. Thomas' Parish Church, Moorside, afterwards joining, along with John, his younger brother, the band of handbell ringers.

Some of the copies that we ring from at the present day are dated as far back as 1883, and we have a few that were arranged by my father and his brother early in the present century. They still bring pleasure and enjoyment to our audiences and ourselves, just as much as when they were first notated. I should like here to pay tribute to our leader, Mr. Ivan Kay, without whose enthusiasm and knowledge the band would probably not have re-formed after the second war period. In October, 1953, he asked me to join them, and since then he has built up an excellent band of tune ringers who have made quite a name for themselves in Oldham and district.

These ten bands comprise all the handbell ringing bands in the north of England at the present that I know of. There are many, far too many, sets of handbells lying silent all over the North Country, and there will also be those places with perhaps an enthusiastic band who are only known of in their own immediate vicinity, and to these I would say, if you are interested enough, drop a line to 'The Ringing World': let others know of your activities. You may be able to help a struggling band, or others may be able to help you. Who knows? Why not try it?

AUGUST BANK HOLIDAY WEEK-END IN TWO COUNTIES

A VERY successful and happy week-end in Berkshire and Hampshire, arranged by Mr. Geoffrey K. Dodd, of Highclere, was enjoyed by nine ringers from various parts of the country. H.Q. was at the Queen's Hotel, Newbury.

A start was made on the Saturday morning at Wantage for Yorkshire, but after over two hours of good ringing the conductor, sad to relate, put in a bob at 'Home,' when no call was needed. (He said it must be due to old age!) The bells are a very good ring, of mixed vintage, with a tenor of 22 cwt.

After lunch we made our way in our hired 'Dormobile' to the famous bells at Appleton (10, 14½ cwt.). We were met by Mr. F. White, who kindly had everything ready for us, and, with the assistance of Malcolm Cloke, rang a very fast peal of Bob Royal. Maybe it was a little too fast, but these bells take some holding back! Mrs. Daphne Cloke kindly stood out to enable Miss Mary Hall, of Bristol, to score her first peal of Royal, and very well she rang, too. After the peal we had the pleasure of meeting Mr. Fred White, who rang the tenor in the record peal of Stedman Caters in 1922.

Sunday morning saw us at Highclere (8, 11 cwt.) to join Geoff Dodd at his local tower, and ring for the visit of H.R.H. The Duke of Edinburgh, who was taking part in a cricket match in the afternoon, and, attending morning service first, Prince Philip noticed us standing by the belfry door, and remarked to his escort, Lord Caernarvon, 'Is that the choir?' Lunch was taken at Winchester, and at 2.15 p.m. we were joined by Reginald Reed and Christopher Kippin for a well-struck peal of Kent Royal at North Stoneham (10, 10½ cwt.). We returned to Newbury and found Ralph Edwards awaiting us with the glad news that Mrs. Edwards was making a good recovery from her recent accident. He had come down to join us for one night, having rung a peal at Bradford, Yorks, on the Saturday.

The first tower for Monday was Harwell (8, 16½ cwt.) and we were met by Mr. David Jordan. The peal of Yorkshire sounded well on this good Taylor ring, and Ralph Edwards enjoyed his listen, sitting in the churchyard.

We went on to Abingdon to try to find some lunch, and instead found Brian Blaydon and some friends from Swindon area waiting to have a ring at St. Nicholas'. We joined his party for a ring here, found some lunch and arrived at the famous church of Drayton (8, 9½ cwt.). Ralph was particularly pleased to ring here, and to examine the mass of peal boards from 1880 to 1889. The bells are a very fast-moving ring, and our peal of Cambridge in 2 hours and 29 minutes may have been the fastest Major on the bells. A peal of Stedman Triples was rung here in 1888 in 2 hours and 27 minutes, conducted by J. W. Washbrook (see 'Among the Bells,' page 84) from the tenor.

Leaving Drayton and its memories of the Rev. F. E. Robinson and J. W. W., we again joined Brian Blaydon and his friends at Appleford (6, 8 cwt.) and North Moreton (5, 13 cwt., a minor five). We are looking forward to another week-end next August.

GUILD of DEVONSHIRE RINGERS

Aylesbeare Branch

At the last quarterly meeting it was considered doubtful whether the monthly practice meetings were worth continuing. It was decided, however, to try, and the meetings are now being held on the last Saturday of each month. To simplify matters, towers are taken in alphabetical order. At the first, in June, at Clyst St. George, about 25 turned up, while the second, at East Budleigh, attracted some 32. We are hoping for even more at Honiton Clyst on August 30th at 7 p.m. After that we take Littleham, Lympstone, Sowton, Topsham, Withycombe and Woodbury, each in turn.

This is the season of visitors, and at East Budleigh we have been very fortunate lately with help from almost every part of the country. We suffered a severe blow some time ago when Sid Skinner left the village to work at Exton but we are consoled by the fact that he is not far away, in fact he often comes over to help with the very young band which we are now struggling with. Chris Bloomer has been with us now for a week and we look forward to another week of his help. We were ringing for a wedding on August 9th and had barely got the bells up when who should walk in but Malcolm and Daphne Cloke, welcome visitors in any tower, so a couple of quarters were quickly arranged for the evening, and both were successful. The 'happy couple' are staying at the King's Arms, and as we write we look forward to a pleasant week.

Coming events give us something to look forward to. We have the practice meeting at Honiton Clyst on the 30th, the quarterly meeting at East Budleigh on September 6th (Budleigh Salterton Carnival Day), when tea will be provided in the Village Hall by the ladies, and on Friday, September 26th, the Society of Friends of the Exercise assemble at the King's Arms for a weekend tour of some of the more obscure sixes over Dartmoor. Pete Anger and Stella are coming next week and Brian Bladon and Lesley will be with us on September 24th, in plenty of time for the Dartmoor 'do.' To all our friends in England, Wales, Canada, Australia and America we send our sincere greetings and we hope to see you all in turn, and soon.

The 100th peal on the bells of St. Helen's, Darley Dale, was rung on August 3rd.

The first peal was rung on September 12th, 1903, and was conducted by the late Walter Wallace, of Derby. Two local ringers took part—Taylor (treble) and Hugh Gregory (tenor)—and these were the first local ringers to ring a peal. Both peals were Grandsire Triples and the composition on each occasion was Parker's Twelve-part (seventh observation).

The 100 peals include 60 Triples in seven methods, one Doubles and 39 Major (seven in Surprise methods). Up to 1922 55 peals had been rung; then occurred a break to 1931 when a new band was formed under Mr. George H. Paulson. Of the 100 peals, only two have not contained a local ringer.

OBITUARY

MR. E. J. BUTLER

With the passing of Mr. Ernest J. Butler, of Colchester, the Essex Association has lost one of its life vice-presidents and one of its most loyal supporters.

The funeral service was held at St. Peter's, North Hill, Colchester, where the bells were rung half-muffled as the cortege approached the church.

The service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. H. T. Hollingdale), who, in a personal tribute to Mr. Butler, referred to the loss which the Exercise in general and Colchester in particular had sustained. The ringers present and the messages of sympathy which had been received from those unable to attend the service, he said, were proof of the affection with which he was held. His constancy and punctuality—always there first with a cheerful smile and kindly word of welcome— was how they would remember him. May he rest in peace.

For many years Ernest Butler lived in Chadwell Heath and was a member of the Romford band, contemporary with the brothers Pye and Jack Watson. For some years before the first world war he was Master of the South Western Division of the Association. After the war both he and Mr. Watson used regularly to attend the practices at churches as far apart as Brentwood and Leytonstone, helping to teach Sunday service ringers.

In 1925 he became secretary of the enlarged South Western Division, and by his efforts over the next 13 years until his retirement was largely responsible for the success of this Division. He accepted the office of auditor during the second world war and served until 1948, and had been one of the Association's Central Council representatives for many years. In 1948 he was elected a life vice-president.

After his retirement he went to live at Colchester, becoming a regular ringer at St. Peter's Church. Right up to the end of his life the officers of the Association were able to call upon his wisdom and long experience for help and advice in carrying on the work he had so much at heart.

He had rung numerous peals in many methods, but perhaps the one of which he was most proud was the 22-method peal of Spliced Surprise Minor at Chigwell Row on March 24th, 1928. The band who rang this peal were the real pioneers of Spliced Surprise Minor in Essex.

Epsom and Ewell's 21st Birthday

On September 29th the Borough of Epsom and Ewell celebrates the 21st anniversary of its Incorporation. At the suggestion of the Surrey Association and with the co-operation of the incumbents, the official celebrations will include a peal attempt at each of the three towers within the Borough. It is understood that the Mayor has invited the ringers to join him in refreshments after the attempts.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

DEVON GUILD AND REPRESENTATION

Dear Sir,—I am quite sure that the majority of ringers in Devon will heartily endorse Mr. Bartlett's remarks (page 515), and that nothing would give members of the Devon Guild greater pleasure than to see the Devon Association represented on the Central Council. Thank goodness the rift between the two, as we knew it many years ago, is now gone, and for the Central Council to refuse them representation is a blot on the Exercise generally.

I am tempted to quote the case of 'the ninety and nine,' but who is to judge in this instance which has strayed?

Visitors to Devon will, I am sure, agree that the welcome one receives at Association towers is something of an experience, and it would seem that the only people who are 'in the wilderness' are the Central Council.

It is time something was done about this.—Yours faithfully,

C. SAVAGE.

East Budleigh, Devon.

Dear Sir,—It was with great interest that I read Mr. Bartlett's letter, and with one exception I am fully in accord with him and the thoughts which seem to have inspired it.

To deal with the exception first: the 'fence' does not exist, and Mr. Bartlett himself almost removed it from his own thoughts when he later described it as metaphorical.

I think I am right when I say nearly all ringing Guilds and Associations practise call-changes before 'progressing' on to scientific.

Now regarding the B.B.C. list of good striking towers, it would seem that as the answer to the enquiry was 'No,' then the West Country has been virtually eliminated from such a list. Perhaps the Central Council could arrange to have this list published. It would make interesting reading and act as an incentive for other bands to qualify for inclusion in subsequent reviews of the list. If the Council should at any time show sufficient interest, I will send the names of a dozen call-change bands in South Devon alone who will hold their own with the best scientific bands in the country in the matter of good striking.

And now to representation on the Central Council. I hope I am wrong in my interpretation of this, but it seems that the secretary of the Central Council speaks for the Guild of Devonshire Ringers in this matter, and as a member of that Guild I would take strong exception to anyone outside our Guild speaking for us. Could I suggest to Mr. Bartlett that he applies on behalf of the South Devon Ringers' Association for affiliation to the Central Council of Church Bell Ringers?

I do not think the Central Council could turn it down, but I do know that many of us 'scientifics' would welcome and support the affiliation.

In the next paragraph of Mr. Bartlett's letter delete the word 'surely.' It then reads 'The purpose and overruling consideration is for the glory of God and the service of His Church.' This is a positive statement and no one can gainsay it.—Yours faithfully,

WILLIAM SIMMONDS,
Call-changer and Scientific.

Torquay.

'WOULD BE WELCOMED'

Dear Sir,—The letter printed on page 515 from my friend Mr. B. E. Bartlett refers to a communication he has received from the secretary of the Central Council which appears to be based on a misunderstanding. My general feelings are that the Guild of Devonshire Ringers would welcome the representation of the call-change Associations on the Central Council, if this were possible.

Although I have only been resident here for eight years, a perusal of the Guild minute book confirms the impression that the call-change ringers are much respected, and at the last annual meeting of the Guild on Whit Monday a contribution was voted towards a competition shield which was being provided by the South Devon Ringers' Association as a memorial to the late Mr. Middleton, of Dartmouth, a friend of both kinds of ringers. Incidentally, it was gratifying that a Guild band took part in the first competition for the shield.

As regards Sunday service ringing, it appears that we change-ringers have much to learn from the call-change ringers, especially as regards raising and falling in peal. No doubt the committee appointed by the Central Council to report on Sunday service ringing will benefit from the knowledge of call-change ringers possessed by one of our representatives, the Rev. J. G. M. Scott, and we are glad that he was chosen to be on this committee.—Yours, etc.,

E. M. ATKINS, General Secretary,
The Guild of Devonshire Ringers.

FIGURES IN COMPOSITIONS

Dear Sir,—Mr. Sedgley seems to feel quite strongly on the position of figures in compositions, wishing to repeat his plea that the figures should come last. It is really a matter for individual composers, for although the resolution in 1946 was lost, several composers put the figures in the way Mr. Sedgley advocates. A few composers are not consistent! Admittedly it is the quality of the composition that matters, not the position of the figures; but can someone say why the so-called illogical system has become the correct way—that is, presuming the Central Council publications are 'correct'?—Yours sincerely,

P. G. K. DAVIES.

Cheadle Hulme, Cheshire.

VITAL STATISTICS

Dear Sir,—In his (or her) entertaining report 'Handsworth ringers visit Shropshire' (see page 514), M. F. H. writes: 'St. Leonard's, Bridgnorth, has a truly magnificent 18 cwt. ring of eight.' In my recent report of the Burghill ringers' visit to St. Leonard's I gave the weight of the Warner tenor there as 21 cwt. M. F. H.'s 18 cwt. was probably taken from 'Dove's Guide' (18-0-18) or from a local source, and may be correct. My 21 cwt. was taken from the Hereford Diocesan Guild's annual report (1957).

Has the 'noble lady' been losing some of her middle-age spread?—Yours truly,

F. MORRIS.

Burghill, Hereford.

FIRST PEAL IN YORKSHIRE

Dear Sir,—Too many words have been written about 'the unpardonable arrogance of the College Youths in claiming their peal of Treble Bob at Halifax in 1787 to be the first peal in Yorkshire.'

E. Morris, in 'History and Art,' and no doubt J. A. Trollope in 'The College Youths,' obtained this from the College Youths' Rule Book. What is not realised is that the rule books and peal books of any old London Society refer only to the performances of the particular Society, and any footnote or claim to be the first peal in the method, the first peal on the bells or the first peal in the county, is meant to imply 'for the Society.'

Thus the statement about the first peal in Yorkshire, taken from the A.S.C.Y. Rule Book, is quite correct, the peal in question being 'the first peal in the county by the Society.'

It is extremely unlikely that the College Youths would claim to have rung THE first peal in the county, when their peal was more likely the 25th peal.—Yours sincerely,

F. T. BLAGROVE.

Windsor.

MUSICAL CHARACTERISTICS

Dear Sir,—Mr. York-Bramble trots out a string of alternatives for rounds 'chosen for their musical characteristics.' If one wishes to ring Doubles or Minor on an 8-bell ring, what can be more beautiful than using 123478? I cannot understand why he has omitted this arrangement, and would ask him, and others, to try it.

It is also useful when there are several youngsters or ladies and a shortage of 'back-enders.'—Yours faithfully,

W. BIRMINGHAM.

Slough.

THE EGHAM PEAL

Dear Sir,—A recent correspondent complains that a peal at Egham was the worst in which he had rung.

Surely, if the ringing was such as to cause him agony of mind, he had 3¼ hours in which to set his bell, giving his reason for doing so to the conductor, thus settling the matter before leaving the tower.—Yours faithfully,

D. J. KING.

LONDON UNIVERSITY SOCIETY IN SOMERSET

Next week the University of London Society of Change Ringers are holding their annual tour in Somerset. A record number of 39 members and friends are in the party. An indication of the growing up of the Society (and the members) is that there are eight married couples and three small children in the party. As well as visiting many of the famous rings in the county, peal attempts are being made at Minehead, Rowberrow, Martock, Chewton Mendip and Wrington. Headquarters for the week are at Shipham, near Cheddar.

LEICESTER CATHEDRAL RINGING

Dear Sir,—I wonder if I could intrude in your columns for a brief comment on the letter in your issue of June 20th by T. C. Belton. This is the second time that disparaging remarks have been passed by him on the state of the Sunday service ringing at Leicester Cathedral. Now, I have been a not infrequent visitor to that city recently, and can assure Mr. Belton that every time I have rung for Sunday services at the Cathedral either Cinques or Maximus has been rung—including half a course of Cambridge Maximus for morning service.

Since he has quoted the Bishop of Coventry, perhaps I might quote those fine words, 'Let us now praise famous men'—we hear far too much nowadays about the obscure and lowly—after all, someone has got to carry the torch, and it is no good letting jealousy and prejudice spoil an appreciation of their good work—that is far from snobbery. And in case anyone is led to believe that the Leicester Cathedral band are at all selfish or snobbish, as he insinuates, I can assure them of as warm a welcome there as anywhere in the country.

I feel Mr. Belton must have some secret grievance in his heart which prompts these acrimonious and trouble-making remarks. Yet he attaches great importance to the attendance at church services. Unfortunately this type of inconsistency and hypocrisy is doing the Church a great deal of harm, and does more to discredit it than the minority of ringers who never attend its services.

Mr. Belton has said nothing constructive in either of his letters and I hope we shall be spared his spiteful and envy-prompted remarks in the future.—Yours sincerely,

STEPHEN IVIN.

ALGARKIRK ALLIANCE

Dear Sir,—Referring to the recent letter of inquiry concerning what the late Mr. A. G. Driver called Special Alliance methods, I would like to draw attention to the omission of Algarkirk Alliance from the list, a peal which was rung spliced with Bastow Little Court on Saturday, January 4th, 1936, at Algarkirk, Lincolnshire.

Unfortunately I am not now in possession of the figures for the method, though as the late A. G. Driver was informed they may be traceable in his papers. I cannot remember whether a lead was published in 'The Ringing World,' nor can I say whether any of my ringing friends of those days could supply the information.—Yours faithfully,

VERNON TAYLOR.

BARNSLEY DISTRICT SOCIETY

A lengthy discussion on how to get bells going in silent towers took place at a joint meeting of the Barnsley and District Society and the Southern District of the Yorkshire Association held at Thryburgh on August 9th. Mr. Noel F. Moxon presided, and Geoffrey Graham, of Cawthorne, was elected a member of the Yorkshire Association.

The next meeting of the Barnsley Society is the cup contest at Hoylandswaine on September 13th (entrance fee 6s.). The Southern Yorkshire District propose to join up with the Sheffield Society for their meeting in November at Handsworth.

Votes of thanks were passed to the Rector and wardens and to Mr. Brunt and the local company for the arrangements. The ladies were also thanked for the excellent tea.

WEDDINGS

TWIN CAPTAINS MARRIED

On August 2nd the Aldrington bellringers were very happy to see the Brown twins (previous joint captains at this tower for seven years) safely launched into married life.

Stan, younger of the two by quarter of an hour, was married first, to Miss Rosemary Patching, also a ringer, at the Church of St. Mary-the-Virgin, Barcombe. Guests were then taken to Aldrington by coach for Harry's wedding to Miss Joan Palmer at the Church of St. Leonard.

After both services the bells were rung by various representatives from the Southern Division of the Sussex County Association.

A joint reception was held in the Church Hall, Glebe Villas, Hove—a memorable building for the twins, for it was the place where they first began their loyal connection with St. Leonard's Church over 25 years ago.

During the evening the happy couples left for their honeymoons, after a hearty send-off. We later discovered that Stan and Rosemary went to Beer, in Devonshire, and Harry and Joan to Ambleside, in the Lake District.

All the Aldrington ringers would like to take this opportunity of thanking the twins for the excellent example of loyalty they have given the band, and as a token of our appreciation for their hard work they have consented to become honorary captains. We shall miss their help and encouragement and we only hope we can live up to the high standard they have set us. We wish them every happiness and success in their future married lives.

P. R. G.

MR. PETER F. BORER—MISS JENNIFER M. HIGHLEY

The wedding took place on August 2nd at Frindsbury Parish Church, Kent, of Mr. Peter F. Borer and Miss Jennifer M. Highley. The bells were ringing to welcome the bride to the church. The service, conducted by the Vicar, was fully choral and included the Bell-ringers' Hymn also an anthem, 'Blessed be the God and Father,' by S. S. Wesley. The bride, who was dressed in white, was attended by four bridesmaids. After the service the bells were again rung and also 'fired.' The reception was held at Wainscott Institute and about 90 guests were present.

In the evening a peal of Stedman was attempted, but after 20 minutes 'Stand' was called as two bells were over. The band were very late in starting the peal, probably causing uneasiness. A quarter peal was rung, of Stedman Triples, by the following: Miss P. Smee 1, T. Barton 2, I. Oram 3, C. S. Jarrett 4, R. Bird 5, G. Kenward 6, G. Butler (conductor) 7, L. B. Dobbie tenor.

After this a bottle of port, given by the bridegroom, was drunk with the toast to 'The bride and bridegroom.' The newly-married couple spent their honeymoon on the Isle of Wight.

HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION

St. Albans District

The St. Albans District August meeting at Kimpton was one with a difference. The Kimpton ringers have, over the past years, made great efforts towards a Restoration Fund for Kimpton bells, but August 9th was the biggest to date, when a fete was held for this fund. Luckily a fine afternoon encouraged the population and ringers from a wide area to join in the fun.

Kimpton bells were ringing soon after 3 p.m. and continued to ring with only a short break for tea until about 8 p.m. Most ringers paid a visit to the fete and gave their support to the various sideshows and had tea with local supporters in the Memorial Hall. A dance followed in the evening. Kimpton ringers report that the day's efforts brought in £150, bringing the total to date to £450. They also say how much they would like to thank the many friends for the help and support they gave.

OUTINGS

SWINDON AND DISTRICT

The weather was very kind to Swindon and District ringers on their August Bank Holiday 'grab' of five- and six-bell towers. Although it was cloudy at first it didn't dampen the spirit of the ringers as they piled their bicycles into the guard's van of the 7.50 a.m. train to Didcot just before it left Swindon.

From Didcot Station they cycled to Steventon, where they were joined by friends riding in cars. A short cut along a footpath, half cobblestones, half mud, took the cyclists to Milton, the next tower, where they arrived without a single casualty. Then on to Sutton-Courtney and afterwards to Culham, where a picnic lunch was had after ringing on the delightful little anti-clockwise ring of six.

By kind permission of Miss M. Cross, the ringers managed to squeeze Radley bells on to their 'list' before going on to Abingdon, Sunningwell, Long Wittenham and Little Wittenham, where the bells were considered 'unringable' when the ceiling fell in during some rounds! After tea Appleford and North Morton were visited before the cyclists returned to Didcot Station.

Methods rung during the day were Grandsire, Plain Bob, Stedman, Kent, Oxford, London and Cambridge. A lot of fun was had by all, thanks to Mr. A. Peake, who organised the tour, and to local ringers and incumbents, who gave permission for their bells to be rung.

HUSBORNE CRAWLEY, BEDS

Husborne Crawley ringers and their friends had their second outing this year on August 9th. After ringing at Great Marlow they came to the best eight of the day at Goring-on-Thames, where all capabilities were catered for. The eights at Wantage and Lambourne were next visited. Preshute was undoubtedly the best all-round set of the day. It was here that a course of Cambridge was going well until a friend opened the west door and completely blocked the treble's view of the second just as they were dodging.

St. Mary's, Marlborough, bells were found to be loud in the belfry with the tenor out of tune. A compensation was the fine tea at the Georgian Restaurant. If anybody has never seen white-coloured bells they should go to Thame, where the tower was, until recently, a pigeons' paradise. Several methods came to light here before we left. Husborne Crawley was reached at 10.20.

Our thanks include not only the incumbents and those who met us but also Bob Churchill, who arranged this outing which, like the previous one, was a great success.

'PLANETARY EXCURSIONS' DURING DORSET TOUR

By M. P. Moreton

9.30 a.m. London. Friday, July 18th, 1958. The loudspeakers at Victoria blared forth . . . 'Will Miss Lois Beevers please report to the inquiries office? . . . . Will Miss Lois Beevers . . .'

The echoes died away as a dejected figure, one William S. Deason, affectionately known as 'Bill,' waited with dying hopes of meeting the young lady from Edinburgh, who was to accompany us on our tour.

Something was seriously wrong with the organisation, and Bill took his courage in his hands, advanced on the nearest telephone and rang the Master Mind.

'Leale speaking' . . .

1.30 p.m., 15 phone calls and four hours later.

Messrs. Leale, Deason and Moreton are seen consuming a quick two pints of lunch in the Elephant and Castle, Westminster, and are talking in worried tones.

Meanwhile Lois had spent an embarrassing half-hour asking all the eligible young men at Victoria if they were 'Bill,' and as none of them were, had boarded a bus to Shaftesbury, Dorset, where the tour was due to start.

Believing the worst, our sorry trio set off, only to find, on arrival at Shaftesbury, that the best rooms at the Royal Hotel had been taken by the rest of the party, which consisted of David Hawkins, in a Sapphire, Fred Scott, Alan Buswell and Ernie Wilcox. Anne Garnett appeared later in the evening.

We opened the tour at Holy Trinity, Shaftesbury (6, 10 cwt.) with a rise in peal and some Bob Minor. The treble is vaguely loose, which makes it quite interesting. At St. Peter's, Shaftesbury, (6, 12¼ cwt.) a rope broke at the wheel on the fourth, but was quickly spliced. At St. James', Shaftesbury (6, 9¼ cwt.), we met a keen local band and rang a touch in five methods, finishing with London Surprise round at handstroke . . . very salubrious.

At the hotel we listened to some of the recent peal of Scientific Triples, which was all recorded by Philip (the tape-recorder), and recorded some Stedman Doubles on handbells This we played back at twice the speed, and it sounded much better. It would seem quite possible that fast ringing generally sounds better than it is. We also heard some ringing from Leyton, Essex (8, 8 cwt.), played back at half speed, which made the bells sound like a magnificent back eight, although the trebles were still out of tune.

Saturday dawned, and we greeted it appropriately enough with some Saturn Treble Bob at Melbury Abbas (a nice 5. 7¼cwt.), where we were welcomed by Mr. Henstridge. At Compton Abbas (5, 9 cwt.) the Rector met us and we rang some Erin, Reverse Bob (a most amusing method) and the first course of Moon Treble Bob, as well as other methods of no particular interest.

Iwerne Minster (6, 18 cwt.) has a fine ring with a beautiful tenor. Iwerne Courtney (6, 9¾ cwt.) was the last tower of the morning and we then had a magnificent lunch at the White Hart, followed by ringing at Childe Okeford (6, 17¼ cwt.). At Shillingstone (6, 15¼ cwt.) Lois rang her first course of London Surprise, and the next tower was the ill-fated Okeford Fitzpaine (6, 11 cwt.). The treble ringer found a convenient seat to go with the long rope, and only rose on the final command 'Stand.' The ascent to the ringing chamber starts with a vertical iron ladder for some six feet, at the top of which is the doorway cut into the wall, leading to the spiral staircase. This is not easy for adults, and must have added to the confusion at the time of the recent disaster.

We were joined at Sturminster Newton by Roger Baldwin and Kath Knight. The bells (6, 16¼ cwt.) have a long draught but all were negotiable and our progress was not checked.

We moved on to Sherborne, booked in at the Half Moon Hotel and went to ring at the Abbey (8, 46 cwt.). We did not pull the bells up in peal here. We rang some Stedman, Grandsire and Double Norwich, and 'Philip,' the tape-recorder, captured the grandeur of this ring. We were made very welcome by the local ringers who, after the ringing, turned on the lights of the chancel roof to reveal the fascinating intricacy of the carving.

Sunday service ringing was at Yeovil (10, 41 cwt.), where we met some of the local ringers, and at Trent (6, 18 cwt.). At this tower we rang some 'Coal Miner,' a principle —first published in the 'Bell News' of July 16th, 1898, as Kidderminster Minor, Kidderminster Major having been published some two years before. The method consists of alternate Kent and Oxford places in 3-4, while the bells in 1-2 and 5-6 Treble Bob. Does anyone know if a peal of it has been rung?

We searched in vain for a place to swim, got lost, and drove straight through a farm, pigs, chicken and all! The farmer and his wife did not seem to mind having to open their gates, but the old woman at the level crossing we came to, did. It must have been years since anyone used that road . . . she'd even forgotten which side the gate opened!.

After lunch we were met at Bishop's Caundle (5, 8¼ cwt.) by the Rector and the local Ringing Master, with whom we rang some Plain Bob Minimus. The Rector was also the incumbent at the next parish, Holwell (5, 14¾ cwt.), and, arriving there early, we played an energetic game of Pig-in-the-middle (two pigs) while we waited for a service to finish. Our visit had been publicised in the parish magazine and we were watched by a number of the parishioners at this ground-floor ring. Afterwards we were very pleased to accept the kind invitation of Mr. F. Antell to tea at Borough Farm. His family have lived in the parish since the time of William the Conqueror!

Queen Camel (6, 36¾ cwt.) came next, and after a rise in peal we rang Bob Doubles, Oxford and Kent Treble Bob and Plain Bob Minor, and lowered the bells for Evensong. This is a grand ring and we were grateful to the local ringers for letting us record the bells.

The evening saw us quaffing Scrumpy (draught cider) in full measure, and we slept, at least some of us did, at the Half Moon again. The others complained of beds that would not keep still when you closed your eyes, and at least one good breakfast went uneaten the next morning.

* * * * *

Monday. Nether Compton (5, 15 cwt.). Rang Moon Treble Bob and Reverse Grandsire. Bradford Abbas (6, 13¾ cwt.). Rang Reverse Cambridge Surprise (Superlative) and Forward Minor. We also rang some call changes in which the treble hunted out of the back of one change and into the front of the next but one. This was part of an exercise as practice for ringing Time Doubles. a method of the future, in which bells do not necessarily turn round just because they happen to have got to the front or back of a change!

At Thornford (6, 8 cwt.) we rang some Bob Minor starting at backstroke. After this someone came in and said: 'I don't know what you were ringing, but if you want to get your backstrokes down . . .' and could not understand why we burst out laughing.

Yetminster (6, 19 cwt.). We rang some Spliced Cambridge and London Surprise and then adjourned to the New Inn, Chetnole, for bread and cheese with pickled onions and beer (with orange squash for those in need). It was here that we heard the story of the two ghosts who were refused a drink at a public house—the landlord said: 'I don't serve spirits here,' and the true story of the farmer's wife who put some fermented blackberry pie out in the yard, and came back later to find her six geese had eaten it and died. She had just finished plucking them when the effect of the alcohol in the pie wore off, and they regained consciousness!

Melbury Osmond (5, 9 cwt.). Reverse Stedman Doubles proved a little more tricky than one would expect.

Evershot (6, 9 cwt.) The excellent bells here were half-muffled in memory of the son and heir of Lord Staverdale. We rang, and recorded, some London Surprise which sounded magnificent. (It was possibly here that I lost my tape-recorder notebook, with numbers and details of recordings made, and if anyone finds it I should be very pleased to hear from them.)

Corscombe (6, 13¾ cwt.). Rang Reverse St. Clement's and Southwell Surprise (an exercise).

Beaminster (8, 23 cwt.). We met Messrs. Barrett and Glyde and rang on these fine untuned bells, which were cast in the churchyard. On the way to Stoke Abbott (5, 14¼ cwt.) we met a herd of cows, which Ernie Wilcox chased into a field; this was such a stirring sight that we rang the first 240 of Moon Treble Bob when we eventually reached the tower.

On Tuesday morning we found we'd been given a ticket by the local constabulary. Apparently we had infringed some Anciente Parkynge Bylaw. Netherbury bells (6, 20 cwt.) were rung to Surprise Minor and the first plain course of Venus Treble Bob. At Loders (6, 19¼ cwt.) we broke with our custom and did not raise the bells in peal. Ronald Dove (author of the Guide) joined us for the day.

At Bradpole (8, 13 cwt.) the Vicar welcomed us. We rang a course of Superlative and some Stedman on these pleasant bells, some of which need more work than one would expect.

It is nearly 12 years since the writer rang a peal of Bob Major at Bridport (8, 21¾ cwt.) and with a nostalgic twinge he heard them rung again, this time to Cambridge, Double Norwich and Little Bob.

We made full use of an afternoon off, by going to Lyme Regis and having a swim. Tea afterwards made us late at Whitchurch Canonicorum (8, 17¼ cwt.) but we had a short ring on these fine bells. In the evening four of us joined four local men at Lyme Regis (8, 11 cwt.), ringing a peal of London—conducted by George Morris—and afterwards were horrified to find that the pub we were in shut at 9.30! Still, apparently it had been open all day, so we excused it and moved on to another further along the Front. After some interesting reminiscing we bade farewell and returned to the Knight's Bull Hotel, Bridport. We had a talk with the landlord about the visit of the Guild of Clerical Ringers, and he kindly produced, at a late hour, a very salubrious supper of Bass, Worthington, bread (1½in. thick) and butter, cheese, pork pies and apple pie beds (our own make).

Wednesday. Powerstock (5, 20 cwt.). Rang Spliced Grandsire and Plain Bob and the first plain course of Pluto Treble Bob. At Rampisham (5, 13¼ cwt.) we rang the first course of Jupiter Treble Bob. We were welcomed to Cattistock (8, 13¼ cwt.), which are a pleasant ring, and enjoyed a course of Erin Triples. Malden Newton (6, 10¼ cwt.) was the last tower before lunch—at the White Horse.

Our first disappointment was at Frampton (6, 16 cwt.), where the tower was under repair, preventing us ringing, so at Stratton (5, 9¼ cwt.) we made up for it by ringing the first course of Mars Treble Bob and a 240 of Jupiter.

At Bradford Peverell (5, 7¼ cwt.) we rang Ashford Little Bob and the first course of Neptune Treble Bob.

After tea in Dorchester it was discovered that as well as the octave at St. Peter's (21 cwt.), which we were due to ring at 7.30, there was a six at St. George's (13 cwt.). The incumbent was contacted and we were very kindly given permission to ring at this tower, where there were signs of a keen band. Then to St. Peter's for the local practice, which had very kindly been changed from Tuesday to Wednesday to enable us to ring.

Thursday. We arrived at Charminster (6, 15 cwt.) in good time to ring for the 10 a.m. service. These are excellent bells rehung by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank in 1952. At Sydling (5, 19 cwt.) we rang Original Doubles, New Grandsire and Uranus Treble Bob. At Buckland Newton (6, 17 cwt.) the Vicar met us and after leading us in prayer, showed us the church. The bells were rung to Bob Minimus and Stedman Minimus while we waited for the other car to arrive. It was afterwards discovered that they had stopped to admire the notoriously uninhibited figure of the prehistoric Cerne Abbas Giant, cut into the chalk hillside overlooking the village! We also rang some Durham and other less surprising methods. We had a picnic lunch on the top of a hill somewhere, and went to Hilton (6, 16 cwt.), where the tower roof was seen to be off and we could not ring.

The magnificence of Milton Abbey will long remain in our memory. Not least because it was here that we walked in front of a photographer and came near to appearing in the Milton School 1st XI. rugby team. The bells, a tuneful eight (11 cwt.) were quite the loudest of the tour and are hung in a vast ringing room. We could not understand reports that the bells went badly, as they all went like tops.

At Blandford Forum (8, 19¼ cwt.), a good ring, we rang a Triples principle produced just after the war, which we later called Forum Triples. This was the first method we had rung whose plain course came round at handstroke!

After tea we did battle with the five bells of Stourpaine (12 cwt., anti-clockwise). The noise of bumping and creaking is enough to make one think that no bells could go more badly . . . well, these do! One misguided ringer put his finger in a crack in the wall and nearly had it amputated. We rang Stedman and Saturn Treble Bob.

Durweston (6, 10¾ cwt.) provided pleasant relief and as our arms had stretched a bit at Stourpaine, and the ropes were long, we drew up chairs and sat down for a plain course of Bob Minor. Has a tower bell peal ever been rung sitting down?

* * * * *

After a good night at the King's Arms, Blandford Forum, we started Friday at Spettisbury (5, 17 cwt.) with Earth and Uranus Treble Bob. Prolific use of the Leale Water-Ray-Gun had not dampened our enthusiasm and we continued to devour our programme. Sturminster Marshall (6, 16¾ cwt.) and Lytchett Matravers (6, 7¼ cwt.), where Ernie Wilcox rang his first course of London Surprise Minor, were enjoyed. We also tried some Bob Minor, starting fast, and breaking into half-speed at the lead-end, then alternating quick and slow. This was very salubrious.

To ring the fifth at Lytchett Minster (6, 11 cwt.) one stands four or five steps up the stairway to the bell chamber, but Spliced Beverley and Surfleet Surprise survived.

After lunch at Poole nine of us rang rounds on the 10 (19¼ cwt.) and then the back eight and the top six. Canford Magna (6, 10 cwt.) proved to be the last tower of the day, as the ninth clapper recently broke as Wimborne Minster (10, 29¾ cwt.) and we could not ring. Circumstances beyond our control prevented our ringing at Corfe Mullen (6, 12 cwt.).

The last day dawned—we almost rang a course of Reverse London Surprise at Witchampton (6, 11 cwt.), and we will long remember the expression on Bill Deason's face at Long Crichel (6, 14 cwt.) when, while turning in the tenor, he found himself holding a mere one foot of rope while the rest went its own sweet way round the belfry.

Gussage St. Michael (6, 11 cwt.) bells are an anti-clockwise ring which do not go too well, and at Gussage All Saints' (5, 8 cwt.) we rang the last of the ten Treble Bob Doubles methods . . . named Mercury. We can recommend the lunch at the Earl Haig Inn.

A Triples principle, since discovered to be Prittlewell Triples, was rung at Wimborne St. Giles (8, 15¼ cwt.), and at Cranborne (8, 17¼ cwt.) Mr. Day joined us, ringing the tenor to another course of it. Grandsire Major sounded as musical as usual. At St. Martin's (6, 8¼ cwt.) we rang some New Cambridge Surprise (an exercise) and at Damerham (6, 8 cwt.) we tried some call changes without a handstroke gap. Fordingbridge (8, 14 cwt.) was the 62nd and last tower, and we finished the tour with some Grandsire Doubles, 768 covering, for two local girls.

To Robin Leale, whose planning and organisation were first-class, and to all who made us so welcome, we say, 'Thank you.'

VICAR FOR 61 YEARS HONOURED BY A PEAL

The peal of Grandsire Triples at Northowram, Halifax, on August 3rd, was to mark the official retirement of Canon George Watkinson, M.A., on July 31st. We say 'official' because at 86 years of age the old gentleman is still 'holding the fort' until his successor takes up his appointment in September.

It was on Christmas Day, 1894, that Canon Watkinson, then a young layman down from Cambridge, was asked to preach at the newly-established Northowram Mission, a daughter church of the parish of Coley. Three years later he was ordained and took charge of the Northowram Mission. In the year 1910 Northowram was made a separate parish and Canon Watkinson became the first Vicar. He built and endowed the present church and vicarage, and his brother, the late Mr. S. L. Watkinson, gave the tower, clock and bells, a ring of eight by Gillett and Johnston. He was appointed an Honorary Canon of Wakefield Cathedral in 1931.

Among his interests are, or have been, the Church Tutorial Classes of Wakefield Diocese; member of the Halifax Board of Guardians up to the transfer of Poor Law administration; chairman of the Crowther Trust, Northowram, since its inception; the Northowram Aged People's Treat Committee for over 50 years; the Halifax Tradesmen's Benevolent Institution; the Waterhouse Charities; and, as a prominent Freemason holding provincial rank, he is the last surviving founder member of Lightcliffe Lodge. He is also a Fellow of the Entomological Society of London.

Grandsire Triples was chosen for the peal attempt to make reasonably certain of ringing a peal for the special occasion and the outcome was never in doubt. We are indebted to friends from Halifax (All Souls'), Queensbury, Sowerby and Lindley for helping out, and appreciate the gesture of our veteran member, Mr. Joe Greenwood, in standing down in favour of a 'first pealer,' and we associate him in the compliment to 'The Canon.' W. G. T.

SHEFFIELD AND DISTRICT SOCIETY

The meeting at South Anston on August 2nd was visited by ringers from Dronfield, Handsworth, Harthill, Rotherham, Scunthorpe and Sheffield Cathedral. In spite of the absence of many members on holiday the handy light ring of six was well employed and there was a full programme of ringing, although fewer methods than usual were possible. Before tea Grandsire Triples, Little Bob Major, Kent Minor and several courses of Plain Bob Minor and Major were rung.

After tea the Vicar welcomed the ringers to South Anston and took the chair at a short business meeting. Mr. H. M. Turner was thanked for making the local arrangements. Ringing after tea included a course of Cambridge Major and a touch of Double Norwich, together with some Stedman Triples and more Plain Bob. The young learners had a full and interesting meeting, but it was unfortunate that so many of the more experienced members of the Society were unable to support the meeting. J. S.

THE EARLY USE OF HANDBELLS

By FREDERICK SHARPE

HANDBELLS have been used in the British Isles from the early days of Christianity. The earliest examples, made of riveted metal plates, or of the later cast bronze type, formed part of the equipment of the primitive saints, and it was the custom to present Celtic and Irish bishops with a handbell at their consecration.

Between the eleventh and sixteenth centuries small handbells were used as lych bells at funerals and in processions at Rogationtide and similar ceremonial occasions. Small bells without handles or clappers were used in sets for the purpose of tapping tunes. The usual number of bells in these sets seldom exceeded four or five, but some medieval manuscripts depict larger numbers and show performers tapping tunes in two-part harmony.

Funeral customs usually outlast others, and those medieval handbells which survived the Reformation of the Church in the sixteenth century were chiefly used as lych bells. But such was the unauthorised spoliation of church goods in the sixteenth century that King Edward VI. made an order that inventories of all church goods should be made, and from these we learn that many parishes still retained their medieval handbells.

In the early years of the seventeenth century the art of change ringing began to spread. It is an art peculiar to England and was at first practised on the rings of three, four and five-bell towers which had survived the Reformation. Most of these retained their pre-Reformation gear, These included half wheels and baldrick clappers—all assembled without bolt, nut or screw, and very cumbersome in action. Some means of practising the new art and some methods of learning the changes before attempting to ring them on the heavy, slow-moving tower bells was a vital necessity. So the old handbells which survived, no longer allowed to be used for ceremonial purposes, were rescued from their dusty hiding places and put to new use. Whether in tune or not mattered little—an upward movement of the arm denoted the handstroke and a downward movement the backstroke of change ringing.

Civil War devastated England in the second quarter of the seventeenth century—and, during the interregnum which followed, the ceremonial use of bells was prohibited. They were used for utilitarian purposes, and change ringing continued to expand. Two new rings of eight bells were erected in the University of Oxford during this period, and another, strangely enough, in Windsor Castle. In 1658, a Bedford ringer, Oliver Palmer, scored many change ringing compositions and tunes in bell notation. Palmer lived in dangerous times, and lest he should be accused of "Popery" disguised his work by writing the scores in Hebrew characters.

After the restoration of the Monarchy in 1660, change ringing developed rapidly. Such was the demand for handbells at the end of the century that improved methods of casting were sought, and the Wiltshire bell foundry, then owned by William and Robert Carr, invented a method of casting handbells in sand moulds. They shaped these by means of full sized patterns, instead of using the strickle and false clay bell method hitherto employed. The new method proved so successful that within a few years others adopted it, notably the Whitechapel founders and Edward Hemins, of Bicester.

So far the use of handbells was confined to the practice of change ringing. To ring changes on as large a number of bells as twelve requires very considerable skill and years of practice. Yet we read that when members of the Ancient Society of College Youths visited Calais in 1732 they rang a course of 'Cinques.' This is the first record of change ringing outside England, and evidence of a highly developed technique in the art of change ringing on handbells.

BELFRY GOSSIP

Bells will be heard prior to evening service to be broadcast on Sunday, September 7th, at 9.45 p.m. in all Home Services except West and Scottish, from the Church of St. Michael and All Angels, Bishopwearmouth, Sunderland. The service will be conducted by the Rev. C. E. Wyngard and the preacher will be the Rector (Canon C. L. P. Bishop).

Mr. John H. Gilbert, of Long Ashton, writes informing us of the success of a peal of St. Clement's Bob Major after unsuccessful attempts going back three years.

The Rev. Robert Henry Bagnell, who retired in 1930 after 42 years at churches in the Vale of Belvoir, celebrated his 100th birthday on August 9th. Mr. Bagnell was a friend of generations of ringers.

Our mailbag this week contains a cheery letter from Mr. E. Weatherby, of 1,235 Mullen Avenue, Los Angeles, 19, California. He is particularly interested in Mr. F. T. Blagrove's record of first performances. We wish Mr. Weatherby a happy 87th birthday on September 22nd.

Mr. Clifford Blundell and Miss Angela Faulkner were rung out of St. Barnabas' Church, Sutton, Surrey (a church without tower bells), after their wedding on August 16th by a team of handbell ringers. The compliment was unexpected and thrilled the newly-married pair.

Correspondents have called our attention to the photograph in 'The Wallington and Carshalton Times' of Frimley St. Peter's Church, which according to the report contains a chime of 12 bells, and that the enthusiastic team of bell-ringers ring changes and hymn tunes each Sunday. Guildford's new cathedral, adds E. G. T., will have to look to its laurels.

Mr. T. Reginald Dennis rang in a peal of Cambridge Surprise Major at the Church of St. Andrew-the-Great, Cambridge, for his 75th birthday on August 19th. We are sorry to hear that the peal was also a send-off for him to hospital, where he will undergo an operation during the next week or so. His many friends will wish him a speedy recovery and Cambridge ringers are looking forward to having him put right in readiness for future birthday peals.

Norton Subcourse, Norfolk, are planning to have their bells rehung on a steel frame and their six bells retuned.

The well-known Cheshire ringer, Mr. Alan A. Jaques, was married at Nantwich on August 16th to Miss Irene M. Caswell. Mr. Brian M. Buswell, of Nottingham, was best man.

Mr. Geo. H. Head, who contributes in this week's 'Ringing World' his recollections of early ringing in the Ashford District, writes gardening notes in 'The Hanworth Record.' He has been gardening for 70 years.

The bells of St. Mawgan, Cornwall, were rededicated by the Archdeacon of Cornwall on August 9th. The bells have been recast with the exception of the seventh, which was cast by William Dawe, of London, between 1378 and 1407, and is being kept in the church as a museum piece. The work was carried out by Messrs. J. Taylor and Co. at an estimated cost of £1,350.

Mr. 'Bill' Norton, a member of the St. Andrew's, Holborn, band before the war, was visited by the St. Stephen's, Hampstead, ringers during their recent outing in Northamptonshire. Despite the loss of sight in one eye and suffering from neuritis, 'Bill' looked remarkably fit for his 84 years. He still reads 'The Ringing World' and notes the activities of his former friends and colleagues.

SOCIETY OF ROVING RINGERS' 12th ANNUAL TOUR

ON July 26th, 22 members of the Society rallied at Ely for another cycling and bell-ringing holiday, which this year was to take place in East Anglia. By the time we had finished ringing at our first tower, Soham, the party was complete except for one, who was temporarily detained in H.M. service.

The military appearance of the youth hostel at Ely was much too familiar for some of us, but it was not long before the washroom was heard resounding to the tune of 'Who killed Cock Robin?'. We found that youth hostel washrooms seemed to have a natural resonance for this particular song, and Cock Robin was killed at least once a day for the remainder of the tour. Later in the evening, changes on handbells caused much wonder and delight to fellow hostellers.

The following morning we rang at Ely Parish Church, and then cycled to Cambridge. A good start was made at the R.C. Church with a course of Bristol on that fine ring of eight. At St. Mary-the-Great's, Cambridge Maximus did not go so well, so we concluded with a good course of Stedman Cinques for service.

By now the rain had set in for the evening, and it was still raining the following morning, when we headed for St. Andrew's. Here it took so long for some to climb the stairs that the more energetic members were obliged to start with a course of Minimus; this was followed up with a course of Gay Abandon (87s at back!). The rain had now stopped, and we saw no more of it, except for one or two short, sharp showers. A short ride to Trumpington, and we were met by Miss Kitty Willers, who joined us in a course of London Major. A touch of five Spliced Surprise on these handy bells was voted one of the best touches of the tour.

SECRETARIES ON TANDEMS

Lunch for some was taken at the Oulde Hoose, Saffron Walden, where it is believed the Master of the Essex Association also dined that day. The 22nd member of our party, having been 'let out,' joined us at St. Mary's, where half a course of Cambridge Maximus was successfully accomplished. The ride to Sible Hedingham was done, I think, in record time, the pace being set by the tandem, manned by the secretaries. Having settled in at the nearby hostel, some returned to Hedingham tower to join the local ringers in their practice.

Came Tuesday morning, and we rang on the heavy eight at Clare and the melodious six at Cavendish. A picnic lunch was generally the order of the day, and it was suggested by the Master (half-way through a tin of peaches) that Frank was incapable of calling a touch of Stedman Triples due to his rather 'heavy' meal. Frank, not to be discouraged, confidently ascended Long Melford tower and commenced to call a touch of Stedman, but rounds never came up!

After another good touch of spliced at Lavenham, we cycled to the hostel at Naughton Mill, and in the evening repaired to the local tavern, where we enjoyed some very good singing. Back at the hostel, after we had rendered 'Cock Robin' and 'Slater's Dirge,' a young lady enquired whether we could not sing something happy.

BRISTOL ROYAL

Jim had distributed nine copies of a course of Bristol Royal, and it was decided that the first attempt to ring a course should be on the ten at Stonham Aspal. Three-and-half leads were rung before it came to grief, but all agreed that it was a good try. Lunch at Debenham and a ring on the very pleasant bells there, thence a short-cut via cornfields in the direction of Framsden, which only brought us back exactly where we started from, so we decided to go the long way round by road. A few touches at Coddenham, and then back to Naughton Mill, where we spent the evening as before, except that it was John's birthday, and on retiring to bed, he found it missing, springs and all. After searching extensively (in diverse places) he found only parts of it, and exactly where he slept that night still remains a mystery; but I don't think John will forget his 20th birthday.

At St. Mary-le-Tower, Ipswich, we were met by Mr. George Symonds and Mr. Charles Sedgley, who joined us in Stedman Cinques and half a course of Yorkshire Maximus. While we were ringing, a press photographer entered the tower, and the following day an article on our activities appeared in three local newspapers. Another picnic lunch at Grundisburgh and again an attempt was made for Bristol Royal. This time we rang four-and-a-half leads, but a second attempt at this tower failed only two leads from the end, and I feel sure that had we the opportunity for one more attempt we would have scored; but this was not to be.

During the ringing at Henley, a lady living next to the village shop was heard to say: 'Have we got to put up with them —— bells for another three hours?' At Barking the belfry was deserted while several members tried their skill at blowing a 'serpent,' an old church orchestral instrument.

A third pleasant evening was passed at Naughton Mill.

The only ladies' touch of the tour was brought round at Buxhall, the tenor being ably rung by 'Miss 3D.' Having rung at both towers in Bury St. Edmunds, the Cathedral handbells were tried, Mr. Moore ringing an excellent 1-2 to Kent Treble Bob Royal. Our next hostel, at Finningham, was very quaint, but also very crowded. The warden had kindly offered to put up the complete party in a hostel designed for 16. Our more experienced members soon found the 'local,' where it was found that the acoustics of the bar were much improved once the carpet had been rolled up! A very enjoyable evening ended rather late, and the 'Duchess' (i.e., the warden of the hostel) threatened to get out the big stick, but decided not to on being presented with a large box of chocolates. Later that night Klorfy had to be dragged in by his hair through an upper-storey window.

OVER 40 AT WEEKEND

Saturday morning, and at Diss we were met by the first of the weekenders who, at Pulham St. Mary-the-Virgin and Pulham St. Mary Magdalene, arranged a shuttle service with their cars, enabling all to have a pull at both towers. On arriving at Norwich, a broken rope curtailed ringing at St. John-de-Sepulchre's, and at St. Giles' we read on the peal boards of 'Ingenious compositions of intricate, scientific methods, rung on harmonious bells by eminent bell-ringers, etc.' By now the remainder of the weekenders had arrived, making a total of over 40 members, and a short business meeting was held after dinner at the Bell Hotel.

On Sunday morning, the early-risers rang at St. Peter Mancroft and then joined the others at St. Michael Coslany, to ring the bells for the first time since the restoration of the tower. An hour's ringing at Hethersett had been arranged for the afternoon, and after tea we returned to St. Peter Mancroft to ring for Evensong. Another comparatively quiet evening was passed, although Miss '3D's' birthday was duly celebrated at midnight.

The first goodbyes were said the following morning, the majority proceeding to Loddon, to be met by Mr. H. William Barrett. The B.B.C., having been informed of our intended visit here, recorded some Stedman Triples, and interviewed our secretaries, also 'the eighth romance of the tour.' More goodbyes were said, so that by the time we arrived at our final tower we numbered less than 20; but the last touch of the tour was a good one of four Spliced Surprise on the grand back eight at Beccles.

We are all grateful for a very enjoyable holiday, to Ronnie (the Master), the incumbents of the churches we visited, and those who made ringing possible for us; and especially to Kathleen and Michael, our secretaries, who again have done a wonderful job of work in arranging and timing the tour.

'Ne Plus Ultra' Inspired Memories For George H. Head

THE front page article under the above heading in the 'R.W.' of August 15th awakens many pleasant memories of places and events in the district of Kent referred to. I recall visits made to some of the churches to ring at a time when there must have been stirring amongst ringers an interest in scientific change-ringing. Belfry reform was often mentioned at that time.

My earliest recollection of the above appellation was that a favourite variety of 'garden pea' went by this name, and we understood it meant none-so-good, but my dictionary says: 'Nothing further; the uttermost point or extreme perfection of anything.' Still the heading leaves me guessing as to whether it is meant to apply to the county of Kent, the villages or the bells.

I recall walking a few miles on a Sunday afternoon with other lads on a visit to Egerton for Grandsire Doubles. My chief recollection is that there was a terrific din from the bells, as we could see them swinging above our heads—there was no floor between the bells and ringing floor. I suppose that was altered years ago.

Charing has always had very pleasant memories, with its historic associations, its setting on the Pilgrims' Way, the old church and Bishop's palace. My first visit to the church was to take part in a choral festival as a small boy (alto) and singing that beautiful hymn, A. & M. 379, as the recessional. But I well remember a visit on a Sunday for a pull on the bells for service. It was Grandsire Doubles, in which Mr. W. Spice, that fine old Kentish ringer, and a Mr. H. Ward took part in some good service ringing. The record of Mr. Spice is well known, as well as that of his descendants.

CHURCH BURNT DOWN

It is recorded that the church tower was burnt down, and almost the whole of the church destroyed, in the 16th centry. The fire was caused in a peculiar manner. On a hot August day a 'birding piece' was fired at a pigeon perched upon the church, and as a result the woodwork of the belfry was ignited. From that date until 1878 the church had but one solitary bell, and this gave the parish the unmerited ditty:

'Dirty Charing lies in a hole;
It has but one bell and that was stole.'

CRICKET AND A QUARTER

My earliest recollections of Great Chart include a visit by our school cricket team to play the G.C. boys. I was put on to bowl, and somehow got some quick wickets. The home umpire and schoolmaster soon put a stop to that game by giving successive no-balls, at which our umpire and master raised strong objections. This caused such a to-do that the game came to an end. A little later another visit was much more pleasant. I have a cutting from 'The Bell News' of that time, which reads:—

'GREAT CHART.—On Saturday evening, 720 Bob Minor, 18 bobs and 2 singles. W. Hills 1, F. Philpott 2, G. H. Head 3, J. Hover 4, A. J. Dyson (con.) 5, T. Tabrett tenor.

'First in the method by all; first 720 by ringers of 1st and 4th, and first with a bob bell by the 2nd.'

Reference is made to the ringing at Willesborough and to the grand old veteran, Mr. Ruck. I remember hearing these bells ringing Minor on a quiet evening over 60 years ago from a distance of about two miles. At that time they had a good Minor band under the leadership of Mr. E. Dixon. I have a record of a 720 Bob Minor that four of us lads from Kennington took part in at this church. At that time there was a Major band at Mersham. A walk of about four miles enabled us to get a bit of practice. I have a record of ringing a touch there as follows: K.C.A., Mersham, on January 18th, 1896; 576 Bob Major. Paine treble, Paine 2, Paine 3, Paine 4, Paine 5, F. Phillpot 6, G. H. Head 7, E. Ruck (con.) tenor.

NOCTURNAL RINGING

It is pleasing to learn that ringing is again flourishing at Aldington. They had a good Minor band when I was a lad. I well remember walking over to the village to meet ringers from Canterbury for a pull. On our arrival the people had gone to bed. Nothing daunted, we knocked up old Mr. Hyder, who very kindly gave us permission to ring, and threw the key out of the bedroom window. I was given the figures and rules for ringing Stedman Doubles at that meeting by the late Morton Pierce, of St. Alphege's, Canterbury; I still have this by me.

I suppose the highlight of ringing during recent years in this District has been the splendid records set up by the Ashford band. I was in Ashford a few years ago, when the bells went off into changes, ringing for Sunday morning service. It was one of the most perfect touches of Surprise Major it has been my pleasure to hear.

WITH J. S. GOLDSMITH

On the front page of our journal is the notice '"The Ringing World" was founded in the year 1911 by John Sparkes Goldsmith.' I rang a few peals with him in 1899. I well remember him calling on me at my place of employment at Eastbourne and handing me a piece of paper on which was the diagram of a course of Bristol Surprise. He asked me to meet a band in a week or so at Ringmer, Sussex, as they were anxious to score the first in the method. I always blame myself for losing the peal. It was scored shortly afterwards by a Brighton band. In our attempt were G. Williams, Keith Hart, Frank Bennett, J. S. Goldsmith and myself; but who the others were I cannot remember. But I wonder if any survive besides myself.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

A NEW ANGLE ON TEACHING BEGINNERS

Dear Sir,—After reading the above article in the issue of August 15th, I feel a few points need further comment.

Firstly, one has to consider a learner's aptitude towards ringing coupled with the general ability he shows, before allowing him to ring both strokes. Only in exceptional circumstances can there be genuine progress by reaching this stage in the very first lesson. The general style, positions of hands, etc., that one tries to impress upon a learner as most important to making a good ringer, are very soon lost, as sooner or later a panic stage arrives and the pupil's confidence is then, in many cases, replaced by fear.

In order to make this initial stage reasonably pleasant for both pupil and teacher I am in favour of leaving 'two stroke' ringing until the second lesson because, if our beginner is at all keen, subconsciously he will sort out his primary errors between his first two lessons, and also imagine the movements of ringing both strokes. In this way it is unlikely that confidence in his ability to ring is lost at any stage.

With regard to plain hunting, if our beginner is told what bells to follow, what is this but glorified call-changes? As all the other bells are changing their positions, in most cases I am sure a learner has no idea where he is ringing! A better method than this, I feel, is to ring rounds with him on the treble and then to allow just the treble to plain hunt up and down with each inside ringer giving the treble the necessary space as it passes through. Granted, this again is ringing by numbers, but there can be no doubt in our beginner's mind as to the different positions he takes up, and the idea of moving from 'front' to 'back' and down again which he is most unlikely to realise when all bells are changing positions. What is to be gained from this? In the first case the reason for ringing slower on the way up and quicker on the way down needs no further explanation. Secondly, as the treble is the only 'moving' bell he will be training himself to listen to his bell. Finally, from what has just been said, the learner knows that he must give more room to the heavier bells than to the lighter ones for good striking.

Very little time need be spent on the above 'hunting'—just long enough to acquire these valuable, fundamental points for himself. Then, plain hunting on three or four bells becomes considerably easier with the learner progressing mainly by his own initiative, with, at the very start, the ropes being pointed out to him if he goes astray.

My last point is to congratulate Mr. Bayles for the article on his method of teaching a beginner dodging. Although I admit to never having seen this attempted prior to someone 'having a go' at Bob Doubles or Minor 'inside.' I am sure, potentially, it is a great idea to be followed up.—Yours faithfully.

INQUIRY PURELY EXPLORATORY

Dear Sir,—Truly, 'how great a fire a little matter kindleth'!

Mr. Barnett's response to my letter to you which, through your kindness, was given space in 'The Ringing World' recently, wrongly throws emphasis upon an inquiry which was meant to be quite incidental to the main theme of my original letter to him. After seeing my own letter in 'cold print' I can appreciate that, in quoting Mr. Barnett, I have given a wrong impression, and, if such be so, I offer him my apologies. It was, as he generously assumes, quite unintentional!

There is no question, at this present juncture at any rate, of an application being forthcoming from this Association for representation on the Central Council; in any case, I feel that our 'parent,' the Devon Association, should be the body to inaugurate such a move if ever serious consideration were given to it. My inquiry was made from a purely general and exploratory motive of personal interest. My chief concern, as expressed in my original letter to Mr. Barnett and in that which I wrote to you, sir, lay not with representation as with the disappointment which I felt that no thought for call-change tower representation was given in compiling a, or 'the,' list of 'towers where good ringing might be expected' for submission to, and at the request of, the B.B.C.

Please be assured of my appreciation of your kind reception of my letter.—Yours truly,

B. E. BARTLETT, Hon. Secretary,
South Devon Ringers' Association.

MEMORIES OF YATELEY

Dear Sir,—I was much impressed to read Mr. George Gilbert's letter in the 'R.W.' Knowing this gentleman over 30 years ago, when he used to visit that quaint old wooden tower of Yateley with his young and enthusiastic band from Aldershot, it was a great pleasure to all the Yateley ringers of that day to have this great ringer and exponent of good striking first, together with principles and examples of good behaviour, all running in complete harmony.

Very happy days were those under that great leader and gentleman, the late Mr. Sidney Riddell, who in those days could ring a 500 of Stedman for matins with one band, and for Evensong a quarter peal of Grandsire with an entirely different band. We did not aspire to Major very much, and, of course, Surprise methods were only read of in the 'R.W.', but what mattered was that we had a wonderfully happy and loyal band, whose only interest was good Sunday service ringing, good striking, together with good and happy comradeship.

I retired from active ringing some six years ago, but I still take 'The Ringing World,' and when I read George Gilbert's letter it gave me a great thrill; and I say let's have many more like him, and ringing would be all the better for it.—Yours truly,

ALFRED J. WHITTLE.

THE EGHAM PEAL

Dear Sir,—Mr. Coussins' letter regarding the peal rung at Egham on May 17th (not 24th) was a gross distortion of the facts, obviously intended to mislead. Mr. Gilbert, who was not in the peal, nor heard it, and obviously took no trouble to verify the facts from any of the seven other participants, has made some libellous innuendos, besides his insulting remarks about 'two of the ladies' who were not the people responsible for the poor ringing.

The facts are:—

(a) The peal was correctly called by the conductor, without recourse to any manuscript, which, in fact, was too distant for him to read, and was obscured by the body of another ringer.

(b) His 'co-pilot,' with no previous knowledge of the composition, was asked to 'keep an eye on' the peal, which he did by a hasty memorisation of the calling and a rigid concentration on the coursing order. No trips were corrected by reference to any figures.

(c) The peal was perfectly true, or it would not have been submitted for publication. The 6-3 were not over 'for some time,' but for a few changes, which rows with the third in 6th's place did not occur anywhere else in the peal. This was the only occasion throughout the peal when two bells crossed, and resulted from one of the offenders not doing what he was told when the trip occurred.

(d) The ringing was poor, but if Mr. Coussins, a good 'back-ender,' had helped by ringing a heavier bell instead of grasping the treble, the striking would have been vastly improved. He did protest that he did not want his name forwarded with the peal, and immediately swaggered out of the tower, whereupon one participant remarked: 'Why, I didn't think there was anything wrong with it!' If Mr. Coussins has no desire to include this peal in his personal records that is entirely his affair.

Taking into consideration the inexperience of the conductor and the band, the truth of the peal, and the great disappointment three or four young ringers would have suffered had it not been published, the peal was forwarded.

We are sorry if Egham's tower secretary was offended by our ringing apparently without his knowledge, and tender our apologies. As for the peal 'turning out to be a practice meeting,' what is any peal but a practice? Surely that is the justification for any peal. If peals are rung only by expert ringers purely for pleasure, then peal ringing should be banned.—Yours faithfully,

A. E. HARTLEY.

A RINGING HOLIDAY IN CORNWALL

'HAVE you got a tower beginning with each possible letter of the alphabet?' It was this question which led to a recent tour in Cornwall by six ringers from Gloucestershire, Somerset and Surrey; two from each county. Cornwall offered Jacobstow and Veryan, the towers necessary to complete their records. Those who have previously visited this county will know that it is definitely not flat! The six learnt this the hard way—on bicycles. It appears that after such hard journeys to his towers, the Cornish ringer conserves further energy in several subtle ways. Most of the rings of bells visited were very light (compared to the Somerset men's standards), and the bells are generally rung from the ground floor—no matter how high the tower! In addition, many of the towers are cunningly concealed in most out-of-the-way spots, and it soon became apparent that 1" O.S. maps would have been preferable to smaller scale editions.

In this 'call-change' country, probably less visited by the 'scientifics' than other parts of England, many other interesting traditions were found. The rope-ends are cut off and only tucked back some six inches—some, indeed, preferred a simple knot at the end! The country ringer loves a ringing festival, and many towers are festooned with the class certificates awarded at these. Some also have a low opinion of the abilities of a 'scientific' band to 'rise' and 'fall' properly in peal, but we did our best to rectify this theory.

The six met at Truro on Sunday, July 7th. Mike Rothwell and Pat Bird had experienced some of the trials to come by cycling down from Somerset, while Pauline and Michael Sprackling, Alan Smith and his father had preferred the train. That evening we joined the Cathedral company in ringing Grandsire Caters on the heaviest ring of the tour, before attending Evensong.

A FAIRY TALE

Monday dawned fine and warm, and we experienced our first hills on the way to Kea, a pretty eight, and the quaintly-named Perran-Ar-Worthal. Gwennap proved very interesting, this being a light six with the third dating to 1727 and the fifth to 1746. They were recast and augmented by Warners and the first 'peal' took place in 1787. The detached tower aroused interest and the Vicar told how the populace of a neighbouring village had once decided to augment their three bells by some from Gwennap, but finding the door locked decided to take the whole tower. Having carried it a small distance from the church they found it too heavy and put it down on the spot on which it stands today. A more likely tale is that the tower was built further up the hill to make it more prominent.

At Kenwyn we were able to hear all the eight when Mr. R. A. Southwood kindly rang 6-7 to rounds. Later we enjoyed the six at St. Erme, whose ringers have done very well in recent ringing festivals. Probus has a grand tower and ring (8, 20 cwt.) more in the Somerset style. It is the tallest tower in Cornwall and has one of the very few upstairs ringing chambers which we encountered. The bells are very good and we wish we could have heard all eight. At Veryan the 'V' was happily noted in 'Dove,' and it was a tired party that eventually found Boswinger Y.H. that evening.

By Tuesday a restful evening on the beach and a paddle in the sea had put us right and we arrived early at St. Ewe. Here is a light six hung two upon two upon two in the spire. The only noticeable effect of this arrangement in the ground floor ringing chamber is the amount of plaster which has fallen down from a space between the nave and the tower! St. Mewan and St. Austell followed; the latter displays a feature noted in several of the churches visited, the chancel is bent slightly to the left with respect to the rest of the church. After lunch we went on to Tywardreath. Here Mike thought that his bell had no stay, but the local Vicar doubted his deduction, with the result that the bell went over just as a ringer reached the church to warn us. Fowey left us wishing for two more ringers, while Lanteglos proved most elusive. The church was easily seen but only reached after nearly circling it by road and crossing a field. It has a deceptively tall tower since it is built in a hollow while the ringing takes place from apparently below ground level. Two more light sixes completed the day's ringing—St. Veep, which reputedly have never been tuned, and St. Winnow, where water leaps against the church wall when the tide is in.

Wednesday's ringing commenced at Lostwithiel, where a great welcome was extended by the Vicar and local captain. Lanhydrock is an estate church beside a picturesque Elizabethan mansion. Here is a light eight apparently not rung often — the rope on the third broke below the sally while the rise was in progress. There is a ninth bell in the tower which would appear to be a properly hung sanctus bell. Bodmin was followed by Withiel, where ringing was curtailed when the third slipped wheel and set at backstroke, and the key to the belfry could not be found.

A WONDERFUL JOB

St. Columb Minor is the second highest tower in Cornwall, and its ringers have done a wonderful job in decorating and furnishing the ringing chamber. St. Eval is another of those churches to be seen but not reached. It is almost ringed by an airfield and the guards would 'certainly not' let us take a short cut up the main runway! Here we found with some dismay that Oxford Little Court 'doesn't work.'

Thursday morning, with the fine weather still holding, found us ringing at St. Merryn. Padstow and Little Petherick followed; at the former the bells are a little odd-struck, while the latter's appear to 'stick' both at hand- and at back-stroke. St. Issey and St. Breock both pleased, while Egloshayle's are a grand eight. Up to this time we had not met a rough ring, but St. Tudy's was to prove the exception: the six 'go' more like twice the weight. Pauline's bell set rather prematurely in the rise and refused to come out again even with all her weight on the rope! St. Teath's are a pretty six and the rise, 240 of Grandsire Doubles, and fall were tape-recorded by a gentleman from Calcutta. The play-back appeared quite good considering that the band were somewhat uncomfortably placed due to the absence of stays on the front three. Advent, with one of England's lightest fives (3 cwt. 2 qr. 24 lb.), was approached (across its surrounding fields!) with some trepidation, but they are a ring to be enjoyed once handling has been mastered, and here Pauline rang her first tenor.

THE VICAR WARNED

Tintagel was visited early the next morning, followed by St. Juliot and Lesnewth. At Jacobstowe Mike, with his usual misfortune, could not raise the third above frame height and even Alan's and Mr. Smith's ingenuity failed to do better. A very large key opened a very small door to the belfry, which had been left in a shocking condition by our 'feathered friends.' To say that the bell was loose on the headstock would be a gross understatement, since both that and the stay could be moved freely through some 15 degrees. The fittings had gouged deeply into the rotten wood of the headstock, which could be powdered away in the hand. We regretfully advised the Vicar that the bell should on no account be rung again until properly restored. Hence we completed our alphabetical tower record on the other five. At Poundstock we managed the elusive course of Tewkesbury, much to Pauline's and Michael's delight. Marhamchurch bells are an excellent six, while Launcells and Week St. Mary's are also most enjoyable.

Saturday dawned our only wet day, but we reached Launceston safely, if a little wet, and were soon at St. Stephen's enjoying the back six, which were cast by Pennington. The light six at St. Thomas' was our last, and the ringing chamber here must rank as one of the smallest in England.

It was a tired but happy party which bade each other farewell at Launceston Station, none too soon, perhaps; the weather had broken and the bikes were beginning to crack up under the strain of almost 200 miles of rough roads covered; indeed, Alan's almost fell apart the next day! Our chief memories are of the unbelievably fine weather, of the interesting and enjoyable ringing in 54 methods, and of the Cornishman's usual directional advice: 'Just along there, turn right and straight up."! Our sincere thanks go to all incumbents and ringers who met us, and a very big 'thank you' to Alan Smith from the other five of us for all the work he put in organising such a marathon.

HILLINGDON RINGERS' OUTING

On August 16th, members and friends of St. John's, Hillingdon, held their second half-day outing. Leaving the church at 1 p.m., the party toured by coach through Surrey. A stop was first made at the Devil's Punchbowl, Hindhead. Then on to Haslemere, where some good ringing was had on the ten bells. Then to Milford, where the company had tea. From there to Leatherhead via Dorking, where the ten bells were rung from Grandsire to Cambridge Royal. The party returned to Hillingdon at 11 p.m. The outing was very well organised by the captain, Mr. F. W. Goodfellow. T. G. B.

UNRINGABLE BELLS IN ESSEX

Dear Sir,—It may be of interest to anyone organising outings in Essex to have a list of the unringable bells in the county, thus avoiding unnecessary correspondence and wasted time.

Rings of eight: Belchamp Walter, Dedham, St. Mary-the-Virgin, Ilford.

Rings of six: Ashdon, Great Chesterford, Helion Bumpstead, Maldon, Ridgewell, Steeple Bumpstead, West Ham (Holy Trinity, Canning Town), bells removed.

Rings of five: Aveley, Little Bentley, Blackmore, Great Burstead, Canewdon, Great Clacton, Hadstock, Hempstead, Henham, Horndon-on-the-Hill, Latton, Layer de la Haye, West Mersea, Navestock, Ramsey, Great Sampford, Stambourne, Theydon Garnon, West Tilbury, Toppesfield, White Roding.

There appears to be some doubt as to the condition of Heydon, Pentlow and Rickling bells. Pentlow's were given as unringable by Deedes and Walters in their 'Church Bells of Essex' 50 years ago, and Rickling's as neglected. Good Easter's are a tricky proposition due to an organ in the way, but probably could be rung—Yours sincerely,

J. E. G. ROAST.

SURPRISE MAJOR COMPOSITION QUALITIES

By P. G. K. DAVIES

IN recent months there have appeared some excellent articles on the qualities and originality of compositions. Little, however, has been said in detail on the possibilities of Surprise Major; and considering the popularity of these methods it would be perhaps worth while to have a glance at a few of them in connection with their flexibility in composition.

It is only too well known that Cambridge does not provide much scope in composition, Middleton's unmusical peal being the only one with the tenors together. However, in Yorkshire you needn't have 82's or 83's if you don't want them, and there are available nine of the 18 courses with 4-5-6 only in 5-6 (combination courses). Now as this is only half the number anyway the best peals would seem to be those with nine combinations and not less. Yet the most popular peal is Pitstow's (the Doxology) with six—a mere third of the musical courses. The popularity is no doubt due to its simplicity, but Craven's 3-part is not much more complicated and better. I give a variation of the well-known 3-part with the 2nd only six times in 5th's—the minimum for a 3-part. Other examples of good peals abound in the Central Council Collection and elsewhere.

Twice repeated.

In Rutland one can obtain all the 18 combination courses, which involves the use of many hobs. An excellent example is this 5,056 by S. Ivin, with 69 bobs:—

If one wants less calls one has to have fewer combinations, and a very popular peal is this with 12 combinations and 45 bobs.

It seems futile to call compositions with more bobs and less music. I have one in front of me with nine combinations (obtainable with 33 calls) and 96 bobs—in my opinion, a worthless peal.

Belgrave is quite often rung, and as there is no falseness between Middle and Wrong, extra (i.e., more than nine) combinations can and have been obtained at the course-end. Unfortunately, this means having 82's or 83's elsewhere and one will probably land up with a few leads of inferior music. Here is an example with ten combinations—but 82's B. to M.

The following has one combination course less and one course less of 82's and 83's, having extent qualities with three bells only in 6th's place. It is a 5,024 which I put together:—

Turning away from Cambridge above to Cambridge below we come to Pudsey, again quite a popular method. Often compositions of Yorkshire are called to this method, but one might as well take advantage of there being less falseness in what is not the most musical of methods—and several good compositions of 'Pudsey only' exist. You can have 15 combinations without 2 or 3 in 6th's—a considerable increase on Yorkshire's nine. There are several simple ones in parts. I give a 5,184 with the 15 combinations and the 6th ten times home.

Lastly, a word about an 8th's place method —Cornwall. This is one of the few methods in which all the 144 combination roll-ups (i.e., the 5678's, 6578's, 4678's, 6478's, 4578's and 5478's) occur in 18 natural courses, all of which are obtainable. It has the little 4-bell peal, rather effective when 5678 are dodging in 1234, a characteristic of methods with Ealing below. This method is only occasionally rung to peals and is acknowledged as being extremely musical. It has no defects such as four places at a cross-section, or adjacent place-making on the front.

The purpose of these lines is to focus a little attention on Surprise compositions and to encourage the calling of good compositions, which as has been said before, are sometimes but not always harder to call than poor ones. If conductors insist of getting what they want they will enjoy music as good as the method will produce, and foster the composer's art at its best.

THE RYE WEDDING

Two well-known Oxford ringers were married on July 26th at St. Mary's, Rye. Ruth Storr Hodgson was a physiotherapist at St. Mary's Hospital, London, and then at the Churchill Hospital, Oxford, and was taught to ring by her brothers, Robin and David. Donald Henry Niblett took a First Class Degree at Oxford in Physics and then did research at the Clarendon Laboratory for his doctorate. He is now a pressed steel research Fellow. He was taught to ring at Mickleton, Glos.

On the eve of the wedding a peal was rung (with Donald conducting) at New Romney. Before and after the service Rye bells were rung by the local band (captain, A. J. Hicks).

Wearing a cream brocade dress and a Limerick lace veil, which has been in her family 96 years, the bride was attended by Miss Elizabeth Yates and Miss Patricia Aitken in pale turquoise brocade. The best man was Mr. Colin Taylor, from Bath. The Vicar officiated.

The sun, which had been absent all morning, appeared as the happy pair left the church on the way to the reception held, by kind permission of the Mayor, in the Town Hall. Mrs. Hodgson had arranged a magnificent spread, attended by 60 guests with a leavening of ringers, including Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Hicks, Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Cloke, Messrs. R. A. and D. Hodgson, R. N. Pittman, P. R. Sanders, D. J. Roaf and R. Niblett.

Colin and Donald made amusing speeches, and then Ruth, in a silk floral going-away dress with pink duster-coat and white accessories, and Donald left for Dover (where they rang next morning), Luxembourg and Switzerland, where the bulk of the honeymoon was spent.

No Tea Break

Telephone conversation with a Kent incumbent:—

'Hello, is that Rev. C——?'

'Yes.'

'Will it be possible for us to come and ring a peal on your bells on Saturday?'

'Yes, by all means. What time will you come?'

'Oh, about half-past three, if that's convenient.'

'Certainly. How long will it take?'

'Er, about three hours'

'WHAT! But—er, but—er, what are you going to do about tea?'

GUILD of DEVONSHIRE RINGERS

St. Mary's, Kentisbeare, with its recent ring of six (tenor 10¼ cwt.) was the meeting place on August 16th for many ringers from towers in West Somerset and Devon, some 60 ringers being in attendance during afternoon and evening.

The service was conducted by the Guild president, the Rector of Kentisbeare being on holiday. The Rev. Preb. E. V. Cox welcomed all to Kentisbeare with its lovely church and bells. A collection for the Guild bells restoration fund amounted to £2 4s. 6d.

Arrangements for tea were made by Mr. L. G. Leath and his fellow ringers and their wives. This was very much enjoyed.

The Rev. E. E. Hughes (Branch chairman) presided at the business meeting. It was decided to hold an evening meeting at Silverton in October. The chairman reminded the meeting that the Branch Secretary would be resigning at the next annual general meeting. A vote of thanks to all was carried with acclamation.

Methods rung were Grandsire, Stedman, Bob Minor, Kent and Cambridge. Messrs. Taylors and Mr. J. Walker, who did the work at Kentisbeare in restoring the old frame and recasting the bells, are to be congratulated on a fine ring of six, much enjoyed by all. W. H. W.

THE RINGING WORLD

OFFICIAL JOURNAL OF THE CENTRAL COUNCIL OF CHURCH BELL RINGERS

'The Ringing World' was founded in the year 1911 by John Sparkes Goldsmith, who remained its proprietor and editor until his death in 1942.

No. 2475 Vol. LIV. FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 5, 1958 Registered at the G.P.O. for transmission as a newspaper. 6d.

SUNDAY SERVICE RINGING

THE Committee appointed at Dublin to conduct the review of Sunday service bands and ringing have got through the difficult preliminaries and, as will be seen from this issue of 'The Ringing World,' have circulated to the territorial Associations the 21 questions on which they require information. The task now devolves upon the Associations and through them on to the Districts. Because of the importance we attach to this inquiry we print in this issue the full correspondence that is in the hands of each territorial secretary. This must be disseminated as quickly as possible and each tower must be ready and willing to co-operate to the fullest extent.

The Committee in their letter state: 'We are anxious that surveys should be factual and that no attempt be made to make the state of Sunday service ringing appear either better or worse than it really is.' The most difficult of questions to answer, and one which the Committee regard as very important, is 'Number of towers where ringing is completely satisfactory, i.e., properly ringing most of the bells twice each Sunday.' To come under this heading as 'completely satisfactory,' some would regard one of the four Standard Methods in Triples or Major and Doubles and Minor with cover bells as unsatisfactory on eight bells. Examination of our quarter peal columns—it can be taken most of these performances are by Sunday service bands—reveals the prevalence of the introduction of cover bells. Then again it is assumed that towers ringing call changes would be regarded as unsatisfactory, but here again if the ringing is rhythmic it would be regarded in the eyes of the Church as meeting the requirements of the congregation as a call to worship. These are questions which Associations will have to decide for themselves and it is possible that the Committee will give them some guidance.

Fortunately there are many towers in each Association's area where no difficulties will arise in answering this question, but their number will be more than trebled by borderline towers who will have a difficulty. The bells might be manned to 100 per cent., but the ringing could not be regarded as fulfilling the desires of the Exercise. Probably the definition would be nearer to satisfaction if the number of ringers regularly attending who were able to ring a method on a working bell were equal to the number of ropes. Reports of Guilds and Associations with lists of members attached give no guide to proficiency. In many Associations membership is swelled by admitting people as soon as they can ring rounds competently. Another difficulty is the desultory Sunday service ringer; on paper a band looks highly proficient with its quota of experienced ringers, but when the test of attendance is applied it will be found that probationers are endeavouring to fill the gaps.

What should be the role of probationers in Sunday service ringing? As soon as a probationer has reached the stage when he or she can ring rounds tolerably there should be an opportunity to take some minor part in the Sunday service ringing. In half an hour's ringing for service five minutes should be allocated to probationers, and not merely tolling the five minutes bell. It is essential not only for maintaining interest but for instilling as soon as possible a sense of vocation. While we ring bells for pleasure, there is behind it the sense of responsibility and duty and in many ringers' minds an act of worship.

The tower we feel sorry for is the highly proficient one with no probationers. That tower's period of usefulness to the Church is limited. Where there is young life and enthusiasm, even if the ringing to-day does not come under the heading of 'satisfactory,' there is hope for the future. Enthusiasm, if properly led, and we would add with a sense of churchmanship prevailing in the tower, will enable a tower in two or three years to fulfil its proper obligations. The Yorkshire survey places first in the factors which have contributed to success—church membership, and if this is kept constantly to the fore in recruitment and among members of the Exercise, then we are progressing along the right path. While there are ringers who proudly display their lists of hundreds of towers they have visited, Sunday should not be spent in touring the countryside 'grabbing' here and there, except on holiday. The obligation for 48 to 50 weeks of the year is the home tower. Then ringing is approaching what is desired by the Church—the bells being rung to the glory of God.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Lewisham District

Owing to the incidence of holidays, the allure of a fine ring of ten bells in a magnificent church attracted only 20 ringers to St. George's, Beckenham, on July 26th, for the Lewisham District's quarterly meeting. Ringing during the afternoon and evening was directed by Mr. A. S. Richards (Ringing Master).

The service, full Evensong, held in the church, was conducted by the Rector (Rev. T. C. Hammond). The organist added greatly to the tone of a very pleasant office.

After tea, the business meeting was held in the Church Hall, Mr. A. S. Richards presiding. Two ringers were elected practising members of the Association.

St. Luke's, Bromley Common, was chosen for the annual District meeting, to be held on October 25th, and the date of the combined meeting with the Surrey Association confirmed —October 11th, at St. Alfege's, Greenwich.

Information was given of the dedication of a new church at Nottingham: one of the few (perhaps the only) post-war constructions with provision of facilities for the possible installation of a ring of eight bells, at some future date.

Votes of thanks to the Rector, the organist, and to Mrs. Rawlings for arranging the meeting, and an appreciation of the presence of Mr. J. Bennett, of Grundisburgh, concluded the business.

Eastern District

In spite of the unaccountable absence of a 'notice of meeting' in the columns of 'The Ringing World,' the meeting at Great Hormead on August 16th was quite a success. Advertisement within the District brought a total of 18 ringers representing 12 towers. These were not all able to be present before tea, however, and only a few were able to enjoy the service conducted by the Vicar, who gave a very interesting and unusual address based upon bells and their history.

It was a pity there were no more present to enjoy the fine tea which the local ladies are so expert at providing.

From the ringing viewpoint the numbers present were quite adequate for the small ringing chamber, and everybody was catered for by Grandsire, Plain Bob, Oxford Bob, Treble Bob and Cambridge. The local band were given as much opportunity as possible to gain practice with more experienced change-ringers—an opportunity which very rarely comes their way, as their calling permits no regular summer practice and the weather and isolated position discourage visitors during the winter.

Ringing continued until shortly after 8 p.m., when the meeting was adjourned and translated to 'another place.' T. J. S.

ASFORDBY, LEICESTERSHIRE.—On Aug. 21st, 1,260 Plain Bob Minor: Miss C. Wheeler 1, Mrs. D. Day (first 'inside') 2, H. T. Bonshor 3, J. Day 4, R. H. Cook 5, J. H. Cook (cond.) 6. A compliment to Mr. and Mrs. Richard E. Manton, of Melton Mowbray, on the birth of a son (Stephen Richard). Also a wedding anniversary compliment to Mr. and Mrs. Day.

WEDDING

Mr. A. Anthony Jaques — Miss Irene M. Caswell

The wedding took place, at Nantwich Parish Church, on August 16th of Mr. Alan Anthony Jaques, of Westbury-on-Trym, Bristol, and Miss Irene Margaret Caswell, of Nantwich. Both are local ringers.

The bridegroom and the best man, also three guests from Nottingham, took part in the pre-service ringing, and the local ringers rang to welcome the bride to the church.

The service, conducted by the Rector (Rev. E. M. B. Southwell) and accompanied by the organist (Mr. H. G. Kirkham), included the Guild bell-ringers' hymn 'Praise my soul.' The bride, who was dressed in white, was attended by one bridesmaid and two small attendants.

After the service the bells were again rung and 'fired.' The reception was held at The Cheshire Cat. The bride is a former member of the Girl Guides, who formed the guard of honour.

Mr. and Mrs. Jaques spent their honeymoon at Torquay.

BELFRY GOSSIP

Mr. W. A. J. Knight, of Gillingham, who on August 23rd conducted his 100th peal, conducted his first peal (Stedman Triples) at Gillingham on October 16th, 1937. Of the band who rang on that occasion there are only two other survivors—Mr. C. E. J. Norris and Mr. Francis J. Cheal. Mr. Norris rang in the centenary peal.

St. Mary Cray band was impressed by the masterly way Mr. S. Hardy handled his bell in the ringing for his 81st birthday. 'Many more happy hours' ringing, Steve.'

Bells will be heard prior to the evening service to be broadcast from St. Paul's Church, Bedford, on Sunday, September 14th, at 7.45 p.m. in the Home Service. The captain of ringers is Mr. S. Foskett.

Mr. R. D. Short, of Bridgwater, rang in his 1,000th tower on August 23rd. It was at Great Tew during a half day's outing arranged by Oxfordshire friends. He writes that he is greatly indebted to many friends in various parts of the country with whom he had joined in tours and outings to make this total possible.

Mr. William Shone (82), who has completed 55 years as a ringer at Heswall Parish Church Cheshire, was honoured on August 24th when a peal tablet inscribed by hand and framed in oak recording his long and faithful service was unveiled in the belfry by the Rector, the Rev. Kenneth Lee. The peal, 5,040 Minor in three methods, was rung by members of the Wirral Branch on May 31st, and was the first to be rung in the tower since the bells were augmented. Paying tribute to Mr. Shone's fine record, the Rector said he regarded his art as one dedicated to the service of God. His example had inspired them to give their best and to feel a sense of duty and responsibility.

Of the 11 beginners who started ringing at Dereham, Norfolk, last October, two—G. Buckle and T. Pett—rang their first peal (Minor in two methods) at Gressenhall on August 13th. Gressenhall was chosen for the first peal on account of tenor weights—10 cwt. as against the home tower's 23 cwt. We congratulate Mr. G. P. Adams and others at Dereham on good spadework.

The peal of Bristol Surprise rung at Shepton Mallet by Mr. David Hoare's 'Wednesday band' was the second peal in the method rung by a resident band of the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association. The other peal was at Taunton in 1935. Four unsuccessful attempts for this peal had been made during the past year.

With his words of congratulation to the band who rang the peal at East Woodhay, Hants, on August 17th, Col. Pearce, a churchwarden, brought a jug of iced lemonade, which was much appreciated. Six ringers who work on his estate ring at East Woodhay, and the Colonel has presented each of them with a badge engraved with the name of the estate. It is doubtful if any other estate in England so recognises its ringers.

Correction.—Mr. Francis R. Lowe writes re peal of Kent and Oxford T.B. Royal, rung at Duffield on August 2nd ('R.W.', page 538), that he rang the second and not the third in this peal, as submitted, and also 'circled the tower' on this bell. The footnote of 'First for all' is also wrong, as he has rung both Major and Royal before in this variation. The last peal of Kent and Oxford Royal he rang was at Derby Cathedral on May 20th, 1950. This, incidentally, corrects a statement on 'treble ten' at the Cathedral, made in a recent 'Leader' by the Rev. K. W. H. Felstead.

COMMITTEE ON SUNDAY SERVICE RINGING APPROACH ASSOCIATIONS

To the Editor

Dear Sir,—I enclose a copy of a letter and the enclosure thereto which have just been sent out to general secretaries of territorial Guilds, Associations and Societies whose names appear in the Ringers' Diary. As the work of this Committee is the concern of every tower and ringer in the land, and as much work in a limited time is involved, we shall be grateful if you will kindly publish this correspondence so that members of the various Associations will have time before their next meeting to give thought to the matter. It is hoped that they will then encourage their Associations to undertake the survey requested since we believe that apart from producing reliable statistics, the Associations and their work will benefit from the interest stimulated and the detailed knowledge acquired concerning the state of ringing throughout their area.

It will help if you will also publish the list of territorial Associations which have been circulated since, quite possibly, there may be some that have been inadvertently omitted. If so, I shall be grateful if their secretaries will write to me for details. I should also be pleased to send copies of the correspondence to any other Associations or Societies whose areas do not include towers already covered by the Associations which have been circulated. Non-territorial Associations can help by sending to Mr. Gray lists of comments and suggestions (Nos. 1 to 5).

We are encouraged that work on this survey has already started in two Association areas and another Association has offered wholehearted co-operation.—Yours sincerely,

NORMAN CHADDOCK, Convener,
Central Council Committee on Sunday Service Ringing.

TO 39 TERRITORIAL ASSOCIATIONS

Dear Sir,—In order to assist the above Committee to carry out a survey on Sunday service bands and ringing with a view to helping and acting as a 'clearing house of information' between Associations, Guilds and Societies, we shall be grateful if you will kindly supply the information asked for on the enclosed form, if possible not later than December 31st, 1958. Further copies of this form will be sent to you on request to Mr. Chaddock.

It is realised that this will involve much work by those your Association request to prepare the information, but we feel it is well worth while and that some additional interest will be stimulated in helping struggling bands and individuals in their efforts to progress. We also feel that Associations and their work will benefit by their carrying out this survey.

Page 387 of 'The Ringing World,' dated June 13th, 1958, gives some indication of the possible work of the above-named Committee, but without your help, co-operation and suggestions, little can be achieved.

We, therefore, earnestly appeal to your Association to do all in its power to help this Committee in carrying out its task.

Possibly you may be able to combine this survey with some other worthwhile project concerning the work of your Association. Whatever form of survey your Association may decide to undertake must be left in their hands, but the information we request will be of great assistance in estimating the extent of the problem and will indicate possible remedies.

A similar survey recently carried out in Yorkshire yielded valuable information and we enclose a few extracts therefrom which may be of general interest. In this survey the towers were tabulated across the top of the page and questions down the left-hand side, to facilitate the preparation of the summary.

We are anxious that surveys should be factual and that no attempt be made to make the state of Sunday service ringing appear either better or worse than it really is.

Will you kindly bring this request before your Association at their next meeting and let the convener know, in due course, whether they agree to undertake such a survey. Results of surveys, when completed, should be sent to Mr. P. Gray, Orana, Eastmead Lane, Stoke Bishop, Bristol, 9.—Yours sincerely,

PHILIP GRAY, REV. J. SCOTT,
REV. G. THURLOW, FRANK B. LUFKIN,
(Convener) NORMAN CHADDOCK,

FORMS FOR SURVEY

To assist Associations in completing their Survey, 'The Ringing World' is having printed forms similar to that appearing in this issue.

EXTRACTS FROM REPORT ON SURVEY IN YORKSHIRE

Many ringers and even vicars refer to the clergy's lack of interest.

Only two towers have asked Local Education Authorities to provide an instructor, and in both cases one has been appointed. Few people realise that this is possible provided a regular weekly attendance of about eight can be maintained.

Whilst an improvement calls for a sacrifice by town ringers on behalf of remote country districts, the former may ultimately benefit by an influx of ringers due to movement to towns for work, etc.

There is need for organised effort to create interest in parishes, in Church groups such as youth clubs, Scouts, Guides, etc.

There is a failure to realise that ringers can be a useful group within the Church, and that ringing provides an opportunity to occupy youth club members, etc., and retain them within the fellowship of the Church.

Many clergy realise the value of change-ringing and methods as a means of stimulating interest in a band. For long term success get on to change-ringing as soon as possible, making use of handbells initially.

SUGGESTIONS FOR IMPROVING SUNDAY SERVICE RINGING

Demonstrations and recruiting talks to likely recruits, parish authorities, etc.

Opportunity to receive instruction from proper tutor.

Very many replies strongly pleaded for the above.

Bring visiting teams to help local ringers (many replies).

Recruit from regular churchgoers (a good number of replies).

Clergy the key to the situation. Approach theological colleges. Ordination candidates should be shown how valuable bell-ringing can be.

Evangelisation of ringers.

More opportunity for learners at ringing meetings.

Encourage attendance at ringing meetings.

Get more ringers to attend church.

Basic reassessment of spirit in which we ring.

'Wean the youngsters from Rock-'n'-Roll—it's a crusade that's called for.'

Get Associations to think in terms of bands rather than individuals.

Careful selection of recruits.

Virile leadership.

Missionary work by good ringer/instructor.

Raise a fund for travelling expenses of instructors.

Open practices for less experienced and learners (organised).

Keep bells in better mechanical condition and make belfries pleasant places to be in.

Teach recruits whilst you have a good band.

More publicity (of the proper kind) for the Exercise—church literature, press, television, B.B.C., etc.

Secure the help and co-operation of education authorities.

VANCOUVER HONOURS MEMORY OF MR. A. C. LIMPUS

On Sunday, July 13th, a unique event took place in the ringing chamber at The Cathedral of Our Lady of the Holy Rosary, Vancouver, British Columbia.

A plaque was unveiled to commemorate the work of Alfred Claude Limpus, who died in 1952. It was solely by his perseverance and hard work, amidst amazing difficulties that dogged him at every turn over a period of some six years, that Vancouver was honoured to have the first ring of bells in all Canada, hung for change ringing.

The story was fully recorded in the pages of 'The Ringing World' on August 18th and August 25th, 1916, by Mr. Limpus. It surely must be the most amazing story to be encountered in the whole history of the 'art,' in the endeavours of one man to arrange to have bells hung 'English style' when a set of seven bells had already travelled some 20,000 miles from France (there was no Panama Canal in those days) and had been hung for ringing in the Continental manner.

The eight bells were hung in their present form in 1909 and the tower remained the only one in Western Canada (where English style ringing is practised) until a second ring arrived, for Christchurch Cathedral, in Victoria, some 27 years later. The first peal to be rung in all Canada, and the only peal so far rung in this tower, took place on Dominion Day, July 1st, 1911, and was officially designated as a 'Coronation Peal' by the late King George V. himself. The peal was of 5,040 changes of Grandsire Triples. Since that time to the present day the tower's ringers have continued to celebrate Royal occasions and to correspond with members of the Royal Family.

The commemorative plaque was made in Gloucestershire, England, out of solid English oak, all the lettering being deeply hand-carved to ensure an everlasting historical record. It was unveiled by the late Mr. Limpus' eldest daughter, who had made a special trip to Vancouver from her home in San Francisco, U.S.A., for the occasion. The Rector of the Cathedral gave a short address, in which he affirmed the support of the church to the ringing of their bells, and expressed how particularly glad he was that the present ringers had thought fit to raise some memorial to the late Mr. Limpus.

The Vancouver Society of Change Ringers were fortunate in having presented to them by the Limpus family a set of handbells that had belonged to Mr. Limpus, and also a much-treasured copy of the specially printed and bound edition of 'History of the Installation of the Bells of Holy Rosary Cathedral, Vancouver, B.C., and the peal rung thereon.' A copy was presented to the Queen Mother, Queen Elizabeth, in 1948, and another rests in the Vancouver City archives.

The transcription on the plaque reads:—

'This records that solely through the inspiration of
ALFRED CLAUDE LIMPUS
1868—1952
The bells in this tower were the first to be hung in Canada for change ringing.

ALLIANCE METHODS

Dear Sir,—Mr. Vernon Taylor will be glad to know that A. G. Driver's papers show Algarkirk Alliance Minor was published in 'The Ringing World' of January 24th, 1936. He lists 74 'ordinary' and 70 'special' methods, and it is evident that he had done some research into the latter before the 'Very Little' methods with which they splice had been published as Bastow and Kent Little Court, as the former is shown under the name 'Ganny Gunter,' first given to it in 'The Ringing World' of June 24th, 1921. 'I suspect,' Mr. Driver remarked in another book, 'the originator is Rev. E. B. James.'

I expect the Methods Committee have all the above methods but I will confirm this direct with Mr. Felstead.—Yours faithfully,

E. A. BARNETT.

Crayford, Kent.

THE BRIDGNORTH TENOR

Dear Sir, — The weight of St. Leonard's, Bridgnorth, tenor, 18 cwt. 18 lb., was supplied by Taylors, who rehung these bells about five years ago, and is, therefore, the correct weight.

I gather that this is a Warner bell and it is probable, therefore, that the 'noble lady' never had as great a middle-age spread to shed as Mr. Morris supposes, for Warners were notoriously prone to exaggerate their weights.

St. Nicholas', Liverpool, old tenor, for example, was stated to weigh 39¼ cwt., but was found to weigh several hundredweights less, and this was by no means an isolated instance. I am afraid that all Warner's published weights are suspect.

The divergence between their published weights and reality is often so great that one wonders whether Warners weighed the clapper and headstock along with the bell, for there would seem to be nothing to be gained by publishing weights which were palpably false. —Yours truly

R H. DOVE.

Leeds.

Dear Sir, I was interested to see Mr. Morris' letter respecting the weight of the tenor at St. Leonard's, Bridgnorth, and can confirm that the weight I gave was taken from 'Dove.' I should guess that 18 cwt. 18 lb. is correct, though since the bells run so easily it is possible we were humping 21 cwt. around without knowing it. Perhaps Mr. H. G. Thomas could settle the question?

I can also confirm that I am a 'he' and not a 'her.' (No offence taken, of course!) It seems axiomatic that Ringing Masters are masculine in the same way that bells are feminine, not necessarily because of any superior prowess, but because (in my tower, at any rate) the masculine voice is better heard above the melee when we try Stedman Triples by kicking off with a single.—Yours faithfully,

MICHAEL F. HALL.

IN APPRECIATION OF A PEAL

Dear Sir,— A very creditable peal of Cambridge Surprise Major was rung at Hawkley on August 23rd. Several peals have been rung here since the bells were augmented to eight, some of which have provoked severe criticism from an unknown writer, thereby causing considerable disturbance in the minds of my well-known ringing friends.

I had the great joy of listening to this peal from beginning to end, and what a joy it was to hear such beautiful striking throughout the whole peal, not a blow wrong. This is the kind of peal ringing that does great credit to those who took part, and particularly to the Exercise at large, more especially as the peal was rung for the wedding of two local people—Miss Sylvia Scott to Mr. William Penny—who were delighted to hear the bells rung to beautifully. They were more than grateful to all who travelled such great distances to ring one of the best peals that has been rung here. I hope we shall have many more like it.—Yours sincerely,

CHARLES A. POUND.

Hawkley, Hants.

ECCLESFIELD HANDBELL RINGERS

Dear Sir,—We were very pleased to read the article by Mr. Thomas Ogden in the August 22nd issue of 'The Ringing World.' It gave an added incentive to our struggling band to hear that others were still alive and persisting in the fascinating hobby of tune-ringing on handbells.

Our own team began about 1910 with a set of 49 bells, and entered the appropriate division in contest work, though never quite pulling off a win. In 1926 they raised sufficient funds to purchase a fine set of bells—169 in all five chromatic octaves, with numerous duplicate and triplicate bells. These we still practise and perform with occasionally, though like other teams we have our ups and downs.

Our conductor and founder, Fred Whitham, gave up a short while ago owing to age, leaving us with a very extensive library of his arrangements, overtures, marches, waltzes, etc., of which we are very proud. We would very much like to contact other interested parties and have an interchange of ideas, music, etc., and so try to keep alive, as Mr. Ogden suggests, this art of handbell tune-ringing.—Yours sincerely,

WM. C. GREGORY.

ST. PETER'S, FRIMLEY, SURREY

Dear Sir,—We live and learn! 'The Wallington and Carshalton Times' would have us believe that ringing takes place here every Sunday, but they have been misinformed. In 1930 Taylors cast 10 bells in the diatonic scale and two half-notes for this tower, which is too frail to carry a ring of bells hung for ringing and they were hung 'dead' for chiming purposes by means of a clavier.—Yours sincerely,

WILLIAM SHEPHERD.

HANDBELL MUSIC

Dear Sir,—I was very interested in the letters which have appeared in your columns during the past few weeks re handbell music.

I am over 91 years 'young' and have rung handbells for over 74 years, giving programmes in various places in this area, Theatre Royal, and for different organisations such as church fetes, old folk's homes, Over Sixty clubs and also the Salvation Army hostels.

I have had teams of postmen, telegraph messengers, choir boys and old age pensioners, the last-named to the beginning of this year, when the bells we had were disposed of to Messrs. Mears and Stainbank.

Several of your correspondents have explained their method of teaching, all of which entails a lot of transposing from numbers, tonic sol-fa, Morse code, etc., to the actual note of each bell. Fifty years ago I devised a plan which avoided all that, with the result that youngsters who did not 'know music' were able to ring any tune after about four lessons.

As the bells are all marked on the handles, A, B, C, C sharp, etc., why call them 1, 2, 3 or 4, or . —, — . . ¨ — . — , and have to transpose them back? I have a set of sheets for each ringer, the note, rest and each bar of the tune being played being marked. Where the ringer uses four bells the sheet shows in which hand to hold particular bells —two to be rung up and down and two rung sideways.

I have had teams of 4, 5, 6 and 8 ringers and written out sheets for 30 tunes for each of them—690 sheets in all.—Yours sincerely,

ROBERT E. YENDALL.

Note.—Mr. Yendall encloses a photograph taken in 1934 of two Post Office handbell bands—that of the 1888 Postal Staff, with the 1934 messengers of which he was the leader. Mr. Yendall was a member of the 1888 band and they were led by the late Mr. J. McDonald.—Ed.

362,880 GRANDSIRE CATERS

Dear Sir,—I have recently received a letter from 'The Maximus Syndicate' inviting me, not, as might be imagined, to stand in a 12-bell peal, but to take out a share in their football pool forecasting. The address is in Gosport, Hants—I wonder if some of the local ringers are behind it?

What prompted me to write, however, was a train of thought which led back to a famous ringer of the 19th century who ended his days at Gosport — James Hewett. Amongst other things he rang the fifth to the only tower-bell peal in America, at Christ Church, Philadelphia, on June 9th, 1850, while touring with Barnum's 'Greatest Show on Earth,' but my particular interest is in an advertisement which appeared in 'The Bell News' in 1892:—

> A PEAL OF 362,880 GRANDSIRE CATERS, 6d. Contains the full extent of changes on nine bells. By James Hewett, 16, Chapel Row, Gosport.

Has any reader a copy of this peal? I have never seen one, nor do I remember hearing anyone mention having done so.—Yours faithfully,

E. A. BARNETT.

THE UNIVERSITIES' ASSOCIATION SUMMER TOUR

THIS year's U.A. tour was based on Yeovil and Sherborne from August 8th to 16th. Members began arriving on the Friday, and it became clear from the start that the U.A., which is never the easiest group to keep 'organised,' would this time be even more difficult than usual, due to members being quartered in various hotels and guest houses in Yeovil. However, after a meal, all assembled at the first tower of the week, Preston Plunknett, with an easy-going, but very noisy, six.

By Saturday morning several more familiar faces had appeared on the scene, and the tour began in earnest. The first call was East Coker (8), beautifully situated by the 15th century manor, Coker Court. Then through a bewildering maze of lanes to Hardington Mandeville, where the light six were soon tapping merrily. After that came West Coker, a very pleasant eight; and after that—most important—lunch.

CLOCK HAMMER DEFEATS PEAL

Thus fortified, eight members departed to attempt a peal of Yorkshire Major at Ilminster where, sad to relate, after 2¼ hours' good ringing, an argument developed between the tenor and a clock hammer. The clock hammer won!

The rest of the party visited Evershot. Here is a lovely church with an equally lovely Bilbie six. The stay on the second was missing, and with less than five minutes to go, the tenor rope descended in coils on top of the ex-president of the Central Council! So the front five were lowered in a race against the tenor, but the tenor had the last word!

Then over the hills to Cattistock, where the huge tower dwarfs the 19th century church and the Whitechapel eight are superb. The ringing, however, did not live up to the bells. At this tower we were joined by 'one of our leading bell-founders,' who would surely have been gratified had he heard the cheer (from three ladies!) which followed the cry 'Paul's here!' After tea came Yetminster. Here the heavy six proved a handful with their long draught.

MOVE TO SHERBORNE

Sunday morning saw the heavyweight specialists ringing a quarter of Stedman at Sherborne while the remainder rang on the splendid ten at Yeovil—'the lantern of the West'—from 9 to 10 a.m., and then split up to ring on the heavy six at Montacute and the recently augmented six at Trent, with its flower-decked ringing chamber. In this village one member was able to visit her dream house—and a charming place it was!

In the afternoon, besides packing prior to moving to new headquarters at the Half Moon, Sherborne, the party had, for once, no fixed programme. Some visited Montacute House and 'rubbernecked' in the best American tradition; some lost themselves amid the wonderful Dorset lanes, while some visited West Bay, Bridport, where, Reuter reports, 'Jumbo' Seagar went swimming. What an odd coincidence that there should be notices warning of Portuguese men-of-war! At tea time, youngest non-ringing member, aged 2½, arrived in charge of Daddy, and adopted so many honorary aunts and uncles during the week that she has been very bored with home company since!

Service ringing took place at Bradford Abbas (6), Thornford (6) and Sherborne.

Monday found the party in smiling Somerset, with Queen Camel as the first call. These bells are superb, but the rise in peal was poor and the ringing undistinguished. However, a good 'lower' did much to redeem the situation. Castle Cary came next, a fair eight, and then Evercreech, where Ron Pocklington's tape-recorder captured some Cambridge Royal. Lunch was an impromptu affair, and the boot of one car resembled a kitchen dresser due to the amount of cutting up and buttering in progress.

AT GLASTONBURY

Pilton, clinging to its steep hillside, has a fine six, much improved since rehanging. On the hillside opposite, a straggling single-file, led by the indefatigable Ranald Clouston, was observed making an inspection of a noble tithe barn. Then passing the Tor, we reached Glastonbury, where St. John's has a tall, swaying tower, and the good-toned, heavy eight are rough and sadly neglected, while the six in the dignified tower of St. Benedict's are handy and well-kept.

Over the hills then to Somerton, where the fine Warner six hang in an octagonal tower and the chief glory of the church is the 15th century roof. Dinner at the Half Moon was such a leisurely affair that most of the party were unable to visit Crewkerne practice.

Tuesday morning found us at Blandford-Forum, with its pleasant eight, and then at Wimborne Minster, where the ninth clapper was still out. (This broke during a visit by the St. Albans Cathedral Society, and is said to be in the tender care of British Railways en route from the foundry!) Ringing was therefore confined to a curious assortment of eights and sixes. At Poole we were caught in a series of downpours, but the bells were a pleasant ten and the ringing quite fair. Then the weather relented, and the party drove to Bere Regis. While some rang, others admired the wonderfully carved and painted nave roof, surely one of the most astonishing to be found anywhere. Next the programme said 'Milton Abbas,' so to Milton Abbas we went—to find one bell! However, we soon found the eight at Milton Abbey, a gracious building set in lovely parkland, and now a school chapel. The noisy, light eight do not do justice to the church. The local practice at Sherborne was visited in the evening.

HONOURS EVEN

South Petherton came first on Wednesday, a huge octagonal central tower, with a deep-toned eight. Here we were joined by E. M. Atkins. Then on to Shepton Beauchamp (8). Here the men attempted to redeem their failure and rang their non-conducted touch of Stedman. Strange that the light should flicker and that so many otherwise healthy onlookers should sneeze when the bobs were due! Then the ladies took up the challenge and, despite desperate (and noisy!) attempts at sabotage by the men, succeeded in ringing a bob course of Bob Major. Honours were even!

After this came the only 12 of the tour—Taunton—where the richly-carved tower sways and the bells are tricky but sound well. From here, eight members left to ring a successful peal of London at Drayton, while the rest visited Creech St. Michael (6), Curry Rivel (8)—a lovely church—and Kingsbury Episcopi (6), with one of Somerset's finest towers.

In the evening, the annual meeting was in a more sober vein than usual. Concern was expressed that so few new faces were being seen on the tour. As Brian Threlfall had stated that he wished to resign as secretary-treasurer, there was considerable discussion as to a successor. Several new members were elected.

RAIN, FOG AND DENSE TRAFFIC

Thursday dawned wet; but undaunted, we reached Winsham and enjoyed the lively light eight rung from the chancel steps. Finding Whitchurch Canonicorum was a work of art (at least one well-known conductor being more at home conducting from the 'R.W.' rather than from an O.S. map!), but it was worth seeking out this noble church with its rocking tower, deep-toned eight and saint's shrine. Then on, through mist and heavy traffic to Bridport, while some visited Canon C. C. Cox at Morecombelake and others had lunch at West Bay (youngest member seeing the sea for the first time). Ringing followed on the heavy-going eight. On again, through dense hill-fog and even more dense traffic until, leaving the main road, we dropped down a 1-in-5 to Litton Cheney, with a good, light eight. The sun broke through by the time Dorchester was reached, and A. Y.-B.'s Messerschmitt attracted some attention. Seeing the altimeter (!), one passer-by asked where the wings were, and was solemnly informed that they had been left behind! Doubtless they will appear as Mod. No. X.Y.Z. on next year's tour! Dorchester Bob did not progress more than two leads here.

After tea, the party rang at Piddlehinton, with its handy six, and on the way home some stated that they had passed A. Y.-B.'s 'family seat.' This was identified as a coombe near Cerne Abbas—Bramble Bottom (no connection with the giant next door!). That evening, while the rest visited Charlton Horethorne (8), the experts rang a peal of St. Clement's Major 'in hand' in the library of Sherborne Abbey.

A 'Z' IN THE BAG

Friday dawned fine, and Zeals (6) was the first stop. These tuneful bells are spoiled by the dreadful grumbling and shaking up aloft from the worn gudgeons. However, it was a 'Z' in the bag for most of us. Next came Mere, with a fine-toned but heavy-going eight. What a contrast at Hindon! An easy Rudhall six in a plain Victorian church—well situated in relation to places of refreshment! After lunch came Semley (6, 26 cwt.) beside an extensive village green. These noble bells demanded strong men round the back end, but only because of their weight. They went well. The Vicar, who met us, then directed the cars over Semley Common to Shaftesbury where, we were told all three towers were available. However, the party which arrived at St. James' drew a blank, but ringing was enjoyed at both Holy Trinity and St. Peter's, the latter's a very fine six.

TREBLE MAY BE GOING!

But all good things must come to an end, and we reached the last tower of the week, Gillingham. The eight went not too well, and Beatrice Boyle, normally a very competent treble ringer, had difficulty in pulling off. Her successor in the next touch cautiously stated: 'Treble may be going,' and was encouraged by a spontaneous chorus of 'He-e-eave!' from the back-end!

Then back to the Half Moon for that most admirable institution, the social evening. The party was divided into two teams—'Conductors' (?), under the captaincy of Peter Border, and 'Belfrymen,' under Chris Johnson. Like two flocks of sheep, we paraded—to the skittle alley, for what turned out to be the most hilarious social evening of all time. The 'Conductors' (?) were well and truly trounced by the 'Belfrymen' with some incredible scoring by Jumbo. Whenever he hurled his guided missiles, the more prudent took cover!

Saturday morning saw the departure of the peal band. They scored a peal of Belgrave at Martock, while the rest made their various ways home, one carload still having the energy to snatch two towers en route!

The whole party are most grateful to all the incumbents of the 40-odd churches, to the ringers who met us, and last, but not least, to John Gilbert, who did the organising, kept everyone happy and himself managed to remain cheerful throughout.

J. MARTIN THORLEY'S YORKSHIRE PEAL WEEK

THE third peal week arranged by the writer proved to be the most successful so far, with ten peals being rung out of a total of 12 attempts.

On Saturday, August 9th, a peal of Minor in three methods was rung on the back six at Otley, and this meant that the regular 'backenders' were already blistered when the tour proper began on the following Monday. A peal of Major had been arranged, but we met one short, and there was no shortage of volunteers to stand down, the weather being sultry and a full week of Minor ringing just round the corner.

Monday saw two peals successfully accomplished—seven methods at Holbeck and eight methods at Calverley. We were thankful that the Calverley peal had been arranged on the first day—those new Yorkshire ends proved to be a strain on the fingers.

On Tuesday morning we rang a peal in seven methods on the delightful little six at Chapel Allerton and the writer noted with some trepidation that all those who had shown a desire either to conduct or to ring the tenor had been satisfied, and there were still four more days to go! At Batley, in the afternoon, we recorded our only tower-bell failure of the week—all the band were fast asleep and a bob was missed towards the end of the second extent. Kent appears to be a rather unfortunate method for the conductor of this attempt, who is well known in Yorkshire for calling a false peal of it. In the evening three of us attended the practice at Pudsey and enjoyed some very good Major.

PROGRAMME REARRANGED

We met at Pontefract on Wednesday morning and the peal in ten methods was probably the best of the week. Unfortunately Ted Bradley was far from well; he rang the treble, but this proved to be his last appearance of the week, and it meant a drastic rearrangement of the programme. The attempts at Horbury and Snaith were cancelled and handbell attempts were put in to keep up the week's number. At Padmar, after supper, three of us attempted Bob Minor. The striking was really first-class, but just after half way an extra single was made by the 'Kent conductor,' and the bells ran round two courses short of the extent.

However, on Thursday morning we redeemed this loss and a good peal was rung in the front bedroom, away from the shouts of the Misses Thorley. In the afternoon the first peal was rung on the bells of Kirk Deighton. This was in nine methods and we must make special mention of Paddy, who had three diagrams propped up above the kitchen sink during the morning's housework. The intrepid three who had gone to Pudsey on Tuesday night and rung handbells for an hour on Wednesday night, completed their 'hat-trick' by attending the practice at Leeds Parish Church on Thursday night.

Friday morning was an anxious time. The three from Horsforth had to finish the journey to Carlton by taxi, and Eric Critchley's scooter refused to start, leaving him stranded in Scawthorpe. The local verger, Mr. Graves, kindly offered to stand in with us and a very enjoyable peal of Bob Minor was rung. The tenor man, whose invariable remark before a peal of Minor is, 'Now don't race them,' turned in both his first-ever tenor and the fastest time of the week. Horsforth was reached in time for two of the intrepid three plus the writer's wife to join in the Guiseley practice while the writer kept on putting his daughters to bed.

A handbell peal in three methods was rung on Saturday morning and in the afternoon we rang six methods at Woodlesford. This peal was undoubtedly the least satisfactory of the week, but then we were tired and our standard had been high. J. M. T.

NINETEEN TEAMS IN SOUTH DEVON CONTEST

Those whose privilege it is to know the Dartmoor village of Widdecombe-in-the-Moor and its lovely setting can picture the scene when, on a recent Saturday in August (one of the few fine days) 19 of the best call-change teams drawn from all over South Devon met to compete for the East Portlemouth Silver Challenge Bowl on the bells of St. Pancras', the 'Cathedral of the Moor.' The church workers seized the opportunity to stage a fete in aid of the church restoration fund, which still needs about £3,000 before the goal is reached.

The customary service in church, conducted by the Vicar, was prelude to the ringing. It attracted a capacity sitting and standing congregation. The celebrated 'Dartmoor-ologist,' Eric Hemmery, almost turned the small, but tuneful, organ inside out in brilliant accompaniment to make itself heard against the singing.

As winners last autumn at West Alvington, Widdecombe tower was host to the present event, and at the conclusion of the service the team captains gathered at the lych gate to draw. The redoubtable Bill Miners and his tower secretary, Les Edworthy, got things moving and the first team, Kingskerswell, went in to ring at just after three o'clock. As the bells were heard to 'come back' at the conclusion of each peal of the usual 'sixty-on-thirds,' so the next team would be up waiting at the door of the ringing chamber. Such well-known names in the South Devon 'ringing world' as Bickington, East Portlemouth, Plymstock, West Alvington, Yealmpton and Upton (Torquay) were among the teams present. Babbacombe was also a welcome newcomer to the event.

More than one team lost marks with a 'lazy' tenor and at least two teams lost valuable marks by having the treble speak—one by as much as six times!— after the bells had been brought down. Cornwood, the last team to ring, 'came down' at shortly before nine o'clock, and the big tree outside the church gate was the setting for the last act—the results and the presentation of the trophy and certificates—by the light of a 'Tilly' lamp. The judges, Messrs. H. J. Brewer, T. G. Daw and R. M. Elliott—created no little surprise when Upton (Torquay), with 33¾ faults, were proclaimed winners and were awarded the challenge bowl and first certificate, followed by Plymstock and Yealmpton for second and third places respectively. Woodbury (Exmouth) ringers looked in during the early evening, en route from Chagford on an outing, and, having some spare seats in their coach, enabled Babbacombe team to accompany them to have a ring on the light eight (tenor 7 cwt.) at Buckland-in-the-Moor.

In winning the challenge bowl, Upton ringers become host to the event next year, and now exercising their minds is the question as how best to win over the shopkeepers and others, living in the immediate neighbourhood 'under' their tower in the main street, to the idea of hearing Upton bells rung in competition for about six hours, on and off, of a Saturday afternoon and evening!!

OBITUARY

MR. WILLIAM J. PAICE

On August 26th Mr. William J. Paice was laid to rest in the churchyard of St. Paul's, Wokingham, within the sound of the bells that he loved and under the shadow of its spire. The service, which was taken by the Ven. H. T. Shaw (chairman of the Sonning Deanery Branch), was quiet and simple, just as he would have loved. The only people who were present were his own family and relations and close ringing friends.

Before the service the bells were rung half-muffled by members of the following towers: St. Paul's and All Saints', Wokingham, Sandhurst and Finchampstead—the four towers with which he had the closest ties. After the interment handbells were rung at the graveside as a last tribute by W. J. Parker (Sandhurst), Miss M. R. Cross (O.D.G.), K. Begrie (Finchampstead) and E. Langley (All Saints', Wokingham).

With the passing of William Paice the Oxford Guild has lost not only one of its most loyal members, and one who was prepared to criticise its policy if he deemed it necessary, but also a shining example of loyal and devoted churchmanship which will always remain with those whom he influenced in their earlier years. For him, ringing was not merely a hobby, it was a service willingly given throughout more than 50 years to his Church, and in it he found the expression of his religion.

Although always willing to stand in a peal attempt if asked or to try new methods if required, he was before everythng a Sunday service ringer, and it was to the improvement of this that everything that he did was aimed. It is of such as William J. Paice that it is written in Ecclesiasticus: 'Without these cannot a city be inhabited: and they shall not dwell where they will nor go up and down: They shall not be sought for in public counsel nor sit in the high congregation: they shall not sit on the judge's seat . . . But they will maintain the state of the world, and all their desire is in the work of their craft.' M. R. C.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD

Marlborough Branch

For this corner of Wilts August 16th was one of the few fine days of this summer, when the Marlborough Branch met at Mildenhall. The Rev. E. G. Courtman conducted the Guild service, and for the lesson and the theme of address took the story of Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego.

Fourteen people were expected for tea, but this number swelled to a large extent. Everyone was in good spirits, and what started as a rationed tea, reminiscent of bygone days, turned out to be an excellent meal through the prodigious efforts of the Rector and Mrs. Courtman and helpers.

Mr. G. Newman (Branch chairman) voiced everyone's appreciation of the noble work done by Mr. Courtman in getting the ancient church of Mildenhall back in good repair, together with six splendid bells. A balance of £250 was still needed. The ringers were the guests of the Mildenhall reception committee, and they reciprocated with a collection for the bell and restoration fund which amounted to £2 12s.

Besides Branch members, ringers were present from Carbis Bay, Coventry, St. Albans, Swindon, Steeple Ashton, Melksham, Chippenham, Bristol, Oxford and London. T. A. P.

OUTING

Early on August 23rd, 14 ringers from Swindon and District left Swindon by train for a ringing tour of London districts. They were met at Paddington Station by two friends, and together they made their way to St. Bartholomew's, in Smithfield. After ringing on the light anti-clockwise five, the ringers moved on to the heavy eight of St. James', Clerkenwell, where they were joined by more friends. All of the remaining towers were in Middlesex, the next being St. Mary's, Holloway, after which there should have been a break for lunch, but because of a wedding, St. Anne's, Tottenham, had to be visited before schedule. After some good ringing the ravenous ringers had lunch in a nearby restaurant.

St. Michael's, Wood Green, was next on the list, and there, during a break in ringing, Mr. W. B. Kynaston was presented with a birthday card from the rest of the party, who sang a rousing version of 'Happy Birthday.' St. Mary's, Finchley, and St. Mary's, Willesden, completed the programme. A few of the party returned home directly after ringing but most of them went to the West End, where they had tea and talked about the day's ringing, which ranged from call-changes to London Surprise. After tea the party walked around and saw the lights of London before returning to Paddington, where they said goodbye to Mr. B. Blaydon who organised the tour, and thanked him for a very enjoyable day.

THE RINGING WORLD

OFFICIAL JOURNAL OF THE CENTRAL COUNCIL OF CHURCH BELL RINGERS

'The Ringing World' was founded in the year 1911 by John Sparkes Goldsmith, who remained its proprietor and editor until his death in 1942.

No. 2476. Vol. LIV. FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 12, 1958 Registered at the G.P.O. for transmission as a newspaper. 6d.

HISTORIC PAPERS

A LOVER of Schubert once remarked that he would willingly sacrifice much modern music for the privilege of having the completion of the "Unfinished" Symphony; and a Dickens enthusiast once declared that most people would rather have the end of "Edwin Drood" than all the lost books of Livy. These whole-hearted comments are brought to mind by a timely reminder in the current issue of 'The Ringers' Magazine' that much ringing history has in the past been lost for ever by the careless and indiscriminate destruction of documents and papers.

Year by year ringers pass from us, and in many instances their books and papers are for many and varied reasons forgotten for a time and then, after a period, gathered together and destroyed or disposed of. In the case of well-known writers and composers it is true to say that most of their work has been recorded in print, but even so, it cannot be denied that the manuscript, with its human appeal and its frequent illuminating revelation, has an abiding interest and an educational value. For this reason alone it is important that letters, manuscripts and diaries should find their abiding place in some ringing library.

It has been our privilege and pleasure to have been looking over in recent days some of the documents preserved in the library of St. Martin's Guild, Birmingham, and our interest has been re-awakened in the manuscript copies of compositions by famous composers of past days and in the manner in which the composer recorded his work. Many are on scraps of odd paper, some are on postcards, and some embodied in a friendly letter to some fellow-ringer.

Here is a precious scrap of yellow paper inscribed with seven touches of Stedman Caters in the handwriting of Isaac B. Lates and countersigned by John Day, and beside it is the latter gentleman's copy of his Uncle John Day's 5,040 Bob Triples composed in 1842. A great treasure is the manuscript copy of 14,003 Grandsire Caters, signed by Henry Johnson, in which the great composer indicates the superiority of the short-course plan. This was sent to W. T. Pates in the year 1888, about a year before the Birmingham leader died.

The papers are many and varied. Here is a faded post-card sent from Dublin in 1899 to John Austin. It shows three peals of Treble Bob (together with a request for a lead of Gloucester Surprise), and the signature 'Gay' reminds us of the genius of Lindoff. Here are three peals of Grandsire Cinques in the handwriting of Charles Hattersley, scrawled on the backs of memorandum forms, one of which is headed: 'Manufacturing Silversmith: Tea Sets, Fish Eaters, Flower Stands, Egg Frames, Dram Flasks, Spoons and Forks, etc.' Hattersley had close ringing connections with Birmingham, but these papers came to the Guild through John Austin.

Three excellent lengths of Treble Bob are inscribed by that almost immaculate composer, Arthur Knights, on the back of a coloured circular advertising 'Battle's Sheep Dips,' together with an aerial representation of the Lincoln factory of Battle, Maltby and Bower. With it are numerous peals of Double Norwich Major and Grandsire and Stedman Caters, all in the careful script that seems in itself to indicate the geniality and good nature of this great gentleman.

The works of John Carter (once called, with a wealth of understatement, 'that industrious composer') are, of course, numerous. The peals of Stedman Cinques alone, in J. C.'s crabbed hand, with his own peculiarities of notation, are wonderful to behold, and on one small sheet, eleven inches by five, he presents with 217 different compositions.

Space will not allow further browsing in this treasure house, but we may remind ourselves that the documents of to-day are the historic treasures of to-morrow. How much can we preserve?

BELFRY GOSSIP

Visitors from Rotherham, Middlesbrough and York thank Mr. E. Hudson (secretary, Y.A. Northern District) for the trouble he took in arranging ringing at Askrigg (6), East Wilton (6) and Middleham (8) on the occasion of the Yorkshire Association Northern District meeting on August 30th. The beautiful scenery, a glorious sunny day, friendly hospitality, some good bells and ringing (including a good course of London Minor and Yorkshire Major) all contributed to a very happy day.

A nose-bleed of one of the band necessitated a peal attempt at Warsop being prematurely halted on August 31st.

The name of the treble ringer in the peal at St. Stephen's, Bristol, on August 6th (page 554) was Sheila Blackwell and not Sheila Blackmore. Our correspondent sends his apologies.

We have received from Miss J. Armstrong, of Morpeth, a copy of her father's book of some 87 tunes for eight handbells. September 5th is the centenary of the birth of her father, Mr. John Armstrong, who died at Morpeth, where he was head ringer, on July 11th, 1940.

Wednesday, September 3rd, was the 55th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Hazelden, of Guildford. The anniversary was remembered by fellow ringers who rang with 'Charlie' for a wedding at Holy Trinity, Guildford, and wished him and Mrs. Hazelden every happiness.

For the recent quincentenary celebrations of the founding of Cirencester Grammar School, which H.R.H. Princess Alexandra attended, special ringing was arranged at the local Abbey Church, where is the oldest extant ring of 12 in the world. All ringers taking part were associated with the school, including a former head boy and a former head girl—respectively A. York-Bramble and Mary Bliss—now both members of the University of Bristol Society.

Six peals were rung during a four-days' tour of Manchester area by Mr. Brian Harris. One attempt was lost through a miscall and the other was 'rained off' when a sudden shower found its way into the ringing room, soaking some of the ringers!

A pleasant background to Mr. John Arlott's cricket broadcast from Bournemouth recently was the distant bells.

Eleven peals were rung during the Scottish peal week, arranged by Mr. Wilfred Williams. Only five were scored in Scotland—the others en route.

Mr. B. Stedman Payne wishes to apologise for the footnote to the peal rung at Queniborough (page 557). It was to celebrate the birth of a son to Mr. and Mrs. Terry Thornber.

A peal of Ipswich Surprise Minor was attempted for the wedding of Miss P. Holmes and J. M. Simpson, of Grantham, Lincs, but was lost. Nevertheless, the band send their best wishes for the future to Pat and Michael, and hope they will accept the quarter of Plain Bob instead.

Penarth, Glam, ringers are very encouraged by their Wednesday night practices. They have had Kent T.B. for four Wednesdays running and also Cambridge on one night. Thanks are accorded the visitors for making this possible; they hope they will continue to come when nights get darker.

Christ Church, Epsom, ringers will miss Miss Cherie Payne who has taken up a teaching appointment at Brighton. She was the last of the group of girls that Mr. Frank Oakshott taught to ring just after the war. Always ready to stand in a quarter peal, but never a peal, she has been most regular in her attendance. The band hope to see her at occasional weekends and in school holidays.

CHESHIRE RINGERS' TOUR OF THE NORTHANTS AREA

ON Friday, August 8th, a small party of ringers awaited the arrival of 'The Old Buzzard' and his comrade, who were due to meet them in Macclesfield. However, after a long wait, it was decided to forge ahead without them on our belated journey to Kettering, where we had our headquarters for the week.

Picking up Fred Whishaw in Leek, we made good time towards Derby, but were forced to stop when a loud banging was emitted from one of the rear wheels. It took a great amount of effort on the part of our strong men to remove the wheel cap, the only thing being torn to pieces was Bob's 'Theory of Expansion.' Several nuts proved to be very loose, and when these had been tightened the journey was continued without further trouble.

A FLYING START

We arrived at Rothwell on Saturday at 9.30 a.m., where we rang a peal of London Surprise Major on this excellent octave. Oakham was our next destination, but a stop was made first for lunch at a pleasant little country café, where we encountered James Fisher, the ornithologist, and his family. It might be said that he hadn't seen a rarer set of birds in all his life, although none have been to gaol—yet! With a peal of Bristol at Oakham, we were off with a flying start to the week. Mention might be made here that one member of the band decided to make things complicated by trying to make seconds to the treble.

On Sunday morning we rang on the ten bells at Kettering for morning service, and afterwards visited the ancient Saxon tower at Earls Barton: what a pity the walls have been pebble-dashed. We continued to Sywell Aerodrome, where some of the party were lucky enough to have a short flight.

We arrived in good time at Wicken, to ring a peal of Yorkshire Surprise Major on what are certainly a peal-ringer's delight. We thoroughly enjoyed joining the locals in ringing for evensong. On the way home one of the more versatile members of the rear car was nearly lost when leaning out of the window. We still cannot decide if he was waving to us or to a party of girls on the river bank.

Monday morning found the weather fine again; we really thought that summer had arrived. A peal of Spliced Surprise Major, in five methods, at Burton Latimer, where the 10 cwt. octave are most excellent for their weight, kept our 100 per cent. record intact. After a good lunch, our success continued with a peal of Rutland Surprise Major at Irchester. What a pity that this pleasant ring is to some extent spoilt by the excessive tenor noise. At the hotel in the evening several of the party played billiards, while the night porter undertook teaching some of the younger members how to play cards. He soon retired a much sadder and poorer man!

Tuesday morning was upon us and, needless to say, the rain also. After the short drive to Irthlingborough several of the band took part in a Communion service. This was followed by a peal of Cambridge Surprise Major, giving Bernard Groves his 100th peal at the age of 15.

On the way to St. Neots, in Huntingdon, our lively member in the rear car was most upset to find that the member of the fairer sex he had set his sights on was in fact a Scotsman! A peal of Bristol Surprise Major was to be attempted at St. Neots, which we hoped would be the highlight of the week. The ringing settled down, but after about two hours, a mistake which caught everybody napping brought our downfall. We all retired dismally to dinner (with draught Guinness) with the hope that another peal attempt may be made soon, on St. Neots' glorious bells.

REINFORCEMENTS

We were reinforced on Wednesday, as we thought that a peal week, with only nine ringers available, might have been a little too strenuous. Four of the regular party were rested in the morning, while the remainder, with visitors Philip Mehew, George Fearn and Ralph Edwards, attempted a peal of London Surprise Major. Although the bells were extremely pleasant to hear outside, hearing difficulty was encountered in the church, and two attempts came to grief quickly. Finally, a peal of Bristol Surprise Major was attempted, but a mistake, similar to the one the previous day, brought ringing to an untimely end, after about one hour's good striking.

90th Birthday Of Mr. Morris J. Morris

Most ringers who attend the Henry Johnson dinner will know Mr. Morris J. Morris, who is most regular in his attendance. Mr. Morris celebrated his 90th birthday on August 25th, and a peal in his honour was rung at Erdington.

A native of Bangor, Mr. Morris came to Birmingham to live when quite a young man, and for many years was a valued member of the St. Martin's Church Sunday service band. His compositions in various methods have been rung on many occasions. On handbells he is exceptionally good with the tenors, and a performance of which he is proud was the peal of Stedman Sextuples, of which band he and his old friend Albert Walker are the only survivors.

Mr. Morris enjoys good health, and his friends of the St. Martin's Guild wish him many more years of contentment.

Having lost two peals of Bristol on the run, things didn't look so prosperous as they had done the previous morning. Four other members of the band were rested in the afternoon, our visitors taking part in both attempts. A fast peal of Yorkshire Surprise Major was successfully brought round in the afternoon at Higham Ferrers, so our visitors did not go away empty-handed. We were feeling more at home now, as the rain continued to fall mercilessly, and our driver would perhaps have been better with a sou'wester instead of a white cap.

It might have looked as though we were tempting providence when we decided to attempt a peal of 'twelve spliced' at Weedon Bec on Thursday morning. The peal was successfully brought round in 3 hours 12 minutes, although our train-spotting friends from Hazel Grove would have given anything to see the trains they could hear flashing past. The attempt in the afternoon, at All Saints', Northampton, was not due to start until 5.30 p.m., so once again we visited Sywell Aerodrome. Three more of the party were airborne for the first time, having their heads in the clouds, for the first time officially. Others, as one person remarked, preferred to keep their feet on 'terra firma.' We proceeded to Northampton, and at the third attempt found the church. Difficulty was experienced in parking nearby so things looked like starting late. With a late start, and on half-empty stomachs (they were never empty once on the tour), a peal of Cambridge Surprise Major was attempted, but ended after about one hour's too-fast ringing. We were then joined by Pat Chapman and W. J. Dove, who had been listening nearby, and rang for a short time afterwards, finishing up with a brisk touch of Stedman Triples. The bells are a mellow ring, and with more time at our disposal we should have enjoyed some rather slower ringing. The sight of a large member of the party eating a 'Knickerbocker Glory' was something to be remembered, although the suggestion that he should stand on his chair to eat it was perhaps an exaggeration.

EFFECTS OF TOUR

Friday morning arrived, and a peal of Cambridge Surprise Major was rung, the tower this time being Hazelbeech. The bells are very easy to handle but are a little 'woolly' in the belfry. The village itself is very picturesque and the church is in keeping with its surroundings. Sandwiches were enjoyed, with ale, at the local, before we continued our journey to Daventry. Here a peal of Bristol was attempted, but after about one hour's ringing, the rhythm generally associated with Bristol Surprise was missing, and so the peal was stopped. It was obvious that the effect of 11 or 12 attempts by all the party was beginning to tell. On Friday evening we were joined by Patrick Chapman, who returned with us to the hotel for dinner.

When all members had retired to the lounge, a vote of thanks was given by Fred Wilshaw on behalf of all present to Basil Jones for his excellent arrangements, Patrick Chapman for his ready and sound information about the rings of bells in the area to the drivers for their abstinence and good judgment, and to Fred Dunkerley for the use of his car. All retired to bed a little earlier than on previous occasions, as an early rise was the order for the following morning.

On Saturday morning everybody was out of bed in good time—an astonishing feature of the week. Fred Dunkerley left us en route for Kibworth, the nine with Pat Chapman finding Mr. Fred Staniforth there to greet us. A fast peal of London was brought round on a very fine, handy octave.

Lunch was taken in Loughborough at The Three Nuns before we moved on to Shepshed. An attempt to ring a peal of Lincolnshire Surprise Major here went as suddenly as the previous attempts to ring Bristol, after about 1¼ hours' pleasant ringing on a very good going ring. Before going home we went back to Loughborough to drop Pat Chapman and to listen to some of the peal at the Parish Church. Here we said thank you and goodbye to Pat Chapman.

Our thanks are extended to all incumbents, tower captains and ringers who helped to make this tour so successful, or even possible. Although many years have passed since the last tour of Northamptonshire, I am sure it will not be as many until the next one. R. B. S.

ACROSS MONMOUTH

A FINE day was dawning as four ringers left Penarth at 7.45 a.m. on August 23rd. In Cardiff we collected another car and picked up five more ringers from Radyr, Porthkerry and St. Albans, the young lady from St. Albans being on holiday in Cardiff. When we arrived at Caerphilly we found that ringers from Nash, Radyr, Cardiff, and another holiday-maker from Hughenden, Bucks, had arrived on motor-cycles and were ready with the bells up. After a good ring we moved on to Llanbradach, where the long draught was discouraging but did not upset the striking too much.

The band pose on the Monmouth-Hereford border

We now left Glamorgan and crossed the border into Monmouthshire. At Machen we were joined by two Newport ringers, and had our first and best attempt at Cambridge Minor when we got within ten changes of rounds. A punctured wheel was quickly replaced by a spare, and we moved on to the steel bells at Bassaleg; but we had not heard the last of that puncture, and after a picnic lunch we found that the spare was flat, so we had to squeeze nine into one car and go in search of a new inner tube. While this was being fixed we had an hour at Llanfrechfa, and were joined by ringers from Caerleon and Llanfrechfa.

We were behind schedule when we joined the motor-cyclists at Tredunnock. The bells sounded lovely but the 'go' was not easy, and the fact that all the sallies were about two feet too low did not help matters. Usk was undoubtedly our best tower of the day. The eight went very well, and with a total of 20 ringers, representing 12 towers, we had Erin, Stedman, Oxford Bob, Plain Bob, Kent, another attempt at Cambridge Minor and, of course, some Grandsire. From Usk we went to Tregaer, where the little five went well if rung slowly. The large quantities of dust and chaff which descended from above proved to be due to the presence of half a bale of hay in the middle chamber. We don't quite know why! The Vicar was very pleased to see us and very interested in our tour; he was surprised that we were not going to Penrhos, only one mile up the road. He said the Vicar would be delighted to see and hear us—and he was! But this four-bell tower obviously only has a one-man team. The tenor went very well, but the other three were stiff and awkward, and the treble could only be raised half way because of a warped wheel.

At Dingestow, the easiest-going of our four five-bell towers, we had some good Stedman and another puncture. However the R.A.C. looked after this one, and complete with a new tyre all arrived safely in Skenfrith more or less on time. This six sounded rather loud and must be in an unusual key, but they went well with Grandsire, Plain Bob and Stedman.

After the ringing we managed to get most of the band together long enough to take a photograph and then we moved on over the border into Herefordshire. We found the little church of Garway in a field. The bells were a little difficult but had a very nice tone. Grandsire was difficult so we had some call-changes, which sounded very nice considering we only had five bells. At Kentchurch it was a similar story. Here new ropes would not come amiss, but we had some more call-changes and a good touch of Plain Bob. Grosmont was our last tower, and here we found six bells which could probably do with new bearings but which went fairly well when rung steadily The only real difficulty was that experienced by the treble ringer who had to stand inside the circle in front of the tenor ringer.

On the way home we stopped in Abergavenny for hot and cold drinks. E. J. R. H.

OBITUARY

MR. WILLIAM J. PAICE

Mr. William J. Paice whose death on Aug. 20th at the age of 73 was announced in our last issue was for over 54 years a loyal and active member of the Oxford Diocesan Guild. Learning to handle a bell at All Saints', Wokingham, where his father, Samuel Paice, was then foreman of the ringers, he soon progressed in the art of change ringing and on November 14th, 1905 rang his first peal, Grandsire Triples, at St. Paul's, Wokingham, this being the first peal to be rung by all Wokingham ringers. In 1908 he conducted his first peal at All Saints', Wokingham (Carter's 12-part peal of Grandsire).

Without doubt his favourite method was Stedman and he was always proud of his first peal in that method, rung at Yateley, Hants, and conducted by Rev. F. E. Robinson. Canon Coleridge was also in the band.

For some time Mr. Paice resided at Caversham and during that period he rang many peals of Surprise Major with the talented band then ringing at St. Peter's. On returning to the Wokingham district he joined the band at St. James', Finchampstead, and later became their foreman. In 1927 he was elected hon. secretary and treasurer of the Sonning Deanery Branch of the Oxford Guild and remained in office for 15 years.

In 1942 he moved to London and was elected a member of the Ancient Society of College Youths and joined the band of St. Mary Abbots', Kensington; he also took part in the service ringing at St. Paul's Cathedral. On leaving London he lived for a time near Farnham in Surrey. Although he showed a keen interest in the activities of the ringers in both London and Farnham his heart was always with the Oxford Guild and especially the Sonning Deanery. It was a happy day when he returned to his old home and joined the band at St. Michael's, Sandhurst, where his son Leslie was a member.

William Paice had rung 104 peals—not a lot by the standards of some people today but they were all well-earned peals; he was never happier than when conducting Stedman Triples with an all Sonning Deanery band. His last peal was rung at Shiplake, Oxon, on April 26th—one of Plain Bob Major, which he conducted.

We ringers in the Sonning Deanery will miss him greatly. At our monthly practices he was always ready to take a rope or stand by to assist a learner; at a business meeting of the Guild or Branch his knowledge and experience were invaluable.

He was laid to rest in St. Paul's Churchyard, Wokingham, on August 27th, within the sound of the bells he loved and upon which, nearly 53 years ago, he rang his first peal.

May he rest in peace.

B. C. C.

Three Harthill, Yorkshire, ringers rang their first peal on August 23rd, with the Chaddock family making up the rest of the band. Ian Fraser is at Manchester University and his brother, Donald, joins him this month. The third first-pealer, Hugh Bishop, has this year won a State scholarship. These are the first of the Harthill ringers to appear in our peal columns.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

MEMORIAL TO THE LATE WILLIAM DENYER

Dear Sir,—When my father died last March, the ringers of Aldershot decided to place a tablet in the ringing chamber at St. Michael's Church recording his 35 years of captaincy. In addition, the family are giving a silver chalice and paten for use at Holy Communion, and a number of friends have asked to be associated with this memorial.

If any of your readers who knew my father should wish to contribute, would they please send it to me by September 20th, as the memorial is to be presented to the Vicar of Aldershot for use on St. Michael's Day, September 29th, the Patronal Festival.

This is not an appeal but information for those who have visited and enjoyed ringing at Aldershot over the years.—Yours faithfully,

CHARLES DENYER.

Farnham, Surrey.

CALL-CHANGERS AND BROADCASTING

Dear Sir,—I have noted the recent letters by Mr. B. E. Bartlett, and feel the following information may be of interest to him and other call-change ringers.

I have recently been asked by the B.B.C. West Region to advise them with regard to suitable towers, from which the bells will be broadcast in one of the winter series of programmes. About 75 per cent of the towers I have suggested are 'call-change' towers where the counties of Devon and Cornwall are concerned. The final selection rests with the B.B.C., but I trust the 'call-change' ringers will find themselves well represented.—Yours truly,

H. J. SANGER, Convener.

MEMORIES OF YATELEY

Dear Sir,—Mr. Whittle's letter is quite right regarding the ringers and ringing at Yateley over 30 years ago, and I can well remember those lonely walks of four miles each way nearly 50 years ago, when as District Ringing Master it was my duty and pleasure to visit the ringers on practice nights because they were keen to progress as a band.

A gentleman named Stilwell lived nearby, and he happened to be the president of the Winchester Diocesan Guild, which stretched from Molesey in Surrey to the Isle of Wight, thence to Bournemouth.

In the early years of this century the bells went badly owing to the sway of the structure and one of the ringers undertook to steel 'flitch' the interior above first-floor level with 9 in. by 1 in. flitches, which had the desired effect. I still recall the font in the centre of the ground-floor ringing chamber, also the performance of a peal rung by the local band, all of whom were baptised round the font. I wonder if the old clock, which told people the time in the days of Queen Elizabeth I, is still going. The bells are also interesting, especially the fourth, fifth and seventh.—Yours, etc.,

WILLIAM SHEPHERD.

UNRINGABLE BELLS OF ESSEX

Dear Sir,—I would be most obliged if you would insert the following two corrections to the list of unringable bells of Essex (see page 564).

HEYDON.—This tower is just over the border in Cambridgeshire and therefore not, as given in 'Dove,' an Essex tower.

GOOD EASTER.—These bells have recently been fitted with a chiming mechanism which at present renders them unringable.

Thanking you.—Yours faithfully,

J. E. G. ROAST.

Danbury, Essex.

Dear Sir,—Re the letter of Mr. Roast on the above, Pentlow bells (5) are in excellent ringing order. There is considerable opposition from the birds, however, there being plenty of rubbish, etc., when I made my last visit. Great Clacton's (5), unringable for about 60 years, are now at the foundry. It is pretty certain, however, that they will be hung 'dead' for chiming only, on their return.—Yours faithfully,

U. W. WILDNEY.

NUTFIELD AND DISTRICT RINGERS' OUTING

On Whit Monday ringers from Nutfield, Blechingley, Redhill and Godstone went on their annual outing. This year it was decided to make a trip into Kent. The spirits of the party were not dampened by the heavy rain, and when Seal was reached at 9.30 a.m. all were eager to try the bells. The next tower visited was Leeds, and for some of the party this was their first experience on ten bells, and a very creditable course of Grandsire Caters was rung. By this time the weather had improved and the sun started to shine. A picnic lunch was the order of the day. At Charing some of the ringers found the bells here difficult to handle, but one ringer at any rate enjoyed very much a well-struck touch of Little Bob. Ringers and non-ringers alike were enchanted by the charming village. A very pleasant ring was enjoyed at Ashford. Tea was taken here, and we would like to thank Mr. John Cooper who so kindly made the arrangements. Biddenden and Benenden were then visited—again two delightful villages. The ringers would particularly like to thank Mr. Price at Benenden for giving permission to ring at such short notice.

The Whit Monday outing proved so successful that by popular request an afternoon tour was arranged for July 12th. The programme was Wisborough Green, Petworth, Fittleworth, Pulborough and Warnham. Ringing mainly consisted of Plain Bob and Grandsire, with rounds; but despite its modesty the programme was enjoyed and a reasonable standard of striking maintained. At Petworth it was delightful to meet again the Rev. John and Mrs. Milne, who when they were at Blechingley were both well known to the ringers; and thanks are due to Mrs. Milne for making such excellent tea arrangements for the party at Petworth.

All the ringers who took part in these outings would like to take this opportunity of thanking incumbents and tower secretaries for their co-operation and help.

WARWICKSHIRE RINGERS IN STAFFS AND SALOP

A small party of ringers from Allesley, Keresley, Rugby and Stoke-in-Coventry had a tour of 13 towers in the Stafford–Newport area on August 30th. The first tower was Seighford, with its musical, anti-clockwise five, which were soon going to Grandsire and call-changes. Gnosall's proved to be a grand Minor six; with the addition of a tenor of 22 cwt. and a treble they would make a splendid octave.

At High Offley we were joined by Arthur and Doreen Jopp, of Stoulton, and their two children. The knots at the rope-ends instead of the usual tucks seemed strange, but on the whole ringing here was very much enjoyed. At Forton the bells were up in readiness, and Kent, Plain Bob and Grandsire were rung. The entrance to Forton churchyard proved to be a beautiful place for the picnic lunch.

The first objective of the afternoon was Tibberton, with a tricky light five in a narrow red-brick tower. At Edgmond the head ringer, Mr. Murrell, not only gave us permission to ring in the absence of the Rector on holiday, but came along and rang with us on the fine six. The approach to Chetwynd's ringing chamber is something of a 'sell.' One goes partly up a spiral staircase and then up an iron ladder through a trap in the floor! Some good ringing took place here despite the wide rope circle.

Newport's was the only eight of the day, and here a plain course of Grandsire Triples was rung. Lilleshall bells are a rather mediocre six but go very well. At Sheriffhales rounds, Grandsire and Bob Minor were rung.

The head ringer, Mr. Tindall, met us as Tong, and took some of us to view the 2¼-ton Bourdon bell which hangs in its own bell chamber below the ring of six. We were afterwards allowed to raise this bell, and its glorious tone vibrated throughout the church. This church, with its ground-floor central ringing chamber bounded by marble tombs and an ancient rood screen, behind which are the carved oak choir stalls, was the most interesting of the tour. At Lapley we found some difficulty in tracking down the key of the ringing chamber, but the sound of these fine bells ringing out overhead later made one feel that it had all been worth while.

The last tower of the day was at Norton Canes. Here the churchwarden very kindly took it upon himself to oil the bearings of the bells for us, and several members of the local ladies' band came up to watch the ringing. We finished up with two of them standing in for Grandsire.

Our best thanks are due to those who met us, to Thelma who at times acted as nursemaid, thereby enabling Doreen and Arthur to ring together, and to those who in any way contributed.

LEEDS & DISTRICT SOCIETY

Glorious weather and a good attendance were the outstanding features of the meeting held at Otley on August 30th. The bells were raised at three o'clock and, with a short break for tea and the business meeting, were kept going in a variety of methods until half-past eight. Queens were rung to celebrate the 75th birthday of Mr. W. H. Senior, who was present and took part in several touches. The standard of striking was a great improvement on the previous month's performance, although the antics of the fifth rope caused some amusement for the watchers and concern for those who had to use it.

BELLS FOUR HUNDRED YEARS AGO

By The REV. F. A. SANDERS

RINGERS are wont to claim, with justice, that their art is of respectable antiquity. There is much that is known about old bells and their founders. But the day-to-day practical matters which lay behind the service of ringers in far-off days are not so well known. It is hoped that some facts which are recorded in churchwardens' accounts in the old days in Hampshire may be of interest to present day ringers.

There are seven Hampshire churches with churchwardens' books dating before A.D. 1560 and some of these have little to tell about the bells. But others, particularly Bramley and Wootton St. Lawrence, are veritable mines of information about bells and their ringers.

MYSTERY OF BELL ROPES.

Routine repairs of the bells are frequently mentioned in the accounts which the churchwardens' or 'churchmen' presented each year to the vestry meeting. Bell ropes appear to have been a grave problem. At Stoke Charity in 1549–50 no less than nine ropes were bought at a price varying from 8d. to 1s. 3d.. In the next year eight new ropes were bought and the price had risen to 10d. each. Why a church which had only three bells needed so wholesale an order is one of those mysteries which will probably never be solved. At Bramley from 1527 to 1553 there are only five years when one or more bell ropes were not bought. It has been suggested that the churchwardens rather than the ringers were the cause for this constant expense. In some places it appears that the retiring churchwarden claimed the bellropes as perquisites of his office. Perhaps at Stoke Charity and Bramley this custom obtained too.

Other repairs to the bells involved renewal of 'baldrics,' alternatively spelt 'bawdriges,' bawdryckes,' 'bawdereks,' 'baudrickes' or even 'ball rickes.' The writer of a book on these registers suggests that these were the thongs which bound the clapper to the bells, being made of the 'white leather' which is often mentioned in the expenses incurred. Against this view is the entry at St. John's Winchester, 1554-7, 'For makeinge and mending the bawdricke and wire for them.' Also at Crondall in 1567-8 there is 'Whitt lether for ye bell ropes . . . 10d.' In parishes where white leather was bought there are no entries referring to baldrics. Perhaps a reader will solve the mystery of the baldrics and white leather. Was the latter used in the more luxurious belfries as a forerunner of the sally?

The repair and renewal of the bell wheels was attended to from time to time and reference is made to other parts of the ringing mechanism such as gudgeons, brasses (? bearings), nipples, trusses, stocks, stirrups, keys and clasps. The picture which these numerous entries make is one of constant attention to the bells and this in its turn confirms the large part that the bells played in the life of the parish.

CHARGE FOR HORSE MEAT

Entries telling of the rehanging and recasting of existing bells or of additions to their number are naturally rarer. At Crondall in 1544 there were four bells. Between 1551 and 1554 one of these was 'new made' by Fowke Mychell, of Wokingham. At Wootton the records in 1576 tell of the recasting of a bell at Reading, in the course of which 14 lb. of 'old church brasses' and 134 lb. of new metal were added to make the weight of the new bell 667 lb. Included in the churchwardens' charges were the sums of 8d. for his dinner and 1s. for his 'Horse meat'! It is at Bramley that we find a fascinating account of the old way of dealing with 'tower grabbers.' In 1577-8 'Twoo of our belles were newe cast, and were very well handled both in the casting and hanging of theim. By reason whereof many strangers did come to Bramley Churche to rynge, of the which strangers comyng at diverse and sondrie times, John Littlewoork and Thomas Wigley, being parishennors, did gather the some of 16/3.' Of this 14s. 9d. was spent in the next year, mostly on the bells, but it was not until 1581 that the 'balance of bell money' was paid in by Thomas Wigley.

In none of the accounts published is there any regular payment of ringers. Various people, including the parish clerk at Crondall, were paid regularly for 'keppyng of the bells.' The only payments to ringers were on special occasions. At Andover the ringers were paid 6d. in 1472 when the Duke of Clarence, brother of Edward IV, came to the town. In Crondall there is an entry of '5d. paid for drincke for the bell ringers when the Quene's Majesty came through our parish.' This was presumably when Queen Elizabeth I travelled from Southampton to Old Basing in 1569. Towards the end of the 16th century there were regular payments at Bramley, Crondall and St. Peter's, Winchester, for ringing on November 17th, the Queen's Accession Day.

Money spent by the churchwardens on bells and belfries was often a considerable part of their annual expenditure on the whole church. Thus at Bramley in 1538-9 4s. 5d. was spent on the bells out of a total of £1 5s. 9½d. For Crondall in 1587-8 the figure was £1 6s. out of £11 7s. and for Wootton St. Lawrence in 1577-8, 8s. 10d. out of £3 1s. 3d. When recasting was involved the strain on parochial finance was naturally much greater. At Crondall in 1555–56 the treble bell was 'new cast' for the sum of £3 19s. 3d. Total expenses for the year were only £5 9s. 1½d. and the parish received donations of 5s. each 'towards the making of the bell.' Some idea of the value of money in those distant days is shown by the entry 'For a laborer to . . . one day and a half—9d.'

The writer acknowledges his debt to 'The Early Churchwardens' Accounts of Hampshire,' by J. F. Williams. In this book are published printed transcripts of the parochial accounts as well as valuable comment. The picture conjured up by these shows ringing playing a large part in the life of some small country parishes. A century before Stedman published 'Campanologia' bells were being faithfully kept in order, were being rehung and recast where necessary and ringers were voluntarily calling parishioners to church as well as celebrating great national events. This is an inspiration to ringers in our generation. May we so serve that the tradition of service so set is faithfully maintained and handed on to our descendants as theirs was to us.

MORE BELFRY GOSSIP

The peal of Cambridge Surprise at Loughborough Bell Foundry on September 1st was Mr. Ernest Morris' 444th peal of Surprise.

Mr. Cecil W. Pipe has now rung on all the 12-bell rings in the British Isles. The final tower was St. Laurence's, Reading.

Ann Fowler and T. Wooding are among the teenagers who have scored their first quarter at Yardley Hastings, Northants. We are hoping for more such performances soon from the rest of the young band of ladies at that tower.

The quarter peal at Sevenoaks on August 31st was arranged for Dr. E. L. Taylor, who was on a visit to the town where he rang for several years before retiring to the West Country.

MILES GRAYE BELLS

Dear Sir,—The church at Little Oakley, Essex, possesses four bells, two of which are chimed while the other two lie on the belfry floor. These bells were made by Miles Graye and their dates are 1612, 1615, 1633 and 1652, but their weight appears unknown. Lawford, also in Essex, has three bells made by Miles Graye and John Thornton, which are now unringable.

The four bells at Thurlbear Parish Church, Somerset, which has been mentioned in a previous issue of 'The Ringing World,' were made in Exeter by Robert Norton in the reign of Henry VI. They have never been recast and after 500 years' service do not require tuning.

—Yours sincerely,

GILLIAN R. BROWN.

Harwich, Essex.

FIRST PEAL PERFORMANCES

By F. T. BLAGROVE

THE following additions should be made to the 18th and 19th century methods.

Five Shillings to Drink Triples.—5,040 at Wakefield on January 15th, 1789, by the Wakefield All Saints' Youths.

Gloucester Surprise Major.—5,024 at Gloucester on June 17th, 1897, by the St. Michael's Juniors, of Gloucester.

Cox's Caters Principle.—Rung at St. Saviour's, Southwark, on December 7th, 1845, by the Surrey Youths.

Double Oxford Bob Royal.—5,040? at Wednesbury on January 2nd, 1890.

The following points and corrections arise in regard to the 18th and 19th century methods:—

Canterbury Pleasure Major.—Rung in 1888, not 1887. (Page 532.) This method on seven or more bells is Plain Bob with Kent places in 3-4, and not as given in the C.C. Plain Major Collection.

Fulham Triples.—5,040 at Harrietsham, Kent, on January 14th, 1749, by the Lenham Society. Delete the peal at Fulham in 1748. The method was also known as London Triples, as in Crown Bob Triples.

Double Oxford Court Bob Major and Royal.—This is presumably the same as Double Oxford Bob. There is still great confusion about the correct definition of a Court method.

New Grandsire Triples.—Details of the peal rung at Horsham under the title 'Holt's Grandsire tripple reverse' have been received from Mr. L. Stilwell. The peal consisted of Holt's Ten-part rung from the last change to the first, with all the leading and hunting 'back-handed.' The peal rung at West Bromwich was in the modern form.

Wakefield Triples Methods.—See page 391. From information received from Mr. D. Cubitt it would appear that these methods were not merely variations of Plain Bob and Grandsire. Although most of the methods are not now known, it appears that Wakefield Delight was a T.B. Triples method, Wakefield Surprise is Single Oxford Bob and Crown Bob Triples is Spliced College Single, Fulham and Single Oxford Bob.

Shipway Major.—5,120 at St. John's, Manchester, on March 31st, 1840, by the St. John's Youths.

Court Bob.—Two methods were rung under this title in the 18th century, Double London and Double Norwich.

In Kent, the peals rung by the Leeds Youths and the Lenham Society were titled either Court Bob or London Court Bob. Nowhere do we find the name 'Norwich.' We can be certain, therefore, that such peals were of Double London Court Bob Major or Royal.

In London we do not find 'Norwich' until 1786 at Bethnal Green, which peal was stated to be the first in the method in London. It would appear, therefore, that peals prior to 1786 were all of Double London Court Bob Major. Thereafter the peal titles are definite, London or Norwich, and Shipway states that the peals of Court Bob Royal at Spitalfields and Shoreditch in 1801 were both Double Norwich Court Bob Royal.

In Norfolk, all peals of Court Bob were presumably Double Norwich Court Bob.

The peal at Long Melford in 1782 was presumably of Double London Court Bob Major and that at Soham St. Andrew in 1795 was presumably Double Norwich Court Bob Major.

Very few peals of Doubles and of Minor were recorded in the 18th century. The following is a complete list of those known to me at present. If any others are known, information will be gratefully received.

Doubles.—No method is specified in any of the peals. 5,280 in five methods at Anstey, Leics, in September, 1742; 5,040 at Haughley, Suffolk, on May 19th, 1766; 10,080 at Whaplode, Lincs, on February 27th, 1775; 5,040, being 42 different extents, at Halstow at Hoo, Kent, on November 19th, 1788; 5,040 at Market Weston, Suffolk, on January 13th, 1799.

Plain Bob Minor.—5,040 at St. Giles-in-the-Fields, before 1733. This peal is noted in Laughton's records of the Rambling Club of Ringers. Also at Garboldisham, Norfolk, on December 6th, 1773, and at Hammersmith on April 24th, 1774.

Minor in seven methods.—5,040 at Brandeston, Suffolk, on February 2nd, 1749; at Walsham le Willows, Suffolk, on April 2nd, 1760; and at Beighton, Yorks, in March, 1784.

Minor in seven T.B. methods.—5,040 at Whitechapel on April 16th, 1737.

Minor in seven Surprise methods.—5,040 at Bingley, Yorks, in 1793.

Minor, methods unknown.—5,760 at Spilsby, Lincs, on February 1st, 1785; and 5,400 at Wilby on February 28th, 1792.

The following are the only first performances known to me between 1801 and 1870.

Plain Bob Minor.—10,080 at Gislingham, Suffolk, on April 6th, 1822.

Minor in 14 methods.—5,040 at Prestwick, Lancs, on April 17th, 1808.

Treble Bob Minor.—10,080 in 14 methods at Wath-upon-Dearne on April 2nd, 1815; 10,800 in 15 methods at Darton, Yorks, in 1815; 15,120 in 21 methods at Wath-upon-Dearne on February 27th, 1816. Peals of 5,280 in 22 methods at Darfield, Yorks, on January 8th, 1815, and of 8,640 in 36 methods at Bingley, Yorks, on February 7th, 1826, were rung in 240's and not true 720's.

Stedman Slow Course Minor.—5,040 at Holy Trinity, Newington, Southwark, in January, 1847.

Single Oxford Bob Minor.—5,040 at Warnham, Sussex, on October 16th, 1867.

DURHAM AND NEWCASTLE AT CRICKET

Wimbledon, Henley, Goodwood and then Tanfield! That, we dare hope, has now become the sequence of great annual sporting events in the minds of the members of the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association.

Saturday, July 26th, was the occasion of the second revived annual cricket match cum ringing meeting at the village of Tanfield, Co. Durham, and two teams of ringing cricketers selected by the president of the Association and the Vicar of Tanfield met to renew the struggle. Last year's resounding victory (29 to 14!) for the Newcastle men had set the tempo for this year's match to be one of revenge for the Tanfield side, and a new pitch had been obtained, using the home belfry matting to ensure a favourable wicket.

By 3 p.m. there was a considerable concourse of members and supporters on the village green, and a move was made to the newly-cut hay field where the match was being played. Winning the toss, the Vicar elected to bat first, and the two umpires (Messrs. G. Wall and D. Priestly) and scorers (Misses Wilson and Foreman) took up their stations, while the president's team took the field. As the scoreboard shows, the Tanfield team showed much improved form compared with last year, and Errington and Walker exhibited considerable batting power, while Mr. 'Extras' contributed no small score to the total of 57 in 19 overs. A feature of the innings was the bowling, for not only were balls known to be bowled wide of the matting, but one googly merchant bowled at least one under the mat in an attempt to deceive the batsman!

The tea interval was taken at this point and a crowd of nearly 50 members overran the Vicarage to enjoy a splendid meal prepared by Mrs. K. Cheeseman and her helpers. Before returning to the field of play, the president expressed thanks to the Vicar of Tanfield (Rev. R. Race) for his hospitality, and to Mr. K. W. Cheeseman and all his assistants concerned in the organisation of the occasion. The Vicar in reply welcomed the Association to his parish, and said how pleased he was to see the increased attendance which augured well for the future of this event.

A sudden heavy shower of rain delayed the restart, and Tanfield were feeling jubilant with the prospect of bowling on a greasy wicket. Happily, the clouds cleared quickly, and the Newcastle opening pair were soon showing the way with some smart running. After the fall of the first few wickets young Shewin, of St. Hilda's, South Shields, and the president came together and brought the score to over 40. Then more wickets fell and only Mr. 'Extras' managed to move the score along. Tension was now mounting, and this became almost unbearable when the ninth wicket fell at 56. Then Ken Cheeseman took the ball and in three balls the match was over—the first delivery was a no-ball (score now 57), the second was hit for one and the third bowled batsman Cooke to close the innings for 58.

Thus, thanks to Mr. 'Extras,' the Newcastle men were once again the victors and retained the 'ashes' for a second term. After mutual congratulations, players and supporters made their way to the tower, and the eight bells of the Church of St. Margaret were kept going in various methods until 9 p.m. At the adjournment which followed, the events of the day were relived and plans for Tanfield, 1959, discussed.

NORTHAMPTON & DISTRICT RINGERS' OUTING

On Tuesday, August 5th, a party of ringers from Northampton and District had a half day in North Beds. Proceeding from Turvey after a peal attempt failure, the first stop was Carlton (4), where we were informed that hopes are entertained of augmentation to five. Felmersham was soon reached where, thanks to Colin Payne, we were able to have a pull on this good eight. Leaving the church, the rain 'came down in buckets.' As the six at Bletsoe were found to be unringable, we stopped at Riseley (5), where the Vicar gave an interesting tour of his church and tower.

From the 'R.W.' we knew there was a new ring of five at Dean, and on arriving found the abode of the tower captain, who certainly welcomed us. These are good bells and the ringing of Doubles methods was of a high standard. Looking at the map we found that Hargrave, Northants (four bells), was on the homeward journey, and a decision to call in and view the bells was made. We found the bells in a ringable condition but going badly for the lack of oil and attention.

Despite a rather damp day on Friday, August 8th, a party of ringers had an enjoyable time ringing in the Oundle area of Northants. Towers visited were: Ringstead (6), Aldwincle, St. Peter's (5), Wadenhoe (6), Stoke Doyle (5), Polebrook (5), Lutton (4), Cotterstock (5), Nassington (5), Thornaugh (5) and Warmington (6). A good variety of Minor and Doubles methods was rung, including a course of Grandsire Triples on a very ropy old ring of handbells (bought in a sale). Thanks are recorded to the incumbents and ringers who met the party. S.

THE RINGING WORLD

OFFICIAL JOURNAL OF THE CENTRAL COUNCIL OF CHURCH BELL RINGERS

'The Ringing World' was founded in the year 1911 by John Sparkes Goldsmith, who remained its proprietor and editor until his death in 1942.

No. 2477 Vol. LIV. FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 19, 1958 Registered at the G.P.O. for transmission as a newspaper. 6d.

AS OTHERS HEAR US

DURING a short visit to Devonshire recently I happened to buy an evening paper wondering if I should find anything about ringing or perhaps bells and ringers. Sixty or seventy years ago this paper devoted considerable space to this topic, so imagine the pleasure when I saw a leading article headed, 'Bells of St. Mary.'

The opening paragraph tells us: 'When sweet bells are "jangled, out of tune and harsh" they grate upon ears as they did upon Ophelia's. And that is not always the fault of the bell-ringers, but rather the misfortune of the listener. For if he be too near it may well be that what he hears is not at all the true sounds which are wafted from the tower, but a distortion of echoes, like the confused impressions he gets when looking at a picture which is out of focus, or a masterpiece of sculpture seen at the wrong distance or at the wrong angle.'

Few can disagree with the view expressed, for it is all wrapped up in what is termed acoustics, a subject which could be studied with interest when too much sound is directed downward instead of upward.

The next paragraph says: 'That is why the close proximity of bells in a crowded town sometimes produces only headaches where, in different circumstances, the effect —as we may be sure is the intention—would be to soothe our jaded nerves.' Ringers know only too well what 'close proximity' means and due consideration is usually given by clergy and ringers.

Coming to the next paragraph we read that 'the lowing herd on the distant lea get the maximum pleasure on a summer evening when the campanologists get down to work, and we may well envy the cows their contentment.'

Presumably the writer was thinking of the ringers' practice night, but who can say the number of listeners whenever ringing takes place in any church tower?

The next sentence tells of the rural scene and says: 'Most people will agree that to hear church bells at their best one has to go to the country, and become part of the rural scene. Seeking not necessarily the solitude of the fields, but such peaceful surroundings as may still be found in some of Devon's lovely villages.'

The next paragraph reveals the rendezvous: 'Which experience we could have shared the other afternoon with the good people of Kentisbeare and their neighbours as they gathered in silent groups in what our reporter, with a delightful touch, described "the sun-bathed square," and listened to the bells of St. Mary.'

The article concludes: 'Across the open spaces the melodious music floated away to mingle in pleasant harmony with the rhythm of haymaking for miles around. It is in such a setting on a glorious June afternoon that poetry is born.'

Presumably there was a wedding at Kentisbeare that afternoon, and for those who do not know the location of this village it is three miles from Cullompton. It possesses a ring of six with a tenor of about 14 cwt., but anything else relating to the tower and bells makes me confess that I last visited the village 58 years ago! Probably some ringers would want to know what method was rung for the occasion and my guess is call changes, because this style is still preferred in quite a number of towers in Devon, but whatever was rung mattered but little to the listeners because the ringers were producing good ringing by accurate striking. One wonders if the ringers are members of the Devon Guild or the South Devon Ringers' Association, or a purely local band, but in any case they deserve credit for attracting attention locally and also in the public Press.

In many rural parishes the parishioners are proud of their local ringers, and if they do not ring well they soon hear about it, yet the general public have little idea of the difficulties and varying conditions that ringers have to surmount. Even those who include a number of towers in their outings have confessed that ringing sometimes failed to reach a good standard, and it is surprising the number of causes which can be found that help to prevent accurate striking.

Good ringing should remind people of church and emphasise its position in the parish, while the tone of the bells should be an expression of the true ring in their hearts. As for the harmony of the bells it could be an expression of the general good feeling among the ringers and all other church-workers in the parish. W. S.

BELFRY GOSSIP

The young and enthusiastic band who had a fortnight's peal tour in Gloucestershire and Oxfordshire added to ringing history by the most Doubles methods rung in a handbell peal, the two youngest bands to ring a peal of Royal, and the first peal of Gloucestershire Surprise Major. Unofficial records were first handbell peal in a thunderstorm in which all three ringers were absolutely soaked and first handbell peal on a compost heap, rung partly after nightfall. (More bats in the belfry.)

The Irish Association has had four applications for peal tour parties for 1959 as a result of the Central Council's visit this Whitsun.

The band that rang a peal of Cambridge Royal at the Bell Foundry Campanile, Loughborough, would like to thank Miss Cowley for standing in at very short notice.

With reference to the memorial to the late William Denyer, details of which were printed in last week's issue, the address of Mr. Charles Denyer, to whom contributions are to be sent, is 15, Crondall Lane, Farnham, Surrey.

The ringers of the wedding quarter peal at St. Mary Cray on September 6th express their gratitude for the hospitality extended to them by Mr. and Mrs. Marlow, the bride's parents, after the ringing.

The ringers of the peal of Bob Doubles at South Scarle, Notts, on August 30th, would like to thank Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Pennington for so kindly entertaining them to tea after the peal.

The bells of the parish church of St. Mary the Virgin, Dover, will be heard on Sunday, September 21st, prior to the service to be broadcast from there at 9.45 a.m. in the London and Welsh Home Services, and conducted by the Vicar, Canon A. S. Cooper. The captain of the ringers is Mr. C. A. L. George.

The many friends of Mr. Emlyn F. Hancock will be pleased to know that he has now returned home for convalescence after a period of seven weeks in hospital. He looks forward to resuming his ringing activities when his health is fully restored.

The silver wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Swift, captain of Chalfont St. Peter ringers, occurred on September 2nd. To mark the occasion, a quarter peal was rung on the following evening. It was jointly conducted by their son and the vice-captain of the tower.

Mr. Michael T. Sprackling, who is taking up a teaching post at Stourbridge (Worcs) was given a good 'send off' from Bristol with a peal of Stedman Caters at St. Stephen's. The band who took part and his many Bristol friends will join in wishing Michael a happy and successful career.

The August number of 'The Ringing Towers,' the journal of the New South Wales Association, contains an enterprising quiz set by George W. Pipe and Graeme W Heyes, with marks up to 100. The last question is 'Do you take "The Ringing World?" If not why not?' We thank 'Ringing Towers' for this advertisement.

A welcome visitor to the meeting of the Eastern District of the Irish Association at Christ Church, Bray, on September 6th was Mr. Wilfred E. Box, of St. Chad's R.C. Cathedral, Birmingham, who called in en route to Cork. Mr. Tom Mason, of Bray, acted as Ringing Master in the unavoidable absence of Mr. W. Shaw, of Arklow. 'Stoney' and Plain Bob were rung. Four of the visitors had an insight to plain hunting and rang it very well before the meeting dispersed. Altogether, writes Mr. F. E. Dukes, it was a most enjoyable and beneficial afternoon.

PIPE'S PILGRIMS ADMIRE WELSH BELLS AND SCENERY

Oh, what a beautiful morning!
Oh, what a beautiful day!
I've got a beautiful feeling
Everythings going my way.

THAT is how it seemed on Sunday morning, August 3rd, when we set out for another Pilgrims tour: this time for South Wales.

We had a good coach and a good driver. We knew we would have good company, good bells, and lovely country and we were as thrilled as children going on a Sunday School treat. Mr. and Mrs. Button and Mr. and Mrs. Goodship joined us at Ipswich, Messrs. Eves, Johnson, Roast and Wratten at Chelmsford, Tom Clarke, John Mayne, Irvin Slack, Charlie Sayer, Pat Smee and Herbert Young at St. Paul's and Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Barker, Alick Cutler and Fred Elliott at St. John's Hillingdon, where we enjoyed a good half course of Cambridge Royal.

We arrived at Witney for lunch and here Harry Windsor from Rugby and his pupil Peter Bennett joined us. The meal over we enjoyed an hour's ringing on this pleasant eight (17 cwt. in E). On the way to Gloucester, where we were due for tea, Shirley Parsons and Mr. and Mrs. W. Bertram Kynaston joined the party and we were able to ring for evening service at St. Mary de Crypt (8, 14 cwt. in F sharp, Rudhall's) and St. Mary de Lode (6, 10 cwt. in G and out of tune). Followed the last lap of the day, the 20 miles to Chepstow.

IN MONMOUTHSHIRE

Monday dawned bright and lovely, which was what we wanted, as our route lay beside the river Wye, to Monmouth. The eight at St. Mary's are a full throated old ring of 20 cwt. in E that would stand no nonsense and had to be rung steady to attain good striking.

On to Abergavenny (10, 25 cwt. in D). What a glorious ring of bells! Our ringing was good and everyone was sorry when the Yorkshire Royal ran into rounds.

A few miles further on brought us to Usk, where we were met at the church of St. Mary by Mr. Lionel Jones. The bells, a musical eight by Taylor (14 cwt.), were soon raised and set going to a variety of methods including Grandsire Triples rung by a complete band of ladies and London with six ladies taking part.

The little church of St. Kybi, Llangibby (8, 12 cwt. in G), was next to be visited and, besides other good ringing, a touch of five Spliced Surprise was called by Phil. And then for Newport. First, the King's Head Hotel for tea, and then ringing on the light twelve at St. Woolos' Cathedral (21 cwt. in E flat). These bells are magnificent for their weight and we rang a clinking half course of Cambridge Maximus with Rev. Malcolm Melville who had just joined us, ringing the treble and beautifully keeping it off the tenors. The eight bells at All Saints', Newport, go well and can be heard well and a course of Bristol was most smartly rung.

SALLIES IN MOTH BALLS

Tuesday morning saw us at Machen (8, 12 cwt. in G). The little tower and church stand like a rock and the bells are a pleasing little lot. Six miles further on and we were at St. Martin's, Caerphilly (8, 13 cwt. in F sharp), a brilliant little ring by Taylor. We had applied for permission to ring at All Saints', Llanbradach, but as the bells had not been rung for several months the Vicar thought they should remain silent. However, as we were to pass tower and vicarage we thought a courtesy call on the Vicar could do no harm. We received a warm welcome and ready permission to ring, but the looks on the faces of the party when they entered the belfry and saw eight holes in the ceiling but no ropes was a study. The Vicar said we could fit ropes if we had any, but by then some smart Alick (or was it Billy?) had, somehow or other, turned the lock in the stairway door and discovered the eight ropes had been pulled up on to the next floor and the sallies bound up in moth balls and stacks of newspaper. Down through the holes came the ropes and then began the business of untying the string that bound the sallies. We enjoyed some good ringing and then rebound the sallies.

Tredegar for lunch and then on to Ebbw Vale (25 cwt.), with its glorious ring. Here we were watched by several of the local ringers. The long main street was literally decked with thousands of flags and we felt quite important until we realised the Welsh National Eisteddfod was being held.

Over the mountains, affording magnificent scenery, we arrived at Aberdare for tea and a ring at the church of St. Elvan (8, 16 cwt. in F). Thanks to Mr. D. E. Evans we enjoyed both. Up again to tremendous heights with a view of Aberdare like that from an airplane, we made our way to Pentre in the Rhondda Valley. Our first touch on these fine bells, (8, 26 cwt. in D) was five Spliced called by John Mayne and not a single blow was out of place. Our last lap of the day, was to our hotel at Pontypridd.

Wednesday morning saw us ringing at Pontypridd (St. Catherine's, 8, 12 cwt. in G), quite a pleasant little ring. By ten o'clock we were on our way to Llantrisant, an interesting village. The rope on the sixth here was so low that one ringer rang Double Norwich kneeling.

LLANDAFF CATHEDRAL

Llandaff Cathedral was our next call and here one is tempted to forget one is on a ringing tour and to spend too much time looking at this interesting old pile. The ten bells (20 cwt. in E) are quite pleasant, and Cambridge and Yorkshire Royal, Stedman and Grandsire Caters were much enjoyed. We had a good lunch in Cardiff before ringing at St. John's (10, 26 cwt.). These bells are fair in tone and 'go' having been looked after by Mr. Seymour Barker for the past 60 years without the aid of bell founder or hanger.

The short granite tower of the church of the Holy Cross, Cowbridge, contains a musical ring of eight by Taylor (15 cwt.) and here we were met by Mr. R. Coles, who rang with us.

Tea was followed by a visit to the church of St. Illtyd, Bridgend, situated very high up in the small town and providing a breath-taking view of the countryside. More ringing on nice bells (8 cwt. in F), looked after by Mr. W. T. Petty, who met us. Aberavon was our last call of the day and Mr. R. Blick was waiting to take us to the belfry (8, 16 cwt.) and a very nice ring too.

We set off Thursday morning for the lovely ride to Mumbles as recommended by Mr. J. Arthur Hoare, but alas, the rains came, and we could do little except sit in the coach and survey the lovely bay. We retraced our journey and headed for Sketty (8, 14 cwt. in F sharp, a good old fashioned ring and 'go' like tops). The church of St. Catherine, Gorseinon, was but five miles further on and due to wedding our ringing was cut short, but we all had a pull on this merry little eight (9 cwt.) The ladies wanted to see a Welsh wedding and the writer to hear a Welsh choir. But there was no choir: Indeed there was no need for one—every one of the 100 guests sang lustily and beautifully and in all four parts.

Our driver made up for lost time and our chicken and ham lunch was the best meal of the week. We had allowed an hour to go the 25 miles to Llanstephan where in the church of St. Ystyffan hangs a nice octave (12 cwt.) but our hopes of ringing when we arrived were soon destroyed when we observed the huge crowd in front of the church gathered to witness the mock election of the Mayor and the crowning of the village Queen. Our party immediately entered into the fun and we enjoyed the little bit of Welsh life. We rang as the crowd moved off. On to Tenby and the nice ring of eight (14 cwt.) in an enormous tower of granite, which from the top afforded a magnificent view of sand, sea, and country 40 miles distant to the Devon coast. We reached our hotel at 9 p.m., having covered 100 miles.

On Friday morning we were met at St. Mary's, Pembroke, by the Vicar and local ringers. The eight bells (12 cwt.) have a flat second: in other words they form the front eight of a ring of twelve and were cast by Carr of Smethwick and Jefferies of Bristol, but they go beautifully, in the enormous granite tower. We were soon on our way to St. David's where we were due to ring in the detached bell chamber. The Cathedral was definitely the most interesting building we had visited in all Wales, and lies in a valley on a site where 800 years ago St. David probably erected his first monastic building.

A fine ring of eight (tenor 25 cwt. in D, cast and hung by Mears and Stainbank) hangs in the old gate house at the top of the long flight of steps which leads from the roadway to the south entrance of the Cathedral.

We had now reached our farthest point; 250 miles as the crow flies and the time had come to make our return journey. The sun shone bright and clear all the long journey to Brecon and the sumptuous tea which awaited us was most welcome. The bells of St. Mary's, Brecon, hang in an enormous tower of granite and are quite a good ring of 8 (17 cwt.). John Mayne called a touch of 5 Spliced Surprise; everyone had a good ring including Mr. Davies one of the local ringers.

THE FINAL SOCIAL

The White Swan, Monmouth, was reached at a respectable hour, and following usual custom, the whole party gathered in the lounge for the final social hour. In well chosen words Mr. Arthur Barker thanked Mr. Cecil W. Pipe for organising the tour and called upon his wife to present Mr. and Mrs. Pipe with a barometer as a token of thanks from the party. In responding, Mr. Pipe said he had enjoyed the work and the result of it and was pleased to see several new faces. They had all been model pilgrims and most of them had already booked for next year's tour. He thanked them all for their loyal support.

Saturday was our last day. We reached Gloucester Cathedral at 10 a.m. and were met by Mr. Newman and Mr. Cox. The bells have recently been augmented to ten (tenor 22 cwt.) and were soon going to Royal and Caters and many enjoyed a view of the countryside from the lofty central tower.

St. Lawrence's, Stroud, has a powerful, good-going, old-fashioned ten (20 cwt.), and we were met by Mr. Trevor Pritchard. Here we said farewell to Rev. Malcolm Melville, the Corbys and Thomases and made for Purton where, so it was said, hangs an unusual six with tenor 20 cwt. in C charp. This unspoiled Wiltshire village has a fine church with central tower and spire, together with a western tower in which hangs the extraordinary six bells. To hear these bells to advantage, one should be situated 50 or more yards to the south of the church, when their full-throated grandeur can be appreciated and one is immediately reminded of Sherborne Abbey. Mr. W. Hibbert, Mr. and Mrs. A. Diserens and Mrs. Lewington met us at the church of St. Laurence, Reading. (12, 23 cwt.), and the Cambridge Maximus we rang was one of the greatest joys of the whole tour, moreover, it entitled the organiser to claim having rung on all the 12-bell rings in the British Isles.

There our tour finished. We had rung in 35 towers and covered nearly 1,000 miles. The bells had far exceeded our expectations and so did Welsh hospitality. It was a happy party from beginning to end and we made many new friends.

PILGRIM.

SOMERSET RINGERS' WEEK IN S. DEVON

TWO years ago the ringers of All Saints', Weston, Bath, spent a week's ringing holiday in South Devon under ideal weather conditions.

A further week was arranged recently when they arrived in Torquay on August 30th, where their headquarters were to be for the ensuing week.

The next morning (August 31st) found them ringing for morning service on the handy six at St. Saviour's, Tor, where the Vicar expressed to his congregation his sincere thanks for having the bells rung, this tower apparently being without a regular band of ringers. In the evening a visit was paid to St. Michael's, East Teignmouth, to ring for the holiday-makers' service.

On Monday (September 1st) the real business began at Bovey Tracey, where ringing was enjoyed on this handy octave. Thence on to Lustleigh (6) where the bells appeared to be a handful, and, after a picnic, on to Moretonhampstead (8) where it was found with dismay that ringing was done on the ground floor. The final tower of the day was Chagford (8), where the ringing was much enjoyed.

On Tuesday, the first call was Berry Pomeroy, where things were rather hectic through one o- two of the bells continually 'throwing their ropes.' It is understood that these bells are seldom rung. The next call was Dartington (6), where the ringing was all that could have been wished for. After a picnic lunch at Buckfastleigh, Dean Priory was the next call, a good six, and here a rope decided to break, but was soon replaced. The last tower of the day was at Buckland-in-the-Moor, where the handy little octave was still found to be minus a stay on the treble. Despite this, some good ringing was indulged in.

Wednesday was supposed to be a blank day, but everyone greatly appreciated the opportunity which came to spend an hour in the morning ringing at Buckfast Abbey. After a good rise on the front octave, and the remainder of bells pulled up, a good touch of Grandsire Triples was rung on the same octave with Rev. Fr. Oswald Mowan ringing the tenor. After rounds on the twelve for the benefit of everyone, the bells were lowered. After another picnic lunch at Buckfastleigh, the more energetic members attempted a quarter peal of Grandsire Triples at the parish church, but this came to grief when only one and a half courses from the end. The ringers were Mrs. K. Brain, T. Harris, A. L. Bennett, R. J. Cousins, K. Brain, T. Hayward (cond.), S S. Woodburn, and Miss O. Blomfield.

Thursday. — The programme started at Coffinswell where the six bells were kept going for an hour to Grandsire and Stedman Doubles Mrs. Dunn, the wife of the Rector, joining the party and having a six-score. On leaving Coffinswell a big 'snag' was encountered: the coach, going over an unknown road, became jammed. This considerably upset the time-table. It was feared that the next two towers —Exminster and Alphington—would have to be missed, but on the recommendation of the 'pilot' it was resolved to ring at the first named tower if possible and lunch on Haldon Moor. This proved to be as planned and everyone thoroughly enjoyed the short ring on the grand octave at Exminster. Alphington was accordingly cancelled, and after lunch Chudleigh was reached ahead of schedule. The excellent bells here were similar to the home tower and a very enjoyable time was spent. The local ringer who met the visitors was induced to ring the tenor to Grandsire Triples, which he did with some credit. The visitors also had their first experience of ringing call changes.

Friday.—This was the last day of the tour, and the first tower to be visited was the Castle Church at Dartmouth but the time of arrival was very late owing to traffic conditions, and ringing had to be abandoned. Lunch was had at Slapton Sands. The next tower, Stokenham, has a long draught, but the short stay here was enjoyed. At Modbury, the fine ring of six was duly raised and when 'Stand' was called one of the bells turned right over. It was afterwards discovered that the stay had been broken the previous evening. The journey was continued to Emmanuel Church, Plymouth, where the ringing was much enjoyed, and where the visitors were subsequently welcomed by Mr. J. P. Sims, the tower captain. Thus ended a most enjoyable week, and great appreciation was expressed to Mr. A. L. Bennett for his help and guidance throughout the tour.

B.

A BELTON WEDDING

The wedding took place at Belton Parish Church on August 30th, of Mr. John Edward Martin, of Churchtown, Belton, and Miss Maureen Turner, of Temple Bellwood. Both are local ringers.

The Rev. L. A. Adams, who was inducted and instituted into the living the previous evening, officiated at the service. Two sisters of the bride and a niece of the bridegroom attended the bride, who was dressed in white.

After the service the bells were rung by the local band. The ringing was however only of a limited standard owing to the fact that the parish has only four bells at present, but hope shortly to add two new bells. However, a good job was made of the available bells.

All ringers were guests at the reception held in the Public Hall. The future home of Mr. and Mrs. Martin will be at Churchtown, Belton.

A PEAL AT CLANFIELD

When visiting the Oxfordshire village of Clanfield during the course of their annual outing the Blewbury, Berks, ringers received such a warm welcome that tentative arrangements for a peal attempt at a later date were made.

This came to fruition on August 30th when five of their number, together with three members of adjacent towers, rang a peal of Grandsire Triples.

With the exception of a peal of Cherwell Surprise Major on December 26th, 1951, this was the first peal on the bells for 26 years.

LITTON CHENEY, DORSET.—On Aug. 24th, 1,260 Plain Bob Minor: W. C. Shute 1, Miss R. Jones 2, B. P. Mogg 3, J. Foote 4, A. E. Woods 5, P. W. Mogg (first as cond.) 6. Rung for the visit of the Archbishop of Melbourne.

DISTRICT SECRETARY WEDS

Mr. Clifford John Beadle, only son of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Beadle, of 2, Crondall Lane, Farnham, who is hon. secretary of the Farnham District of the Guildford Diocesan Guild and a member of Farnham Parish Church Choir, was married recently at Frensham Parish Church to Miss Rosemary Anne Heath, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Heath, of Little Hauntries, Frensham.

The bride is also well-known in local ringing circles and friends from the district rang before and after the service. A quarter peal of Cambridge Surprise Minor was rung by Dr. W. Wright 1, Charles W. Denyer 2, Will H. Viggers 3, Dugald Macpherson 4, Roy Collins 5, Tom Page 6.

The Vicar (the Rev. Leonard Coulshaw) officiated at the choral service. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a short white heavy brocade dress, headdress of white satin and pearls. She was attended by her sister, Mrs. [illegible] McDougall, dressed in harebell blue brocade. Mr. Trevor Rolfe, a colleague of the bridegroom was best man and the ushers were Capt. David McDougall and Mr. Maurice Adams.

The reception was held at the bride's home and the honeymoon spent at Bournemouth.

Two Nantwich ringers — Mr. W. Henry Cadman and Miss M. Valerie Scott—were married on September 6th at St. Mary's Church, Nantwich, by the Rector (the Rev. E. M. B. Southwell). The service was fully choral and the bells were rung to welcome the bride to the church and after the service. The reception was held at the Railway Hotel and the honeymoon is being spent in Jersey.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

SUNDAY SERVICE RINGING

Dear Sir,—Whilst agreeing with much that is contained in your leading article in your issue of September 5th I am sorry to read the following:—

'In many Associations membership is swelled by admitting people as soon as they can ring rounds competently.' The writer appears to deplore this, and yet concludes with the words 'the bells being rung to the glory of God.'

The majority of people who hear the bells have no idea what change ringing implies, but do know when bells are rung in good order, whether it be rounds or changes, and I'm afraid I cannot agree that method-ringing is necessary for the glory of God.

My own association, the Bath and Wells, has recently changed its title from the Bath and Wells Association of Change Ringers, where the qualification for full membership was the ability to ring the treble or tenor to one hundred and twenty half-pull changes, to the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association of Church Bell Ringers, in which the qualification for performing members is the ability to raise and lower a bell and ring rounds accurately. Whether this change is unique or otherwise I cannot say but I do think those who brought it about are to be congratulated.

In case I have given the idea of having anything against methods, let me hasten to add that perusal of the peal reports by which I can follow the progress of friends and any ringers I have met, in the accomplishment of advanced ringing, is a weekly pleasure when 'The Ringing World' arrives but do please let's get it all in its right perspective and give full credit to the ringer who can ring accurately even if only in rounds and disabuse our minds of the idea that he is being used to swell some Association's membership. If we talk about bells being rung to the glory of God let's mean it.—Yours sincerely,

W. J. GAIT.

High Littleton, Bristol.

CLIQUES IN BELFRIES

Dear Sir,—I read with rather mixed feelings the report of the C.C. on Sunday service ringing.

Firstly, let's take the points which contribute to success. Why pay them? Most folk in our tower deplore the idea of having to pay ringers. Do you pay the congregation for attending Sunday services? Yes, I know some church choirs are paid—that too is rather a sore point.

How many towers (let's have a bit of heart searching) follow the pattern of several I have met on my travels. One finds small 'cliques' of ringers sitting in their respective corners of the belfry discussing things which could well be talked over 'in the open.' This hole-and-corner companionship leads to unrest, and many ringers who are excluded from these 'secret society' meetings feel they are not wanted. Consequence? A thinning out of the ringers until you have only the three or four who go into a huddle in the corner of the belfry or get their heads down in a poor imitation rugger scrum outside the church.

These are not only my own sentiments although, I hasten to add, I write only on my own behalf.—Yours faithfully,

S. J. HAINES.

Wigston Magna, Leics.

362,880 GRANDSIRE CATERS

Dear Sir,—The letter of Mr. E. A. Barnett in your issue of September 5th provides an interesting reminder of a very notable ringer and a most extraordinary composition.

A copy of this extent came into my possession some twenty years ago, at the time when I was preparing a history of Grandsire Caters. It is with shame that I have to confess that I have forgotten who sent it to me and that the relevant correspondence seems to have vanished.

The composition is set out on a broadsheet, 11½in. x 8¾in., and is headed: 'A peal of 362,880 Grandsire Caters, being the first composition on record containing the full extent of the changes on nine bells, by James Hewett, Member of the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths, and the Winchester Diocesan Guild of Change Ringers.'

The construction is based upon a section called by Hewitt 'A Long Course,' and containing twenty-eight leads, at the end of which 89 come home. Thirty of these long courses constitute a Division, at the end of which 6789 come home. Four of these Divisions make a Part End, where 56789 come home. The first Part End is 42356789, and, as will be recognised, the Part must be repeated five times (omitting a mid-way single) to produce the extent.

The above gives only the broad outline of the peal. The completion of the plan involves the introduction of extra singles in various places, but the plan of these is somewhat too involved to be described here.

With reference to the opening sentence of Mr. Barnett's letter, I recollect that I learned from some source (now likewise forgotten!) that the copyright of this unique magnum opus was bought by a firm of safe-makers for the purpose of assisting in the construction of puzzle locks and safe-combinations. Perhaps someone in the Exercise may be able to verify this and amplify the above scanty information.

In conclusion, it seems to me rather remarkable that the Library of the Central Council should be without a copy of so interesting a document.—Yours faithfully,

EDGAR C. SHEPHERD.

PENTLOW BELLS ARE RINGABLE

Dear Sir,—I am glad to be able to inform Mr. Roast and others interested that the bells at Pentlow, Essex, are ringable.

They are very seldom rung and are very noisy, owing to the fact that they are on a floor immediately above the ringing room, but they are a good ring and go well.—Yours sincerely,

ROSEMARY J. SEABROOK.

Clare, Suffolk.

RYE, SUSSEX.—On Sept. 7th, 1,260 Plain Bob Minor: M. Winter 1, Linda M. Southerden 3, Noreen Winter 4, C. H. Knowles 5, J. Small 6, A. J. Hicks (cond.) 7, R. Hodgson (cover). For Matins.

SIBBERTOFT, NORTHANTS.—1,260 Grandsire Doubles: Pamela A. Dexter (first quarter, aged 12) 1, M. D. Wilford 2, W. C. Budd 3, D. Williams 4, A. G. Eveleigh (cond.) 5. Rung as a wedding compliment to the Rev. H. G. Withey, Vicar of the parish; also the silver wedding of the ringer of 2.

DOUBLES METHODS

Dear Sir,—In the preface to the Collection of Doubles Methods it is suggested that, where the difference between (Doubles) methods lies in the type of bob used, the methods 'could' be rung under the name given in the collection and the different bobs could be used for the sake of variety.' Obviously Mr. Dodds had this in mind when he submitted the report of the peal of Plain Bob Doubles rung at Chieveley, Berks, on June 21st; in it five different types of bob were used. (Incidentally, the preface lists nine variations of Plain Bob, so I'm afraid you didn't ring them all, Geoff.)

Peals of Doubles are however still being published as being in (for example) 14 methods while containing as few as six 'individual plain course' methods, as was the case of the peal rung at Ashton, Northants, on March 15th. May I therefore ask how the Peals Analysis Committee defines a Doubles method for the purpose of its yearly analysis tables? As an example, will the peal rung at Kislingbury, Northants, on June 20th, be counted as one in twelve or as one in 21 methods? (The conductor has not stated any number in his report.)

In the words of the C.C. handbook: 'the work of analysis is a valuable piece of recording and demands from the committee great care and accuracy.' If conductors know how the number of methods in their Doubles peals is assessed, and submit their reports accordingly, the committee's work will be considerably lightened.

And while on the subject of Doubles methods, here is a problem for the experts. Is it possible to splice twelve different ('individual plain-course') methods into a six-score without the use of bobs? Last September, Mr. C. B. Fynes published a very ingenious extent in twelve methods with seven calls. In my own attempts I have produced the following two six-scores, one in nine methods, the other in eleven, but one in twelve methods still eludes me.

NORTHAMPTON RINGERS TOUR DEVONSHIRE

IN the early hours of Saturday, July 26th, a coachload of 34 ringers and passengers departed from Northampton for S. Devon—the ringers going on a ringing tour and the passengers on their holidays..

The first stop, Devizes, was reached an hour earlier than expected, thus giving time for all to stretch their legs and have breakfast. St. John's was the first tower of the tour and at 9 a.m. prompt the bells were ringing out to Grandsire Triples.

Leaving Devizes at the appointed hour, Shepton Mallet was reached on time and lunch duly disposed of. Ringing at the Church of SS. Peter and Paul was arranged and a pleasant hour was spent. By now, the holiday rush was on and a monotonous four hours delay was spent in traffic jams, so that we failed to reach our destination on time.

Teignmouth was reached late in the evening where we were greeted by our advance party, Eric, who had travelled down by train from Aldershot Barracks.

On Sunday at 9.40 a.m. we were again aboard the coach for a short ride to St. John's, Bishopsteignton, where we had the privilege of ringing for and joining in morning servce. The Rector gave us a warm welcome and thanked us for coming. Ringing on this good ring of six included Kent T.B., St. Clement's and Cambridge Minor.

After lunch at Teignmouth we travelled by coach to Powderham. Spliced Minor was the order for this tower and we hope that the 'bobby' standing in the rain outside appreciated the music. A real Devonshire cream tea awaited us at Holcombe, which was appreciated by all.

At St. Michael's Church, Teignmouth, we were met by Mr. E. Maurice Atkins (general secretary of the Guild of Devonshire Ringers), who had been a great help in making our tour programme Here we were able to ring for the evening service and some good touches were brought round (with the exception of Double Norwich). Mr. Atkins invited us to ring again later in the evening for the holiday-makers' service, which some of us did.

Monday morning was free, and a trip on the sea was decided upon. The trip out to the lobster pots and the venture on rather rough water will not easily be forgotten.

AN AFTERNOON AT TORQUAY

A full afternoon's ringing followed. At Combein Teignhead we rang in the beautiful parish church on the six bells before making our way to Stokein Teignhead, with another good six. By now we were getting used to having a coil in hand whilst ringing, as all the tail-ends were rather long. At Torquay we first rang at All Saints', Babbacombe (a nice toned eight). Cockington, a village well known to visitors, was another delightful spot, although we had some rain here. The sound of bells greeted us at the Church of SS. George and Mary, a party of ringers from N. Devon being on their outing. We took over from them to ring for another half hour. Tea was arranged in the Court Cafe, adjacent to the church, and this was the first meal since breakfast.

At Upton (8) the bells were indeed a treat to ring on A short distance away was the Church of St. Saviour, Tor (6). Here the verger, who was a very pleasant chap, invited us to ring again later in the week, if we had time to spare. The last tower of the day was at St. Mary's, King's Kerswell, and the touch of Cambridge was the best ringing we had on six bells all the week.

Tuesday was the 18th birthday of one of our party, and compliments were duly sung at breakfast. The day was spent in the Exeter area with ringing first at St. Martin's, Exminster, on a good ring of eight. At St. Thomas', Exeter, Mr. Biffin was waiting to meet us. A pleasant ring was had here although probably a little too fast. Parking our coach in the city centre we had lunch, and met at the Church of St. David, where St. Clement's Major was well rung. A visit to Exeter would not be complete without viewing the Cathedral and here we were privileged by having a tour conducted by the Rev. H. F. Fulford Williams.

AT EXETER CATHEDRAL

A very pleasant hour was spent at St. Michael's, Heavitree, before returning to the city for tea. The highlight of the day was to revisit the Cathedral for a pull on the heavy ring of 12. Outside Mr. Wreford was waiting to escort us up to the ringing chamber, where we had the opportunity of visiting the bell chamber to view the bells. Ringing was not of a very good standard, but we were assured that we had done as well as any visiting party for the first time. The visit was one to be remembered and we are grateful to the authorities for allowing us this opportunity to ring.

Back at Teignmouth, preparation was made for the birthday party, the ladies providing the eats and the gents the drinks. It was amazing how 20 people gathered together in one bedroom, with still room to spare. The 'bar and buffet,' well stocked, was soon diminished, with the exception of a crate of lemonade! which came in very handy during the latter part of the week. It was a day Allan will remember, as will Jackie, who delighted us all with a little solo dance.

Wednesday brought better weather and we made a good start by visiting East Ogwell. Here was the only 5-bell tower of the tour. The five bell-ringers enjoyed this light ring. On to All Saints', Highweek, Newton Abbot, a church situated on top of a hill with a good view all round. This good ring of eight was appreciated. At Chudleigh, we were met by local ringers and rang for an hour. A free afternoon was spent at Dawlish—some enjoying a swimming and boating session, whilst others took it easy in deck chairs. Meeting after tea we had the use of the bells of St. Gregory's, for 1½ hours. It was decided to attempt a quarter peal of Little Bob Major, but it only lasted approx. ten minutes. However, a long touch of Grandsire Triples was brought round. Saying farewell to Dawlish we returned to Teignmouth for the rest of the evening.

Bovey Tracy was the first stop on Thursday, where the Rector awaited us and a pleasant time was had on the bells. Travelling over the beautiful moor, Widdecombe-in-the-Moor was reached a little behind time. Visitors to the village of Uncle Tom Cobley were pleased to hear us ring the bells of St. Pancras'—an excellent six. The eight at Buckland-in-the-Moor go like handbells. The treble, which had to be rung without a stay, presented no trouble and some really good ringing was had.

BUCKFAST ABBEY

Lunch was arranged in Ashburton and although a little late, we had a splendid meal before ringing at St. Andrew's Church (8, 21 cwt.). At Buckfastleigh we met Mr. Aubrey Bennett who was our guide for the afternoon. The bells of Holy Trinity are a good ring of eight with the exception of the stretchy ropes.

Buckfast Abbey was reached on time and here we again met Mr. Atkins. Ringing on this excellent ring of 12 provided no difficulty, and we were privileged by viewing the bells, which are a marvellous arrangement.

Leaving Buckfast, with souvenirs, we journeyed to Totnes. The Church of St. Mary houses the heaviest ring of eight in Devon, which are a delight to ring on. Here we said goodbye to Mr. Bennett. Ipplepen (8) was the last tower of the day and here our organiser, Mr. G. F. Roome, on behalf of the party, thanked Mr. Atkins for his interest in our tour and for the help he had given in the arrangements for the week.

The one and only peal attempt was arranged on Friday at the Church of St Mary, Wolborough. Before the attempt, the non-pealers had a short ring before going into Newton Abbot for the morning. Grandsire Triples was the method attempted, but unfortunately it came to grief after two hours. Descending the tower, we found the coach had just arrived to pick us up, so we were able to proceed for an extra long afternoon at Paignton. A free afternoon enabled the party to relax; Meeting once again at the coach park, we arrived on time at St. John's Church, where we had an hour's ringing on the eight bells. The last tower of the tour in Devon was Brixham, the old fishing port. The beautiful Church of St. Mary has a good ring of eight and a well struck touch of Kent T.B. Major was recorded. After supper at Paignton we returned to Teignmouth.

THE HOMEWARD JOURNEY

On Saturday morning, we reluctantly departed from Teignmouth. We reached Ilminster 30 minutes behind schedule but the Vicar agreed to us having a ring on his excellent octave before and after lunch to enable all to have a pull. A stop was made at Stonehenge. At Hungerford (8) the last tower of the week, we were met by Jean and Ivor who had motorcycled from Northampton to meet us. A further stop was made at Brackley for 'refreshments' and the handbells once again produced. Northampton was reached at 11.15 p.m.

Thanks are due to the secretary of the Northampton Branch of the Peterborough Guild and his wife (Mr. and Mrs. George F. Roome) and Mr. Terry Haines, of Moulton, for the hard work they put in to make this tour the success that it was. We are now all looking forward to a two week tour next year, so get your heads down, George, Rita and Terry; we all know you love doing it and you can count on our support.

ARCHDEACONRY OF STAFFORD SOCIETY

Barton-under-Needwood, recently adjudged the best kept large village in Staffordshire, was the venue for the summer meeting of the Society on August 30th.

During the afternoon and evening the eight bells of St. James' were put to good use under the supervision of the Ringing Master, Mr. C. M. Smith. All tastes were catered for with rounds and Queens for the learners, progressing through the standard methods to Surprise Major for the more advanced.

The service was conducted by the Rev. F. Moss, who also gave an interesting address. This was followed by tea in the Village Hall where 70 ringers and friends were present. It was particularly encouraging to see such a good attendance in view of the fact that this meeting is usually hard hit by holidays. The thanks of the society were expressed to the Vicar, the organist and Mr. Kent, a local ringer, for arranging the tea. Three new members were elected. D. J. T.

Bedfordshire Golden Wedding

On August 26th Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Ball celebrated their golden wedding.

'Charlie' has been a ringer for well over 40 years. For about the first six of these he rang at Tempsford and afterwards at Sandy, where for many years he was tower captain.

From 1921 to 1951 he was secretary of the Bedfordshire Association.

He is still interested in ringing although no longer able to take an active part.

The local band, most of whom he trained, marked the occasion by ringing a quarter peal.

J. A.

PEAL TOUR OF GLOUCESTERSHIRE AND OXFORDSHIRE

WELL, actually it began in Warwickshire —at Leamington Spa on Sunday, August 10th. From the start it rained, the first peal having been scored that afternoon in a thunderstorm on a canal bank. From the beginning, too, it was obvious that, in the politest terms, the company was varied, with ringers from Barrow-upon-Humber, Beccles, Buxton, Marple Macclesfield, and Sheffield—also three Midlanders, the only ones speaking B.B.C. English!

Tower-bell ringing began before evensong on the fine eight at Leamington Parish Church, the local ringers very kindly handing over to us. Leamington was further explored later that evening and also next morning when Messrs. Hanley and Farmer welcomed the party to the adjoining village of Whitnash. This church must be proud of its 93 year-old Mr. Hanley, who joined in 120 Grandsire. Leamington was 'finished off' with a ring on the magnificent eight at St. Peter's, R.C. Church; this tall brick tower sways so much that even the weathercock was seasick!

Meanwhile the Buxton Dassett peal band had not been allowed to ring at all and when six ringers were left at Cropredy in the afternoon the proposed peal of Norwich dissolved into a quarter; the third ran dry with the fifth a close second, though the 16 cwt. tenor is a fine bell hung on ball-bearings. The tale of woe continued with a ride through heavy rain while the non-pealers, having rung at Chacombe, enjoyed a lovely tea provided by the Vicar of Middleton Cheney.

The Tuesday peal attempt at Great Tew proved that these bells have rung so much Bristol that they have forgotten Superlative. Consequently Bob Major was resorted to, the Vicar and local people appreciating the ringing. The others rang on two sixes, at Spelsbury and Enstone, and, with Brian conducting, unsuccessfully attempted Kent at Churchill where the tower is modelled on Magdalen, Oxford. Consolation was sought in handbells in the men's dorm.

The next day meant a long, hilly ride to Northleach, with a very splendid heavy eight, on which we rang 'spliced,' and another ten miles for Kent Maximus on the world's first ring of twelve at Cirencester. Then fish and chips and two good peals, Bob Minor at Kemble and Double Norwich at Watermoor: the 'spare' ringer was left in the Corineum Museum.

FORECASTING!

Brian was the spare next morning. Hearing the beginnings of two peals he felt sure that Stratton St. Margaret would succeed while the Rodbourne Cheney attempt would go 'up the wall.' So much for his forecasting! The Stratton attempt finished for divers reasons after 1¼ hours and was a sore point for the rest of the day. Those who heard the Minor peal finish wondered that it had ever been in doubt.

Then into Swindon, to sample the glories of a 200 disc juke-box and the very musical ten at Christ Church on which the tourists acquitted themselves with Royal and Caters. More good bells followed—at Highworth where the treble feels like a sausage, where Cambridge and Erin were rung and where David Holland tolled the tenor for just a few minutes to practise setting it at back! The day was neatly rounded off by a commendable Doubles 'in hand' by three lean ringers on a compost heap: as the light began to fade they looked more like three delirious demons performing 'black magic.'

After almost a week of dull and/or rainy weather, Friday brought very warm, bright skies, the results of which were noticeable in the not-very-airy ringing room at East Hagbourne! First, however, ringing was on the easy going and tuneful eight at Shrivenham and then, after a very lovely ride through the Vale of the White Horse, Wantage was reached. As Double Norwich rang out some heard the bells at their best in the churchyard, while others realised that they were now in the wake of destruction of the Cannon-Dodd Bank Holiday excursion! (see p. 546). After lunch, an ill-fated band left for Brightwell to find the bells hard-going; the East Hagbourne band had long been doomed to score the 'first' of Gloucestershire, R.I.P. Tea had been prepared in the 'local' where the publican, from what one gathered, had played some part in cradling Billy and Frank in the noble art.

VISITORS FROM ESSEX

Saturday was a lazy day for all but Ian who, having conducted a peal at the famous Drayton with 'young David' on the tenor, was also due to conduct at Abingdon until he lost the composition: so Ian was duly banished to the tenor and a peal of Bob Royal was rung, into which we welcomed two visitors—William A. Smith and David E. Belcham from Prittlewell, Essex. Perhaps it was the heat but David Holland and Michael really were reminiscent of snake charmers!

Even lazier was Sunday. In the morning the party joined local ringers at St. Giles', Oxford, and rang what Dermot Roaf feels is probably the first Yorkshire on the bells; Mr. Warrilow, Robert's father, joined them for two days here. Handbell peal No. 3 was then rung midst swarms of green flies in the University parks: those still sane went on the river. After lunch a sad goodbye was said to Ian Holland (commonly known as 'ar kid') and to his brother David (also known as 'ar kid'). their departure having been celebrated the night before by a variation of the pyjama game and commemorated the following evening by temperance! Clare Webster of Harrow Weald, however, was welcomed, after ringing for evensong with Mr. Wilkin's band at St. Ebbe's. The day ended with 'the kids' ringing handbells in a tree. Whatever next?

THE VICAR'S LESSON

The rain returned on Monday to dampen spirits still more after New Cambridge was lost at Kidlington. At Stonesfield, however, John Kennett rang his first as conductor after which the Vicar taught the band how to drink cider! And although the rest of the party were unable to ring at Woodstock and played truant from Wootton, all were cheered by the arrival of Carol Eustace, the female population being thus augmented to three.

Tuesday and Wednesday were pealless. The attempt at Ascot-under-Wychwood failed, probably owing to the mental approach of the band. Simultaneously people would subtly keep changing course in Grandsire Triples on the magnificent eight at Kingham: but Vicar's six-part was perhaps not a wise choice after ten days' cycling. The ringers reunited to ring the six at Bledington in spliced Minor during which it was perceived that the rain had apparently shrunken one little fellow's shorts! A local lady and her husband provided tea after which ringing was at Stow-on-the Wold, with its eight (28 cwt.) of indescribable beauty and majesty. Later we welcomed Bob Smith: he had dragged 'Groves' along with him, and adventures of flying aeroplanes on a Northants peal tour were duly heard.

FLYING SALLIES

Wednesday brought the party to the rather hard-going six at Longborough and to Bourton-on-the-Hill, where there is an anti-clockwise six with an odd 'circle.' But, intrepid, they rang London and Norwich. The peal band at Broadway, as anticipated, were daunted by flying sallies of this heavy six while non-pealers rang the recently rehung and noisy eight at Moreton-in-Marsh and finished the day at Chadlington.

After three nights at Charlbury hostel the visitors rang on the mellow six in the village. A band had set out to ring a peal at Deddington; well, they reached the church eventually: full stop. At Banbury, however, after buying enough food for three meals for seventeen people (!), they scored a good peal of Kent on this 'right fine' ten. Those whose names are not inscribed in the columns under Banbury are to be congratulated on preparing a very splendid dinner at Badby self-cooking hostel.

YOUNGEST 10 BELL PEAL BAND?

The next morning an early good-bye was said to Mike Crowder and to Trevor and Terry, and then some aspired to Bristol on the pleasing anti-clockwise eight at Daventry. The party were welcomed to Chilvers Coton in the afternoon by Mr. and Mrs. Beamish, but what were they to ring? The conductor appeared unable to call Grandsire Caters even after spending 3s. 7d. in an attempt to learn the composition. A good old five part of Kent Royal was the solution and brought round in fine style despite Dennis' last moment star-gazing! The band is probably the youngest to ring a ten-bell peal and if so broke the record set up at Banbury the day before.

The three Midlanders bade farewell while another thunderstorm accompanied the others to Lichfield. The tour really ended next morning with a peal attempt on the truly glorious six at the cathedral-like church of the Holy Angels, Hoar Cross. Unfortunately, a peal could not be attempted as the second stay was broken.

Thus ends the tale of two very happy weeks when it was proved that cycling and peal-ringing can be combined. To Brian Woodruffe, their tutor and the organiser, all are deeply indebted for such splendid organisation of such a successful tour. S.

SOLIHULL PARISH CHURCH

Dedication Of Peal Boards

On September 7th two new peal tablets in the ringing chamber of Solihull Parish Church were dedicated by the Rector, the Rev. H. Hartley. The tablets are the gift of Mr. Charles Bragg, a member of the local band, and have been made and written by Messrs. Bragg Bros., of Solihull. One board records a peal of Stedman Caters rung half-muffled as a tribute to the memory of Stanley Bragg, a member of the church company, who died in September, 1927 and the other commemorates the first peal on the bells after their recasting in 1932. Both peals were conducted by Albert Walker.

In concluding the short dedication service the Rector reminded the ringers of the important and sacred significance of their work and thanked them for the regular and devoted service they gave to the church. A quarter peal of 1,295 Grandsire Caters was then rung by: W. Leeson 1, A. Walker 2, C. Dale 3, R. Cann 4, F. W. Perrens 5, E. C. Shepherd (composer and conductor) 6, H. H. Fearn 7, T. Warner 8, C. Bragg 9, G. E. Fearn 10.

HARTHILL'S PROGRESS

There was a very good attendance, especially of ladies and young ringers, at the joint meeting of the Sheffield and District Society and the Chesterfield District of the Derbyshire Association at Harthill on September 6th. Those present enjoyed at tea in the Church Hall the excellent hospitality of the Rector (Rev. A. J. Bishop), his wife and the local ringers.

During the business meeting three new members were elected. In proposing the vote of thanks, Mr. N. Chaddock commented upon the great progress that the Rector's enthusiasm had produced in Harthill tower.

Ringing included Plain and Little Bob, Grandsire, Stedman, Double Norwich and a variety of Surprise Methods. The next meeting will be held at Rawmarsh on October 4th.

OBITUARY

MR. W. J. PAICE — AN APPRECIATION

Many of us in the Guildford Guild remember with gratitude the work of Mr. W. J. Paice while he lived at Bentley. His help to the younger members in ringing their early peals was particularly valuable. While he was at times inclined to be strict in the belfry, he was a true gentleman, always patient with a willing learner.

A devout man, he always put the service of the Church before personal ambition. In all, he rang about 100 peals, a modest total these days, but the number of 'firsts' in them must be very large. His example will be long remembered. P. R. C.

Frittenden Visited After 29 Years

Some thirty ringers and their friends met at the almost completely isolated little Wealden village of Frittenden on September 6th. It was twenty-nine years since the Ashford District last met at this beautiful church with its slender spire and fine ring of eight (tenor 15 cwt.).

The service was conducted by the Rector, the Rev. H. T. Blake, and Mrs. Blake was the organist. Tea was enjoyed in the Rectory, where an unexpectedly large number of visitors were resourcefully and cheerfully catered for by Mrs. Blake and her lady helpers.

The Rector presided at the short business meeting, when three new members were elected.

The next meeting will be held at Folkestone on October 4th. Mr. J. R. Cooper thanked the Rector for his welcome, Mr. Harry Baker for making the local arrangements, and Mrs. Blake for her invaluable services.

Ringing in the tower continued until about 7.30 p.m. when the meeting adiourned to Biddenden. The tower here had been kindly made available by the Rev. A. B. Richardson and Mr. S. G Waters, who were both present to welcome the visitors.

Ringing was in methods up to three spliced Surprise, and a gratifying improvement in the progress of some of the younger members was noted. C. T. H.

AN UNEXPECTED RING AT INVERARAY

Dear Sir,—Having read in your issue of August 15th what Mr. L. Walmsley had to say about ringing at Inveraray, Argyll, I feel it is worth mentioning to you about the good fortune which my wife and I had when passing through this beautifully situated town on Loch Fyne on Tuesday, August 19th. We were staying at Oban and that day had intended going for a day's sail round Mull, but the morning being overcast we decided to visit Inveraray instead.

On driving into the town we happened to notice some men coming away from the bell tower. On approaching these gentlemen it turned out that they were members of Mr. Wilfred William's touring party and they had been putting the ropes on to the bells in readiness for a peal attempt that afternoon. The result was that my wife and I were able to have a ring before the start and we are both indebted to Mr. Williams and his party for this favour, which was greatly appreciated.

Having in mind how very rarely these lovely bells are rung, it really was more than ordinarily lucky in that we happened to be in Inveraray that day. We heard some hour and a half of the ringing from the grounds of Inveraray Castle where the bells sounded really beautiful. I shall be interested to see from your peal columns whether the attempt was successful.—Yours truly,

F. C. A. BENNETT.

A WILTSHIRE VISIT

On August 9th friends from Bridgwater, Somerset, joined Nailsea and district ringers in a tour of 'moonraker' country on the edge of Salisbury Plain.

Ringing commenced at Erlestoke (6), where those who tried the third risked skinned hands on the wall. Chirton, with its long-draughted, well struck five, produced some good ringing; it was pleasing to hear that the tower possesses a strong local band. The church itself has a unique Norman timbered roof, rare in England, as well as a fine Norman doorway and font.

After tea, ringing continued at Enford (6). Here again we heard the heartening story of a self-taught band who have already rung their first peal.

Our stay at Netheravon, a church with a Saxon tower, was curtailed when the tower was found to be locked. After a frantic search our organiser returned with the magic formula 'Pull out the staple—it's quite loose,' and we enjoyed the brief time available on this good heavy six.

Local ringers joined the party at Fittleton (6), where the bells go well, but are rather noisy. A good lower in peal ended the day.

Our thanks are due to Mr. Derrick for organising the trip, and to all incumbents and local ringers for meeting us. J. B.

FORMS FOR SURVEY

To assist Associations in completing their Survey, 'The Ringing World' is having printed forms similar to that which appeared in our issue of Sept. 5th.

Will secretaries please write, stating numbers required, to The Editor, 'The Ringing World,' Onslow Street, Guildford.

LEICESTER DIOCESAN GUILD

Syston District's Good Work at Ratcliffe

For the first ringers' meeting to be held at St. Botolph's, Ratcliffe-on-the-Wreake, on August 23rd, the bell chamber was cleaned out, and the anti-clockwise ring of five bells renovated and furnished with a new set of ropes by Syston District members.

The bells were raised at 3 p.m. and rung to various methods until 4.30, when the Vicar (the Rev. J. R. A. Shaw) conducted Evensong. Thirty members and friends sat down to an excellent tea provided free of charge by the ladies of St. Botolph's.

During the business meeting two new members were elected. The Vicar thanked the District for all they had done to get his bells ringing once again over the Wreake valley, after hanging silent for many years.

Mr. H. L. Wykes, the district chairman, then closed the meeting, and members returned to the tower for further ringing. Visitors present during the afternoon included Mr. B. G. Warwick, General Secretary of the Guild.

THE RINGING WORLD

OFFICIAL JOURNAL OF THE CENTRAL COUNCIL OF CHURCH BELL RINGERS

'The Ringing World' was founded in the year 1911 by John Sparkes Goldsmith, who remained its proprietor and editor until his death in 1942.

No. 2478. Vol. LIV. FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 26, 1958 Registered at the G.P.O. for transmission as a newspaper. 6d.

FINANCING THE BELFRY

EVERY well-organised ringing tower has a system of finance. The spirit of independence is strong to-day, and, while the recent census taken by the Church of England revealed a large number of paid ringers in the country, the term 'paid' is rather fallacious. Classified as 'paid' are those towers which receive any money from the Parochial Church Council to be administered by the ringers themselves. We know of one tower, for example, where the payment worked out at 1½d. an attendance, but against this remuneration the ringers themselves pay 9d. a week, and, while each individual ringer actually had no financial benefit, they proudly regarded their service to the Church on a professional basis.

From Kingsthorpe, Northamptonshire, we have received the following article dealing with the finances of their belfry which might be helpful to some towers without a system. A properly organised system cannot be too strongly stressed, and it places the tower in a happy financial relationship with the Guild or Association. Explaining his system, S. F. E. writes:—

We have two funds. One is entirely under the control of the belfry members, and the other called the 'Bell Maintenance Fund,' under the control of the P.C.C. Our own belfry fund has two sources of income. Each adult member pays 6d. per week, with non-earning members 3d., and whenever the bells are rung for weddings other than for active church members the fees, after compensating any loss of earnings by the ringers, are paid into the belfry funds. The charges are £2 2s. for weddings after noon on Saturdays and £3 3s. at other times. Out of the belfry funds are paid the Guild subscriptions, annual reports are purchased, and on the occasion of the summer outing members of the belfry pay for themselves but can take another person free of charge, or, if this privilege is not taken advantage of, a member going alone pays only half price.

During the last year various additions and improvements have been made to the belfry out of these funds, such as new tail end ropes, a belfry records book and bookcase, and it is now contemplated paying for the floor covering to be cleaned. Over the last year or two the belfry has been equipped with a clock, shutters have been fixed to the louvres, electric light installed both in the belfry and up the steps to the bell chamber, and a good selection of ringing books bought. The ringing chamber is not suitable for much improvement, but if and when we have a ringing chamber we can call our own it will be a pleasure to the ringers to furnish and decorate it.

At each annual meeting we consider if it is possible to make some contribution out of the belfry fund to the 'Bell Maintenance Fund,' and usually this is £5. This maintenance fund stands at some £50, and out of this we purchase, with permission of the P.C.C., new ropes, stays, etc. It is a residue of the fund which was created some years ago to have the bells retuned and rehung, and it seemed a pity not to keep it going in some way.

The independence created by having our own fund has done much to weld the belfry members into an interested and progressive unit, and from the time weekly subs were introduced, when it was found that the declining income from weddings was insufficient for our needs, a keener interest was born. By making some financial contribution to the belfry, it is felt that new members are assisted to appreciate the fact that we ringers are privileged, not only to take an active part in the life of the church, but to have the pleasure of ringing for our enjoyment on bells costing many hundreds of pounds, requiring from time to time considerable expenditure to maintain.

BELFRY GOSSIP

The ring at St. Michael and All Angels', Hawkshead, in the Lake District, has been augmented to eight by the addition of two new bells, and the provision of a new steel frame. The clock has also been restored. The dedication ceremony will be performed by the Bishop of Penrith on Michaelmas Day, Monday, September 29th, at 7.30 p.m. The preacher will be the Rev. R. D. St. John Smith, president of the Lancashire Association, of which Association Hawkshead ringers are members.

Mr. T. J. Lock's tourists rang 11 peals in Hampshire, including two on the Isle of Wight in a thunderstorm.

Philip Walker (aged 16) who rang in the peal on September 10th, is the youngest person to ring Rotherham tenor to a peal and did so very well.

With the peal of Grandsire Triples at Wigston Magna, Leicestershire, Richard J. Carter has now rung eight peals in the tower, each on a different bell and in a different method.

The bells of Porthkerry (Glam.) rang for the first time for 14 months on September 14th to welcome the newly-instituted Rector, Rev. J. A. Jeffreys Jones, who was accompanied by the Bishop of Llandaff. The top portion of the tower has been completely rebuilt at a cost of almost £1,000.

At a meeting of Victorian towers in Melbourne, a resolution was passed approving of the first step taken to form the Australasian Association of Change Ringers. The co-operation of Sydney and other ringing centres is being sought and it is hoped to hold an inter-State meeting at an early date. There are approximately 200 ringers in Australasia —Victoria 45, South Australia 20, Tasmania 15, New Zealand 20, Queensland 10 and the remainder in New South Wales.

Henry Stalham, the Sussex veteran, at the age of 86 rang yet 'another one' on September 12th He is certainly a most remarkable man for his years. Concentration and the way he rang his bell (absolutely faultless) in this peal were top class qualities. 'Harry,' to his friends, is looking for a pair of new 'feet' at a reasonable cost. Feet apparently are his weakest section; he is so anxious to have them in better shape for the 'Veterans' on September 27th.

The Society of Friends of the Exercise are holding their annual autumn tour in Devon. Most, if not all, will be travelling down to East Budleigh (the headquarters), this evening.

Mr. A. A. Hughes was on Tuesday presented with the honorary freedom of the Worshipful Company of Founders. He is also a liveryman of the Worshipful Company of Skinners.

On September 14th Mr. H. Watts of Ramsbury, Wilts, was the recipient of an illuminated framed token, in recognition of 50 years' service in the belfry, also a book containing a list of names of subscribers to a handsome cheque. The quarter peal rung on this occasion was by members of the Marlborough Deanery and Salisbury Diocesan Guild, of which Mr. Watts has been a member for 42 years.

The quarter peal at Tenterden, Kent, on Tuesday, August 26th, was rung in memory of Miss Margaret A. Babington, O.B.E., who passed away on August 21st, at the age of nearly 90 years. Miss Babington, who was daughter of the former Vicar of Tenterden, was perhaps best known for her work at Canterbury Cathedral. She was hon. steward and treasurer of the Friends of Canterbury Cathedral since it started in 1928, which has raised over £100,000 towards the maintenance and glorifying of the Cathedral.

UNIVERSITY OF LONDON SOCIETY ANNUAL RINGING WEEK

'Grave old plodders, gay friskers,
Fathers, mothers, uncles, cousins;
And over all
There was a rustling, that seemed like a bustling seems roughly to describe the University of London Society assembled at Penscot Guest House, Shipham, Somerset, on August 23rd, for its Annual Ringing Week. Thirteen years ago, a dozen or so members of the Society made their first tour in the same part of the country on bicycles. This year a return was made to Somerset, with one or two important differences. The size of the company had increased almost threefold and those who bore the burden and heat of the day years ago now kindly placed their cars at our disposal, thus hastening travel quite considerably and enabling more places to be visited. Shipham used to be a lead mining village with an horrific reputation for lawlessness and thuggery. We trust our stay there did nothing to revive such times.

Ringing began on Saturday afternoon at St. Stephen's, Bristol, and St. Mary's, Redcliffe, where three leads of Bristol sounded well on the back eight. Anyone noticing frowns or worried faces during the evening would have found that they came either from five members of the party trying to ring Yorkshire on handbells or from the Master wondering how he could arrange 32 ringers to man 35 bells at the six different towers scheduled for service ringing on Sunday. The former did not make much headway with their Royal but acquitted themselves well with a course of London.

COW SHED SHELTER

Sunday started with corporate communion at Shipham. Breakfast over, the cars moved off in their various directions for Blagdon, Cheddar, Axbridge and Compton Bishop, while those with children, plus one or two others, rang at Shipham and Rowberrow. In between showers, members climbed the steep slope to ring at Uphill and, after tea, split forces to ring at the towers visited in the morning, plus Winscombe. A small contingent thought that a walk before dinner would give them a bigger appetite, but opinions changed when a fierce storm suddenly burst upon them. Those who retreated back to the guest house soon wished they had sought refuge nearer. One gallant young man persuaded three terrified lasses to forge ahead and found them shelter in a cow-shed. However, he too is a west countryman and so was excused.

Two attempts for peals on Monday (Yorkshire Royal at Minehead and Minor at Rowberrow) unfortunately came to grief, but the enjoyment of the countryside and the sunshine prevented the participants from mourning their losses too long. The rest of the party had a free morning. Lunch was taken picnic style at Washford, then a move made to Cannington. (Picnic style denotes sandwiches and cider—a system which served us well for the whole of the week.) Bridgwater, Huntspill and Axbridge, where there is no bridge and the River Axe is a mile or two away, were also visited and, for good measure, our organiser included Wedmore. Table-tennis, handbells and the Miner's Arms provided good entertainment for the evening.

Somerset bells must know that the U.L.S. do not normally go for peals on its tours, for the third attempt at Martock on Tuesday was again unsuccessful. The remainder, who had rung at Street, passed through Martock on their way to Chard, only to hear the dying rite. A 'trip' also occurred over whether lunch was to be taken in the King's Head or the King's Arms. Eventually we descended on the wrong house, later to learn that facilities had been laid on the other one.

Some of the best ringing of the tour was enjoyed in the afternoon at Crewkerne, West Coker and Queen Camel. We were advised to ring the bells at the last mentioned place slowly. We did and some very good ringing resulted, concluding with London Minor.

By special request, an effort was made after dinner to demonstrate some of the mysteries of our art to the local inhabitants. Ranald Clouston gave an excellent talk on how and why bells came to be rung in England in the way that they are to-day, bringing to light much information which was unknown to the many ringers present as well. Then some touches and tunes were rung on the handbells.

PEAL AT CHEWTON MENDIP

Wednesday brought a change in our fortunes, a fine peal of Bristol being scored at Chewton Mendip. Those not involved in this invaded Ubley, Compton Martin, East Harptree, Blagdon, Butcombe and Nempnett Thrubwell. This name was the cause of much amusement; of all the places visited none had a more conspicuous title. More strenuous work was required in the afternoon at the two churches in Wells, St. Cuthbert's and the Cathedral. Highlight of the day was a course of Cambridge Royal at the Cathedral. Our organiser remarked that the streets in Wells lead one round, rather than to the churches. How right he was! Tea was most refreshing and gave us sufficient fortitude to tackle Cheddar before the journey over the Mendips back to Shipham.

Some fairly flat country was encountered on Thursday over Sedgemoor and the Vale of Taunton. The day began at two six-bell towers, Ashcott and Wecton Zoyland; then, following some tricky map reading, visits were paid to Huish Episcopi and Drayton. An opportunty was taken while at Weston Zoyland to estimate where the battle of Sedgemoor was fought in 1685. It is only half mile or so north of this church.

A mile from Drayton is Curry Rivel. Here a stop was made for lunch to be followed by some good touches on this very pleasant ring of bells. Then on to Taunton for ringing at St James' (8) and St. Mary's (12), which hang in the tallest tower in Somerset. The tower itself rocks considerably, but this does not seem to affect the 'go' of the bells, which are a grand ring. Thirty miles still separated us from Shipham, so Taunton was left promptly at 6 p.m. while the bells played 'It's a long way to Tipperary.' Two jobs still waited to be done. One was to help with the local practice, the other to ring a handbell peal. The latter did not finish until 11.20 p.m. and a very welcome cup of tea appeared at its conclusion served by our hostess who, to our surprise, seemed rather pleased with our ringing and had had the kettle boiling for over an hour! An unusual footnote states that this was the first handbell peal rung by the Society in the Northern Hemisphere. Alternatively it could have read: 'The first handbell peal for the Society outside Australia.' It was a great pleasure to have both Val Willard and Philip Gray, who rang in the Australian peals, taking part in this one also.

SUCCESS AT WRINGTON

The north-west corner of Somerset was left for exploraton on Friday. Ten members rang a peal of Grandsire Caters at Wrington while the rest rang at Backwell and Wraxall. Forces were joined at Nailsea, which is one of the centres of the Somerset cider-making industry, so what better than to stop here for lunch and fortify ourselves for a heavy programme in the afternoon. Ringing was resumed on the light sixes here and at Tickenham and so on to Congresbury to meet the C.U.G.C.R. for a joint ring. This is one of the few Somerset churches we found with a spire. Two more eights, Yatton and Banwell, made everyone feel that they had had a full day but were not too tired to enjoy a social in the evening.

Saturday was not so exhausting with only four towers on the programme. A pleasant ride round the Chew Valley Lake, Bristol's newest reservoir, brought us to Chew Magna. The journey to Mells required some very careful navigation but was reached well ahead of schedule. Mells has associations with Little Jack Horner and Raymond Asquith—a peculiar combination. This proved a very suitable place for lunch after which we returned to Bath. Ringing took place at Bathwick (for a wedding), and on the restored ten at the Abbey where a half course of Yorkshire Royal proved to be one of the highlights of the day after eight-spliced at Bathwick.

GIFT TO ORGANISERS

The party now began to diminish, but the majority stayed the night at the Full Moon in Bristol and provided bands for morning service ringing at the churches of St. Philip, St. Thomas and St. James. On Saturday evening Philip and Joan Gray were presented with an illustrated book of 'Somerset Churches' as a token of appreciation for the work they had undertaken in arranging such a successful and enjoyable tour.

We should like to record our thanks to the incumbents and local ringers of the churches visited during the week for their kind co-operation. Somerset ringers generally are proud of their bells and indeed have every right to be. It was an object lesson to learn how much time many of them devote to the upkeep of their bells, and the care taken over arrangements at the places where peals were rung was much appreciated. R. K.

FORMS FOR SURVEY

To assist Associations in completing their Survey, 'The Ringing World' has available printed forms similar to that which appeared in our issue of Sept. 5th.

Will secretaries please write, stating numbers required, to The Editor, 'The Ringing World,' Onslow Street, Guildford.

GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL ASSOCIATION

The meeting of the North Forest Branch on September 6th, held at Hartpury, coincided with the 80th birthday of the oldest ringer of the branch, Mr. H. J. Vallender, of Laughton Farm, Hartpury.

Mr. Vallender took part in the afternoon ringing after which the usual short service was held in the church.

The ringers then went to Laughton Farm where a wonderful tea was served on the lawn. Mr. Vallender cut his birthday cake, appropriately adorned with a bell and '1878-1958.' Sherry was served with the cake and the Rector, the Rev. J. Hogarth, proposed Mr. Vallender's health, remarking that Mr. Vallender was the oldest ringing member of the North Forest Branch and had been ringing at Hartpury for 60 years, training successive generations of ringers. Mr. Vallender suitably replied.

Mr. Harold Minchin, of Bromesberrow, proposed a vote of thanks on behalf of the Branch to Mr. Vallender and his family for the wonderful party.

PETERBOROUGH GUILD SUMMER FESTIVAL

ON Saturday, September 23rd, 1933, a special meeting was held at Oakham to discuss the formation of a branch for the county of Rutland. At the Summer Festival on Saturday, September 6th, 1958, the man who moved the resolution 'That a branch be formed,' Mr. Fred Stevens, of Preston, now a veteran of 88, was among the vast gathering again at Oakham. With him were also Mr. R. G. Black and Mr. B. P. Morris, who recalled that important occasion.

With the addition of visitors from near and far some 200 ringers assembled in the parish church for the Guild service at 3.45 p.m. The Vicar, with his curate, conducted the office, and the Guild President gave the address. Also present was the Rev. C. J. W. Faulkner, Rector of Harlestone, Northampton; the resident organist led some very inspired singing of four well known hymns. The President's address was on the theme of the English people's faith in three things, the English Home, the English Scene and the English Church

Tea in the Victoria Hall followed, all accommodation being in use.

A certain amount of business had accumulated and so a business meeting was inevitable. The Vicar of Oakham was given precedence and he extended a warm welcome to all. He had expressed a wish to become an honorary member of the Guild and the chairman gave this matter his personal attention. He also at the same time recalled the many years of work for the Guild performed by Mr. B. P. Morris and proposed that he be elected an honorary life member. In each case loud applause greeted the decision.

The Rutland Branch President, Mr. R. Hill, briefly welcomed everyone to Rutland. The office of auditor having been vacant since the annual general meeting the opportunity was taken to elect Mr. Harry Richardson, of Raunds, to the office.

BOOK MEMBERSHIP

The Guild Master in general remarks called attention to the 20 per cent of the membership which he described as book members, and asked for the help of all members to remedy this. He also mentioned again the condition of the Cathedral bells and suggested a letter to the authorities to inquire into the matter.

The general secretary introduced the Central Council inquiry into the state of Sunday service ringing. Although there was not a complete identity of views on this matter it was generally agreed to co-operate with the committee appointed for this purpose.

A vote of thanks, proposed by Mr. E. G. Orland and seconded by Mr. B. P. Morris, to all those who so richly deserved gratitude for the arrangements and especially to Miss J. Hoy, the local branch secretary, was carried with acclamation.

The small but pretty county, looking probably at its best for the occasion on one of the few really sunny days of the summer, was fully enjoyed by the parties as they travelled around to the 19 towers which were open for ringing.

TELEVISION TEAM

The Associated Television team arrived at Oakham during the morning and were conducted round to various churches by Miss Hoy. On arrival back at 'headquarters,' further filming was carried out recording the oldest ringer, Mr. Stevens, and the younger generation arriving for the service. The President, Master, and general secretary were also invited to face the camera.

The leader of the team said the arrangements for their visit were very satisfactory and they had enjoyed the day very much.

They were expected to join the company at tea but time did not permit and they regretfully had to decline a previously accepted invitation.

Ringing throughout the day was of a good standard and with the exception of a rope which disagreed with the wheel at one place no incident of grave concern was reported. Rumour however has it that at one village a flock of turkeys became so distressed at the sound of the bells that their owner rushed to the church and asked for them to be silenced. It is hoped that it wasn't the manner in which they were being rung which reminded the birds of Christmas.

It was dark before the last sounds of ringing died away and the bells were rung down. There has probably never been so much ringing in so few hours in Rutland before and who can say what interest has been aroused. The local branch has scope for expansion among the bells sampled on Saturday and with the enthusiasm of the present branch officials, coupled with enterprise on the part of members, much could be achieved.

SUBSCRIPTION REMINDER

BARNSLEY DISTRICT SOCIETY

Barnsley won the Hoylandswaine Cup at the annual contest held at Hoylandswaine on September 13th. Mr. Harold Chant, of Ryhill, was the judge and Mr. Squire Fielding the marker. Results were:—

Barnsley 53 faults:
Shelley 98 faults 5 penalties;
Sandal 104 faults 10 penalties;
Cawthorne 177 faults 5 penalties.

The cup was presented by Mrs. J. Whitehouse to Mr. Eric Stainrod and each member of the team received a prize.

Mr. Noel F. Moxon, president, was in the chair at the business meeting when five new members were elected. As Thornhill tower would not be available, it is hoped to hold the next meeting at Wakefield on October 11th. The president proposed the vote of thanks to the churchwardens, to Mr. John Whitehouse and local company for the arrangements, and to the ladies for the tea.

Replying on behalf of the Hoylandswaine Company, Mr. John Whitehouse said he hoped they would be able to carry on with having the contests annually in the towers. Further ringing followed.

MR. JOHN CHILCOTT'S WEDDING

It was a fine sunny day when the wedding took place at St. Leonard's, Heston, Middlesex, on Saturday, September 6th, between Mr. John Chilcott, secretary of the Ancient Society of College Youths, and Miss Eileen Ricketts. The bells were rung before and after the service by the local band.

Given away by her father, Mr. Jack Ricketts, the bride wore a ballerina-length dress in white velvet and carried a bouquet of deep bronze chrysanthemums. She was attended by three bridesmaids, twin cousins, who wore ballerina-length dresses in deep bronze with matching shoes, and a friend as chief bridesmaid, in a lighter shade of bronze. They too carried bouquets of bronze chrysanthemums.

Mr. Frank Price, a ringing friend of the bride and bridegroom, was best man, assisted by Mr. Michael Chilcott and Mr. Peter Bettridge as ushers.

The reception was held in the garden of the bride's home and was made all the more enjoyable by the lovely weather. Greetings were received from many ringing friends, and among the presents displayed were a silver tea tray, the gift of the St. Paul's Cathedral Guild, and an electric clock from the Heston ringers. After a happy afternoon, the newly married couple left by motor-cycle for a honeymoon in the West Country. A peal of Stedman Cinques in their honour was rung at Southwark Cathedral that evening by the College Youths and a peal of Stedman Triples at Beddington the following Saturday by members of the Society of Roving Ringers.

SURREY ASSOCIATION

Despite fine weather the light ring of eight bells at Barnes only attracted 25 ringers for the N.W. District of the Surrey Association's quarterly District meeting. The majority of these were novices and the lack of experienced ringers combined with the length of draught and springy ropes resulted in a disappointing afternoon's ringing. The service was taken by the Rector and tea followed in the Church Hall. At the business meeting 12 new resident ringing members were elected, bringing District membership up to 260.

The secretary reminded the company of the Survey of Sunday Service Ringing about to be undertaken and asked that all returns be completed promptly and accurately. It was not the intention that the state of affairs should be whitewashed or be made out worse than it really is. Only on a basis of correct fact could the committee to help Sunday service ringing make sound recommendations.

The meeting concluded with the usual votes of thanks to those who had provided tea and to the Rector of Barnes and the Vicar of Mortlake for allowing the use of their bells.

At Mortlake ringing continued until 7.45. An influx of more experienced ringers made for improvement in the striking and enabled courses of Cambridge and Yorkshire to be rung.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

THE EARLY STAGES

Dear Sir,—The letter of Mr. D. G. Mitchell on page 563, following my article on teaching beginners (pp. 529-530), raises three points on which I should like to comment.

Firstly in the early stages of handling a bell I do not agree that a 'panic' stage is inevitable and much trouble I believe can be avoided by the use of medium-heavy bells, with their greater stability, in the initial stages. Often other consderations may suggest the use of a light bell, e.g., in an eight-bell tower it might be convenient to have the trebles lashed throughout a practice with only the back six rung open. However, I would strongly commend the heavier bell and I believe that its advantages will outweigh the inconveniences.

Secondly, I strongly disagree about the initial stages of plain hunting on three and four bells being labelled 'glorified call-changes' because the pupil is told which bells he has to follow. It may be that there is some difference in our interpretation of 'call-changes.' As I understand the position, 'call-changes' involve only occasional variations from the rhythm of rounds when a new row is called as that row is then retained until further instructions. I said in my article that call-changes could teach little beyond what rounds could teach and therefore did not merit taking up time which could be devoted to more progressive exercises.

In approaching change-ringing after rounds the pupil is faced with two new situations—(i) constant variations from the rhythm of rounds and (ii) a different bell to find to follow at each stroke—and my idea is to introduce these one at a time. He is therefore put on the treble for plain hunt on three with the bells to follow memorised beforehand, and the variations in rhythm to be expected as detailed in my article. Initial instructions given while ringing run something like this. 'Backstroke lead over 6 pulled to hold up over 2. Slowly over 2 pulled to hold up over 3. Steady over 2 pulled only lightly to check in over 3 to lead again over 6.'

This exercise with its variations in rhythm is therefore fundamentally different from call-changes.

Thirdly, there is the introduction of dodging via treble bob hunting on the treble prior to Plain Bob 'inside.' I am very pleased to note Mr. Mitchell's enthusiasm for this suggestion. Too often I think that our ringing books by their allocation of separate sections to the various methods tend to suggest that each method is something on its own. I feel that the need is to regard method ringing as a whole and one does not need to have mastered the first method (Plain Bob in this case) before venturing on to a second (Kent Treble Bob). I hope to develop this theme in another article which I have in mind.

Circumstances vary greatly in instructing beginners and one cannot lay down hard and fast rules. Often what can be attempted is greatly restricted by the lack of supporting ringers. Obviously, call-changes when sufficient other ringers are not available is much to be preferred to inactivity. However, I think that the implied purpose of my article is clear, viz., that the various steps in tuition should be cut to a minimum with progress at each step. The scheme that I have described is one applicable to the augmentation of an existing band and it needs the co-operation of other members of the band. I cannot do better than conclude by freely acknowledging the ready co-operation of my colleagues at Chester-le-Street and their contribution towards any successes that have been achieved. —Yours sincerely,

DENIS A. BAYLES.

Chester-le-Street.

NEW COMPOSITIONS

Dear Sir,—I would like to point out that the composition of four Spliced Surprise Major, by N. J. Diserens, printed on page 599 of September 12th issue of 'The Ringing World' and rung as a 5,056 at Aldermaston on August 9th, 1958, is false.

It will also, no doubt, be quite obvious to most conductors and composers of Spliced Surprise that Mr. A. J. Pitman's unique system of method arrangement with the 6th home and in 5ths, the arrangement of methods, and reversed calling for each quarter peal, is in every respect the basis of this composition (except where the falseness occurs), and therefore Mr. Diserens can hardly claim to have composed it. Arranged would have been a better word, but even that would be stretching it a bit.

For some time now, years in fact, compositions have appeared in the 'R.W.' by new composers and in many instances these compositions have only been variations of 'Old Masters.' Whilst some of these arrangements are very clever, there is nothing new, except the name of the composer.

Notable composers and ringers of our day have from time to time written excellent articles explaining variations and transpositions of originals, and the difficulties to be encountered in trying to obtain original and individual compositions, but still we get these arrangements that are only variations and deserving of little praise or consideration.

Now that we have practically exhausted the field of composition for single methods (except for new methods with unusual falseness) our attention is turning more to the composition of Spliced. This offers vast opportunities for the enthusiast—but for new methods only, or a new system of splicing. We should take due care, and not belittle by variations or transpositions the amazing compositions that Mr. Pitman and other notable composers have given us over the years.—Yours faithfully,

M. S. LANCEFIELD.

Willesborough.

Mr. R. H. Diserens writes:—I should like to point out that there is a Bob Before missing in the last course of my composition of 'four spliced,' published on page 599 of 'The Ringing World.'

[This composition was printed as submitted.—Editor.]

TWYWELL, NORTHANTS.—On Sept. 12th, 1,260 Doubles (St. Martin's, St. Simon's and Plain Bob): Miss P. Mason 1, A. Sansom 2, D. W. James (cond.) 3, L. G. Berridge 4, F. E. Crosier 5.

25 YEARS AFTER.

Dear Sir, — How the time flies. Twenty-five years ago this morning I was one of the ten privileged English bell ringers to sail from King George V Docks on that wonderful trip to Australia to ring for the Victoria Centenary celebrations, and for the opening of the 1914-18 War Shrine at Melbourne by the Duke of Gloucester. I offer my best wishes to all who went, or rather to all who are left of us, and especially to those who gave us such a wonderful send off.—Yours sincerely,

W. LINTER.

Fareham, Hants.

CORRECTION TO 5,075 GRANDSIRE CATERS

Dear Sir,—I would like to point out that there is a mistake in the composition of 5,075 Grandsire Caters by G. Freebrey on page 584 in 'The Ringing World.' The eighth course should read 9-3 not 8-3 for 43256978, and of course it will also be 9-3 in the repeat. —Yours faithfully,

BRIAN PATTISON.

HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Northern District

Ashwell is an attractive old village, with a magnificent church and rich-toned bells. More than a dozen ringers arrived there on September 6th, but only the clock chimes were heard for some time, and the visitors had ample time to admire the famous graffiti before the keys came.

Having entered the ringing chamber, there was a short struggle to fix the hammers back, then the bells were swung. Not for long, for there was an ominous grinding, and more was discovered about the wiring system on the hammers.

At 4.40 p.m. the last of the bells was safe, and before a score of ringers sat down to tea at the Three Tuns they had heard the six bells.

The business meeting was held in the churchyard. Among the matters discussed was the census of Sunday Service Ringing. Later there was plenty of ringing for all before the pleasant meeting was ended. J. S.

THE LADIES' GUILD

Western District

There was a good attendance of members and visitors at the quarterly meeting at Kingston Seymour on Saturday, September 13th. The advent of a sunny day, coupled with the unusually attractive harvest decorations in the church greatly added to the enjoyment of the day. After the usual ringing, the service was conducted by the Rector, after which tea was served in the Church Hall, which was provided by Mrs. Norton and her helpers.

At the business meeting which followed four new members were elected: Miss Mary Neath, Miss June Crees, Miss Jean Watson and Miss Ruth Yeats. It was with great pleasure that Miss E. Lomas was elected an honorary member of the Guild.

It was decided that in the coming year the outing should take place on the second Saturday in September, instead of the usual day in June, so will members please make a note of this change in the arrangements. B. J.

ANOTHER TOUR OF DEVON AND CORNWALL

A BLUE and cream omnibus decorated with a banner bearing the words 'A hunting we will go' left Haslemere, Surrey, for a fortnight's tour of Devon and Cornwall, organised by John McDermott and John Queen. The party included David French (Rotherham), Pat Butler (Maidstone), A. Patrick Cannon (Dorking), Peter Smart (Guildford), Angela Martin and Jeremy Salter (Bramshott), John McDermott, John Queen, Eve Parsons and A. V. Queen (Haslemere).

A missing clapper on the ninth at Wimborne Minster, the first tower, limited ringing to Bob Major. At Bridport the party met the Chaddocks and they followed on to Axminster where the fine eight were soon going well to Kent and Stedman. An amusing time was had at Colyton, the heaviest six in Devon (tenor 24¼ cwt.) at chiming the bells in rounds. Bed was very welcome at Okehampton where Jean Addicott (Leamington) joined the party.

As the visitors were unable to ring at Okehampton on Sunday morning, Pat arranged for ringing at South Tawton and Belstone and in the afternoon a peal of Bob Major was scored at Tawstock.

Monday was the first full day with Ashburton (8, 21 cwt.), Buckfastleigh (8, 15 cwt.), Totnes (8, 22 cwt.), Berry Pomeroy (8, 17 cwt.), Paignton (8, 22 cwt.), Brixham (8, 15¼ cwt.), Churston Ferrers (6, 12¼ cwt.), Kingsbridge (8, 11 cwt.), Modbury (6, 17½ cwt.), and Ugborough (8, 19 cwt.) on the list. Ugborough's proved to be the most difficult to handle and the flat second did not improve the sound.

Tuesday was an 'off day,' being spent at Dartmouth. The three towers here, St. Saviour's (8, 18½ cwt.), St. Petrox (6, 7½ cwt.) and St. Clement's (6, 8 cwt.) were all visited during the morning.

FAME AT LAST

Another peal was arranged for the evening at St. Saviour's in Dartmouth. Apparently this was quite an event as at the end of the peal it seemed there was half the town sitting in the church watching. This was the first peal of Major on the bells as it was at Tawstock and even the local Press mentioned the tour. Fame at last!

Wednesday was a day of eights, the heaviest being Teignmouth, St. Michael's (8, 22¼ cwt.).

The others were Chagford (8, 18 cwt.), Moreton Hampstead (8, 15 cwt.), Bovey Tracey (8, 14¼ cwt.), Highweek (8, 11¼ cwt.), Torquay, St. Mary's (8, 19 cwt.), Torquay St. Mary Magdalene's (8, 14¼ cwt.), Babbacombe (8, 14¼ cwt.), Teignmouth, St. James' (8, 14 cwt.), Dawlish (8, 11¼ cwt.), and Chudleigh (8, 12¼ cwt.).

Some good ringing was had during the day and by this time the ringers were fairly proficient at Cambridge and so the next day it was suggested that they should ring a 720 of Cambridge Minor. This was attempted at Hartland (6, 17¼ cwt.), but unfortunately did not materialise. The rest of the day was spent at Clovelly (6, 10 cwt.) where two well respected members arrived late at the church in the evening after having had 'a pleasant little chat with two of the local girls.' Well, that was their excuse anyway.

After a somewhat restless night during which various parts of a bed were found in three separate bedrooms, the party set off on a day of sixes with four eights thrown in for the more ambitious. The towers visited were Hatherleigh (8, 14 cwt.), Merton (6, 10 cwt.), Little Torrington (6, 12 cwt.), Great Torrington (8, 15 cwt.), Frithelstock (6, 17 cwt.), Monksleigh (6, 8½ cwt.), Bideford (8, 17 cwt.), Fremington (6, 9 cwt.), Bickington (6, 7 cwt.), Barnstaple (8, 22 cwt.), Landkey (6, 13 cwt.) and Swimbridge (6, 11½ cwt.). By the time Swimbridge was reached the visitors were only too glad to hear the locals ring some of their famous call-changes, and all agreed that it was the finest striking that they had ever heard.

EXETER CATHEDRAL

Saturday was the only really fine day and full use was made of the sea at Torquay. They met again in the evening at Exeter Cathedral, together with Margaret Beamish and Shelagh Collins, who were to join for the next week. They now numbered thirteen, Jean having said goodbye in the morning. Very little persuasion was needed to make Pat turn the Cathedral tenor in to Bob Royal and all were very sorry to leave this magnificent ring.

Sunday, again, and the first stop was Shebbear (6, 9 cwt.) and then on to North Tawton (8, 15 cwt.) which is reputed to have one of the finest call-change bands in Devon. It was necessary to have the assistance of a local ringer on the treble. The rest of the day was spent at Bude although a quarter peal of Cambridge Major was attempted in the afternoon at Bridgerule (8, 10½ cwt.). This broke down a course from the end.

On Monday, goodbye was said to Pat. All were of the opinion that Tiverton's (8, 25½ cwt.) were the best eight that they had ever rung on and here they were given one of the green sallies, which was duly draped across the front of the 'bus. The other towers visited during the day were Bow (6, 14 cwt.), Crediton (8, 27 cwt.), Cadbury (6, 11 cwt.), Silverton (8, 16 cwt.), Bradninch (8, 20 cwt.), Cullompton (10, 19½ cwt.), Culmstock (8, 19 cwt.), Halberton (6, 17½ cwt.) and Witheridge (8, 23½ cwt.).

After having a good ring at Witheridge including a course of Grandsire Triples with a local ringer on the treble trying his hand at 'scientific,' the villagers in the 'local' were entertained with the handbells. This was so much appreciated that one man, who had not bought a round for a good many years, bought the whole party a drink each. It was in high spirits that they returned home that night.

Tuesday the tourists set off complete with bathing costumes and towels hoping to spend the day in, on or by the sea at Ilfracombe. It poured and poured with rain and they spent the day in the amusement arcade, and the cinema. The evening, however, turned out to be fine and after ringing at the two towers in Ilfracombe, Holy Trinity (8, 12 cwt.) and SS. Philip and James' (8, 11 cwt.) they spent the rest of the evening wandering round the town That night somebody deposited small, but extremely smelly pieces of gorganzola cheese in two people's beds. Shakespeare must have turned in his grave at hearing such misuse of the English language but eventually, about 2.30 a.m., peace was restored.

'GO ERIN'

On Wednesday came the first course of Erin Triples, this being at Plympton, St. Mary's (8, 25¼ cwt.). John was particularly anxious to call a touch of this method so that he could say 'Bob, Go Erin.' This was attempted at Plympton St. Maurice's (8, 16 cwt.) but unfortunately did not come round. He was successful, however, at Plymouth Emmanuel Church (8, 21½ cwt.) having previously rung on the grand ten in Plymouth St. Andrew's (10, 35 cwt.). The other towers visited were Tavistock (8, 24 cwt.), Whitchurch (6, 13 cwt.), Buckland Monochorum (8, 15¼ cwt.), Bickleigh St. Mary the Virgin's (6, 9¼ cwt.), Bickleigh St. Mary's (6, 8 cwt.) and Shaugh Prior (6, 17 cwt.)

On Thursday four or five people did not feel too well so while they spent the day in bed the rest of the party went to Exeter to the cinema coming home via Teignmouth and stopping for a ring at Dunsford (6, 14 cwt.).

On Friday, the party, up to full strength again, set off for Cornwall, ringing at Lifton (8, 21 cwt.), Launceston St. Mary's (8, 15¼ cwt.), Launceston St. Thomas' (6, 10½ cwt.), Bodmin (8, 15½ cwt.), St. Erme (6, 12 cwt.), Truro, St. Mary's (10, 33¾ cwt.), Truro St. Keyne's (8, 15¼ cwt.), Probus (8, 20 cwt.) and St. Austell (8, 18¼ cwt.). At Launceston they met Desmond Painter and Bill Cook who helped through Double Norwich and London. A good half course of Superlative was scored at Bodmin, and at Truro Cathedral, where Allan Carveth joined, they rang some good Bob Royal and Stedman Caters.

The last tower of the day was St. Austell where, in spite of having to ring in complete darkness for the first touch they managed to score a full course of Superlative. Here was met David Burnett and after satisfying hunger in a local cafe all arrived home in the early hours.

Saturday was the last day and they sadly said goodbye to Okehampton and made their way home via Queen Camel (6, 36¼ cwt.), Yeovil (10, 40¼ cwt.) and Sherborne (8, 46 cwt.) A. V. Q.

READY FOR AN ASSAULT ON THE "RINGERS EVEREST"

OBITUARY

MR. JOHN L. MORRIS

A wide circle of ringing friends, particularly in the Kent County Association, the Royal Society of Cumberland Youths and the London University Society, read last week of the untimely death of Mr. John Leigh Morris, of Lancing Road, Orpington, on September 15th. Only a week previously he had taken his first appointment at a school at Addington, Surrey, and it was while at school he collapsed and died.

Educated at Eltham College (1947–55) and London University (1955–58), he had obtained a B.Sc. degree in Maths and Physics. Some ten years ago he came under the influence of Mr. Frank C. W. Knight and learnt to ring at Chislehurst. His progress was rapid. He rang his first peal at Foots Cray on March 29th, 1948, for the Royal Society of Cumberland Youths, and conducted his first peal at the age of 13 (Bob Major at Wrotham on March 19th, 1949). Before this he had already rung a peal of Bob Royal at Rochester Cathedral, and when only 14 took part in the 12,740 Bob Royal at Prittlewell on August 7th, 1950. His last peal —his 202nd—was Cambridge Surprise Major at Benhilton on September 8th. His peals included Spliced Surprise Major (one of which he conducted) and Stedman Cinques, as well as a great variety of methods.

As a practical ringer he was a first-class striker and completely safe in any method on any number of bells. He had produced many interesting compositions, and recently composed a peal of London Surprise Major using mainly 'In and 5ths' courses with other short courses with alternate callings. This composition was rung on a recent Hampshire peal tour and again at St. John's, Erith, on the day of his funeral.

He was an enthusiastic supporter of the Cumberlands, and represented the Society on the Central Council for the first time at the meeting at Chelmsford. With his great ability, both practical and theoretical, he was surely destined to have become a distinguished member of the Council in future years.

Like all true leaders of the Exercise, and he was certainly destined to become one, he recognised his first duty as a Sunday service ringer. When his mentor, Frank Knight, left the district, John joined the band at Bexley, where as a ringer, an instructor, a conductor—but perhaps most as a completely unaffected and charming person—he will be sadly missed. Great sympathy will go out to Judith Cox in the loss that she will feel so personally, and all the other young Bexley ringers.

The funeral took place at Croydon Crematorium on September 19th, conducted by the Vicar of Bexley. Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Morris (parents) and many relations and friends, including Miss J. Cox and Mr. Ian H. Oram, were present, and there were many beautiful floral tributes. Flowers had been sent by the Royal Society of Cumberland Youths, the Kent County Association and the Bexley ringers. The ringers present were Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Barnett (representing the Central Council), Messrs. P. A. Corby (Kent County Association) and A. G. Mason (R.S.C.Y.) and D. Beresford (Bexley ringers).

The Exercise will extend sympathy to Mr. and Mrs. Morris and John's young sister in their great loss.

MR. JOHN THOMAS

With sincere regret we report the death of Mr. John Thomas, of Hinton-on-the-Green, Worcestershire. Last Saturday afternoon he collapsed in Painswick belfry and died within a few moments. He was aged 76.

The funeral service was held at Hinton Parish Church yesterday (Thursday) afternoon.

MR. A. H. FOX

Mr. A. H. Fox, of Kirk Ella, who died on September 16th, aged 79, was known to a wide circle of ringing friends.

He was a vice-president of the Yorkshire Association (Eastern District), for whom he was also organist. Mr. Fox joined the Association in 1926 and introduced change-ringing at Kirk Ella where he had trained many ringers. He had been organist and choirmaster at Kirk Ella for 51 years.

A band of local ringers and friends rang a half-muffled touch on the evening of the day of the funeral.

MR. HARRY FRANCE

Lancashire has lost another of its older generation of ringers by the sudden death, whilst holidaying in Scotland, on August 28th, of Mr. Harry France, of Leyland. He was in his 75th year.

Taking up the art at the age of 18 at St. Andrew's, Leyland, Mr. France rang there until 1925, being one of the band that was much helped and encouraged by the late Benjamin A. Knights, the talented ringer and conductor. Afterwards, and until his death, he rang with Leyland St. James' band, where he was a member of the Parochial Church Council and often sang in the choir.

Always to be found in his place for Sunday service ringing, he was diffident about standing in peal attempts in his latter years, preferring, so he said, to leave it to the younger ones, and to conserve his energy for Sunday. He took part in 45 peals in a variety of methods, and on varying numbers of bells, his favourite methods being Cambridge Surprise and Stedman.

In his younger days Mr. France was regularly to be seen with the Morris Dancers in the celebrated Leyland May Festival.

His fellow ringers, who acted as bearers, rang the St. James' bells half muffled prior to the funeral service, and afterwards at Leyland St Andrew's following interment there.

In addition to the family mourners and representatives of the various organisations at St. James', the St. John Ambulance Brigade, and the Independent Order of Oddfellows, M.U., of which he was a member, were represented. Mr. E. R. Martin and Mr. L. Walmsley, of the Lancashire Association, who had been associated with him for many years and had had the pleasure of joining him in peals, were present.

On September 8th a peal of Minor in four methods—Oxford Bob, Plain Bob, Oxford and Kent Treble Bob—was rung by members of the Preston Branch of the Lancashire Association.

OUTING

BALDOCK AND NORTON

September 13th was a pleasant day for Baldock and Norton ringers: the sun shone: the coach was kept to time; and everyone seemed to be happy.

St. Andrew's, Hertford, was first visited, and many found the octave not easy to strike well. The journey to St. Mary's, Cheshunt, was made in brilliant sunshine. The bells, another medium-weight octave, were much easier to strike, but do not sound well outside.

As the coach came towards Waltham Abbey, the white, sunlit tower stood out, thrusting through the green of the surrounding trees. Before trying these twelve bells, with the tenor weighing 39 cwt., we fortified ourselves with tea. These are pleasant bells, but unfortunately it is extremely difficult to hear them from the ringing chamber.

Last tower of the day was at St. John the Baptist's at Epping. There we were warmly welcomed, and had good ringing. J. S.

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION

Western District In Wharfedale

A very successful meeting of the Western District was held on September 6th in Wharfedale. During the afternoon, ringing took place on the recently recast bells at St. Peter's, Addingham, this very musical six being visited for the first time by the majority of those present.

In order to facilitate catering arrangements it had been found necessary to bring the meeting forward one week from the date originally planned. This unfortunately prevented several people from being present but, nevertheless, an attendance of about 50 members was recorded.

Addingham bells were lowered at about 4.30 p.m. and the visitors journeyed on to Ilkley, where the local company had arranged an excellent tea in the Church Institute.

In the absence of the vice-president, the chair at the business meeting was taken by the general secretary of the Association, Mr. L. W. G. Morris. A unanimous vote of thanks was accorded to all those responsible for the arrangement of the meeting. Reference was also made to Jasper Whitfield Snowdon, first President of the Association, whose home was at Ilkley, and whose memory is to be honoured when the annual commemoration dinner is held at the Griffin Hotel, Leeds, on October 11th. Snowdon's instructional books on ringing are still recognised as the most authoritative works of their kind in existence and very widely used.

The following new members were elected:—Roy Clarke, David Frith, Russel Stephenson, Margaret Evans, Janet Newell, Harold Brown, Graham Wood, John H. Fielden and Philip Dunderdale.

Following the business meeting ringing took place on the octave at All Saints', Ilkley, methods ranging from Plain Bob to Spliced Surprise Major in five methods. Whilst the ringing progressed many visitors took advantage of the opportunity to see the stained glass memorial window to Jasper Snowdon in the church.

A kind invitation was received from Mr. C. Maxfield for the next meeting to be held at St. James', Wetherby, on December 13th, full details of which will be announced in due course.

THE RINGING WORLD

OFFICIAL JOURNAL OF THE CENTRAL COUNCIL OF CHURCH BELL RINGERS

'The Ringing World' was founded in the year 1911 by John Sparkes Goldsmith, who remained its proprietor and editor until his death in 1942.

TEACHING RHYTHM

A RECENT leading article illustrated the fact that the rhythm of a piece of ringing is broken by the smallest of errors in the striking, and two questions which should be the concern of every tower captain and instructor are at once brought to mind. The questions are: What is rhythm and how should we teach it?

Opinions will differ, no doubt, as to whether rhythm is innate in the human being: the expression 'he is a born ——' is, after all, a figure of speech, and is not usually meant to be taken literally. There is no doubt, however, that rhythm can be acquired. Some rhythms are picked up easily, like a march or a dance: who, for instance, has walked in the same street as soldiers marching to a band and not found himself keeping step? Other rhythms are not learnt so easily, and it would seem that the ringing rhythm is one of these. If it is indeed difficult for people to strike correctly, and this ultimately means to ring to a rhythm, then there is every reason why we should give our serious attention to the question of the best methods of teaching the subject. The word teaching deserves stress, for while a sense of rhythm may be picked up, this frequently is not the case, and the wise instructor is the man who makes sure that his pupil is taught rhythm and who has a systematic scheme for doing this.

The rhythm of bell-ringing may be considered in two ways. It is possible for the experienced ringer to think of, feel, count or hear in his mind the rhythm of a particular number of bells; he may even be able to hum or sing rounds or some changes. If he can do any of these things it seems extremely likely that he will be doing it to a fairly precise rhythm. It is like a beat, or rather a succession of beats passing through the mind, and the regularity, the correct spacing of the beats, constitutes rhythm.

An analogy which may be far-fetched is that of a conveyor belt in which are some equally-spaced holes, and as the belt moves past at a constant speed the holes have to be filled at absolutely regular intervals. Similarly, as one is ringing, there are spaces or gaps which click along in one's mind and which have to be filled exactly by the blow of one's bell. This, then, is a rhythm in the mind. The rhythm created by a number of ringers on a set of bells is more objective and seems more real (though Plato might not have agreed). In fact, if it is there, it is because the individual ringers have adjusted their own mental rhythms to each other's and there are six (or eight, ten or twelve) mental rhythms coinciding.

The aim of the instructor is to teach a mental rhythm to his pupil, and one of the best methods of teaching it is by example. The pupil ought to be able to listen to ringing which has a first-class rhythm on the number of bells on which he will ring rounds for the first time—five or six bells are probably best. If the local company can produce a first-class rhythm the pupil will be able to listen on practice nights and Sundays, and he should gradually sense the beat. He should be told right from the beginning to count (one, two, three, four, five, six, or even dah, dah, dah, dah, dah, dah)—out loud, perhaps, to start with, but eventually silently—to appreciate the regularity of the blows. He should also be taught to listen to and recognise all the bells.

If a first-class rhythm is not found in the local tower the instructor will have to use other methods, and the following are suggested: Visiting another tower; listening to handbells well struck; listening to good striking on a gramophone record or on a tape-recorder or even on a piano. The gramophone record has much in its favour for it can be used privately and frequently; and it is hoped that some enterprising person will produce a record at a reasonable price with perfect rounds and minor on one side and rounds and triples on the other.

It is a common custom to give the not-so-new recruits practice at the same time as the new recruit is trying to ring rounds, but this seems of very doubtful value. True, it saves time, but it tends to produce a poor rhythm; and to have the best possible band is the most sensible thing to do. The other ringers should keep strictly to the beat during the learner's first attempt to ring rounds, as waiting (or 'holding up') at any time upsets the rhythm more quickly than anything. The learner should then feel that the rhythm is objective—that he should conform to it and fit in with it, rather than that it should be adjusted to him. It might be a help if he were to listen to the other five ringing without him, with a gap in the ringing (12–456). This might make him realise that a rhythm can be there whatever he does. The learner can be corrected in rounds until his striking and rhythm are perfect, but he must be given the time and practice at this perfect ringing before he can be expected to achieve it without correction. 'Listen to your bell' is not a sufficiently precise instruction.

Another point which ought to be made at this juncture, especially in view of some recent correspondence, is that whatever the learner practises (=does continually) that he learns. If, then, he is asked to ring rounds before he can handle his bell properly (a) it may result in fixing any handling faults he may have and (b) it must result in lack of rhythm, to start with at least. In the same way, if he attempts to ring changes, call or otherwise, before he can ring and strike rounds without verbal assistance, then the greater the chance that he will become a poor striker and the lower the standard of ringing set before him. 'Make haste slowly' is a good motto, but some instructors feel that it is worth while sacrificing proficiency in order to maintain interest, If good striking is held to be of more importance than method ringing in a tower, will not the learner be more interested in striking well than in learning to ring changes? Some Associations and Guilds set a standard for full membership as so many changes rung, and consequently instructors try to make their pupils reach the standard as quickly as possible. It would be interesting to see the effect if an Association put as a first and compulsory standard for membership that of good striking.

BELFRY GOSSIP

The Gloucester Cathedral band have just completed their ringing contract for 'Son et Lumière,' a pageant of the cathedral in sound and light. There were over 42 performances, and this entailed 6,536 steps up and 6,536 steps down for a matter of 84 minutes total ringing. The 'youngest' member of the band was 84 years old.

Will the ringer who took the wrong hat at Semley (September 13th) please contact Mr. J. Kiddle, Northleigh Terrace, Wilton, Salisbury.

A peal, which we hope will be the forerunner of many others, was rung at Whitstable on September 13th. There were four first pealers.

Mr. Derek P. J. Jones rang his 75th peal this year on September 22nd. His century for 1958 seems well in hand.

We are pleased to hear that Mr. Martin Stewart, of Ferndown, Dorset, is making a good recovery after his sudden illness.

Wrappers of four of last week's journals were ripped off in a post office franking machine. Will the subscribers who did not receive their copy please apply for same.

Miss Mary Maddison, of Norwich, informs us that the peal at Ketteringham (see page 620) was not her first. She has previously rung a peal 'in hand.' Many more peals, Mary!

St. Ann's, Stamford Hill, remembered the passing of Mr. John L. Morris, a dear friend of the band, by half-muffled ringing on Sunday, Sept. 21st. Unfortunately, a quarter peal to his memory was lost.

Survey forms for Sunday service ringing questionnaire have been applied for by the following Associations: Middlesex, Bedfordshire, North Staffordshire, Truro, Sussex, Peterborough, Surrey, Bath and Wells, Salisbury and Southwell.

Mr. James R. Lawson, carillonneur at Chicago University, returned to America on Tuesday after three months in Europe. Places he visited in Great Britain included Aberdeen, Edinburgh, York, Lincoln, Ely, Loughborough, Leicester, Oxford, London, Portsmouth and Guildford. He gave recitals at the Brussels Exhibition and in Holland.

St. Andrew's, Leyland, had an enjoyable outing on August 30th, ringing at Scorton, Hornby, Lancaster, Bispham and Bilsborrow.

Seven members of St. Paul's, Bedford, are proceeding to universities this coming term. Is this a record from one tower?

A letter posted at Deal on September 24th, addressed The Editor, 'The Ringing World,' c/o Woodbridge Press, Suffolk, reached us two days late. Good work, Post Office!

With the peal of Erin Caters at Hillingdon on September 20th Mr. H. E. Audsley and Mr. F. J. Cullum have rung the method to peals of Triples, Caters and Cinques.

The Rev. J. Kingdon retired at the end of September from the post of hon. secretary and treasurer to the Chester Diocesan Guild. He is going to live at Storrington, near Pulborough, Sussex.

There was a happy reunion of 51 veterans at St. Botolph's, Bishopsgate, last Saturday, with an average age of 73 years. Oldest present was Mr. F. V. Sinkins, aged 94. Mr. A. W. Coles was well rewarded for his organisation by the happiness around him.

The peal of Plain Bob Major recently rung at St. Saviour's, Dartmouth, is not the first peal of Major on the bells as claimed by a correspondent. A peal of London Surprise Major was rung there in September, 1949, by Mr. P. A. Corby's touring party.

THREE PEALS OF SURPRISE MAJOR IN BERKSHIRE

The programme for September 20th said: 'Five peals of Surprise in a day'; and the party of eight enthusiasts who arrived at the Old Mill Hotel, Aldermaston, on the Friday evening felt pretty confident of success. The organiser, Geoff Dodd, with the kind co-operation of incumbents and captains, had duly arranged the five towers, and we awoke at 2 on the Saturday morning, so as to be in good time for a 3 a.m. start at Aldermaston.

Permission had only been granted for such an early start on the condition that the bells would be inaudible in the village. Geoff Dodd had therefore taken great pains to muffle the bells with a strong packing of sacking. The result was that it seemed as though there were no clappers in at all, except a faint thud on 7/8! We then realised that a peal was not going to be as easy as we thought, and our fears were justified when a shift-course after an hour's ringing put paid to the first attempt.

We duly returned to our hotel, and were in bed again at 4.45 p.m.! Up again at 6 a.m. and fortified by a nice breakfast, we were off to Bucklebury for a 7.30 a.m. start. Miss Stella Davis met us at the church, the bells were up, and we rang a fast peal of Superlative. Miss Davis kindly gave us coffee and biscuits.

We were a little late at Thatcham, where Reg Rex met us. It was 11.5 a.m. when we started for Yorkshire, and Reg told us that we must be finished by 2 p.m. for a wedding. Some good ringing followed, with a speed-up over the last three courses, and we were round with seven minutes to spare!

We reached East Ilsley at 2.45 p.m. and enjoyed lunch at the Star Inn. Rutland was the method chosen for this attempt, and Derek Jones called a musical composition by the late John L. Morris, as an In Memoriam peal for a first-class ringer.

Before returning to Aldermaston, we had to visit a new tower, and permission was kindly given at Farnborough at 8 p.m. We all slept well, and six of us joined the well-known local band at St. Mary's, Reading, for morning service ringing, the usual friendly welcome being given by the Diserens family.

We are hoping to make another attempt soon, and this time the muffles at Aldermaston will be made a little more audible to us but sufficiently quiet so as not to annoy the local inhabitants. Many thanks to Geoff Dodd for his usual splendid arrangements. A. P. C.

AN AFTERNOON IN NORTH-WEST ESSEX

Ringers from two counties spent an enjoyable afternoon together on September 13th, when a party from Chelmsford and district were joined by friends from Bedfordshire for a tour of N.W. Essex.

Ringing commenced promptly at 2.30 on the light six at Chrishall; this was followed by Elmdon (6) and Wendens Ambo (6), where the much-photographed approach to the church was duly admired. At Arkesden (6), the next tower, ringing was not up to the usual standard, due possibly to the showers of stones and rubble which frequently descended on the ringers of the third and fourth!

After a most welcome tea at the Paragon Café good use was made of the easy-going six at Newport. Next visited were Clavering (6) and Farnham (6), surely one of the most isolated villages in the county. Having taken leave of some members of the party, the hardened 'tower-grabbers' made for Widford (6), where after ringing the day was brought to a close in traditional style.

Thanks are expressed to Ron Groves for organising the outing, to incumbents and tower secretaries for making their bells available, and to all those who helped. R. J. H.

COLLEGE YOUTHS' SECRETARY MARRIED

Mr. John E. Chilcott, secretary of the Ancient Society of College Youths, and his bride, Miss Eileen Mary Ricketts, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Ricketts, of Rose House Farm, Osterley, Middlesex, after their wedding at St. Leonard's Church, Heston, on September 6th. The bride has been a ringer for several years and her father is captain of the Heston band.

SOCIETY OF ROYAL CUMBERLAND YOUTHS

Despite the lovely day, the attendance at the meeting of the Society held at Hatfield on September 13th was very disappointing. After ringing on this fine ten in the afternoon, a shortened Evensong was held, followed by tea and meeting in St. Audrey's Home for the Blind.

It was announced that tickets for the annual dinner to be held on February 9th, 1959, were now available at 15s. 6d. each from the dinner secretary, Mr. P. N. Bond, 33, The Drive, Hedge Barton, Fordcombe, Tunbridge Wells, Kent, and since numbers were to be limited, early application was advisable. The slight increase in price was necessary to avoid a loss, the previous dinner, although a great success numerically, having resulted in a deficit of £15.

The Master (Mr. F. J. Cullum) stated that an anonymous member had promised to pay one-third of this amount provided that other members contributed the remainder by the end of the year. Contributions should be sent to Mr. P. N. Bond.

Thanks were accorded to the Rector (Canon R. D. Say) for arranging the service and for the use of the bells, and to Canon Lovell, Rector of Essenden, for use of the bells there in the evening. Members of the local band were thanked for making arrangements.

The next meeting, to be held jointly with the Middlesex County Association, will be at Bishopsgate and Shoreditch on Saturday, Dec. 6th.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Tonbridge District At Brasted

A practice meeting of the Tonbridge District was held on September 6th in the old village of Brasted. The Rector, Rev. W. O. Cosgrove, conducted the service and gave an address. At the organ was Col. Duckett, now over 80; he claims he has never missed the Easter services, first as choir boy, all these years.

The meeting was held in the very roomy ringing chamber. This is rather unique. There is a large glazed lantern between this and the upper part of the tower. The circular stairs are enclosed in a wood trellis.

A very substantial tea was enjoyed in the adjoining 'local.' Mr. Fred Budgen made all the arrangements.

LLANDAFF AND MONMOUTH

Some 45 ringers and friends attended the quarterly meeting of the Monmouth Branch, held at St. Cadoc's, Trevethin, on September 20th.

The service was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. G. A. L. Evans) and the Rev. Ivor Richards, Vicar of Llanarth, read the lesson. A bountiful tea was provided in the Church Hall, and the ladies concerned were most sincerely thanked by Mr. Tom Stephens.

New members were elected from Nash, Trevethin and Blaenavon. Progress was reported from Blaenavon where there was a band of young people. It was again decided to hold the Branch dinner in Newport in January. Magor was chosen as the place of the next meeting, with Llangibby and Usk as alternatives.

AUSTRALIAN NEWS LETTER

ST. PAUL'S CATHEDRAL SOCIETY, MELBOURNE

The annual meeting of the Society was held on August 27th in St. Paul's Cathedral belfry. The Dean of Melbourne (the Very Rev. Dr. S. Barton Babbage) presided and the Precentor (Rev. Godfrey Kircher) and 21 members were present.

The meeting opened with prayer and after apologies for absence were received the Dean dedicated four peal boards, executed by Mr. G. W. Pipe, recording some of the peals rung by the Society. Dr. Babbage expressed his delight at the good attendance and extended a warm welcome to Mr. Brian Cox, a visiting ringer from St. Peter's Cathedral, Adelaide. Mr. Cox thanked the Dean for his kind words and conveyed greetings from Adelaide.

In his report, the captain (Mr. J. J. F. Roper) stated that the past year had been very successful. Sunday ringing had averaged an attendance of 13 and practice nights an average of 17 and he was very gratified with the enthusiasm amongst members. Messrs. H. Impey and P. G. Richards had been elected members during 1958. Since the beginning of the year the Society had attempted to ring a peal every month or six weeks and amongst successes so far were three peals of Major. He congratulated Clyde Simpson, the Society's youngest member, on scoring his first peal and thanked all members for their support, especially Mr. George Pipe for his able conducting and assistance in instruction, Mr. Kenneth Minchinton for arranging the memorable visit to Adelaide in January, and Mr. Tom Bennett for being responsible for the installation of the fluorescent lighting in the ringing chamber and for carrying out various repairs in the belfry. He also paid tribute to the work of the secretary (Miss Brenda Sheppard), who for health reasons had had to ease up on her activities in the belfry.

In conclusion, Mr. Roper stated that he did not wish to be re-elected captain for the ensuing year because he felt that as the Society was very healthy in numbers and talent he would like to step down and give the younger members a chance.

The President thanked the captain for his report and on behalf of the Society thanked him for all he had done during his four years of office.

Messrs. J. Simpson and W. Impey were then elected new members. The election of officers then took place and resulted as follows:—Captain, G. W. Pipe; Vice-captain, G. W. Heyes; Secretary, Miss B. Sayce; Librarian and Assistant Secretary, Miss B. Beeson; Treasurer, Miss F. Sheppard; Auditor, Rev. G. Kircher; Steeplekeeper and Assistant, T. Bennett and P. Carwardine; Social Secretary and Organiser, K. Minchinton.

Several matters came before the meeting for discussion and a sub-committee was appointed to: (a) Make suitable arrangements for a ringers' service to be followed by a dinner and social with the hope that this would become an annual event; (b) Revise the very much out of date Constitution of the Society and (c) Draw up a draft Constitution for the proposed 'Australasian Association of Change-ringers' which was at present under discussion between the various States and submit same to the N.S.W. Association annual meeting.

It was also carried that a new membership be created, that of associate member. Dr. Babbage, the Precentor and Mr. A. Cox were elected first associate members.

Mr. George Pipe reminded members of the need for more subscribers to 'The Ringing World' and asked for a greater interest to be taken in Australian ringing affairs and whenever possible to contribute articles to the local magazine, 'Ringing Towers.'

Mr. Peter Richards then suggested that more frequent visits be made to the two other centres, Ballaarat and Bendigo, the two remaining towers having invitations to attend. The proposition received enthusiastic support.

Messrs. K. Minchinton and T. Bennett brought to the notice of the meeting that an overhaul to the entire ring was now due. As the hour was late it was decided to hold a meeting with those qualified to report on the condition, etc., of the bells, to which the Dean accorded his ready agreement.

There being no further business the retiring captain thanked the Dean for taking the chair and the meeting closed with prayer. Supper was then served. B. L. S.

SOMERSET WEDDINGS

At Clutton

The wedding took place on September 6th at St. Augustine's, Clutton, of Mr. Michael Horseman and Miss Monica Fray, both of whom are well-known ringers in North Somerset. The ceremony, which was attended by a large circle of relations and friends, was conducted by Canon Bennett.

The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a ballerina-length dress of white brocade. She was attended by two bridesmaids, Miss J. Horseman and Miss P. Dando. The best man was Mr. David Yeo.

A well-struck quarter peal of Bob Minor preceded the service, and further touches were rung at the conclusion of the ceremony.

Following the reception, the happy couple were given a rousing send-off when they left to spend their honeymoon at Arundel.

On their return, Mr. and Mrs. Horseman will live at Pill, Easton-in-Gordano, near Bristol.

At Long Ashton

Another happy occasion took place on September 20th, when the hon. secretary of the Chew Deanery Branch, Mr. David Yeo, was married to Miss Gillian Slack, at All Saints' Church, Long Ashton. The service, conducted by the Vicar (Rev. S. H. Cooke) was fully choral. Prior to the wedding a well-struck half peal of Grandsire Triples was rung on the bells.

The bride, who was until recently a sister at Southmead Hospital, was given away by her father. She wore a ballerina-length dress of white nylon organza, flocked with white roses and lilies, and was attended by three bridesmaids. Mr. John Brain was best man.

The large congregation included many ringers, and as the bells rang out at the conclusion of the ceremony, the couple left the church under an arch of handbells.

After a honeymoon in Jersey, Mr. and Mrs. Yeo will be making their home at Nailsea, near Bristol.

RHYTHM

The step which the instructor asks his pupil to take when he can ring and really strike rounds should be considered seriously. Two steps which are frequently used seem to show a lack of understanding of the learner's problems, toleration of bad striking and, perhaps, a lack of patience. The first of these is to ask the learner who has previously rung only rounds on an 'inside' bell, to ring the treble to a method. Against this practice are the following facts. He will have had no previous practice (a) at leading, (b) at ringing the bell more slowly 'up,' (c) at ringing it more quickly 'down,' (d) at following other bells and gauging the interval after them and (e) at accustoming himself to the sound of changes other than rounds. These five points are all to do with bell-control and striking, and should be taught before ropesight—which is what ringing the treble to a method entails. The second common step which seems ill-advised is that of ringing a set call-change like Queens. For a learner to ring the second bell to rounds and Queens is asking for bad striking, especially on a heavy ring, and it is very little help in preparing him for change-ringing.

A step much recommended is that of letting the learner ring call-changes which move his bell only one place at a time. He can be corrected in his striking until capable of making the change correctly. In this system he will be able to practise ringing after each bell, big or small, and gauging the interval. He will be able to practise leading too. The instructor can let him practise dodging up and down, so learning the bell control needed for the relatively quicker and slower blows. He will hear the different changes too, as he rings them, but he will not be wondering which rope to follow while he learns all these things. Dodging in 3-4, say, can be extended to moving from 3rds to 4ths to 5ths to 4ths and back to 3rds in half pulls, while the two other moving bells move just to accommodate the learner. The number of places used in this exercise can be increased until the learner is plain hunting on all five or six bells, and so he will be learning gradually without too many things to think about. For clarity, the actual changes rung, with the learner on the third bell, are:—

1 2 4 3 5
1 2 3 4 5
3 1 2 4 5
1 2 3 4 5

Criticism of such methods may be on the lines that they are too slow and do not give the intelligent pupil sufficient to work at. Here it is maintained that the first thing (after complete bell-control) to be taught and learnt is rhythm, and that our methods of teaching must be directed to this end. W. F. M.

SALLIES IN MOTHBALLS

Dear Sir,—When reading the enviable report of the tour of Pipe's Pilgrims and coming upon the paragraph under 'Sallies in Mothballs' some readers may have smiled at the scene, but to me, this being my home tower where as a young boy of about ten years I was taught to ring by my father, the very thought of the bells not being rung made me feel very disgusted with the present situation.

Perhaps the ringing ever since the bells were put in, in the early 1900's, was never of top standard measured against many towers of today; but even in the war years of 1914–18 the bells were kept ringing for Sunday services, as a band of ladies was formed and taught by the men who were left. Sunday service ringing was rarely missed; even for the early morning Communion service hymns were played for half-an-hour before the service began, and many a person unable to come to church sang these hymns and followed the service that came after. For the main festivals of the Church, ringing began at 6.30 a.m., and for many of the ringers it was a full day.

What of today? Where does the fault for such a collapse begin? The falling off of service ringing must have been apparent long before it finally came to a stop. What effort, if any, was made to bring new life into it again?

Probably, like many towers today, the Vicar never enters the tower, never knows who is away, or for what reason, and does not know the names of his ringers. One can only assume the lack of interest taken by the Vicar of Llanbradach as a sentence of the report suggests, 'that the Vicar would rather them to remain silent after being so for the past months.' Would he have thought the same about his choir? A Welsh church in the Rhymney Valley without a choir! Perhaps that would have been too much—but why no ringers?

Many other reports of tours include the remarks of towers where the bells have either not been rung at all, or occasionally, and it appears that each year other towers are added to this list.

Many of the Associations and Guilds of bell-ringers know of such churches in their areas. A firm stand should have been taken long ago against any bells being silent, and the first step should be at the top. The incumbent in charge should be approached to make a bold effort with all the support and skill of the area Association or Guild behind him.

What Guild or Association in the years since the last war has not spent £1,000 or £2,000 on annual reports? Let, in the next ten years, a sum of £1,000 be spent in support of any of the churches where there is no ringing for services, and where help is needed to go forward in the art of change-ringing—then will the Association be worthy and proud of the title of Church Bell-ringers.

Bells are not, like naval ships, to be put away in mothballs because there doesn't happen to be an emergency. Let a little of our time be given in a simple duty to our church; then when next we wish to apply for permission to ring at another church for our pleasure we shall all be well and truly welcomed as workers of the Church.—Yours faithfully,

LESLIE W. STEVENS.

TELEVISION SERVICE FROM SHREWSBURY

Dear Sir,—I wonder how many of your readers saw and heard the service from St. Chad's Church, Shrewsbury, on September 21st on I.T.V.?

'The Ringing World' usually gives publicity to forthcoming broadcasts of church bells, but I have been unable to find any reference to this event, and it was only as a result of contact through my brother with one of the ringers at Shrewsbury that I was aware that a broadcast of the bells would take place.

I feel that it must be placed on record that great credit should be given to the band for their performance. Although the ringing was confined to rounds, these were rung perfectly, and no one should have had any difficulty in picking out each one of the 12 bells.

As a former ringer at this church it gave me a great thrill to hear this beautiful ring over the air with such perfection.—Yours faithfully,

JOHN W. GRIFFITHS.

ST. DAVID

Dear Sir,—We read in 'The Ringing World' of another band of pilgrims making a pilgrimage to St. David's, and about their having a good time on the way. We are glad that they enjoyed themselves and took a liking to our bells. But darro mun—our St. David has been dead for more than fourteen hundred years so he couldn't have founded his church 800 years ago, as they are telling everyone.

Possibly these East Angles haven't realised yet that we Celts were civilised Christians for long before St. Augustine discovered that they were in need of his attention badly? It was because they came bothering that St. David decided that this was a nice quiet place for his church, far away from them.

Look now, St. David was Bishop of Caerleon in A.D. 540. (He wasn't the first one either, because there was one called Adelphius at the Council of Arles in A.D. 314.) Around about the year 560 he decided that his territory was too large for one bishop so he divided it into two, calling one part Llandaff and the other Menevia, and there have been bishops in these two dioceses ever since. Many hundreds of years later, when these foreign Angles and Jutes, Saxons and Normans were getting all mixed up together and calling themselves The English, the Celts decided that they could be much improved with a bit of help. So the English and Welsh Churches joined each other, about the year 1115. Then it was that the Pope learned what a good man St. David was, and that was when he made him a saint. Menevia was called St. David's in his honour.

Indeed now, recently, as time goes, the Parliament decided that the Church of England could possibly carry on without further help, so our Church in Wales was disestablished. Of course they were careful to see that it was disendowed at the same time. But we still manage quite nicely by giving our little bit each week, to pay our way, and to keep our churches and our bells in good order. So pilgrims and all others, there is always a welcome for you when you come again to Wales.—Yours faithfully,

TREFOR AP EVAN RODERICK.

A SIX-SCORE IN 12 DOUBLES METHODS

Dear Sir,—The following extents answer Mr. Wratten's request for a six-score in 12 individual plain course Doubles methods:—

2345 Forncett, Ellingham, Bedingham Bob
3425 Fundenhall, Haddiscoe, Harpley Bob
4235 Itchingfield, Longford, Chesham S.C.
4523 Knapton, Intwood, Lyng Bob
5243 Oakley, Thornborough, Broughton S.C.
5324 Ockham, Chipstead, Hascombe S.C.
5432 Intwood, Lyng, Knapton Bob
4352 Haddiscoe, Harpley, Fundenhall Bob
3542 Chipstead, Hascombe, Ockham S.C.
3254 Ellingham, Bedingham, Forncett Bob
2534 Thornborough, Broughton, Oakley S.C.
2453 Longford, Chesham, Itchingfield S.C.

Forncett, Ellingham and Bedingham Bob have the same changes in a lead. Similarly with the other groups of three. These extents were first produced in 1954.

The majority of Doubles ringers have adopted the standard of Minor ringers—that each extent should contain at least one plain lead of each method included. So far I have been able to get 12 plain leads in 12 methods only by use of the three-lead course methods.—Yours sincerely,

Windsor. FRANK T. BLAGROVE.

Dear Sir,—The extent of Doubles in 11 methods composed by Mr. Cyril A. Wratten and published in your issue of September 19th can be altered to one in 12 methods by interchanging only four changes. Instead of his second lead of Intwood, ring Harpley; and instead of the lead of Knapton, ring Fundenhall.

The composition is based entirely on a group of 18 three-lead course methods (which have 2, 3 on front and 4, 5 behind throughout the first lead), and there are numerous variations on this plan. It seems that bobless extents of Doubles in 12 methods are confined to this group of 18 methods. Can anyone confirm or deny this?—Yours sincerely,

J. SCHOFIELD.

BELLS OF HAMPSHIRE 400 YEARS AGO

Dear Sir,—I wonder if the following would throw any light on the 'white leather' and 'horse meat' mentioned in the Rev. F. A. Saunders' article, 'Bells 400 years ago,' of September 12th?

Before the verger's rope was put in at our tower (about 35 years ago) there used to be kept a piece of untanned leather about nine inches square and folded twice to put in the loop of the tenor rope so that the verger could use a foot to help him toll the bell. There is now a hammer fixed to the frame of the sixth.

The horse meat I think meant food for the horse, as trefolium, etc., cut and fed green to horses used to be called green meat.—Yours, etc.,

Havant. M. MARSHALL.

RECOLLECTIONS OF THE FRIENDS

It is early in the evening of September 26th and our car is speeding westwards, its occupants thinking of the past with pleasure, of the future with anticipation—on, to Honiton! What lies in the past? The Whitsun tour—where was it that we started? We entered Bruton on the Saturday to hear the West Country members ringing the first touch at 9.30 a.m., and well it sounded. It was here that Elisabeth and Richard received a surprise! I wonder if they will have their recorder tonight?

Wincanton came next—good bells, and a café with its accent over the F! Then the heavy eight (with memories) of Milborne Port, where we rang Triples and where Tudor discovered many ways to enter and leave the belfry. 'Yes, we should be able to break the journey, but only for quick refreshment, which reminds me . . . .' Lunch in Sherborne, very good; a quick look in the Abbey, a wedding, ringing at Maiden Newton and Cattistock, and an early tea before our long evening programme. Beaminster, slow swinging bells and a peaceful valley. Then Broadwindsor—a slight delay here to wait for some mourners to leave. Hawkchurch—here Cyril met us, smiling as always, and we rang London Minor. Also the Vicar nearly ran over our motor-cyclist! 'Highclere in front; we saw the Duke of Edinburgh there at church in August.' Axminster was our last tower of the day—a fine ring, both inside and out. Mary joined us here after losing her first attempt for a peal on less than ten bells! East Budleigh was reached at dusk; the King's Arms, the usual toasts, the Society of 'Friends of the Exercise,' the dispersal to lodgings—ever amazing this!

Sunday—glorious sunrise, Communion, lots of service ringing, an afternoon tour to Whimple, Honiton Clyst and Sowton, and also Clyst St. George. Our car missed the tour as one occupant had to visit his uncle at Princetown (it was surprising how soon people found out!). However, we rang at Exeter on the way, and saw Buckfast Abbey and Dartmoor in ideal weather—a memorable trip indeed. Monday morning saw an early start to reach Broadhembury, where the church stands as an island midst peace and thatch—even the churchyard wall being so protected! We missed a ring here due to a flat tyre, but caught up with the main party at Uffculme—listening to a peal here would be sheer delight. 'Stonehenge up on the right there, stone . . . .' Langford Budville next, with its stone needle and thread, and then the musical eight at Wellington. It was there that three benevolent policemen manhandled our car from a large gateway—the doctor's car was too large to pass, and Philip was ringing in a course of Duffield. It may have been fortunate that one of them had an intimate knowledge of ringers! 'Wincanton, there's that café, still the same!' West Buckland, on the hill, then through narrow lanes to Trull, a lovely name and bells the same.

'Sparkford . . . Bristol lies due north now; we must watch for the others after we pass Ilchester.' We almost succeeded with a fast course of Bristol at Wilton, scene of many past glories of Somerset, and had tea in Taunton within sight of St. Mary's thrilling tower. Ruishton, a nice little six and Spital Little Bob, and then to the famous Huish Episcopi, to find the bells well worth the surprising and steep climb from Langport. Prolonged farewells here, with heartfelt thanks to our organisers, Frank, John and Cyril, and to all we visited, and then we left for home.

This lies in the past. What is to come? Our autumn weekend, starting—tonight! On, to Honiton! CALLIGRAPH.

WARWICKSHIRE RINGERS' OUTING

The bell-ringers of St. Peter's Church, Wootton Wawen, Warwickshire, and their fellow ringers from neighbouring churches gathered together at 8.45 a.m. for their first ringing tour since the inauguration of the new bells. Captained and arranged by our newly elected 17 year Peter Bennett, in all 17 ringers, two supporters and one dog boarded the coach. The enthusiasm was shown by the fact that the organiser had to walk 2¼ miles to the meeting place, one ringer left home at 6 a.m. and a scooterist came from Birmingham.

We arrived at St. Mary's, Studley (6, 12 cwt.), and were met by David, who joined the party. In a light airy tower, on a good set of bells, were rung Grandsire Doubles, Bob Doubles and Bob Minor. From there we went to St. Leonard's, Beoley (6, 10 cwt.), and were welcomed by the Vicar, who explained the historical associations of this lovely church. Spliced Kent and Oxford were rung on very tuneful bells, rung from a pit. As we said goodbye to our scooterist, another ringer decided to join us, and we went on to St. Lawrence's, Alvechurch (8, 13 cwt.), and rang Cambridge Major which went into four leads. This is a lovely church, set on a hill, with beautiful surroundings.

Into the coach, and on to St. John the Baptist, Bromsgrove (10, 18 cwt.), again built on a hill commanding a view of the busy market town. Grandsire Caters, Kent Royal (three leads) and a passable course of Cambridge Major were rung. By now the ringers' spirits were high, and so was the sun, as we went in search of refreshment for both man and beast; the latter had, up to now, silently endured the sound of the bells. Fortified, we left for St. Mary's Hanbury (8, 12 cwt.), a pretty village, on which the 'Ambridge' of the 'Archers' is based. We rang a course of Oxford Bob Triples, Double Norwich, and Grandsire Triples, in which the Vicar's wife rang. The floral decorations were very beautiful.

Via many narrow country lanes, we came to a ford in flood, through which we slowly drove, with many comments on the organiser's 'quick' routes on Roman roads with outsize modern coaches, but our good-natured driver persevered, and we eventually arrived at St. John's, Crowle (8, 10 cwt.). Here we found midget ropes, and during a touch of Bob Minor a rope came off its wheel, leaving the ringer looking somewhat perplexed. A call for 'Harry,' and this was soon rectified, and another attempt was made to ring Bob Minor. On to St. Michael's, Cropthorne (6, 10 cwt.), where the circle is a rectangle. A course of London Surprise was rung. A local ringer acted as guide, and gave us some interesting history of this old church. Leaving behind this pretty village, we nearly left a ringer too.

At Evesham, there was a break for tea, which was thoroughly enjoyed by all, including the dog, who by now had accepted his fate, but after a walk his tail resumed its wagging.

On to St. James', Badsey (8, 15 cwt.), and a good ring of bells. Little Bob and Stedman Triples were rung.

The last of our towers was St. Nicholas', Middle Littleton (8, 13 cwt.), Spliced Doubles and London Minor were rung here. A search was made for our coach, which was conveniently parked by the local inn, with half the ringers quenching their thirst, and the dog settling down for the night, but not for long, when it was discovered that our Walsall ringer would have to return at once, or miss his last bus from the city. An offer to put him up for the night being settled, and out came the handbells, rung by Harry Windsor and his 'Boys,' to the enjoyment of all, except, maybe, the dog. A cheery journey home, the route being left this time to our friendly driver, who appeared so interested in the churches, and bells, that we felt he knew more than he would admit.

Arriving at Wootton Wawen, a cheer for the driver, and a vote of thanks to our able young captain, our gratitude to the sun for shining all day, making the tour one to be remembered, and our thanks to all the incumbents who allowed us access to their towers, finished the day. F. L. M.

BEDS & NORTHANTS RINGERS IN YORKSHIRE

Planned and timed to perfection by Pat Chapman, the trip to Yorkshire on September 13th was indeed a day to be remembered. Pat had ambitiously arranged visits to four famous and historic towers, on a round trip of about 350 miles. This meant a 6 a.m. start from Bedford, some of us having already travelled about 20 miles! We 'picked up' at Burton Latimer, Kettering and Grantham, before the last member joined us at Retford.

The first stop was at Doncaster, where the crowds were gathering, each one, no doubt hoping that his own particular favourite would win the St. Leger; but we were not interested in racing—our objective was the noble parish church: and what a satisfying hour we spent on the splendid ring of eight bells, in company with Mr. W. E. Critchley and the other local ringers.

Next came Selby Abbey, where Mr. T. H. Foster met us, and where we much enjoyed the pleasant ring of ten bells. On the short run to York we fortified ourselves with the remains of our packed lunch in readiness for the high spot of the day—the majestic ring of 12 at York Minster. Some of us had butterflies in our tummies as we took the ropes, but we need not have worried, the bellhangers know their job, and this mighty ring of bells, with a tenor only just short of 3 tons, is quite within the scope of the experienced ringer—but it is a thrill to handle them!

High tea was taken in this same ancient and beautiful city, after saying goodbye to the local tower captain, and then on to Beverley, whose Minster boasts, I think, the second heaviest ten in England; and here Mr. Osgerby met us and also took some of our party to see 'Great John' all 7 tons of him! There were many backward glances as we left the precincts of this beautiful Minster church, and indeed a leading feature of this outing was the glory of those places where we had been privileged to ring.

The long journey home provided plenty of time to reflect on the day's activities, and we could recall the almost clock-like precision with which Spliced Major was struck at Doncaster, the smooth rhythm of Grandsire Caters at Selby, rounds to Kent Maximus at York, and Cambridge Royal at Beverley.

Finally, thanks to the incumbents for kindly granting us permission to ring, and a special thank you to Pat Chapman. A. E. R.

MR. JOHN L. MORRIS

APPRECIATIONS

In April, 1947, I was on the teaching staff of Orpington County Secondary School for Boys, at which time I conceived the idea of starting a ringing society in the school. The society consisted of about ten boys in the lower school, one of whom was John L. Morris, aged 11. John's progress was outstanding, and in a very short time he was able to ring Grandsire and Plain Bob faultlessly on handbells. After some weeks I felt it opportune to give instruction on tower bells. At this time the bells of the Annunciation, Chislehurst, were silent, and so I approached the Vicar who gladly gave us the use of his bells. Within a year most of the boys had mastered treble bob, and several had rung peals.

John conducted his first quarter, Grandsire Triples, on September 12th, 1948, at the Annunciation. Six months before this, on March 29th, he had rung his first peal, which carried the footnote 'A birthday compliment to John L. Morris whose birthday was on March 21st.' This peal was of Grandsire Doubles and was rung at Foot's Cray, Kent. This peal was my 80th, and my next 44 peals always included John's name. At the age of 14 John rang the second bell faultlessly at St. Mary's, Prittlewell, for 8 hours and 22 minutes—the time taken to ring the record peal of Bob Royal, 12,740 changes, conducted by Frank B. Lufkin—no mean achievement for a boy of 14. In his ten years of ringing John rang and conducted many peals in many methods, ranging from Grandsire and Plain Bob to Spliced Surprise.

During these ten years I also had the privilege of teaching John the piano. Here again he was outstanding and passed with honours all the certificate examinations of the Trinity College of Music. In 1951 he gained the College silver medal for an outstanding performance in the senior pianoforte examination, and in 1956 was admitted an associate of the College. During these years John was a pupil at Eltham College, where he showed outstanding ability in mathematics and science, and from here he went on to London University where he recently graduated as a Bachelor of Science, and thus entered on his chosen career as a schoolmaster. He was appointed to the teaching staff of Russell's School in Croydon and took up his appointment only a few days before his sudden collapse.

One wonders why a person such as John is suddenly taken from our midst. All those who knew him will know that he was loving, sincere, always ready to lend a hand. I had the great privilege of knowing him intimately, and through these years I never once heard him say a cross word to or about anybody. It is difficult to find words adequate enough to express one's feelings in circumstances such as these, but surely the answer lies in Hymns Ancient and Modern, No. 373: 'God moves in a mysterious way.'

To Mr. and Mrs. Morris I'm sure all friends will join me in offering our deepest sympathy and regret. May they find comfort in the words of our Lord: 'What I do thou knowest not now: but thou shalt know hereafter.'

DR. FRANK C. W. KNIGHT.

Dear Sir,—May I be allowed to express the deep sorrow of the University of London Society on learning of the sudden death of John L. Morris. John joined the Society in 1955 on becoming a student at Queen Mary College. His ability both as a ringer and conductor soon made him an invaluable member of our band. We shall miss his genial company and ever cheerful smile in the belfry, and would like to express our sympathy to Mr. and Mrs. Morris on their bereavement.—Yours sincerely,

Lyme Regis. ROGER KEELEY.

The death of John Morris was rightly described in your issue of September 19th as a serious loss to the Exercise, for despite his youth he had made a name for himself as a ringer, composer and conductor. For all that he was modest and completely unassuming, but it seems certain that in a few years' time he would have gained the confidence which would have enabled him to become an outstanding member of the Exercise. It is the loss of so many years of potential leadership which to us as ringers is the worst aspect of his death at such an early age. He will be greatly missed, particularly by the young band at Bexley where, despite the not inconsiderable distance from his home, he was a regular ringer and where his help and experience (for he had been ringing since the age of 11 or so) were invaluable. The sympathy of all who knew him will go out to his parents, to his sister, and to Judith at this time. E. A. B.

MR. R. J. HUGHES

With the passing of Mr. R. J. Hughes, at the age of 79, St. Mary's, Abergavenny, has lost an old stalwart who helped to maintain change-ringing throughout the years just after the war, and during the time the new bells were ready for ringing after being recast and rehung.

An ex-railway guard, he had a reputation for outstanding conscientiousness in his work, a quality which he showed in his ringing and in his devotion to the church, where he worshipped at least once every Sunday until failing health prevented him attending so regularly.

Although he was prevented from aspiring to be a great ringer, because of his work and the fact that he started to learn ringing late in life, he mastered Stedman and several variations of Doubles methods after he reached 70 years of age. He was a safe Triples ringer. He rang his first quarter peal at the age of 75.

He was always ready to help beginners and was happy in spending hours ringing rounds and plain courses to help pupils gain experience. We have missed him immensely at St. Mary's.

G. W.

TWO READING VETERANS

Another of the old school has passed on in the person of Mr. George Foxell, of St. Laurence's, Reading, who was buried on September 22nd, having reached the ripe old age of 80.

George was a most excellent ringer, and was never so happy as when ringing Stedman Caters, although he rang several peals of Cinques when the 12 were installed. He rang his first peal at St. Laurence's 62 years ago, and until the last few months was as keen as at any time in his long career.

Again we at St. Laurence's were shocked when we met for ringing on September 21st to hear of the very sudden death of Mr. Leslie J. Sadler at the early age of 50.

Leslie was a very energetic personality, and was perhaps best known in the district as the ringer who could never evade the eagle eye and keen ear of the late foreman. The only peal he ever rang was in the first of Grandsire Cinques in the county, for the O.D.G., and on the bells.

May they both rest in peace. W. H.

FORMS FOR SURVEY

To assist Associations in completing their Survey, 'The Ringing World' has available printed forms similar to that which appeared in our issue of Sept. 5th.

THE PASSING OF MR. JOHN THOMAS

It was a pleasant afternoon when we made our way to the lovely village of Painswick. I had not been in the tower long when John arrived. He was asked to call a touch of Stedman Caters. He brought up the first course-end, called a 5, 16 for the second, and then proceeded to bring the bells round at what I presumed would be handstroke. However, the band was not good enough, and he called Stand. No one in the tower knew at that moment that John had called Stand for the last time.

Grandsire Cinques was then suggested but was never rung, for suddenly John fell to the floor, and in spite of a doctor's efforts — he had been ringing with us—to revive him, it was clear that John had left us with dramatic suddenness. He died as he had lived, peacefully and without fuss. He suffered neither pain nor anguish, and as he lay on the belfry floor, with two ringing mats for his pillow, a look of peaceful composure was on his face.

Some items in this tragic programme were stamped on the memory with forceful effect. The wonderful way in which Mrs. Thomas stood up to this tragic blow with such courage; the spontaneous utterance ('In the midst of life we are in death'); the prayers beautifully spoken by the Vicar of Painswick with all present joining in the Lord's Prayer. Those hands now in such easy relaxation, and one was compelled to think of the handbells they had swung and the tower bells they had rung through over 1,000 peals in nearly 60 years, with all classes of ringers from the highest to the lowest—truly a great record.

John was carried down the belfry steps, and as Mrs. Thomas was sure that it would be his wish that the festival should go on and the ringing continue, he made his last journey from the tower with the lovely back eight of the Painswick 12 to bid him farewell.

He rang his first and thousandth peals for the Gloucester and Bristol Association. He made his final exit from a Gloucester and Bristol tower . . . what more could John have wished! Making one's way home on that pleasant Saturday evening, and having by now somewhat recovered from this great shock, one felt a sense of gratitude and privilege to have been there to witness the passing of John Thomas, which must be unique in the history of the art.

May he rest in peace. G. J. H.

THANKS

Dear Sir,—There were so many at Painswick who were only known to me by sight that it is impossible for me to reach them individually. But I would like them all to accept my sincere thanks for their kindness. It was the many thoughtful little acts and consideration which so helped me over those first few sad hours.—Yours sincerely, AMY R. THOMAS.

Hinton-on-the-Green,
Evesham.

MR. W. J. PENROSE

Truro Diocesan Guild has lost its oldest ringer by the passing of Mr. William John Penrose, aged 95 years, which occurred at St. Lawrence's Hospital, Bodmin, on September 9th after a short illness.

Mr. Penrose commenced ringing at Gwennap in 1889, and had looked forward to the completion of 70 years' ringing. He was a very active and enthusiastic ringer, being both captain of Gwennap tower and Master at Guild meetings up to the time of his death.

The funeral took place at Gwennap Church on September 14th, conducted by the Vicar, and after the committal, the bells were rung half-muffled by his fellow ringers.

After Evensong a quarter peal of Grandsire Doubles was rung to his memory by a band of four visitors and two local ringers, as a token of respect from the Truro Diocesan Guild.

THE RINGING WORLD

OFFICIAL JOURNAL OF THE CENTRAL COUNCIL OF CHURCH BELL RINGERS

'The Ringing World' was founded in the year 1911 by John Sparkes Goldsmith, who remained its proprietor and editor until his death in 1942.

No. 2480. Vol. LIV. FRIDAY, OCTOBER 10, 1958 Registered at the G.P.O. for transmission as a newspaper. 6d.

TECHNIQUE

THE Concise Oxford Dictionary describes Technique as 'Mode of artistic expression in music, painting, etc.,' and 'Mechanical skill in art.' The two parts of the definition seem at first sight to be contradictory, for many of us would reasonably assert that purely mechanical skill in handling a musical instrument or a paint brush does not necessarily imply a talent for artistic expression or confer the power to inspire emotions. There is, none the less, an artistic as well as a mechanical technique, and the subtle relationship between the two is somewhat like the mysterious relation between magnetism and electricity, well recognised but difficult to define.

In the art of bellringing there are recognised techniques, chiefly, but not entirely, mechanical. The first, and logically fundamental one, is, of course, the handling of the bell, and in this matter the careful tutor aims to secure in the pupil the correct mechanical movements. If this aim is fully achieved the learner will produce all the necessary revolutions and counter-revolutions of the bell without effort, without anxiety, and without conscious thought, even as the expert typist's fingers fall with unerring accuracy on the stops, or the competent pianist's hands shape themselves over the correct keys at the very sight of a chord.

The differences apparent in the presence or absence of correct technique are obvious to us all. Many of us who type clumsily and without sound training can only marvel at the speed and facility of the professional, and many of us who play in our own fashion on the piano are sadly aware that there is a great gulf fixed between our performances and those of the expert. And to turn to our own art of ringing it must often have been manifested to us that this man rings with immaculate technique, while that one is far from comfortable with his bell because some elementary but vital skill has never been acquired.

But, as has been noted above, mechanical skill is only one part of technique, whatever the particular activity we like to consider. For if skill in handling a bell rested only on the accurate and unvarying performance of certain movements of hands and arms then our ringing would have to be confined to rounds, if, indeed, our powers permitted even that. For in the mere ringing of rounds we have to cope with bells of differing weight, with bells that are false struck, and with bells that do not go well. And, although we think very little about these matters, for us they are commonplace and taken, as we say, in our stride, it is, after all, rather wonderful that a trained ringer can pull off one of these bells in peal with his fellows and strike it accurately right from the start. There is here, in this uncanny aptitude, some subtle relationship between brain and muscle that defies our definition but which belongs to that other part of the description of technique, 'artistic expression.'

It is this variation from the purely mechanical, this adaptation to the demand of the moment, this reaction to emergency, that marks the great technician, whether it be the master batsman changing his stroke to the unexpected drop of the bowler's wrist, the pianist reacting with incredible swiftness to the unexpected grouping of notes over the page, the motorist with hand, foot and brain, avoiding disaster on the road, or the Spliced Surprise ringer performing a remarkable volte face with his heavy bell as he turns suddenly from Cambridge to London.

For the technique of change ringing, like the technique of bell handling, must be acquired, and to what extent it is mastered depends on the natural aptitude of the student. It is doubtful if it can be taught, although the study of principles, attention to the hints and 'tips' provided by experienced practitioners, and the careful observation of good ringers in action, will all contribute towards the stock of knowledge and experience upon which good technique is founded.

And the last of the three points given is by no means the least important. For to see the really fine ringer in action is an experience that stimulates and leads the earnest learner almost irresistibly to emulation.

BELFRY GOSSIP

The peal at Steep, Hants, on September 27th is the culmination of a successful course of training at that tower by the College of Campanology, arranged for pupils of Bedales. The course was in charge of Miss Cecily Roberts, a member of the school staff and an honorary tutor of the College. At the ringing tests, conducted by the College prior to the peal, all eight candidates passed, six securing the student's certificate 'of merit.' Credit is due to Martin Press who, although injured previously on the rugger field and unable to grip with his right thumb, rang well throughout the peal.

Young ringers of St. Paul's, Bedford, while on holiday on the Norfolk Broads scored a quarter peal at Acle.

Keenness brings its reward. After ten unsuccessful attempts, Mr. George Thoday has rung his first peal at Litlington, Cambridgeshire. 'He rang consistently well,' writes the conductor, Mr. J. Richard Castledine.

The peal of Stedman at Bloxham, Oxon, on September 27th, was noteworthy as it is 50 years since the last peal in the method was rung on the bells. The father of the conductor, Mr. Walter F. Judge, took part on that occasion.

Mr. T. E. Sone, of Paddock Wood, Kent, has recently undergone a serious operation, but he has hopes of returning to the peal columns in a few weeks' time. He thanks ringing friends for their letters, 'phone calls and messages during his illness.

Bands visiting Ashbourne, Derbyshire, are asked to be punctual as the Vicar likes personally to welcome ringers to the church. There have been no peals rung here since 1923, as it was stated that the spire would not stand up to more than 20 minutes' ringing. Permission has now been given for a peal attempt through the representation of Mr. B. P. Morris.

Owing to the state of the fabric, peal ringing has been banned at Tamworth for many years, but upon learning that the captain of bell-ringers was celebrating his 30th year as a ringer, the Vicar (Rev. A. Jones) said he felt the occasion was worthy of a peal and that Mr. G. Peers, jun., would go on ringing for at least another 30. An excellent peal of Grandsire Triples was rung, the first since the bells were recast in 1932.

St. Leonard's, Heston, provided two separate bands to ring quarter peals of Grandsire Triples on September 28th for their harvest thanksgiving services.

Hawkshead, where the bells have been augmented to eight and hung in a new frame, has a Further Education class in change-ringing. An example to other parishes!

Recordings of the church bells of Westbury-on-Severn, Lydney, Newland and Ruardean will be heard in a magazine programme, 'The Faith in the Forest of Dean,' to be broadcast on Sunday, October 19th, 9.45 to 10.30 a.m., in the West Home Service only. The programme is edited and introduced by Martin Willson.

Mr. Leonard Tuffrey, of Hall Green, Birmingham, will shortly be taking up residence in Ferndown, near Bournemouth. He served 25 years in the Birmingham City Police on the 'E' Division and Traffic and Communications Department, a part of which time he was a member of St. Martin's Sunday service band, and rang many peals of Surprise with George Fearn and his band. During the last eight years he was a member of the Sunday band at St. James', Shirley, where on September 28th a quarter peal of Grandsire Triples was rung as a farewell. Their friends wish Mr. and Mrs. Tuffrey much happiness in their new surroundings.

FOURTH REUNION OF VETERANS

WITH unabated enthusiasm, the fourth annual reunion of veterans, arranged by Mr. A. W. Coles, took place on September 27th at the Fanmakers' Hall, Bishopsgate, London. A company of 51 was present, with an average age of 73. The oldest veteran was Mr. F. V. Sinkins, now 94, who enjoyed the fellowship.

Ringing took place at St. Lawrence Jewry, St. Bartholomew-the-Great's and St. Botolph's. A photograph of the party was taken, and as on previous occasions, Mrs. Davis and her ladies arranged a bountiful tea. The Rector of St. Botolph's (Rev. H. H. Treacher) was present and welcomed the company.

Proceedings after tea started with a remembrance of those who had 'passed over' during the year, and their names were read by Mr. A. W. Coles as follows: F. W. Richardson, F. Bennett, F. Dench, J. Thomas, F. E. Pervin and E. J. Butler.

Apologies were received from F. M. Mitchell, J. T. Dyke, J. Ames, A. B. Peck, H. Sear, C. A. Hughes, R. Newman, F. C. Maynard, E. H. Adams, N. Tomlinson, W. Webb, W. A. Knight, C. Norris, H. Langdon, E. C. Sheppard, A. Walker, J. A. Freeborn, E. Gladman, G. N. Price, C. W. R. Grimwood, G. Marriner, A. H. Winch, F. Cullum, G. Freebrey, H. Baalam, E. D. Smith, P. Spice, W. Bottrill and F. Oliver, Enfield (60); J. S. Hawkins, Tooting (79).

Mr. J. F. Smallwood expressed the thanks of the company to Mr. Coles for enabling the 'get-together' to be held, and giving them an opportunity of seeing old familiar faces again. It was a great joy to him to shake hands with those he had known for 50 years in ringing, and he hoped they would have many more such gatherings.

TEST OF CLEVERNESS?

He supposed they thought they were all very clever with their long experience, but they were not as clever as they thought. The real test was to ring a handbell peal in a thunderstorm, and preferably sitting on a compost heap. Then they would know what real ringing was.

He expressed thanks to the Rector of St. Botolph's for the use of the hall and permission to ring; the Rev. J. F. Trimingham and the Rev. Dr. N. E. Wallbank for the use of their bells; Mrs. E. E. Davis, who was responsible for the tea arrangements, and her helpers and those who gave gifts, viz.: Mesdames G. Goodfellow, D. Holland, M. Colville, K. Locke, R. Coles, E. Sanders, O. Russell, J. Hook, R. Treacher and K. Parsons. For assistance in transport he thanked Messrs. J. W. Euston, D. Oliver, G. A. Spencer, A. G. Mason and F. W. Goodfellow.

The Rev. H. H. Treacher said it was a great joy to him to welcome the company, and he hoped to have the pleasure of meeting them again next year.

After the tables were cleared, Mr. D. Oliver played a recording of East Bergholt bells, and there was handbell ringing before further tower-bell ringing.

GUILD SECRETARY'S WEDDING

The wedding was solemnised at Christ Church, Winchester, on September 20th, of Mr. J. A. C. King, secretary of the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild, and Miss G. M. Harris. The Rev. H. C. Davies officiated.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. A. Harris, had three attendants—her sister (Mrs. M. Buckingham) and the Misses M. and J. King, sisters of the bridegroom. Mr. D. King was groomsman.

After the ceremony the happy couple were greeted outside the church by a band of handbell ringers from the Cathedral. The reception was held at Old Chesil Rectory.

The honeymoon was spent in Cornwall.

SHELLEY RINGING CONTEST

For the third year in succession, Meltham won the Shelley ringing contest at Shelley Parish Church on September 27th. The judges were Mr. Percy Hawthornthwaite, of Shelley, and Mr. Albert Goldthorpe, of Shepley, with Mr. J. W. Buxton as marker. The test piece was 600 changes with 120 changes as practice. The results were:—

Meltham: 52 faults, total 52.
Sandal: 75 faults, total 75.
Friezland: 102 faults, total 102.
Cawthorne: 130 faults, total 130.
Thornhill: 5 penalties, 316 faults, total 321.

The Vicar (Rev. A. Crow) who presided at the meeting which followed tea, presented the cup and prizes to Mr. E. Earnshaw on behalf of the Meltham team, and also to the runners-up. Mr. J. W. Moxon thanked Shelley people for the excellent arrangements, and Mr. J. W. Buxton replied.

THE LADIES' GUILD

South Wales District

The Ladies' Guild meeting held at Christ Church, Ebbw Vale, on September 13th proved to be most enjoyable and well attended. Many methods were rung on these lovely bells, including Grandsire Triples by a band of ladies.

Canon Oliver Davies officiated at the service, and tea was afterwards served in the Church Hall. Mr. Trevor Roderick thanked the ladies on behalf of the visitors. Mrs. Whitworth thanked Canon Davies for his warm welcome to the Ladies' Guild.

At the business meeting Miss Mary Orchard (Radyr), Miss Norma Hemmings and Miss Gillian Warwick (both of St. Mellons) were elected members. Caldicot was chosen as the place for the next meeting, with Llangibby as an alternative.

EPSOM AND EWELL CELEBRATIONS

Epsom and Ewell ringers took a prominent part in the celebrations on September 27th to mark the 21st anniversary of the incorporation of the borough. The suggestion of the secretary of the Surrey Association that a peal attempt be made at each tower in the borough was approved by the celebrations committee.

Because of weddings, the attempt at St. Martin-of-Tours' was brought forward to the morning, but this band had the misfortune to break down. A quarter peal was then rung.

The attempts at St. Mary's, Ewell, and at Christ Church, Epsom, went ahead as planned in the afternoon, and both bands scored a nice peal. Mr. C. W. Munday called Grandsire Triples at Ewell with a local band, and at Christ Church five of the local ringers rang Plain Bob, the conductor being Mr. A. Patrick Cannon, of Dorking.

Afterwards the ringers went to the Baths Hall, where the deputy mayor was waiting to greet them, along with Ald. J. A. Larby (chairman of the celebrations sub-committee). A real ringers' tea followed, and then those taking part were thanked for their participation in the celebrations. Ald. Larby explained that the Council's policy had been to encourage the residents to do the things they liked doing and for the Council to meet them afterwards.

At Christ Church, Epsom, permission is to be sought to erect a peal board.

On Sunday, September 28th, a civic service was held at St. Martin's, and at the invitation of Mr. E. Lindley, the local captain, ringers from Ewell and Christ Church were privileged to take part in the ringing for this service.

RAILWAYMEN RINGERS AT NORWICH

The autumn meeting of the Railwaymen's Guild was held at Norwich on September 27th, under the Master, Mr. Harold Walker.

Ringing commenced before lunch on the magnificent Mancroft 12 — 13 to be correct, split up into the front ten, where the president of the Norwich Association (Mr. Nolan Golden) and the Ringing Master at St. Peter Mancroft (Mr. Arthur Bason, almost fit again) welcomed the ringers. After lunch, owing to a wedding at Mancroft, ringing was shared at St. Giles', quite close, where Mr. George Sayer (Master) met and welcomed the ringers.

Welcome visitors were the Rev. Giles Galley, recently ordained curate of St. Nicholas', Great Yarmouth, Mr. Albert J. Pitman, Mr. C. S. McLeod (Regional Establishment and Staff Officer, Eastern Region), and Mr. J. A. McIntosh (Assistant, London Midland Region).

Tea was served at Ashworth and Pike's Restaurant, where the ringers were joined by Canon John Waddington, who in a few breezy words welcomed them to Mancroft and Norwich. Mr. McLeod and Mr. McIntosh also welcomed them.

Apologies and good wishes were received from the general manager, Eastern Region (Mr. H. C. Johnson), and other prominent railway officials. Ringing continued during the evening, and votes of thanks to all who had contributed to the success of the meeting were proposed by the Master of the Guild, seconded by Mr. S. Foskett and supported by the general secretary (Mr. Frank Stenson).

HAWKSHEAD'S NEW BELLS ARE DEDICATED

LESS than a year ago, expert examination confirmed that the 500-year-old six main beams supporting Hawkshead (Lancs) Church bell frame and bells were completely worn out.

In November, 1957, it was decided to replace the worked out timber with rolled steel joists to support a new iron frame, with provision for increasing the ring from six to eight bells. The latter was an act of faith which has been justified. In less than ten months from the first report on the bells the work has been done and the two bells added. Lt.-Col. G. O. Sandys, of Graythwaite Hall, in Hawkshead parish, whose ancestor, Myles Sandys, of Graythwaite, gave the tenor in 1765, provided a new treble and the people of Hawkshead have given a new second bell. By Michaelmas Day, 1958, the overall sum of £1,750 had almost been raised—all by direct giving.

Whilst the bells were silent the ground-floor ringing chamber at Hawkshead Church contained an exhibition of bells and their fittings, photographs and diagrams illustrating the bell-founder's and bell-ringer's craft. Within the display the 1765 treble was mounted, and over £200 was subscribed through its crown staple bolt-hole and the gift acknowledged by a hand-bell within, much to children's especial delight at having 'rung the bell'!

On July 29th, the Vicar and churchwardens represented the parish at the casting of the two new bells at Loughborough, enjoying Messrs. Taylors' hospitality, including the famous 'ten' in the works. All Hawkshead's wardens and the Vicar can handle a bell, and the Vicar's warden (Mr. Robin Shuttleworth) is also belfry captain.

The church was crowded to capacity with parishioners and ringing friends from towers in the S. Westmorland and N. Lancashire area for the dedication service on September 29th. Slowly, but with joyful purpose, and to the hymn 'When morning gilds the skies . . .' the procession moved to the ringing chamber—verger Tom Barlow (a ringer always ready to stand in), Miss F. Synge representing the P.C.C., Lt.-Col. G. O. Sandys, representative ringers, Mr. Paul Taylor, of Loughborough, the clergy, the churchwardens and the Bishop of Penrith, predecessor of the present vicar.

Within the ringing chamber the Bishop greeted the ringers. Miss Synge asked the Vicar and wardens to receive the bells, and the promise was made that they would give 'utmost care that they shall be ever and only used in the service of God and to His glory.' Lt.-Col. G. O. Sandys offered the new treble for dedication, after which the belfry captain rang it four times. The new second was similarly offered on behalf of its donors and duly dedicated, Mr. F. M. Coward, the oldest ringing member of the local band, ringing it four times also. So the new trebles were first handled by Hawkshead born and bred ringers.

The hallowing of the bells with prayers for their right use followed. So the bells were pulled off in rounds by Hawkshead men and lads—Robin Shuttleworth 1, F. M. Coward 2, G. Brown 3, J. Wright 4, M. Glaister 5, H. R. Johnson 6, H. Mellor 7 and R. Sunderland 8.

The sermon was preached by the Rev. R. D. St. John Smith (president of the Lancashire Association), who gave not only something of his knowledge and love of church bells and the art of ringing, but above all, an understanding of their purpose.

The hymn 'The God of Abraham praise' was sung; then followed the Patronal Festival prayers by the Vicar (Rev. R. Lindsay, M.A.), and God's blessing was pronounced by the Bishop of Penrith. Complete silence was observed for a minute, and the newly-dedicated bells rang out, steadied in rounds and then went into a touch of Grandsire Triples with the band made up of ringers from neighbouring towers: F. Langtree (Broughton-in-Furness) 1, J. Bagnall (Barrow-in-Furness) 2, J. E. Burles (Barrow-in-Furness) 3, A. Capstick (Ambleside) 4, L. S. Clement (Kendal) 5, F. Birkett (Langdale) 6, N. M. Newby (Dalton-in-Furness) 7, R. Shuttleworth (Hawkshead) 8.

Almost 100 local ringers had one simply glorious hour of short touches whilst refreshments were provided in the Market Hall below the church, completing an altogether historic, happy and memorable occasion in the life of the old parish of Hawkshead and the church bell-ringers of the area. Hawkshead is grateful to the many who helped to make it so. R. L.

WINCHESTER DISTRICT OUTING

In perfect weather, the ringers of the Winchester District held their annual outing on August 30th.

The first ringing was on the pleasant light six at Shrewton. We then made our way amid cornfields to West Lavington, with its musical ring of six in a very fine tower. The visit coincided with the village flower show. After an hour here we made our way to Devizes. During lunch, the captain of St. James', Southbroom (Mr. A. T. Weeks), made himself known to us, and our grateful thanks are due to him for all the help he gave us in arranging our outing.

Our first ring after lunch was on the fine, heavy octave at St. John's. Ringing here consisted of several courses of Grandsire Triples with rounds and call-changes for the less experienced. Afterwards several touches were rung on the heavy six at St. Mary's Church. After half-an-hour we made our way to St. James', Southbroom. Mr. Weeks met us here and pointed out some interesting features concerning the history of the church and town. The rather small ringing room was packed to capacity but all were able to ring. Tea followed at the Ruth Pierce Restaurant.

The surprise item of the day was an unexpected visit to Upavon, arranged by Mr. Weeks, where the local ringers had the bells up in readiness. The last tower of the day was St. Thomas's, Salisbury, where with the help of local ringers we were able to ring a good course of Stedman Triples.

At Stockbridge the party broke up, and after the usual vote of thanks a short break for refreshments followed. Winchester was reached just before 10 p.m., and all agreed that it had been a very enjoyable day. C.

A LEARNERS' TOUR

ABOUT a mile from Bruton in East Somerset there is the village of Pitcombe, which has a church with an ancient tower containing three ancient bells. They are all very much alike and bear a kind of seal and the initials 'W. S.' A Bristol mediæval foundry cross can just be recognised on the second, and is clearly reproduced on the tenor which was recast by Taylors in 1910. Largely thanks to Mr. H. J. Sanger, of Evercreech, and his band, who have spent much time and patience in teaching the writer and others to ring, these bells have been regularly rung for over two years by a mixed band of young ringers, who also ring the three bells at the neighbouring church of Shepton Montague, where the services alternate with Pitcombe. Valuable help has also been given by the ringers at Bruton and Castle Cary on their practice nights, and by many more at Branch meetings of the Bath and Wells Association.

This year it was decided to arrange a week's ringing tour, in the course of which we should endeavour to learn method ringing on five bells, the extent on three having already been achieved. Being all young and active, we thought that cycling and youth hostelling was the best way of travelling. It was necessary to obtain the services of a female co-leader and some 'helpers' for the ringing. This was done through advertisements in the 'R.W.'

In March the leaders, Miss Holden Brown, of the St. Matthias', Richmond, band, and the writer, spent a weekend at Malvern Youth Hostel attending lectures intended for teachers proposing to take parties of school children in hostels. One piece of advice learnt there was that the middle day be a 'free day' with no organised journey. This was, I think, appreciated by the whole party, who spent much of it in the sea at Sidmouth, though we did book one tower on this day.

The band that set out on September 1st consisted of nine ringers, including boys and girls from 12 upwards. Some were only round ringers, others could hunt the treble to Grandsire; most could ring changes on three, but only one was a real method ringer. In the course of the first two days we progressed from plain hunt on four to Bob Minimus. Some of the band could already raise and lower in peal, and those that could not were given instruction and practice in the art. At Harpford, Devon, on the third day we rang our first plain course of Bob Doubles and also a plain course of Grandsire.

On Thursday and Friday we were joined by Mr. W. and Miss G. Stevens, of Cannington, near Bridgwater. Thanks to them we were able to make more progress in Bob Doubles and Grandsire Doubles, and at Silverton, our only 8-bell tower, we had the assistance of Mr. A. G. Selley and three of his band. This resulted in a touch of Grandsire Doubles with 7, 6, 8 covering and two plain courses of Triples. At our last tower (Shapwick, Somerset) Mr. K. Prime and two others made up for the loss of Mr. and Miss Stevens, and we rang 120 Bob Doubles as a crowning success.

In all, we rang in five 5-bell towers and six 6-bell towers, with one eight. Distances ranged from about 24 to 34 miles a day. On the last day it was planned to finish the trip by train, but only four eventually did this, the remainder making the journey by cycle in less time than the train took. HUGH B. MAKINS.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

BRIGHTWELL BELLS

Dear Sir,—With reference to your correspondent 'S,' writing on the peal tour of Gloucestershire and Oxfordshire, I am unable to allow a statement of his to pass unnoticed.

He writes that 'an ill-fated band left for Brightwell (Berkshire) to find the bells hard going.' Would it not be more correct to have said that the method or methods chosen for this peal were found to be hard going as the striking was decidedly poor and failed to do justice to any peal tour?

Due to careful towerkeeping these bells (tenor 11 cwt., and hung in a wooden frame and plain bearings) are kept in very good order and always go quite well. It might be of interest to note that they are usually rung twice on Sundays by six girls whose ages range from 12 to 14 years, and since this attempt they have now decided that their well-struck call-changes will always sound better than any 'scientific ringing.'—Yours faithfully,

C. J. CASTELL.

Newbury, Berks.

PENTLOW BELLS

Dear Sir,—I have been interested in the recent correspondence re the ringability of Pentlow bells, Essex, and I agree entirely with Miss Rosemary J. Seabrook's remarks. I had the pleasure of a ring at Pentlow when the Society of Rambling Ringers visited St. George's Church on August 12th, 1955. No doubt some members will recollect the group photograph being taken, with the round tower in the background.

According to Walter's 'Church Bells of Essex,' Miles Graye cast the fourth in 1628, the third in 1635. He cast the second and tenor, which weighs 10¼ cwt. in G, in 1665. The treble was added by John Thornton in 1711. Walter's footnote boldly states: '1904 not ringable.' They must have had some attention since.—Yours sincerely,

CLIVE M. SMITH.

Lichfield, Staffs.

CANON G. WATKINSON

Dear Sir,—As recently reported in 'The Ringing World,' Canon G. Watkinson retired from the vicariate of Northowram after 61 years' service.

A meeting of parishioners decided that this unique record of service should be marked by (a) a personal gift to the Canon, (b) the presentation of a book in which will be inscribed the names of all those who wish to be numbered among his friends and acquaintances, and (c) the erection or installation in church of some permanent memento of his life and service.

There must be many ringers who, over the years, have come in personal contact with Canon Watkinson and would like to be included in this gesture of affection and esteem. Literally hundreds have rung on the bells in the church which he built and which will be his lasting memorial.

Will any ringers so wishing to associate themselves please get in touch with the undersigned. All donations will be acknowledged.—Yours faithfully,

W. G. TURNER.

DOUBLES METHODS

Dear Sir,—I was very interested to read Mr. Wratten's letter on Doubles methods and the definition between a variation and a method.

Mr. Wratten's way of publishing his Doubles peals is obviously the correct solution and should be adopted by all conductors so that methods and variations can be classed accordingly.

Unfortunately, so few of these variations are known to the average ringer; many I know do not even know what April Day—the most popular of these variations—is.

I feel that an article by somebody in the know (perhaps Mr. Blagrove might oblige) will be of great use to the average village ringer and will add to the variety of Doubles peals, and also to the variations that one can ring at a meeting or a practice without having to look a new method up on the spot.

Incidentally, I am informed by Mr. Lewis that there are only eight named variations known to him of Plain Bob Doubles, using different bobs and singles; the Doubles preface names nine, but apparently Besthorpe and Hudibras are the same, and Ludham and Kennington are the same variation, whilst Norfolk is produced by the bob of one variation and the single of another.

A variation named Seighford makes the number up to eight, but theoretically it is possible to get 27 variations using non-symmetrical bob leads, but some if these may not work.

An article by one of our Doubles conductors will throw some light on this matter and assist me and many others. I expect to achieve a long-standing ambition to ring a peal in 42 Doubles variation.

Also perhaps somebody can enlighten me if the following method has been named: if not, I would like to call it Woodhay Doubles.

WILLIAM DENYER MEMORIAL

Dear Sir,—May I express thanks to all those ringing friends who sent donations to my father's memorial, which has now been handed over to the Vicar of St. Michael's Church, Aldershot. The chalice and paten are extremely beautiful, costing just over £100, and will be used every week.

A memorial tablet to my father recording his 35 years of captaincy was dedicated after Sung Eucharist on September 28th, and this is the gift of the Aldershot ringers and is on the wall of the ringing chamber.—Yours faithfully,

CHARLES W. DENYER.

Farnham, Surrey.

NEW ANGLE ON TEACHING BEGINNERS

Dear Sir,—I was very interested to find someone who spoke of 'a new angle' and 'teaching.' I'm sure we lose many very promising ringers through the captain simply pushing a book (full of tabulation figures—nothing more) into a novice's hand, and in reply to all and every question has only one answer: 'You learns it.'

Learns what? All the possible permutations of a set of figures off by heart? Surely there must be some key way of teaching a method without having to learn the whole performance by heart; e.g., the basic example:—

2 1 4 3 6 5
2 4 1 6 3 5
4 2, etc.

I know my position in each round without having to learn the sequence of the whole 78 places, and even if I want the whole 78 places I can work them out for myself without memorising.

Now, has anyone (who must be a born teacher not a mere teller) put into book form the simple fundamentals of change-ringing so that the novice can see some hopes of learning?—Yours sincerely,

G. HODKINS.

West End, Southampton.

P.S.—I suggest you need a bell-ringing mathematics master capable of teaching the 'C' stream.—G. H.

Note.—We are confident this reader will find a tower in Southampton with a proper instructor who can teach.—Ed.

PREVIOUSLY PUBLISHED

Dear Sir,—I regret to say that I have made an error in claiming two compositions as my own—the 5,184 of London on page 568 of your issue of August 29th was first published in 'The Bell News' Appendix, 1895, under the name of Nathan J. Pitstow, and the 5,040 Cambridge Royal on page 600 of your issue for September 12th has been rung under the name of Gabriel Lindoff many years ago. I am indebted to Messrs. R. F. B. Speed and F. E. Darby respectively for this information, and apologise for unwittingly reproducing someone else's work.

Whilst on the subject, I find that another composition of London should be credited to N. J. Pitstow—the 5,088 No. 2 in the C.C. Collection, page 47; see 'The Bell News,' January 12th, 1889, where it appears as the reverse form of arrangement No. 5 in the C.C.C. Also, the 5,088 Superlative No. 7 on page 25 of the C.C.C. can be found in a reverse form, and a different arrangement of shunt bobs, in 'The Bell News,' May 2nd, 1885, again under the name of N. J. Pitstow! In the issue of that paper for August 29th, 1885, there is, also by N. J. P., the five-part of Superlative which has been ascribed in recent years to F. H. Dexter, I believe—

2 3 4 5 6	B	W	H
3 5 2 6 4	X		3
5 6 2 3 4		2

Four times repeated.

EXAMINE UNRINGABLE BELLS

Dear Sir,—Looking through Mr. Dove's excellent Guide to the Church Bells of Britain, one now and then sees the word 'unringable' beside the particulars of a tower.

Without directing any criticism at Mr. Dove, who has no doubt compiled his book on local information submitted to him, I would suggest that a good 50 per cent. of these 'unringable' bells are silent merely as the result of a 'parson's gag,' or of rumour as to their condition, started many years ago.

The Parish Church of St. Sampson, South Hill, is situated about three miles from Callington in Cornwall. The tower contains a ring of five bells (tenor nearly 9 cwt.). According to local reports these bells have been 'unringable' for over 20 years, owing to the poor state of the fittings and frame and the shaky condition of the tower.

Repeated applications to the vicar of the parish for permission to view the bells were refused. One has every reason to suspect that this particular cleric had no interest whatsoever in that part of his church.

Recently, however, five ringers from Kenwyn, Truro, and Mr. Jim Phillips, of London, having discovered that the vicar had just retired, descended in force on the tower, armed with ropes and a can of oil. Permission to inspect the bells, and if possible to ring, was readily given by two churchwardens.

On entering the belfry, a ground-floor ring, we discovered one complete rope on the tenor, a rope and sally but no tail-end on the treble, and three odd bits just visible through the floor above and apparently attached to the three remaining bells.

The bell chamber was reached by ascending some steps, climbing through an archway in the wall and thence by ladders. We discovered the five bells hanging in a frame of perfect condition and with wheels and stays in perfect order. The second bell was buried up to the waist in twigs: these were speedily despatched through the north louvre. The bearings were then inspected and oiled, and each bell swung up by hand, on the wheel, to check for any visible defects or tower movement. Finding no fault thus far, we then proceeded to fit ropes, give a last-minute check and then proceed down the ladders to the ringing chamber below. After removing odd boxes, jam jars and other junk, the bells were raised in peal, and a perfect six-score of Grandsire Doubles rung. One or two curious villagers found their way to the tower, and one of the churchwardens told us that it was the first time his 16-year-old daughter had heard the bells. Some rounds were rung, and a six-score of Stedman, before the bells were finally lowered in peal.

With the exception of stiff clappers and a slightly sluggish tenor, these bells are in perfect ringing order, and in a tower that shows no sign of structural defect.

A ring of five bells at Bayton, near Launceston, was reputedly unringable and neglected until just over 12 months ago, when a determined band of ringers visited the village and rang the bells; reports are that these bells are now rung every Sunday, resulting from the interest aroused by the visit of some outside ringers.

Bells, as we all know, are very expensive items, and should not be allowed to hang silent and unattended in our towers. I would suggest, therefore, that if a few keen and determined ringers in the various guilds and companies were to make a point of visiting these towers with 'unringable' bells, they would find in five cases out of ten that, with a little attention, the bells are perfectly safe and enjoyable to ring upon.—Yours, etc.,

Truro. ROBERT A. SOUTHWOOD.

The London University Society of Change Ringers also sent a wreath to the funeral of Mr. John L. Morris.

FOUR SPLICED PEALS

Dear Sir,—Many thanks to Mr. M. S. Lancefield for kindly pointing out the falseness in my 'arrangement' of Spliced. It would perhaps have saved a little of your valuable space if he had pointed out where the falseness occurs. However, I have observed that it is the alternative method callings. CSSS and SSSC in courses 7 and 8, which should not be used as they run false with the Bristol in courses 5 and 10 of the alternate part.

The arrangement rung at Aldermaston on August 9th was the 5,184, which is true, shortened by omitting the two leads of Bristol and the connecting bobs, in each of courses 6 and 9 of the second part. This may be verified by adding together the number of changes of Cambridge and Superlative rung, which comes to 2,624 and not 2,748, which would have been the case if the false variation had been used.

Regarding Mr. A. J. Pitman's method of reversed calling. These symmetrical compositions are the logical result of the symmetry of methods themselves and of the falseness in and between the methods. (Middleton's Cambridge is symmetrical, to quote just one example.)

Whilst I must admit to having used Mr. Pitman's system in this arrangement, I do not share Mr. Lancefield's view that there is no further scope for composition in the four standard methods.

I must apologise for the mistakes and falseness in the composition submitted, but I assure you, sir, I never sign myself R. H.—Yours faithfully,

N. J. DISERENS.

Dear Sir,—With reference my letter in the 'R.W.' of September 27th concerning the falseness of the peal of 4 Spliced Surprise by N. J. Diserens. I would like to point out, in case of misunderstanding, that the falseness I referred to has no connection with the omission of the bob Before in the last course of each part, of which I was well aware.

The actual falseness occurs in the short courses which link together the quarter peal sections—when the 6th is brought home from 5ths, with the calls Before and home repeated, the falseness applies to all four quarter peal sections, but I will give an instance of one only: the first lead of Superlative in the eighth course of the first half peal is false against the second lead of Bristol in the tenth course of the second half peal.

If the alternative calling for the Before and home courses is not used, that is if Bristol is used instead of Superlative, the composition would most probably be true (have not had time to check); then omitting the twin leads of Bristol where desired would reduce the length of the peal to a reasonable number of changes.—Yours faithfully,

M. S. LANCEFIELD.

Willesborough.

INVERARAY BELLS

Dear Sir,—The letter on page 614 from Mr. F. C. A. Bennett regarding Inveraray bells was unexpected. It is nice to know that the bells are ringable.

What a sight looking at those bells through glass doors and in another room the chiming apparatus of ten bells which I have had the pleasure of trying. The apparatus is fixed near the middle of the room and not against the wall, which is usual.—Yours sincerely,

JENNIE ARMSTRONG.

Morpeth, Northumberland.

In connection with the Leeds Musical Festival, the service from Leeds Parish Church, at which the Princess Royal is expected to attend, will be shown on I.T.V. on Sunday morning next, October 11th, and the bells may be heard in the background somewhere between 10.50 and 11.10.

WALTHAMSTOW

St. Mary's, Walthamstow, car outing on September 27th into Herts and Beds had a heavy programme in respect of both the number of towers and weight of metal. Of the nine rings, only two were 'light-weights,' most of the remainder having 23 to 26 cwt. tenors.

Towers visited were St. Albans (St. Peter's), Leighton Buzzard, Dunstable, Woburn (where the ringing, particularly Double Norwich, did justice to the fine bells). After a picnic lunch ringing continued at Husborne Crawley, Maulden (although there is little merit in claims for 'fastest on the bells,' it seems likely that the Cambridge here inadvertently achieved that record for a course), Hitchin, Baldock (a welcome break here for tea), and finally to the light eight at Welwyn, where difficulty was encountered with very low sallies.

Credit is due to the younger generation for their excellent striking on these varied bells. Fred Maynard and Harry Rumens, Master and secretary respectively, both with well over 50 years' ringing service behind them, were game to the last, climbing ladders and stairs at all eight of the nine towers with 'upstairs' ringing chambers.

Thanks are given to incumbents for permission to ring their bells, to all those who welcomed us, and to P. Chapman and H. Rumens, the organisers. A. B.

PRESTBURY

Prestbury, Glos, ringers had their second half-day outing this year on September 13th. Towers visited were Haresfield, to get the organiser a new tower—a rare event now; Standish, Stonehouse—where an excellent tea was had before ringing, Woodchester and finally Stroud. It was one of the very few bright afternoons, and so with our usual good fortune on these trips a good time was had by all. Ringing ranged from rounds to Cambridge Minor on the sixes, and there was a good course of Grandsire Caters at Stroud besides some Stedman Triples and Bob Major. There was a secret arrangement which led to Mr. B. D. getting up all five tenors, and Miss W. B. letting them all down, and it worked out quite well!

FROM HUTTON (ESSEX) TO KENT

On August 30th a handful of ringers from All Saints', Hutton, strengthened by the addition of a ringer of some 50 years' experience from the neighbouring Brentwood, embarked at Tilbury for a voyage to Kent. Safely on dry land again at Gravesend, we hastened in our two cars to Snodland where, with the help of two members of the local band, we made a very pleasant start on the day's ringing. Thence to Ulcombe, with its considerably heavier six, on to anti-clockwise Pluckley and on again, despite growing demands of the inner man, to reach Willesborough in time to avoid clashing with a wedding. We had felt some qualms about including this last-named tower in our itinerary, having read in a recent article in 'The Ringing World' about its high standard of ringing; our young host was very tolerant, however, and we hope our efforts were not too unworthy.

From this point the timing of our programme was more leisurely, and we relaxed for a picnic lunch by the banks of the swollen River Stour before continuing our journey to Charing, where once again we met with a most friendly welcome. The next tower, Hollingbourne, gave us the heaviest but by no means the hardest ringing of the day, and it was difficult to realise that this tenor of 21 cwt. was more than double the weight of the tenor at Shorne, which was the seventh and last tower of our little excursion.

Our grateful thanks are due to all—whether Men of Kent or Kentish Men—who made this most enjoyable day possible. W. G. W.

GUILDFORD GUILD HONOUR RETIRING OFFICERS

Guildford Diocesan Guild at their annual dinner held at the Stoke Hotel, Guildford, on October 4th, and attended by a company of 171 ringers and friends, had as their special guests four of the retiring officers and their wives. They were Mr. Albert Harman, Master; Mr. G. L. Grover, hon. secretary and treasurer; Miss Winifred Oliver, assistant hon. secretary; Mr. Leslie Hunter, hon. auditor.

Bishop B. M. Dale, the assistant bishop, presided over a typical family gathering, supported by the Master (Mr. C. W. Denyer), with Mr. F. E. Collins, Master of the Surrey Association, as toastmaster and M.C. Apologies were received from Messrs. H. V. Young and Arthur Smith (Leatherhead), Roy Collins (Chobham) and the Rev. and Mrs. H. E. Gant (Binsted).

The toast of 'The memory of J. S. Goldsmith (first hon. secretary of the Guild) and members of the Guildford Guild' was drunk in silence, the toast being proposed by the Master. Specially remembered were Reg Lathbury (Walton-on-Thames), Bob Whittington (Cranleigh), William Denyer (Aldershot) and Mr. Warner (St. Nicolas', Guildford) who died in the past year.

RING FOR LAY PEOPLE AND BISHOPS

Mr. T. W. White proposed the toast of 'The Guildford Diocese.' Replying, Bishop Dale said: 'What I want to say on behalf of the Bishop of the Diocese and on behalf of the clergy is thank you very much, because you do so much for the Church in a wonderful way. You ring not only for lay people but bishops. When on a dark night I am trying to find a little parish church and get completely lost, I stop my car and engine, stick my head out and find my way by the sound of the bells.'

The retiring officers were honoured on the call of Major E. J. Bragg, and he recalled the confidence of the whole Guild in their services, as for the last ten years or more each district had unanimously nominated them and no other names had been put forward. 'We are very pleased to have them as our guests, as for many years they had done the bulk of the work.'

They welcomed their new officers. Mr. Denyer had taken over from Mr. Harman, Mr. Russell from Mr. Grover, Miss Hyde from Miss Oliver and Mr. George Brown from Mr. Hunter. 'The skies over this Guild are clear; everything is going on swimmingly, but we must remember that the new officers will be feeling their way through a certain amount of fog, and they are lucky in having the old officers with their experience behind them.'

The toast was acknowledged by Miss Oliver. She said she had a plant at home which she daily fed with ginger and sugar. She felt that if members fed their Guild with the ginger of enthusiasm and the sugar of goodwill it would remain, as her plant, a constant source of delight.

Mr. M. Lesiter (Aldershot) proposed 'The Ladies and Guests.' He had a special word of welcome to Mr. Stirling, who was shortly to be married to Miss Hancock, and on behalf of the company wished them every joy and happiness.

Miss Hancock (Ottershaw) and the Rev. E. A. Gardiner (rector of Seale) replied.

The speeches were followed by an entertainment given by the Gay Debonairs, from Croydon Parish Church.

As in past years, the tables were beautifully decorated with flowers provided by Mr. A. Harman, who was thanked by the Master. Flowers were presented to Mrs. Grover, Miss Oliver, Mrs. Hunter, Miss Hancock and Mrs. Denyer. Chocolates were presented to Mrs. Harman. A happy evening concluded with the singing of 'Auld Lang Syne.'

GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL

The autumn quarterly meeting of the Swindon Branch was held at Purton and attracted a good number of ringers. One of the Association's peal books was on view, and admiration was expressed at the beautiful work of Mr. A. E. Reeves, former peal secretary, and Mr. F. G. Wilton, the present secretary. Dr. H. Craig presided at the short business meeting, and towers suggested for the next three meetings were Highworth, Wroughton, and Christ Church, Swindon. Ringing took place at Lydiard Millicent after tea, and a good variety of methods was rung, including Hull and London Surprise Minor.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD
West Dorset Branch

The Branch held its quarterly meeting at Hawkchurch on September 27th. Attendance was 27. The Rev. P. Smith (Vicar of Hawkchurch) conducted the service, Canon C. C. Cox read the lesson and Mrs. Smith accompanied the hymn singing. Tea was provided by the P.C.C. and served by Mr. L. Hayball and ladies. At the business meeting the secretary explained why the annual meeting of the Branch had been brought forward from the first Saturday in December to November 29th, to be held at Bridport. The secretary also told the meeting that he had heard from the general secretary regarding the Central Council's survey of church bell-ringers, and was putting in into operation in West Dorset.

Canon Cox informed the meeting that the time had come when he must inform the Branch that he would not be offering himself for re-election as Branch chairman. This news was received with regret by all, and a short silence followed.

Quite a lively discussion took place on Branch meetings and ringing together of call-change ringers and method ringers. This discussion was started by the Rev. P. Smith, who said he might move a motion on this subject at the annual.

Ringing included Grandsire, Stedman, Bob Doubles, London, Cambridge, Double Court, St. Clement's and Bob Minor.

Another Good Six-Bell Ring Rededicated In Hampshire

A LARGE congregation filled Binsted (Hants) Parish Church and bell-ringing enthusiasts from a wide area were also drawn to the church on September 27th, when the recently restored and recast bells of the ring of six were rung for the first time and were dedicated by the Bishop of Southampton (the Rt. Rev. K. E. N. Lamplugh).

As the procession returned to the chancel the bells were rung in rounds by Binsted ringers: Mrs. Gant 1, Miss V. White 2, Mrs. White 3, Miss G. Stretton 4, Mrs. R. Corke 5, Mr. P. Knight 6.

Mr. J. P. Fidler represented Messrs. John Taylor and Co., the bell-founders who carried out the recasting and rehanging in the new frame.

After the service some 80 or more parishioners and friends gathered in the Wickham Institute, where an excellent tea was served by members of the Mothers' Union and where the afternoon's rejoicing was in some measure qualified by a formal ceremony of farewell to the Rev. H. E. and Mrs. Gant.

Between 40 and 50 ringers travelled to Binsted to 'try' the new bells, and all were delighted with their sweet tones and their easy handling.

THE RINGING WORLD

OFFICIAL JOURNAL OF THE CENTRAL COUNCIL OF CHURCH BELL RINGERS

'The Ringing World' was founded in the year 1911 by John Sparkes Goldsmith, who remained its proprietor and editor until his death in 1942.

No. 2481. Vol. LIV. FRIDAY, OCTOBER 17, 1958 Registered at the G.P.O. for transmission as a newspaper. 6d.

PAYING THE FOOTING

IN my early ringing days I longed for the time to come when I should be called upon to rise and set a bell in full view of a large company of ringers on practice night. As a general rule schoolboys were not considered strong enough to undertake ringing, and would be entrants of any age were often subjected to long waits before a vacancy arose—a state of affairs which discouraged many who desired to become ringers.

Having accomplished the test of pulling up a bell and making a gentle set, I was asked when I proposed to 'pay my footing,' which was certainly something new to me. On the walls were notices saying that a fine of one penny would be imposed if more than five minutes late for any ringing, a like amount if entering the ringing chamber with your hat on, and sixpence if you overturn a bell, but nothing about paying footing of any kind. The next day I asked dad about it, and was told to 'leave it to me,' so whether he paid my footing or not I never knew.

This 'pay your footing' scheme seems to have originated some 180 years ago, when so many people wanted to learn ringing that a scale of fees had to be imposed to stem the rush of recruits. It is sad to think that in these days ringers are fewer in numbers and many bells are silent through various causes.

Footing scales seem to have varied considerably from time to time, and some of them appear to be excessive compared with wages and prices operating close on two centuries ago. One scale starts with 1s. on setting a bell, 1s. 6d. when ringing with six, with 2s. 6d. on ringing with eight. The next step is the privilege of ringing for service, for which 3s. 6d. would be charged, followed by 5s. when appointed a service ringer with a salary. Then comes 2s. 6d. on ringing for a wedding, and a similar amount for the first funeral. Provision was also made for the first ring of five, which cost 2s., and when the first 500 changes were recorded this privilege meant 5s. Even the first half-peal was costly, and 10s. had to be found, but the final footing was even more when the first full peal was rung, because 15s. became due.

These scales seemed to have varied considerably in different parts of the country, and in some cases the charges for footing were not printed or written but just decided among the older ringers of the band. Paid ringers were often allocated a certain bell on appointment, and were not allowed to change until prospects of promotion came their way. These and many other hole-in-corner rules could be made or altered according to varying circumstances, and this resulted in keeping away from the tower those who had a keen desire to become ringers.

To pay one's footing means paying money on doing anything for the first time, and I wonder what the present-day ringer would say or think if he or she were called upon to pay any one of these items in the scale!

I like to look back on some old ringing customs which history has given us, not for the purpose of finding fault with certain bands whose conduct caused all ringers to be branded alike, and of which we are too often reminded, but to try and realise more fully how great has been the work of our Guilds, Associations and Societies since their inception. Such a custom as paying one's footing and probably not knowing where the money went, is one of the undesirable systems which prevailed at a certain period —now relics of the past.

I often look at a certificate at home which is dated September 18th, 1900, the date I was made a member of the College Youths. Four well-known names appear on the certificate, viz., E. P. O'Meara, W. T. Cockerill, J. R. Sharman and W. H. Pasmore, all well-known ringing friends. I had to qualify for membership by ringing a quarter peal, a half peal and a full peal before this certificate was presented to me in my home tower without payment for footing, postage or anything else—a fine incentive to push forward with ringing after years of gradual but thorough training for which I am still thankful.

The total amount of money chargeable to a ringer under the scale quoted above is £2 10s., which is a considerable sum to pay for becoming a ringer of full standing in local circles, and undoubtedly it often fulfilled its object of keeping many prospective ringers away from the tower when ringing was popular in town and village because of its regularity and various customs.

BELFRY GOSSIP

Prior to the peal at Whitnash, Leamington Spa, on October 4th, Mr. F. W. Hauley, who despite his 93 years is an active ringer, was present to send the band on their way, and rang the treble to 120 Grandsire Doubles. The peal was a birthday compliment to him.

The peal of Cambridge Surprise at Bushey on October 2nd was Mr. F. W. Brinklow's 300th peal of Surprise.

Organised by Mr. Addicott and Mr. Maycock, sen., the ringers of St. Margaret's, Whitnash, Leamington Spa, had a very pleasant ringing outing on September 20th, visiting Sherborne, Wellesbourne and Kineton.

Sir Gerard D'Erlanger, chairman of B.O.A.C., welcomed over 300 dancers to a barn dance in his huge 14th century barn, organised by ringers of Great Chart, Kent. A feature of the evening was the tunes rung by the handbell ringers of Wye.

The peal at Birstall, Yorks, on September 25th was arranged on the 87th birthday of Mr. 'Bill' Clark, who has been ringing at Birstall for 60 years and still enjoys ringing at his church. The band were pleased to see him still in good health, and wish him many more years of ringing.

A half-muffled quarter peal was rung at St. Alphege's, Canterbury, in memory of the Rt. Rev. G. K. Bell, the late Bishop of Chichester, who was interred at the Cathedral two days previously. It was afterwards found to be false owing to a miscalling. Special credit must go to Mark Roche—a member of the King's School Society—who covered extremely well, having only learnt to ring changes a week previously. Two other members of the same Society took part.

The many ringers who attended the funeral at Hinton-on-the-Green of Mr. John Thomas greatly appreciated the very kind hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Harris, who provided refreshments for the visitors. Mr. Harris is a ringer and churchwarden at Hinton.

Mrs. E. H. Simpson, who recently broke her leg, is, we learn, making a speedy recovery.

The ringer of the third bell in the peal of Grandsire Triples at Wigston Magna, Leics, on September 13th was Thos. Edward Harrold, not Mrs. as printed.

During a peal attempt at High Halden, Kent, recently, a certain rather portly gentleman's trousers showed an alarming tendency to slip down. As there were ladies present, the attempt came to an unusual and untimely end.

Sudden indisposition prevented Mrs. Daphne Cloke from standing in the peal attempt she had arranged at Hughenden, Bucks. The band would like to send their best wishes to Daphne for a speedy return to peal ringing.

The peal at East Grinstead was originally planned as a 21st birthday compliment to Miss Patricia M. Howard, a local ringer, but owing to the death of Dr. G. K. A. Bell, former Bishop of Chichester and president of the Sussex County Association, the bells were rung half-muffled to his memory.

While in Canada on holiday, where he is remaining until November 13th, Mr. Peter Crook, of Bolton, met an old Ipswich ringer, Mr. William C. Gillingham, who claimed that he was many years ago a ringer in Ipswich and that he had rung peals on six to 12 bells. He said his favourite method was Double Norwich Court Bob Major. Can any Ipswich veterans identify him?

MR. JOHN THOMAS: A MEMOIR OF AFFECTION

RINGERS throughout the country will have heard with regret of the death of Mr. John Thomas which occurred suddenly at Painswick, Gloucestershire, on September 20th.

The whole of Mr. Thomas' life was centred on bells and ringing. In his work as a bell-hanger for Messrs. Mears and Stainbank he had been all over the country, and during his long life he had helped many struggling rural bands when working in their district. He was born at Bristol on August 22nd, 1882, and so had just passed his 76th birthday. He was twice married, and by his first marriage he has a surviving daughter, son-in-law, and a grandson. His widow, Mrs. Amy Thomas, is very well known in many parts of the country.

John Thomas learned to ring in Bristol and must have been an enthusiast right from the start. In his later years he would often recall how his elder brother had said he would never make a ringer, but suddenly he saw the light of day and was able to ring. There were many good ringers in Bristol in those days, and an enthusiastic lad had every opportunity to know what good ringing was like, although there, as in most other places, the old hands were not willing to accept a youngster until he was proficient, however keen he might be.

His first peal was Stedman Triples on the back eight at St. Stephen's on Boxing Day, 1899, conducted by G. T. Daltry. Some 55 years later, on June 18th, 1955, he returned to this tower to call a peal of Stedman Caters—his 1,000th peal. In all, he rang 1,061 peals, his last being at Great Comberton on August 23rd, 1958, a peal in seven Minor methods, which he conducted.

A WONDERFUL EAR

It is possible to mention only a few of the many outstanding performances of a ringer as gifted as Mr. Thomas. He had a wonderful ear and was a wizard on handbells. A great deal of his ringing and conducting was done by ear alone. He was one of the few ringers able to ring two tower bells or four handbells. He never seemed to notice if a bell was odd-struck—he would have it in its place from the moment he pulled off in rounds.

His first Surprise peal, Superlative, was rung at All Saints', Bristol, on September 11th, 1901, and his first peal as conductor, seven extents of Bob Minor, at St. Luke's, Bristol, on February 7th, 1902. His first handbell peal, which was also the first handbell peal in Bristol, was Grandsire Caters rung in St. Stephen's tower on May 1st, 1902.

At Christ Church, Swindon, on September 23rd, 1902, he first called Holt's Original. At the time of his death he had called this masterpiece 49 times on tower bells and 49 times on handbells. He had looked forward to the 50 times each, and no doubt if he had achieved that pinnacle his active mind would have set him some other campanological target—such was the man.

On September 14th, 1903, Mr. Thomas took part in an historic peal—Stedman Caters at Exeter Cathedral — when the tenor was rung single-handed by William Pye, the only man to do so. This was rung as part of a week's peal-ringing with the famous Pye band.

At All Saints', Bristol, a peal of London Surprise Major was rung on December 29th, 1903, being the first in the method by all the band. This was an outstanding performance which has but rarely been achieved. The conductor was F. G. May (a relative of Peter May, the cricketer), who afterwards emigrated to Africa. In those days Mr. Thomas did a great deal of ringing with Mr. May, as he did with the late William A. Cave, J. A. Burford and many other noted Bristol men

On March 2nd, 1904, Mr. Thomas rang his first handbell peal as conductor—Holt's original; and for his 100th peal he called Thurstans' One-part on May 20th, 1905, at Long Ashton.

IN LONDON

In 1910 he left his native Bristol for the Metropolis to join the staff of Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, with whom he worked until his retirement after the second World War. As a first-class ringer he was immediately accepted into London ringing circles—an achievement in those days which speaks for itself. He lived at Edmonton and rang a great deal with Mr. James Parker. On October 31st, 1911, he took part in a peal of Stedman Cinques at Cornhill for the Ancient Society of College Youths, conducted by Richard F. Deal. He took part in 12,160 Bristol at Knebworth, Herts, on April 8th, 1912, conducted by G. N. Price. He was also in the first 'name' peal on 12—Stedman Cinques by the 'Johns,' conducted by John H. Cheesman (who also became a 1,000-pealer later). He rang a handbell peal of Stedman Cinques in Shoreditch belfry on November 13th, 1914, conducted by William Pye.

St. Clement Danes'

In the presence of the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh, St. Clement Danes' Church, the R.A.F. church, will be re-dedicated next Sunday.

The bells will be rung by a band associated with the R.A.F., consisting of E. A. Barnett, Air Ministry; A. W. Coles, ex-R.N.A.S. and R.A.F., North Mymms; Tom Cullingworth, ex-flight sgt., Maidstone; E. P. Duffield, ex-World War I second lieutenant, R.A.F., Colchester; F. I. Hairs, ex-mechanic, R.N.A.S., Titchfield, Hants; Wing-Comdr. J. S. Mason, R.A.F., North Coates; I. H. Oram, ex-junior technician, Lee; F. C. Price, ex-flying-officer, R.A.F., Hillingdon; J. G. A. Prior, ex-sgt. navigator, R.A.F.V.R., Balham; and H. C. Spencer, ex-R.F.C. pilot, King's Teignton, Devon.

His ringing career was interrupted by his war service, during which both his arms were broken. On February 8th, 1919, he called Holt's Original at Wiveliscombe, Somerset, to which the footnote reads: 'This peal was arranged for J. Thomas, R.A.E., who was in hospital at Taunton.'

Perhaps the performance of which he was most proud was the peal of Cambridge Maximus at St. Paul's on February 7th, 1925. He often spoke of the superb way in which Alfred B. Peck rang the tenor and Herbert Langdon the 11th, and one may be sure that as far as the light end was concerned John Thomas gave a good account of himself on the third.

In all these years Mr. Thomas continued his many journeys to different parts of the country in connection with his work, ringing a few peals when he could, although probably not as many as such a talented ringer would have done if he had worked in one place. So it was that by the time war broke out in 1939 he had rung 455 peals at the age of 57.

WAR-TIME HANDBELLS

It was at this time he really came into his own. During the dark days of the war he and Mrs. Thomas were ringing the occasional handbell peal, often joined by Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher who still lived at Enfield at that time. One of these war-time peals was Holt's Original, rung silent at the Whitechapel Foundry on November 8th, 1941, by Ernest C. S. Turner, Wilfred Williams, John Thomas and Donald G. Clift.

In 1943 the war-time ban on ringing was lifted, and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas started to teach a new band at Edmonton. At this point, as far as peal ringing was concerned, the floodgates really opened. First the name Albert J. Wallman appears in Mr. Thomas' peal book, quickly followed by Eric A. Dench, Victor R. Woodards, Dennis H. Langdon, Philip J. Coward and various others. These names were to appear in the columns of 'The Ringing World' week after week as yet more ringing milestones were passed. By the time Mr. Thomas moved away from Edmonton in December, 1946, his peal total had reached 688. In his quiet, modest way he was always proud of the wonderful achievements of his Edmonton youngsters, and not least when, with the assistance of Mr. C. W. Roberts, they rang Plain Bob 14-in on August 27th, 1944.

AMBITION ACHIEVED

For the last nearly 12 years of his life he lived at Hinton-on-the-Green, where in 1937 he had married his second wife. The visitors who came to Hinton during that time were many and various, but no ringer could ever fail to be welcome at No. 29, whether he was an expert or someone who had only started ringing the week before. Many peals were rung, both on handbells and at Hinton and other churches in the district. One of Mr. Thomas' ambitions was to ring peals in all the towers round Bredon Hill, and he was able to achieve this with his last peal.

Mr. Thomas took a full part in the life of the village, and especially the parish church where, under two different rectors, he and Mrs. Thomas were punctilious in their attendance. He was on the Parochial Church Council and, ever of a retiring disposition, he sought no praise for the work he did. Whenever there was a little job to be done—and he was very clever with his hands—he was there to do it. He had taken great interest in the family service each Sunday morning which was started a few weeks ago. Through the influence of Mr. Thomas the bells were rung regularly for this service, although the custom at Hinton has for years been to ring in the evenings only. Jack would have been thrilled to know that the morning after his death the eight bells were rung for this service. (Are there many villages of less than 200 population where such a thing would be possible?)

A great sorrow to Mr. Thomas was the untimely death in a flying accident in September, 1954, of Eric A. Dench, one of his Edmonton youngsters who had shown great promise as a ringer and conductor and had taken part in a great deal of first-class handbell ringing with Mr. and Mrs. Thomas. Eric had kept closely in touch with his old instructor and was a frequent visitor to Hinton whenever his duties would allow. On October 7th, 1954, Mr. Thomas called a half-muffled peal of Stedman Triples at Edmonton on the day of his funeral.

Amongst the peals Mr. Thomas rang in his later years was another 'John' peal—Cambridge Maximus at Croydon on April 21st, 1956. His 500th peal as conductor was a 7-method peal of Minor at Elmley Castle on September 1st, 1956. Altogether he called 515 peals including, very appropriately, his last. As recently as April 20th this year he rang a peal of 4-Spliced Surprise Major—no mean achievement for a man of over 75. He may well have been—with the exception of the late George Williams—the oldest man to ring a peal of Spliced.

So a great ringing career has come to an end. We shall all be the better for knowing Jack Thomas, a quiet, unassuming, friendly man with a dry turn of phrase, who never did a bad turn to anyone. Our great sympathy goes to his widow and his other loved ones, but we thank God for his life, and we know he rest sin peace.

MR. J. THOMAS — Continued

THE FUNERAL

The impressive and unforgettable funeral service took place in St. Peter's Church, Hinton-on-the-Green, conducted by the Rector (Rev. W. B. Chapman), assisted by the Rev. H. T. Heal, Vicar of Painswick, who read the lesson, the Rev. J. T. Hearne, Vicar of Childswyckham, and the Rev. A. Webb, vice-president of the Worcestershire and Districts Association, who led the prayers.

There was a representative congregation and ringers had turned up in large numbers. It would not be possible to mention everyone by name, but in addition to the widow and the many family mourners there were many village people from Hinton. Mr. Fred Leaker, from St. Mary Redcliffe, Bristol, who was at school with Jack, and Mr. Herbert W. Knight, of Wrington, who had known him since 1906, were present, together with Mr. A. A. Hughes, of Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, who had known him throughout his long years of service with the firm. Mr. George Golding, steeplekeeper at Painswick, Mr. J. T. Lock, secretary of the Middlesex County Association, of which Mr. Thomas had been Master during the latter part of his time in London, were present, as well as Mr. A. W. Coles and Mr. Alick Cutler, also representing the Middlesex Association. Mr. W. B. Cartwright, Master of the Worcestershire and Districts Association, sent a message but was unfortunately unable to be present.

The coffin had rested in church the previous night, and as the choir and clergy, followed by the family mourners, filed into their places, a solemn hush descended upon the full church. 'Jesu, lover of my soul,' the 23rd Psalm and 'Hark, my soul, it is the Lord' were sung fervently. The Rector spoke of the life-work of Mr. Thomas amongst bells and bell-ringing, and referred to his great devotion and service to Hinton Church. He offered comfort and consolation to the loved ones left behind, and ended his moving address with the quotation:

'So to Him he passed, but still unbroken,
Age to age lasts on that goodly line,
Whose true lives, more than all words spoken
Are earth's best witness to the grace Divine.'

As the singing of Nunc Dimittis concluded, the bearers, E. T. Newbury (Gloucester and Bristol Association), W. Newman (District secretary, Worcestershire and Districts), A. T. Brazier (Ringing Master, Worcestershire and Districts) and S. T. Holt (committee, Worcestershire and Districts) took up their stations. Slowly the procession moved from the church to the graveside where, almost in the shadow of the church, the Rev. F. C. Champion, former Rector of Hinton and known to readers of 'The Ringing World' for his occasional letters, recited the solemn words of committal. Over the open grave a course of Grandsire Triples was rung by Vivien Barnes 1-2, David Marshall 3-4, Joseph D. Johnson 5-6, Philip A. Corby 7-8.

The congregation dispersed to view the wealth of beautiful floral tributes which were lining the churchyard path. Wreaths had been sent by local bands at Cheltenham, Cirencester, Terrington St. John, Hampton and Studley, as well as Hinton P.C.C., the Middlesex and Worcestershire Associations, the Whitechapel Bell Foundry and very many others.

The whole-pull and stand was rung by the local ringers and other local friends. This was followed by a peal of Double Norwich Court Bob Major by a representative band, all of whom knew Jack intimately, including two of his brothers-in-law and a nephew. The composition was Jack's stock peal of Double Norwich to which he referred as 'Jimmy Hunt's peal.' It was a fitting finale to the day's solemn events.

CHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD

Barthomley's 50th Anniversary

A pleasant afternoon and evening was spent at Barthomley, Crewe, on September 27th, when ringers from the towers in the Crewe Branch celebrated the 50th anniversary of the rehanging of the existing six bells in a new frame, with the addition of two new ones, thus making a ring of eight bells.

A peal tablet hangs in the Barthomley tower, recording the 5,040 Grandsire Triples rung on September 26th, 1908, by ringers from Barthomley, Crewe and Alsager, all of whom have now passed on, the last one being Mr. Arthur Allman, of Barthomley, who died in March of this year. A note of interest is that Mr. Eric Allman, of Barthomley, and Mr. R. D. Langford, of Crewe, both of whom were present on Saturday, are sons of two of the ringers who took part in the peal 50 years ago.

Ringing commenced at 3 p.m. with touches of Grandsire, Stedman, Bob Major, Kent Treble Bob, Cambridge, Little Bob, and rounds for the learners. Tea was provided by the Barthomley ringers at the White Lion Hotel, and was greatly appreciated by all present.

Mr. R. D. Langford, in a short speech, said that in 1908 he had just commenced to learn change-ringing. He spoke of the ringers of that time, and the great interest it created in ringing circles when Barthomley decided to increase the ring of bells from six to eight, rehanging them in a new frame. Further ringing took place after tea, bringing to an end a most enjoyable celebration.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

HAMPSHIRE'S UNRINGABLE BELLS

Dear Sir,—Close on 70 years have elapsed since the bells at St. Mary's, Sydmonton, were last rung; the six bells, by Mears and Stainbank, were hung when the church was first built by the Kingsmill family in 1869. Very little ringing was done on them mainly due to the situation of the church, which is an isolated hamlet with a few cottages, two farms and the big house in whose grounds the church stands.

The writer's first connection with these bells began some ten years ago when, after obtaining permission from the Vicar, who is also Vicar of Ecchinswell, he and a friend were allowed to inspect the bells, and despite the fact that the birds had been in residence for some 60 years, leaving bells and frame literally covered, it was our firm conviction that the bells could be rung.

On our next visit we were armed with ropes and spanners, but the Vicar absolutely refused permission to ring on the grounds that the bells were unsafe. The late Col. Kingsmill was then approached with no better results, and he confirmed the Vicar's words that the bells were unsafe. It seemed that Sydmonton bells were to remain unrngable until the tower fell down, but after a further ten years a change of vicar took place. Following our success in ringing the bells of Hurstbourne Priors for the first time after 45 years of silence, it was decided to approach the new Vicar of Ecchinswell with a view to a further inspection.

However, it seemed that we were once again doomed to disappointment, as the Vicar felt as his predecessor that it would not be wise to ring the bells; but after some further correspondence he thought it would be in everybody's interests to get in touch with the present Col. Kingsmill and hear his views. The Colonel was most interested, and the following Saturday found three of us at Sydmonton complete with spanners, ropes and oil, where we were met by the Colonel.

Since our last visit somebody had removed the debris of years and the birds had been wired out, and we had little difficulty in fixing ropes, oiling and pulling each of the bells up singly, the 'go' being far better than had been expected. There was still some doubt about the safety of the frame and supporting beams, and a further appointment was arranged when the church architect and a representative of the bell-hangers would be present.

On June 28th, in company with a successful peal band who had just rung a peal at Kingsclere, the full six were rung for the first time in living memory, and Mr. Hughes, of Mears and Stainbank, and the church architect gave them the O.K. for ringing. There is considerable movement of the frame, but other than this and the third tending to slip wheel the bells go reasonably well and are undoubtedly one of the prettiest sixes in Hampshire.

A peal attempt was arranged for October 5th, but owing to a breakdown of one of the cars bringing three of the ringers, it had to be postponed until a later date. Ringing, however, took place by visiting ringers who had come to listen, and arrangements are already under way for the forming of a local band to man the bells of the two churches of Ecchinswell and Sydmonton.

It is hoped to hold a meeting here in January, when visiting ringers wishing to try the bells will be welcome: a notice will appear in 'The Ringing World.'—Yours sincerely,

GEOFFREY K. DODD.

Woolton Hill, Hants.

DOUBLES RINGING

Dear Sir,—I find in 'The Ringing World' during the past year or so many articles criticising Doubles and the different Doubles methods. There seems to be a circle of ringers who constantly make scapegoats out of those who ring Doubles methods

From the short time I have spent in the Exercise I find myself constantly confronted by the fact that there is much more Doubles ringing on a Sunday compared with the number of 5- and 6-bell towers in existence than Triples and Major, and there are less 5- and 6-bell towers silent or partly silent than 8-, 10- or 12-bell towers on Sundays.

If this be a feather in the cap of Doubles ringers then it is instantly pulled out by such articles as appeared on page 611 of the 'R.W.' on September 19th. I took part in the peal of Doubles at Kislingbury and I have no complaints to make of a fine 21-methods peal.

It was an excellently-struck peal and was enjoyed by all, even though for some of us it meant no tea and a 20-mile cycle ride after nine hours' work in a factory.

Therefore, let us have less 'nosey-parker' and 'idle-critical' letters by this circle of ringers, and let them pull their weight half as much as everyone in that peal did.—Yours faithfully,

TERRY M. HAINES.

Maulton, Northants.

THE VISITOR'S THANKS

Dear Sir,—I should like, through the medium of 'The Ringing World,' to express my grateful thanks to the band of ringers who rang for morning service at St. Giles-in-the-Fields on Sunday, October 5th.

Many times have I visited London, including a week's stay in Westminster, walking many miles to various churches only to find that practice nights were not in accordance with the church notices.

I was, indeed, very thankful to meet with such cordiality in recording my first ring in London, and very sorry at not being able to stay and ring a 'quarter.'—Yours faithfully,

F. BRUNT.

Thrybergh, Yorks.

HESTON'S CHALLENGE

Dear Sir,—From time to time we read in 'The Ringing World' about the shortage of Sunday service ringers in some towers.

We at St. Leonard's, Heston, are rather fortunate in this respect. On Sunday, September 28th, for harvest thanksgiving services we rang two quarter peals, one morning and one for evening service, with two entirely different bands, both attached to our tower.

It would be interesting to hear if any other tower can call on two separate Triples bands attached to their own tower.—Yours sincerely,

W. W. WEBB.

Heston, Middlesex.

OBITUARY

MR. HENRY DEW

Ringers in Chester, Bishop's Stortford and Malvern Link, Worcestershire, will regret to learn of the death on September 29th of Mr. Henry Dew, aged 84 years.

His first ringing activities were with the Chester Diocesan Guild at St. Mary's-without-the-Walls, Chester, in 1893, when he was associated with the late Mr. H. W. Wilde.

Mr. Dew was then with Messrs. Douglas, Minshull and Muspratt, architects, and in 1911 he left to join the New River Company in London, on whose staff he served until his retirement in 1941.

After staying a short time in London, he went to live at Bishop's Stortford, Herts, and for many years was Master of the ringers at St. Michael's Church. Towards the end of the last war he moved to Malvern Link and became associated with St. Matthias' and the Priory Church.

An enthusiastic ringer, he always succeeded in attracting a goodly number of young ringers.

MR. JOHN L. MORRIS

Dear Sir,—May I add my tribute to John Morris. As Frank Knight says in his appreciation, one wonders why such a sincere, modest and understanding person as John has to be taken from us. I shall always remember with gratitude his help and encouragement during my stay in the London area, particularly the Saturday afternoon tours and my first attempt to conduct a peal.—Yours sincerely,

JOHN R. KETTERINGHAM.

HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION

St. Albans District

The September meeting of the St. Albans District was held at Harpenden on September 20th, with a very good attendance of 34. Ringing commenced soon after 3 p.m. and continued until the service at 4.30 which was taken by the Rector (Rev. P. Bradshaw), with Mrs. J. Dodds at the organ.

The local band prepared and served tea in the Rector's Room. A business meeting followed, with Mr. A. Day, of Harpenden, in the chair. Four new members were elected, three being from the local tower. The Secretary said he hoped to arrange the October meeting at St. Stephen's, St. Albans.

Methods rung ranged from rounds to Bristol. Visitors from Surrey and Birmingham were present. M. A. C.

Northern District

The weather was not at all suitable for a meeting at Great Wymondley on October 4th. There was torrential rain and a thunderstorm, so attendance was poor.

The bells were soon ringing in defiance of the storm, and the second method to be called up was London Surprise. An ample tea was enjoyed at the Green Man. The next meeting will be at Royston, from 5.30 to 8.30 p.m. only.

Further ringing followed; methods included London, York and the special method, Burnaby Delight. J. S.

Ashford District Annual

The stormy weather cleared sufficiently to enable some 45 ringers and friends to meet at Folkestone for the annual meeting of the Ashford District on October 4th.

The Vicar (Rev. D. F. Hough) gave a thoughtful address on the fellowship of ringers at the service, which was a more than ordinarily happy one. Mr. J. Willis read the lesson and Mr. W. Chandler, captain of the Cheriton ringers, was organist.

Tea in the Church Hall was generously given by the local band and served by their ladies.

At the business meeting, under the chairmanship of Mr. Willis, the secretary reported that so far 130 members had subscribed from 20 towers. The average attendance at the eight meetings was 35. Sixteen peals had been rung, two of which were conducted by local ringers for the first time as conductors. He reported with pleasure on the industry with which ringers at Great Chart had set about the task of raising £1,300, needed to restore their bells. The report and balance sheet were adopted.

Mr. C. T. Hillis and Mr. J. R. Cooper were re-elected as secretary and Ringing Master respectively, and Mr. A. Berry, of Folkestone, and Mr. J. Batchelor, of Little Chart, are the District representatives. Three new members joined the Association.

The secretary bleated about the question of notification for teas, but as none of the offenders appeared to be present it was agreed to take a leaf out of the Canterbury District's book and adopt a firmer line in future. The chairman dealt gently but firmly with one or two 'non sequiturs,' and on a motion from Mr. Cullingworth a vote of thanks was passed to those who had helped to make the meeting such a happy one, especially Mr. Whittaker, secretary of the Folkestone band, who had made all the arrangements. LEEDS & DISTRICT SOCIETY

Thorner bells, visited by the Leeds and District Society for their September meeting, were found not particularly easy to handle, but a variety of Minor methods was rung throughout the afternoon and evening. It was pleasing to note the progress being made in method ringing by some of the younger members, most of whom were schoolgirls. An excellent tea was provided by Mr. and Mrs. E. Hartley in their own home, and the secretary had some scathing remarks to make to those who had 'forgotten' to order their tea. The business meeting was held in the churchyard, where the midges saw to it that there was no prolonged discussion.

The next meeting will be held on October 25th, but the place has not yet been decided upon.

GUILD of DEVONSHIRE RINGERS

East Devon Branch

A quarterly meeting was held at Hemyock on September 20th, and about 30 ringers and friends attended. The service which was held in the parish church was conducted by the president, the Rev. Preb. E. V. Cox.

At the business meeting Mr. G. C. Woodley took the chair. Ten new members were elected and certificates were presented by the president to nine members, six coming from Hemyock. It was proposed to hold the next quarterly meeting at Feniton with ringing after at Buckerell.

The bells were rung before and after the service, the methods rung being Grandsire, Stedman and Plain Bob Doubles, Plain Bob, Minor and Kent and Oxford Treble Bob Minor.

ELY DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION DINNER

The Ely Diocesan Association's dinner this year was held at Huntingdon on September 27th. In the afternoon three peals were attempted, two being successful—a peal in 21 Doubles methods at Litlington and Stedman Triples scored at St. Neots, the peal being rung as a compliment to G. C. Galley, a resident member who was ordained deacon at Norwich Cathedral the Sunday previous, and also to Mr. and Mrs. S. Hawksford, of St. Neots, who celebrated their diamond wedding on September 20th. In the third attempt, Surprise Minor at Godmanchester was unsuccessful.

All Saints' bells were in use before members made their way to the All Saints' Hall, where the dinner was held. The Hunts District president was chairman and the guests were the Mayor and Mayoress of Huntingdon (Cclr. and Mrs. F. W. Saunders), the Vicar of St. Neots (Canon L. Galley) and the Vicar of Godmanchester (Rev. R. W. Edwards).

The chairman (Rev. J. M. E. Bagley) proposed the loyal toast, and then welcomed everybody to the dinner. The Mayor proposed 'The Ely Diocesan Association,' to which Mr. H. S. Peacock replied. Mr. F. W. Lack proposed 'The Church' and the Rev. R. W. Edwards replied.

The evening finished up with selections on handbells.

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION

Eastern District At Hedon

When the autumn meeting of the Eastern District was held at Hedon on October 6th, Mr. A. E. Sellers (vice-president), who presided at the business meeting, referred to the passing of Mr. A. H. Fox, who was for some years a vice-president of the Association. He spoke of Mr. Fox's work for ringing and of his being organist at Kirk Ella for 51 years. The company of over 40 stood for a few moments to his memory.

The secretary (Mr. H. S. Morley) read a letter from Mrs. Fox on behalf of her daughter and herself, thanking the secretary for his letter of sympathy.

Mr. C. C. Brown, of Cottingham, was elected a member. An invitation to hold the next meeting at Goole on December 20th was unanimously accepted. Votes of thanks were passed to the Vicar who conducted the service, those responsible for the tea, and the local company. In his reply the Vicar assured the District that they were always welcome, and hoped they would come again soon. Mr. Hunter also replied.

No fewer than 14 towers were represented. Hedon Church is known locally as the 'King of Holderness,' and good use was made of the handy ring of eight until 8 p.m.

SILVER WEDDING CELEBRATIONS

Our report of the peal at Leatherhead on September 6th in honour of the silver wedding anniversaries of Mr. A. H. Winch (September 2nd) and Mr. A. R. Pink (September 7th) is belated owing to the original having been lost in transmission. On September 2nd, 1933, Mr. Pink conducted the peal for Mr. Winch's wedding, in which stood Mr. Albert Harman and Mr. Arthur Smith. It added to the enjoyment to have them ringing in the celebration peal 25 years after, when the same composition of Mr. George H. Cross was used.

A dinner was held after the peal, which was attended by the band and also by Mrs. Winch and Mrs. Pink, together with 'the reserves'—Miss Pat Smee and Mr. George Marriner. Altogether it was a successful and memorable day.

TRURO DIOCESAN GUILD

Ringing Festival At Callington

The bells of St. Mary's Church, Callington, Cornwall, were rung on September 27th for the half-yearly festival of the South East Branch of the Guild.

The ringing session was opened by St. Mary's ringers, who were followed by teams from Calstock, Lezant, Landulph, Menheniot and Kenwyn, Truro. During an interval a service was conducted by the Rev. H. E. Southgate (Saltash) and the lesson was read by the Rev. C. H. York (Lezant). Mr. Henry Chapple was the organist.

Tea was provided by the ladies of St. Mary's Church. Among those present were Mr. A. Carveth (president), the Ringing Master, Mr. W. H. Southeard (vice-president) and Mr. James Phillip, of London.

Arrangements were made by Mr. H. J. Clark (assistant Ringing Master), who has been the Branch secretary for 30 years.

BATH AND WELLS DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

Taunton Deanery Meeting

Ringers from many towers in the district travelled to Fitzhead for the Taunton Deanery autumn meeting on September 20th. The Association service was conducted by the Rev. Mr. Chamberlain, who also presided at the business meeting held in the Tithe Barn, after the ringers had enjoyed a tea prepared by the local ladies.

At the meeting two new members were elected —Miss Ruth Chick, of Rockwell Green, and Mrs. S. G. Williams, of Sampford Arundel. Mrs. Williams informed the meeting that the new treble bell which was being installed in Sampford Arundel tower was being dedicated on Thursday, December 11th, and that on the following Saturday (December 13th) there would be an open ringing day to which all ringers would be welcomed.

The members present agreed that the secretary should send a greetings telegram to the Master on the occasion of his wedding at Exford. After the usual vote of thanks, the ringers returned to the tower to continue ringing until 9 p.m. Visitors were present from places as far afield as Bampton, Bridgwater and Guildford (Surrey). F. W. ESSEX ASSOCIATION

Orsett's Young Ringers

On September 13th, in brilliant sunshine, the South Western Division met at Orsett for the first time for over 30 years. There has been very little ringing here since before the war owing to the bad 'go' of the bells; however, earlier in the year they were rehung by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, and are now a most handy six. Between 40 and 50 ringers attended the service and afterwards sat down to tea in the Church Hall. Canon Stafford Morris welcomed us to his church, and said he hoped to have the pleasure of entertaining the Association again.

Ten young people are now learning to ring at Orsett, and on September 27th Mr. and Mrs. Fred Blatch took them on their first outing. They visited four 6-bell towers in mid-Essex (North Weald, Matching, Moreton and Fyfield). As some wit said: 'Matching were more than a match for us'; but everyone certainly enjoyed both the tea and the ringing at Fyfield. None of our young people had ever rung away from their home tower before, and to see them handling bells very different to those on which they had learnt spoke well for the instruction they had received. MANCHESTER UNIVERSITY TOUR

HAVING left its webbed feet behind, a select group met for the Manchester University Guild tour at Oxford Youth Hostel on Sunday, July 6th, when the member of the Railwaymen's Guild was heard stoutly defending his employers against two-on-a-tandem who had boarded a non-stop express to London in the hope that it would stop at Oxford.

On Monday we left the city of dreaming spires for the well-known ten at Appleton. After we had rung up the back six very badly, the twins arrived on the all-male tandem (having cycled through most of the night) and we graduated to Bristol and Grandsire Caters. A hot, sunny ride brought us to Buckland (8, 14 cwt.), where just after the Guild's visit in 1955 the seventh became cracked. ('Cause' and 'Effect'?) Stedman just would not come round, but the lady tandemist came round to her partner's viewpoint as to the correct route, resignedly remarking: 'He's always right — that's the trouble!' However, Stedman and Superlative did come round on the lovely eight at Farringdon. After the inevitable photograph-taking, we perspired to Lechlade to ring (?) T.B. Minor. At Inglesham Y.H. we awaited a late meal of shredded carrots, dumplings and suet pudding.

The next day Cambridge and Bristol were rung on the finely-toned eight at Highworth, and at Stratton St. Margaret's a successful 'first touch' of Yorkshire, but not of 4-Spliced, Surprise. Following the traditional picnic lunch, we were joined by local ringers at Christ Church, Swindon, for Bristol, Grandsire Caters and Cambridge Royal. Two short touches at St. Mark's, and away we hurried to Chiseldon for our first courses of York and London on this 14¼ cwt. six. During supper at Marlborough hostel, the 'mixed' tandem arrived after suffering three punctures in Swindon—at least, that was the explanation offered for not seeing the young couple for four hours!

On Wednesday morning, Margaret assured us that she woke up and heard herself talking in her sleep. The irrepressible tower-grabbers, having snatched the new six at Mildenhall the previous evening, were unsuccessful at Preshute, and rejoined the party in some well-struck Cambridge at St. Mary's, Marlborough. After repairing a puncture outside Savernake A.A. box, the twins waited half-an-hour in vain for a passing cyclist from whom they could borrow a pump connector. On deciding to push the tandem, a garage was found, not 200 yards away! London on the 13 cwt. eight at Hungerford was followed by Grandsire and Stedman Caters and K.T.B. Royal on the fine 22 cwt. ten at Newbury. Seven hot miles away Kingsclere's 17 cwt. six awaited us: both tandems had breakdowns, and Jim heroically ran a shuttle service to and from Newbury with 'spares.'

CHAOS AT HURSTBOURNE-PRIORS

On Thursday we left Hannington hostel for the 10½ cwt. octave at Overton, to ring, amongst other things, Overton (or Capel) T.B. Minor. The lovely church at Laverstoke (6, 11 cwt.) followed. After a picnic lunch at Whitchurch, we also enjoyed London and Bristol. At the next tower, Hurstbourne-Priors, we never even finished the first lead—in spite of five attempts. (The 18 cwt. six were considered unpealable, until a well-known 'heavy-going tenor' specialist disproved it three months earlier.) We were glad to get to Winchester and the hostel—the old mill astride the river—in whose water the men had to wash.

Tandem trouble on Friday meant 'Minor only' at Twyford, and the hot sun perhaps contributed to the indifferent striking of Plain Bob and D.N.C.B. Caters on the light ten at North Stoneham. 'Fred,' who had followed us unflinchingly, now took charge as navigator to and in Southampton. After a circuitous journey, he 'led us properly up the path'—to St. Michael's Church, instead of to our picnic lunch venue. Well-fed, we returned to discover that we could not obtain the keys to the tower and so, disappointed, we found the other ten (21¼ cwt.) at St. Mary's. The last tower of the day was the light eight at Bitterne Park. A 12 miles' ride, timed to coincide perfectly with the So'ton rush-hour, ensued to the gas-lit hostel at Gosport.

We crossed by ferry under a threatening sky to Portsmouth to meet Mr. York-Bramble, who after a brief tour of the Cathedral, joined us for Cambridge Royal and a disastrous course of Double Norwich Caters. A late start at Portsea left little time for lunch before reaching Havant, where we were met by local ringers and the Vicar. A good touch of 'Spliced' preceded a fast nine miles to our second cathedral —Chichester. Refreshments in a cafe (whose female clientele attracted much attention from one of our members, to the embarrassment of his brother) were needed for the ride to Arundel hostel.

On Sunday, our 'free' day, some went in the pouring rain for service ringing at Arundel, and others to Lyminster, where they were allowed to ring a peal in the afternoon.

BRIGHTON'S OCTOGENARIAN

The old church at Shoreham was our first call on Monday, and after the customary lunch we turned about for the 25 cwt. ten at St. Peter's, Brighton, for Caters. At the sister ten at St. Nicholas', we were met by that fine octogenarian, Mr. H. C. Stalham, who showed us that age is no deterrent to ringing Superlative(ly).

Tuesday found us at Lewes, and later at Seaford, where Carol's voracious appetite for cube sugar earned her the title of 'Sugar Lump Fairy'; she acquired another one at Eastbourne (fortunately unprintable) in a clash with the 'enfants terribles.' At St. Mary's, the clapper of the seventh had come out and we had to ring the front six, with and without the tenor covering. Christ Church was found with difficulty, 20 minutes late. Night was spent at the palatial hostel at Alfriston.

Wednesday dawned, and we journeyed inland to Hailsham and Mayfield. A non-readdressed letter resulted in our arriving at Rotherfield unaware that the seventh's shaft had broken: however, a repeat performance of Minor on 1234568 was given. A hearty ringers' tea well fortified us for the 12-mile hop into Kent at Goudhurst and the haunted hostel of Twissenden Manor.

A CASUALTY

Nine miles, hot sunshine, coffee and a shockingly bad rise on the 22¼ cwt. eight at Biddenden—no wonder Margaret's tyre was again flat when we left for our picnic lunch! At Ashford, a local girls' school choir was soon dispersed and the bells going to Bristol. Chilham, on a beautiful day, provided us with our last eight of the tour for Yorkshire and London S. Major. When leaving the village, George suddenly and inexplicably flew off the handlebars and landed bicycle uppermost. A local doctor prescribed a night's rest in hospital. In the subsequent upset and delay, the next tower had to be missed, so Neil dashed off to Chartham to explain our non-arrival and tender our apologies to the rector, who (at his own insistence) came to Chilham to see what help he could give, and (at our insistence) to join us for tea. The sound of five bells caused an unexpected call at Thanington on 'Open Night' before we ended our 10-day pilgrimage, appropriately, at Canterbury Cathedral, with Bristol, Grandsire Caters and Cambridge Royal.

The next morning we went our various ways with many memories of the tour, each wishing to thank our many hosts, the incumbents and local ringers. We thank, too, Barrie Hendry, for successfully mastering the ringers, and our tour secretaries, Carol Eustace and Margaret Ross, for doing the 'reeling, writhing and arithmetic.'

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION

Annual Meeting In Six-Bell Towers

A BREAK in tradition was made for the autumn meeting of the Association held on September 20th, when for the first time in many years, only 6-bell towers figured in the ringing programme. Boroughbridge was the venue proper, and good use was made of the musical rings at the neighbouring towers of Aldborough and Kirby Hill. The venture proved to be an outstanding success, and attracted a record post-war attendance for an autumn meeting.

The statutory meeting of the committee was held during the afternoon when, in the unavoidable absence of the president, Mr. V. Bottomley was elected to the chair. The service took place in St. James' Church, Boroughbridge, conducted by the Rev. C. A. Atherley, Vicar of Aldborough. An excellent tea followed at the Windmill Café, which also served as the venue for the business meeting at 6.15 p.m., by which time the president (Ven. C. O. Ellison) had arrived and took the chair, supported by the general secretary (Mr. L. W. G. Morris), the hon. treasurer (Mr. G. Benfield) and the hon. peal secretary (Mr. W. E. Critchley).

In greeting all present, the president expressed regret that other engagements had unfortunately prevented him from attending earlier. Apologies for absence were received from Messrs. H. S. Morley, J. J. L. Gilbert, R. Sutton, L. M. Woodhead, W. Barton and T. W. Strangeway.

A hearty vote of thanks to the incumbents of all three parishes was unanimously accorded on the motion of Mr. J. Ewbank, seconded by Mr. John Seager, and a similar vote of thanks to the respective local companies, and in particular to Mr. E. Hudson, on the motion of the general secretary, seconded by Mr. J. Gibson. In acknowledgment, Mr. Hudson said he would pass on the votes of thanks to all concerned, adding that he was amply repaid himself in seeing so many present.

It was unanimously decided to accept the committee's recommendation that the next meeting be held at Doncaster on January 17th, 1959. The president outlined arrangements for the Snowdon dinner to be held in Leeds, and appealed to members to ensure its success.

Mr. N. Chaddock gave a detailed summary of the survey he had conducted into the state of Sunday service ringing in Yorkshire. As anticipated, this showed that there was a tremendous leeway to make up, there being many towers without a regular band, and still many more with depleted bands. Copies of the findings had been circulated to all the District secretaries to enable them or the Districts concerned to take any appropriate action they might be able to. Mr. H. Walker moved and Mr. S. H. Steel seconded that a copy of the findings be sent to the appropriate Central Council committee for its use. This was carried unanimously, coupled with a vote of thanks to Mr. Chaddock for the zeal with which he had tackled so extensive an undertaking.

Mr. G. Benfield rose to say that very considerable expense must naturally be involved, and he therefore moved that Mr. Chaddock be reimbursed out-of-pocket expenses in connection with the survey. This was carried unanimously.

New members elected were Miss Iris Lemare (York Minster), Lawrence Sheard (Batley), Patricia Walker (Rotherham), Janet Meek, Jean Pemberton and Patricia Hartley (Harthill, Sheffield).

The president announced to the meeting that their hon. treasurer (Mr. Benfield) was leaving during the next week for a month's visit to the U.S.A., and felt sure all would join in wishing him well in every way. Mr. Benfield expressed his thanks for so very kind a send-off, and said that he was looking forward to the trip very much.

Further ringing was afterwards enjoyed at all the three towers.

OUTINGS

WORTH, SUSSEX

Organised by Mr. Jim Laker, Worth ringers had an outing on September 28th, when experience was gained by the band on bells to which they were unaccustomed.

At Hartfield (6, 12¼ cwt.) some good ringing on very pleasant bells was enjoyed. At Uckfield (8, 12 cwt.) they did better on the back six than on the full eight, in spite of the encouragement of two local ringers. Brede tower (6, 14 cwt.) was difficult to find and the bells difficult to manage. Tenterden bells (8, 30 cwt.) were perhaps a little difficult to handle, but the party were told they did better than some bands. Charing (6, 13¾ cwt.) also proved to be difficult to handle, but at Bearstead (6, 11 cwt) a well-struck course of Kent T.B. Minor was rung.

WALTHAM ABBEY

At an early hour on September 6th the Waltham Abbey ringers, together with friends from neighbouring towers, set out on their second annual outing, which was to take place in Suffolk and North Essex.

Clare was reached in good time and the bells soon put to good use. Most people managed to fit in a visit to a nearby café for refreshment between the touches. Then on to Sudbury (All Saints') where, after the necessary clapper-turning had been done, the bells were rung to a variety of methods, including Cambridge. An excellent lunch at the Four Swans Hotel was thoroughly enjoyed.

For the first ring of the afternoon it was our privilege to visit Lavenham, where the church and famous bells were greatly admired. Stoke-by-Nayland was next on the programme. It was noticed that the younger members of the party were first up this tower, due to the long climb to the ringing chamber. Yorkshire, Double Norwich and Stedman were amongst the methods rung. An ample tea was served at a nearby inn. The last tower of the day was Coggeshall, where ringing terminated with another course of Yorkshire.

Sincere thanks are extended to the incumbents and ringers who welcomed the party at the various towers. M.C.A.

SOMERTON, SOMERSET

Sunshine all day and a full moon at night was the good fortune of Somerton ringers and friends for their outing on September 27th. Beautiful Devon scenery, a glimpse of a rough sea and red cliffs, good food laid on at Exeter, Sidmouth and Ilminster, and what more could anyone want?

The ringing, if not first-class, was sometimes at least second-class, and there were few complaints about the bells, though most of them were lighter than we were accustomed to.

Our welcome by the Vicar at Rockwell Green was much appreciated, and the light six there enjoyed to the full. Uffculme's eight (tenor 21 cwt, 3 qr. 20 lb.), also easy to handle, gave an opportunity for Grandsire Triples and Bob Major. The eight at St. Mark's, Exeter, also sounded well, but time was short and we had to hurry on to Littleham, where we were a little delayed owing to an altercation with opposing traffic in a narrow street.

Branscombe set us a problem, as its lanes were too narrow for our coach; however, two taxis were hired for the ringers, while non-ringers amused themselves a little longer in Sidmouth. The bells, rung from the centre of the church, went very well, and we should have liked to have stayed there longer.

Shute Church in the moonlight, and decorated for harvest festival, was a joy to behold; and in spite of the rather difficult little treble, some passable ringing was achieved.

Many thanks all round to vicars and tower captains for the use of their bells, and we hope they will come and visit us at Somerton one day. A. R.

THE RINGING WORLD

OFFICIAL JOURNAL OF THE CENTRAL COUNCIL OF CHURCH BELL RINGERS

'The Ringing World' was founded in the year 1911 by John Sparkes Goldsmith, who remained its proprietor and editor until his death in 1942.

No. 2482. Vol. LIV. FRIDAY, OCTOBER 24, 1958 Registered at the G.P.O. for transmission as a newspaper. 6d.

THE SNOWDON DINNER

YORKSHIRE never does things by halves, and it was no Surprise that the recent Snowdon Commemoration Dinner was fully up to the expectations of those who have attended previous functions at York, Sheffield, Rotherham and other centres. By a happy coincidence the date of the function happened to be the same as that arranged for the commencement of the Leeds Centenary Music Festival, arranged to commemorate the opening of Leeds Town Hall by Queen Victoria in 1858.

Visitors to Leeds found the city very full, but there were plenty of facilities for ringing, and the bells of St. Michael's and St. Chad's, Headingley, St. Francis' (R.C.) and Pudsey were available and well used. Owing to preparations for a television service, the twelve at the parish church could not be rung. Those who were fortunate enough to be present at the dinner will have been impressed by the careful arrangements for their comfort and entertainment made by the President, the Ven. C. O. Ellison, who, with his charming wife, moved about amongst the guests and made them feel really at home and welcome.

The toast of the evening was most ably proposed by Mr. W. Barton, who paid a high tribute not only to the work of the late Jasper Snowdon, but to many of the past officers of the Yorkshire Association. His speech made a great impression on all. The course of Grandsire Caters on handbells, which followed, was listened to with very close attention, and those who rang it are to be complimented on an excellent performance, fully up to the Yorkshire standard of good striking.

A very refreshing change was the addition of a lady speaker to the toast list. She was Mrs. C. C. Marshall (alias Tom Bowling to her old friends). She proposed the toast of 'The Visitors,' and charmed her audience by her wit and her championship of the merits of the Yorkshire scenery. It is doubtful, however, whether her claim that St. Chad's, Headingley, possessed the best ring of eight in the country could be sustained. Certainly they are good and a joy to ring upon.

It was also good to see the Secretary of the Central Council (Mr. E. A. Barnett) responding so ably to the toast. He was well received, and many expressions of appreciation were to be heard regarding his attendance at the gathering. It was evident that he has now thoroughly won his spurs, and has the confidence of the Exercise.

A high spot of the evening was the songs given by Mr. Edward Yorke (happy name), of Ripon Cathedral. This gentleman provided the President with an opportunity of proving his adroitness. He informed the gathering that when the President asked him to appear, he said he didn't want any of the 'usual tripe.' The Archdeacon, in explaining this, said that what he really said was, 'We don't want "Watchman, what of the night"!' This ingenious explanation simply brought the house down.

During the evening reference was made to the useful service of Miss Snowdon, who had for so many years continued the work of her father, William Snowdon, in providing the Exercise with instruction books. If ever a tribute was well earned, this one was.

Sympathetic reference was made to Mr. Percy J. Johnson, who unfortunately could not be present owing to ill health. He was certainly missed by many of the older members, who remembered with gratitude his great work as Secretary at a most difficult period of the Association's history.

Certainly the function was highly enjoyable and successful, and the thanks of all are due to Archdeacon Ellison and Mr. Marsh for the excellent arrangements.

JAFUS.

BELFRY

It was a 'Royal' occasion at Wisbech, Cambs, on October 11th, when a quarter of Little Bob Royal was rung to mark the arrival of three grand-daughters that week to members of the band. The grandfathers were Messrs. E. H. Mastin (fourth grandchild), S. Elsey (third) and C. Cousins (first).

Will the correspondent who sent an order for peal cards for Barcombe, Sussex, please send his name and address?

Miss Margaret Ross is believed to be the first lady to ring Swinton, Lancs, tenor (22 cwt.) to a quarter peal.

A busy evening was spent by Suffolk and Essex friends recently, when ringing took place at Timworth (4), Ampton (4), Ingham (5), Fornham St. Martin (6). Some hustle!

Mr. Sydney Freemantle, verger of Old Church, Edgbaston, for the past 50 years, has retired. Ringers from all over the country will share the congratulations for the quarter peal rung in his honour and wish him many happy years of retirement.

The ringers of the muffled peal on October 11th at St. Mary's R.C. Church, Chorley, Lancs, would like to record their gratitude to the Rev. Canon Cartmell for the refreshments served after the peal and the wonderful welcome he extended.

On October 4th Mr. George Hart motored from London to his native heath at Overseale, taking with him Mrs. Elsie, Miss Joan Willcockson and Messrs. Kenneth Dunstan and John Mayne. Their journey was not in vain as peals of Pudsey Surprise and Biddenham Surprise were successfully accomplished. To fortify them for the long journey back to London, they were most hospitably entertained by Mr. Joseph Cotton and family.

GOSSIP

Just before he returned to America, Mr. M. A. Turner had birthday honours paid him at Rushton at a ringers' tea. It was over 50 years ago that he rang his first peal, which was, appropriately enough, at Rushton.

For the golden wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Foreman a quarter peal of Plain Bob Minor was rung at Garboldisham, Norfolk. It was the first quarter for their son, Mr. A. Foreman, and also for their grandson, Mr. R. Foreman.

An appeal will be made in the Home Service on Sunday, November 2nd, at 8.25 p.m., on behalf of the £10,000 required to restore the roof timbers of the Norman church of Milton Ernest, Bedfordshire. This church contains six bells dating from 1611, with a tenor of 10 cwt.

Drayton Manor Grammar School, Hanwell, has some keen ringers. Three of the members of one form rang a quarter of Grandsire Doubles 'in hand' to celebrate the 1,000th anniversary of St. Mary's Church, Hanwell. The ringers were J. A. Leat 1-2, J. E. Fox 3-4, T. S. Baker (conductor) 5—6.

Due to a broken rope, the peal attempt of Plain Bob Royal at St. Mary's Church, Oldham, in honour of the wedding of Joan and Alan Ward on September 15th, was lost. Their honeymoon in the West Country was a very happy one, with ringing at Plymouth, Stratton and Bude.

Tamworth Parish Church had a double celebration recently, when two members of the band had their 65th birthday. They were Mr. H. J. Dakin with 48 years in the belfry, and Mr. G. H. Peers, sen., a ringer for 54 years, of which 45 have been spent at Tamworth. A congratulatory quarter peal was rung on October 5th.

WILFRED WILLIAMS' PARTY'S PEAL TOUR OF SCOTLAND

'A cheil's amang you takin' notes,
And faith he'll prent it.'
—Robert Burns.

AFTER last year's highly successful tour of Southern Ireland, and the fact that there had previously been successful tours in England and Wales, it was perhaps inevitable that the seventh annual tour organised by Wilfred Williams should focus largely on Scotland.

Once again 13 ringers took part and confounded the superstitious critic who early on drew attention to the fact that we were 13 in number, had 13 peal attempts, and were sitting at table No. 13 by scoring 11 peals in eight different counties during the week. At least six of the party completed the ringing of peals in the four countries.

The party assembled on Friday, August 15th, at the King's Head Hotel, Loughborough, and four new faces gave us a new look, the contrasting styles of hat worn by two new members being reminiscent of the heyday of a famous politician. Derek gave us a fleeting glimpse of the vintage Cowley and showed a new 'slant' on petrol consumption by driving with two wheels on the pavement.

The following morning brought up our first peal attempt, and promptly at 10 a.m. we presented ourselves at the Bell Foundry, where we were pleased to renew acquaintance with Paul Taylor. The light ten here held no terrors for the selected band, and Yorkshire Royal was tapped off in average time. Lunch at a local cafe brought us quite by coincidence to sit by Mr. and Mrs. Alan Capstick, whom we were to meet at the end of our tour at Ambleside.

For our second attempt we were privileged to ring on the fine ten at All Saints', where Leslie Stevens had everything in readiness, a good peal of Cambridge resulting. We were sorry not to have met the Cheshire men who had just completed a tour in that area and who, we understand, listened to some of this peal; however, we were pleased to see Ralph Edwards in his new rôle as listener and spend an evening in his company.

NOTTINGHAM, RIPON, CARLISLE

On Sunday morning we were able to join Walter Nichols and his band to ring for morning service on the fine ten at St. Mary's, Nottingham, afterwards lingering awhile to hear the sonorous tones of Little John and the Exchange Quarters before leaving in glorious weather for Ripon and more ringing at the Cathedral. Then on again amid delightful scenery over the backbone of England to Carlisle, pausing en route to celebrate a birthday before sampling for the first time the experiment of State-owned hotels in a city which this year celebrates 800 years of independence.

On Monday there was an early start at St. Stephen's, Carlisle, where Jim Butterfield had everything ready. The bells, which can best be described with a well-known dramatic sweep of the hand, take some ringing, and Yorkshire was brought round with more determination than pleasure; however, we were pleased to ring a peal in honour of the octo-centenary of this city.

Paisley, our next objective, was reached in near record time despite a continuous stream of heavy traffic going south. The Presbyterian Church of St. James, a building richly endowed by the well-known Coats family, contains a fine ring of eight. Due to the oscillation of the tall spire, coupled with the fact that the bearing brackets of the back bells are bolted to the walls, these bells take some ringing, and we did well to score an excellent peal of Stedman, Philip making a good job of a badly-going bell in spite of being almost overcome for lack of fresh air due to the bad ventilation in the ringing chamber.

THE FIRST PEAL OF PUDSEY ROYAL IN SCOTLAND

Tuesday brought us to the 'plum' attempt of the tour—a peal on the magnificent ten at All Saints', Inveraray. It was an anxious party which left Glasgow in heavy rain for this delightfully-situated town at the head of Loch Fyne, anxious as the chances of ringing a peal here in heavy rain are very remote. However, our anxiety lessened with every mile, and though it remained overcast the rain kept away.

The scenery on this journey was undoubtedly the best encountered on our tour, the road winding alongside Loch Lomond, fleeting glimpses of Ben Lomond through the clouds and the rugged buttresses of Glen Coe being particularly impressive.

The tower of All Saints' Church, a great granite pile, stands almost on the shores of Loch Fyne and is open to the elements. Despite this, we found the bells in excellent condition, and we were soon fitting a set of new ropes while our bell-hanging friends checked the fittings. A quick lunch, then back to the tower for an attempt, which for some of us was the culmination of a 30-year ambition. Some preliminary rounds, in which Mr. and Mrs. F. Bennett, of Wombourn, Staffs, took part, and we were off to Pudsey Royal.

It took some time to settle down, but there was excellent ringing during the second and third hours, the issue being never in doubt. The volume of sound from these bells is terrific; it reverberates from the granite walls and descends on the ringers in one great cacophony, making it almost impossible to pick out any individual bell; nevertheless a truly majestic ring. Would-be aspirants for peals here will have to hurry—the floor of the ringing chamber is full of dry rot, and we estimated its life at no more than two years. Some of us were waiting in expectant imagination of the 'Guv'nor' stamping his foot at a 'trip' on these rotten boards and disappearing beneath us.

At the conclusion we were pleased to meet and to ring some Stedman Caters with Mr. E. H. Lewis, former president of the Central Council, who had driven from his home at Lochgilphead specially to see us. Another pleasant drive back to Glasgow, where we were in time to join the Cathedral ringers at their practice, receiving an extremely warm welcome. For many of us this was our first experience of Seages apparatus, which tested our ability to strike both Stedman Caters and Cambridge Royal.

'RHYTHM WONDERFUL'

Wednesday brought no improvement in the weather, and we left in heavy rain for Alloa, passing through Stirling with its commanding castle and skirting the great Wallace memorial. St. John's, Alloa, possesses a pleasant light eight and 'the Master Mind' ably piloted us through an uneventful peal of Cambridge. Here again, the ventilation of the ringing chamber left much to be desired, the walls streaming with condensation long before rounds came up. An interesting peal board in this tower records a peal of Grandsire Triples, the first on the bells, conducted by the late Stephen H. Wood, who was largely instrumental in founding the Scottish Association. On leaving the tower we were much heartened by the appreciative comments of a Scottish gentleman, who said: 'Gentlemen, I'm a Presbyterian, but religion doesn't matter here; that was a d—— good show; the rhythm was wonderful.'

Retracing our steps and passing through the Bridge of Allan, we reached the High Kirk, Dunblane, a building of huge proportions with its chimney-like tower housing a fine Taylor eight, almost in the Ebbw Vale class. and on which a peal has yet to be rung. Our instructions here entailed finishing by 5 p.m., but unfortunately on raising the bells we had great difficulty with the clock hammers, and by the time our bell-hanger had rectified this a peal attempt was out of the question; however, a quarter peal of Stedman Triples—the first quarter on the eight—was brought round in 47 minutes by D. G. Clift 1, A. H. Reed 2, G. McKay 3, R. G. Leale (conductor) 4, P. Mehew 5, N. V. Harding 6, D. P. Jones 7, W. A. Theobold 8.

Saying goodbye to Dunblane, we set out for Dundee, taking tea at Perth which enabled us to hear the fine carillon at St. John's Church; then on along the ever-widening Tay until at last we saw the famous bridge and the foundations of its ill-fated predecessor which still stand a little to the east of the present structure.

Some of us were awakened in the early hours of Thursday by the incessant ringing of the telephone which conveyed the sad news of the death of Norman's father-in-law; and leaving Dundee at 5.15 a.m., Norman covered the 400-odd miles to King's Lynn by tea time. A start was made for London at 10 a.m. on the musical eight at St. Paul's Cathedral, and was still going well when your chronicler left on the first stage of a long journey to South Wales. Unfortunately this attempt fired out after two hours' excellent ringing. We were, however, kindly entertained by the Rev. Harold Bembridge and soon forgot the disappointment at losing what would have been the first peal of Major on these bells.

FIRST PEAL OF BRISTOL IN SCOTLAND

In the afternoon a peal of Bristol Surprise Major—the first in Scotland—was rung at St. Mary's, Old Steeple. These bells do not go well, having been rehung by a local firm, and the peal here was well earned.

That evening we attended practice at St. Mary's Cathedral, Edinburgh, a magnificent ten, and received a warm welcome from Mr. Charles Raine, Master of the Scottish Association, and his fellow members. Afterwards Mr. Lloyd took the majority to sample the local brew, whilst Robin, and of course Philip, cultivated the acquaintance of local lady ringer Lois Beevers, who recently took part in a tour of Dorset with Robin.

Friday, and the now familiar rain saw a 10.30 start for Pudsey Major at St. James', Leith, where Derek made a good job of a difficult tenor (the sally sticks in a hole in the ceiling). Despite local objectors—the lights were flashed on and off during the last hour—and a letter from the Vicar, which we did not see until too late, a good peal, another first in Scotland, was rung.

Lunch, then we say our goodbyes to Scotland, the Guv'nor jumping the traffic lights whilst waving goodbye to Miss Beevers, and we head once again for the border and the road into England.

Brampton was reached by driving through a thunderstorm and cloudburst, which reduced speed to 20 m.p.h. However, in spite of this storm, which continued throughout the ringing, the first 7-method peal for the Cumberland Association was safely brought round. We did not bargain, however, for the loud and ribald complaints which were delivered by some local 'ladies' soon afterwards.

Saturday morning saw us at Cockermouth, where an excellent peal was rung on these fine but somewhat noisy bells: we received agreeable comments from appreciative local residents. From Cockermouth through the Lakes to Ambleside, where we had the misfortune to lose a College Youth peal of Yorkshire after 2¼ hours' good ringing on this fine, heavy ring. The three non-members, together with Dennis Mottershead, who was holidaying in the district, with two locals, Alan Capstick and Stanley Richardson, rang four methods on the nice six at Langdale, bringing to an end another pleasant peal-ringing week.

NATIONAL GUILD OF POLICE RINGERS

THE annual meeting of the National Guild of Police Bell-ringers was held for the first time in Bedford on September 20th, and was attended by members from Manchester, Leicester, Northampton and London, as well as those from the Bedford area.

Arrangements had been made for ringing in the morning at Kempston, Bromham and Felmersham. Unfortunately, a late start by certain parties resulted in Bromham not being visited during this period, much to the consternation of the local incumbent, to whom the secretary has apologised on behalf of the Guild.

The canteen of Horne Lane Police Station, Bedford, proved to be an initial meeting place during the lunch-time period. Sandwiches and liquid refreshment were available there by Inspector Amor, of Bedford, his wife and daughter.

Ringing continued during the afternoon at the two churches of St. Paul and St. Peter, Bedford. St. Owen's, Bromham, was again open after lunch and visitors made up for the disappointment of not having had time to call there on the way into Bedford.

The business meeting was held in the lecture room at Police Headquarters, Bedford, by kind permission of the Chief Constable. The following officers were elected: President, Ex-Sgt. E. C. Turner (Leicester City); secretary/treasurer, P.C. J. A. Smith (Leics and Rutland); auditor, Sgt. J. Rawson (Leics and Rutland); committee, Ex-Sgt. C. Willmington and P.W.-Sgt. M. Rawlings (Metro.), Ex-P.C. H. R. Woods (Lincs), P.C. S. Livesey and Ex-P.C. B. Walshaw (Manchester), Inspr. T. R. Butler (Liverpool), Inspr. G. Amor (Bedford). Two new members were elected, viz.: P.C. D. Whitehead (Bucks) and P.C. R. Brewin (Leics and Rutland). It was decided to hold next year's annual meeting on September 19th at either Derby or Grantham.

At about 7.15 p.m. approximately 70 members and friends sat down to a dinner at the Bridge Hotel, Bedford, and were honoured by the presence of the Mayor and Mayoress of Bedford (Ald. A. A. Jones and Mrs. Jones), the Chief Constable of Bedfordshire (H. R. Pratt) and Mrs. Pratt, the Vicar of St. Paul's Church, Bedford (Rev. J. H. King) and Mrs. King.

After a most enjoyable meal came the toasts and speeches by the Mayor, the Chief Constable, the Vicar, the president, Inspr. Amor and Ex-Sgt. C. Willmington. One point in common in all the after-dinner speeches was the very close and sheltered life that must have been led by the president. Proof of this was given by the president himself by the inclusion of a couple of his usual stories in his own inimitable manner in his speech of welcome to the guests.

A social evening under the very capable supervision of Mr. Frank Measures, of Leicester, followed. To commence the programme members of the Leicester contingent demonstrated the 'Rise and Fall' on handbells. This was followed by tune-ringing by the Manchester band. Despite the many requests for a certain school-teacher to sing 'Figaro,' he declined; however, the company was superbly entertained by several songs rendered by Mrs. Webster (wife of Inspr. Webster, of Bedford). The evening progressed with the various dances and competitions which go to make up a 'Measures social.' The president again amused the company with his stories.

The evening terminated at about 11.45 p.m., when numerous volunteers offered to take 'Sir Charles' to bed if necessary. So ended another annual meeting and dinner in the annals of the Guild.

After tea we left for Bradford, and on Sunday morning rang for morning service on the fine ten at Bradford Cathedral, where we renewed acquaintance with Leslie Morris; then on down the A.1 for lunch at Newark, tea and more service ringing at Baldock. London was reached at a respectable hour with another 1,200 miles on the clock of each car.

In conclusion, we should like to express our regrets at the inability of Messrs. Wilf and Michael Moreton and Peter Border to be with us this year; and our thanks to all the incumbents for permission to ring, and to all who met us and helped in the arrangements of another successful week.

THE KING'S SCHOOL, CANTERBURY

On September 30th the Kings School, Canterbury, Bell-ringers' Society held its annual outing. The outing was to be a mystery tour and, fortified by some outside ringing friends, a happy coachload embarked at 9.15 a.m. upon what was to become a memorable day.

The first tower visited was Saltwood (6 12¾ cwt.), where the bells were left up in readiness for us and the tuneful Mears ring was put to good use for an hour or so. At Burmarsh (tenor 9¼ cwt.) we were very intrigued by the bright green sallies on the light six; but it is a pity that the bells are not a little louder in the belfry. A good course of Bob Minor was rung here.

Having been sustained by an excellent lunch at New Romney, we next prepared to do battle with the bells at the detached campanile at Brookland (5, 12 cwt.). There is no permanent means of securing the clock hammer, but a stout piece of string served the purpose well. A few rounds were rung to feel the 'go' of the bells, then someone suggested some Grandsire. This was duly attempted, but the treble decided to slip wheel and set itself at backstroke. The damage was inspected and eventually put right.

Warehorne (6, 9¼ cwt.) was a pleasant change and gave most of us a chance to relax. The bells are of good tone and go well. After this came Ruckinge (5, 13 cwt.), a ring of long draught and rather shallow tone. The Rector very kindly showed us round the church. A short drive took us to Aldington (6, 15 cwt.), and the bells here were considered to be the best of the day.

A short walk took us to the grounds of Aldergate, where a magnificent high tea was ready. The view of the sun setting over Romney Marsh from here is an unforgettable sight, and this and the rendering of popular ballads by Mr. and Mrs. J. Stockbridge upon their handbells made a wonderful climax to what had been a perfect day. One more tower was in store for us, that of Lympne (6, 10¼ cwt.), where the bells are rung from the chancel steps. They are a good ring, but the treble is very shrill.

A tired but contented party arrived back in Canterbury at 9.15 p.m.

WEDDINGS

Mr. G. S. Deas—Miss M. McCartney

A wedding that attracted many ringers took place at All Saints', Gosforth, on September 20th, when the popular secretary of the Northern District of the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association and of the Newcastle Cathedral Guild, Mr. George S. Deas, married Miss Margaret McCartney. The service, which was fully choral, was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. J. W. Turnbull).

The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a ballerina-length dress of white flock nylon with short veil. She was attended by Mrs. Ellen Agnew as matron of honour. The best man was Mr. Brian Gooch.

As the couple left the church under an arch of handbells, the ten bells of All Saints' rang out joyously.

The reception was held at the Heaton Assembly Rooms, with a course on handbells preceding the cutting of the cake. The happy couple left later for their honeymoon at Dunbar.

A peal of Grandsire Triples in celebration of the happy occasion was rung on the Thursday following at St. John's, Newcastle.

Mr. J. A. Ainsworth — Miss M. S. Capey

Two ringers, well known on Tyneside and elsewhere, Mr. J. Alan Ainsworth and Miss Marion S. Capey, were married at St. Margaret's Methodist Church, Whitley Bay, on September 27th. Many ringers were present in the large congregation at the service conducted by the Rev. P. Capey, assisted by the local minister.

The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a ballerina-length dress of cream lace and was attended by two bridesmaids in azalea pink, the Misses Denise Tilmouth and Helen Capey. The best man was Mr. Eric N. Harrison.

The couple left the church under an arch of handbells held aloft by fellow ringers. At the reception at the Park Hotel, Tynemouth, the handbells came out again to accompany the cutting of the cake.

The bride wore an olive green jumper suit with light brown accessories as the happy couple left by car for a touring honeymoon.

THREE HALF DAYS

Arranged by Mr. Archie Fitch, and with the generous use of Mr. Arthur Rolfe's car and those of other friends, three enjoyable Saturday afternoon excursions were held on August 23rd, September 13th and October 11th, visiting towers in Suffolk, Norfolk and Cambridgeshire.

Highlights were the charming six bells at Oakley, and the long and almost straight ladder at Shelfanger. A cracked tower and bells in ruin story concerning Wattisfield was found to be incorrect, although the ropes are very bad. The expectation of six bells at Wetheringsett led to the discovery of a five. (Mr. Dove, please note.) Here we were met by a gentleman nearing 90 who could not get up to the tower, but pushed a wheelbarrow-load of handbells from his house to the church. They were a grand set, and we enjoyed them in Grandsire and Bob Major—an honour for the old gentleman, who is proud of his boxful of handbells.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

REPORTING DOUBLES

Dear Sir,—With reference to recent letters about the best way of reporting peals of Doubles, which include variations. In 'The Ringing World' of December 25th, 1955, I suggested the same style as used recently by Mr. Wratten, also suggesting that variations should be classified as 'Pleasure' methods. Thus a peal report would read: 'In two methods and two variations, Plain Bob, St. Simon's Bob, April Day Pleasure and Eynsham Pleasure.'

Personally, I fail to see the reason for learning these variations. If a band is capable of ringing Plain Bob and St. Simon's, instead of bothering with April Day and Eynsham, they could just as easily learn Candlesby and Rugby Slow Course both simple individual plain course methods. Also, it would be possible to ring extents without bobs, which are unnecessary nuisances in Doubles ringing. If an extent is called 'Plain, Candlesby, Candlesby, Plain three times' it will be seen that the 2nd rings only plain courses of Plain Bob, and with a learner ringing this, the interest of the other three 'inside' ringers is more easily maintained than it would be by calling an extent of Plain Bob, bobs with the 2nd behind.

That variations are slowly dropping out of favour is shown when we consider the 'top ten' Doubles methods rung in peals in recent weeks. These are: Grandsire (48), Plain Bob (38), Reverse Canterbury (24), St. Simon's (16), St. Martin's (15), Stedman (11), Winchendon (11), April Day (10), St. Nicholas' (9), Reverse St. Bartholomew (7). Of these, April Day is the only variation. Reverse St. Bartholomew is an irregular and the rest regular individual plain course methods. The regular methods could easily lead to a peal of Spliced in 21 methods.

The following all have plain courses the same as Plain Bob: Norfolk, Old, April Day, Kennington, Hudibras, Ready Money, Seighford, Dedworth, Blunderbuss, Old Hudibras and Dedworth Supreme.

If the Editor thinks they would be useful and of interest I am willing to write articles on Doubles variations and/or a systematic use of the Doubles Collection, including notes on spliced extents.—Yours sincerely,

FRANK T. BLAGROVE.

PENTLOW BELLS

Dear Sir,—In closing the series on Pentlow bells, may I thank Miss Seabrook, Urban Wildney and company for the information regarding these bells? I have now had the pleasure of ringing on them, and find, although very loud, the 'go' and tone quite pleasing. Later the same day we visited a pleasant five just north of the Essex border and were welcomed amiably by the local captain. During the course of conversation I was informed that some misguided character had pronounced the bells of Pentlow unringable, which he informed me was utter rubbish, although the bells were much too loud to call bobs. Needless to say, several members of the party found difficulty in concealing their mirth while yours truly, deciding discretion to be the better part of valour, quickly called for the next touch.—Yours sincerely,

J. E. G. ROAST.

'NEW ANGLE ON TEACHING BEGINNERS'

Dear Sir,—I am somewhat puzzled and rather indignant at the letter on 'New angle on teaching beginners' by G. Hodkins, of West End, Southampton, as it implies that there is no one capable of teaching change-ringing in Southampton. This, of course, is not correct; but I should be interested to know at which tower he was given the answer 'You learns it' to all his questions. At my tower we may not be expert teachers of change-ringing, but at least we know how to speak.—Yours truly,

JOHN W. FAITHFULL,
Captain, St. Mary's Tower, Southampton.

BRIGHTWELL BELLS

Dear Sir, — Although on rather unstable ground as I did not visit Brightwell myself but based my report, as was necessary in other cases too, on what my fellow tourists told me, I have been instructed to adhere, in part, to what was written in the account of the Gloucestershire and Oxon tour. The tenor and fifth were very certainly not easy to handle after nearly two extents of Minor; and the tenor, at least, had a certain amount of weight and skill on the other end of the rope. My humble apologies, however, to the front four.

With regard to the remainder of the letter on page 659, may I say that Mr. Castell seems unnecessarily savage! He also seems to have a vivid imagination since, though never destined to be 'tip top,' the striking was quite adequate, and the band only rang Plain Bob and Kent—methods which the 'unscientific' Brightwell ladies would do well, in their own interests, to learn.—Yours sincerely,

STELLA HUGHES.

Walsall.

P.S.—Nota bene, Mr. Castell: 'S' is not a 'he'!—S. H.

GEORGE PEERS, OF TAMWORTH

Dear Sir,—I would like to offer my congratulations to George Peers, of Tamworth, on the peal rung to commemorate his 30 years in the world of ringing.

To the ordinary reader this may not appear outstanding, but few people know of the rough path they have had to follow at Tamworth, both from ill health, the uncertainty of the tower and other obstacles which would have deterred less loyal men. The devotion of George and his father to their church and bells is most commendable in an age when these things do not seem to matter.

When I was called up to Whittington Barracks in 1940, I was soon made very welcome at the home and church of the Peers family, and I must be one of many who can testify to the wonderful friendliness of the ringers, both at Tamworth and Lichfield, in those dark days.

I always remember the excitement of my first broadcast from Lichfield Cathedral. The bells did not go very well, and I was invited to stand in the following Sunday. I thought I had done fairly well, but imagine my dismay when the next letter from home solemnly declared that both grandfather and father knew which bell I had been ringing!—Yours faithfully,

THOMAS C. BELTON.

Birstall, Leics.

'SALLIES IN MOTHBALLS'

Dear Sir,—Mr. L. W. Stevens' letter, as published in the October 3rd issue, contains some strong points which could easily be classed as 'home truths.'

No one can dispute the sad fact that, generally, service ringing is in a miserable state. Mr. Stevens may well ask what is being done to remedy the situation by those who assume responsibility.

It is all very well for the Central Council to carry out delicate peal analyses and to tabulate peal ringers in their order of merit and to establish that a method is 'so' or is 'not so.'

It would be far better to tabulate the attendances of service ringers. Furthermore, no ringer should be permitted to partake in a peal unless he is a 'registered' member of a service band with a percentage of attendances to his credit.

Bells are provided for service ringing; whether this be 'rounds,' 'call-changes' or even 'method' should be of no concern.

The entire responsibility for ringing, or not ringing, cannot be allocated to the vicar. He is, or should only be, responsible through his tower captain, with whom he should work in close co-operation.

I respectfully suggest that a select committee is established to examine the matter and to make recommendations. An official brochure outlining all aspects of ringing would prove invaluable, especially to those requiring recruits. The brochure should be designed to dispel the generally accepted opinion that ringing is just rope-pulling. It could briefly cover history, Guilds and their activities, the Central Council and its duties, bell mechanism, call-changes, method, the social activities, etc., etc. It could contain a page for local information to be completed by the local tower captain and a 'tear out' for the convenience of the probable recruit.

As a service ringer I thank Mr. Stevens for bringing the matter of service non-ringing to light, and sincerely hope that it will receive further discussion and suggestions for improvement through your columns.—Yours faithfully,

A. H. CROSS.

BELLS AT HEYDON, CAMBS

Dear Sir,—Mr. Dove's Guide is incorrect concerning Heydon on two counts. Firstly, because it is not in Essex but a mile or two over the border in Cambridgeshire, in a little wooded enclave 450 feet up on the brink of the bare chalk edge of the East Anglian heights near Great Chishill. There is nothing higher eastward from here, by the way, till 400 miles across the North Sea into Germany have been traversed.

It was from that country that a bomber came in the war and jettisoned its load on sleepy Heydon, one bomb destroying the nave and tower of Holy Trinity Church, so that, secondly, the bells are no longer.

I went some years ago to see the ruins and saw fragments of wheels and fittings; but there is a happier conclusion to the story: the church has now been rebuilt in Gothic style as a war memorial, and—good news for ringers—a very plain brick tower added, in modernistic contrast, containing a brand-new, but still unoccupied, steel frame for six bells, and a clock mechanism. So perhaps Heydon may soon qualify for 'The Ringer's Guide' once more. —Yours faithfully,

D. P. JONES.

THE DRIVE FOR BETTER SERVICE RINGING

Dear Sir,—When the College of Campanology was founded, about two-and-a-half years ago, its aims and objects were shown to include, amongst others, two that have received publicity otherwise in recent months, namely, the specific use of handbells in the teaching of hunting in method ringing, and that particular objective of ringing training which has special reference to service ringing.

In regard to the latter it is encouraging that the Central Council has set up a committee to explore the Sunday service ringing position generally throughout the Exercise.

The object of this letter is to confirm that the College, in wishing the committee all success in its good work, will continue its efforts in this field, especially now by urging all members of the College to assist the committee in every possible way, and by offering the committee such relevant information, gathered in College teaching activities, as the committee may consider to be useful in their investigations.

Experience of College tutors and helpers in the past two years tends to confirm the aptness of the contents of the three lists published on page 577 of 'The Ringing World' for September 5th, 1958, and shows that while these lists, as given, tend to overlap somewhat yet they do, in large measure, fairly present the picture, but that to complete it additions may be made, of which the following are but some examples:—

To first list—'Towards Improvement'

1. Practical recognition of ringers as church workers. For example: (a) Providing optional seating for ringers, who necessarily enter later than other members of congregation. (b) Having a 'Ringers' Sunday' annually, with handbell touches in the nave, sermons on ringing activity, ringers reading lessons, etc. (c) Admission to membership of the band by intermission in a church service.

2. Encouragement of younger members of congregation to make their Church membership vital by a practical Church activity, i.e., taking up ringing and making service ringing their contribution.

3. Stressing the need for learners to undertake, even if they leave the parish, to continue with their service in this way, the result being frequently of benefit locally through exchange.

4. 100 per cent. objective of service ringing attendance—competitive.

5. Encouraging visitors who are ringers, through notices of ringing times, especially in the church porch, and/or in 'The Ringing World' occasionally.

To second list—'Success Factors'

1. Devoting part (at any rate) of the regular ringing practice (in a way similar to that of choir practice) to practise with the set object of ringing some specific method or touch, or even call-changes, for the following Sunday services. This should apply to all but fully experienced bands of good ringers; and the College advocates the practice with all bands containing learners and/or improvers.

2. Rigidly keeping the Sunday service ringing to within the capabilities of good performance by the band attending, and giving all a turn who can ring rounds well.

3. Setting example, by more experienced ringers, of regularity of attendance at service ringing, and of aiming at faultless performance and striking, by strict attitude towards these ends, particularly during service ringing.

4. Payment? A recommended alternative incentive towards regular attendance is the use of small badges of office (e.g., as worn in buttonhole), made available to ringers becoming eligible, in a tower, for Sunday service ringing, and worn to the church service for which they ring only if the holder has not been absent from the previous service(s). Absences are 'made up' by subsequent equivalent attendances, before the badge can be worn again, as determined by the tower captain. This idea may be found particularly useful among younger ringers who take a pride in their service.

To the third list—

'Full-band Retention Difficulties'

1. Lack of Training Programme and of a Ringing Progress Plan. These are two essentials, all the time, plus interest.

2. Neglect of the '150 per cent. Minimum' objective. This follows from the practical need to get together and maintain a band of twice as many ringers as bells in the tower, with special efforts to raise numbers again as soon as they fall to one-and-a-half times as many ringers; e.g., six bells—nine ringers.

3. Neglected and therefore repulsive ringing chamber. Have a rota of ringers to assist the steeplekeeper in keeping it as clean, bright and attractive as possible.

4. Attitude of senior members to junior ones. In these times all members must be made to feel welcome, especially by the seniors.

5. Neglect of Public Relations. Some ringers tend to drift away from service ringing when they learn that there is local objection to ringing. Often this objection is due to lack of liaison with local residents, whose lack of interest in ringing may turn to objection. Experience has shown that even fierce opposition can be overcome by contact, by compromise and even by an invitation to the ringing chamber!

It is emphasised that the foregoing additional items are cited only as examples, others being forthcoming, no doubt, as the result of the survey. Experience shows that Sunday service ringing can be extended and improved by making the necessary co-operative efforts. The College will do all it can to help, especially towards the solution of relevant problems that may be submitted.—Yours faithfully,

S. K. M. KNIGHT,
Registrar, College of Campanology.

STEDMAN CINQUES WITH 'WHITTINGTON'S'

Dear Sir,—The peal of Stedman Cinques on page 664 was not the first containing Whittington's, for the enclosed was rung at Lincoln Cathedral on January 26th, 1931, conducted by the Rev. H. Law James, and again on February 18th, 1933, at Surfleet, conducted by J. A. Freeman. This was the first peal on the 12 bells at Surfleet.

Perhaps Mr. A. Walker can tell us of other Whittington peals?—Yours sincerely,

JACK L. MILLHOUSE.

Dear Sir,—To the enthusiastic learner, as to his teacher, your article (October 3rd, page 633) is a challenge, and one of them is moved to make a few observations.

Your contributor writes: 'He should also be taught to listen to and recognise all the bells.' This, obviously, is the only sure road to good striking, but it does not seem to be generally understood how many people have ears so defective for music that they just cannot carry in mind a note to recognise it when next they hear it.

A personal example may be allowed to illustrate the point: the ability to utter the responses less flagrantly out of tune than the petitions offered by many of the clergy—fair evidence of the extent of the defect—but complete inability to decide whether the treble was the bell in thirds or in fifths when listening to a good call-change band ringing each sequence ten times. One has only to listen to bad striking by a band which should be competent to be forced to agree that many ringers are in the same plight, even if not always aware of it.

That ringers generally do not appreciate how common the defect is may be in part because so many of them enter the belfry by way of the choir. Nor do the normally endowed readily imagine the condition of tone-deafness, or the severity of the handicap with which the afflicted have to contend; to draw attention to which is the chief purpose of this letter.

Surely anyone listening to a piece of ringing can tell whether the striking is good? In rounds on not more than eight bells it should be fairly simple for anyone to hear his own striking (not necessarily to strike well!) just by counting. On higher numbers, especially in the middle, it is not so easy, perhaps because the ear receives more overlapping of notes and overtones. The speed at which the notes assail the ear bears greatly on the difficulties of the unmusical.

To alter speed correctly for going up or down, and especially for dodging, is altogether more difficult, requiring, as it does, a break in the individual rhythm, and the musically deaf are at a grave disadvantage. They know whether the ringing is going well or ill, but cannot easily tell what the faults are nor with whom they lie. Since they cannot distinguish their own bell, how can they help themselves? The conception of gaps clicking along in the mind certainly may help some, but depends ultimately on recognising the sound of their bell.

On familiar rings, the gauging of rope movement is obviously a tremendous help, and I suppose with enough practice will enable tolerable striking. In learning this, the system suggeted by W. F. M. should be invaluable.

Another aid which one of the afflicted finds as helpful as any is knowing that the bell speaks just before it, and the rope, come to rest. The thought may go thus: Sounds good—good—good—clip (probably my fault, though it might be someone bashing me, note for next blow)—better—good—not so good—right—crash! just as I pulled off, so I wasn't in that; Martin again, I suppose, if only he'd listen to his bell. Where am I now? Keep your mind on what you're doing, ass!

Teachers might exploit the fact that even the profoundly unmusical may be able to hear and appreciate the rhythm of odd-bell ringing, especially when the bells behind are dodging; this, I submit, is why bad strikers can sometimes make a more passable job of the work behind in Stedman than of anything else. On the other hand, Plain Bob, rung so much by the learner, may seem, except at the dodging, a meaningless succession of notes, the open lead an irritating hiatus scarcely to be distinguished from a bad blow, and a little bell behind at backstroke positively silly.

These lines are written, sir, in humility and deference, and in the spirit of the old aphorism 'Set a thief to catch a thief'—Yours faithfully,

B. M. WILLMOTT DOBBIE.

Autumn Tour Of Society Of Friends Of The Exercise

A RECENT report in the 'R.W.' gave some account of the 'Friends'' Whitsun tour and concluded as the writer was journeying to Honiton to take part in the ringing weekend which had been planned back in May.

As it turned out, only three people arrived in Honiton on September 26th in time to ring, and since no one met us no ringing was done. 'Ah well,' said the three at Honiton, 'the rest will turn up at Ottery.' And it was so. The mayor-elect of East Budleigh and organiser for S.F.E., Cyril ('Pickles') Savage, was there on the churchyard steps to welcome all and sundry. Brian Bladon and Lesley Howes added respectability to the scene. The tuneful Taylor eight (18 cwt.) at Ottery were rung until 9 p.m. Later, in the King's Arms, East Budleigh, a count of heads revealed only one absentee.

Saturday, September 27th, was fair and bright. 'Leave E. Budleigh 8.15 a.m. sharp' read the programme, so at 8.25 a.m. we left, all in cars. Around the Exeter by-pass and just west of Alphington to the village of Ide (pronounced 'Eede') went the convoy. There we found Bill Carter, safe after his battles with B.R. The six bells (8 cwt.) by Warner were used for sundry methods before we charged into the foothills of Dartmoor, en route for Dunsford.

Call-change ringers' ropes at Dunsford (6, 14 cwt.), and more harvest decorations, set the pattern for the rest of the day. The problem of coping with two or three feet of spare, single rope was solved in various ways.

Crafty roadmanship by the organiser effectively stopped any overtaking on the hill up to Bridford (6, 9 cwt.). Those not ringing admired the 16th century rood screen or chatted with the local captain of ringers. The Harriers Arms was briefly taken by storm and then left to subside whilst we journeyed on to Lustleigh. As the crow flies, this is about five miles from Bridford, and those who pinned their faith to the Ordnance Survey and ignored grass growing in the middle of the roads, went straight up over Kiln Down, past Torquay's reservoirs, and so down into the picture postcard village of Lustleigh. The six tuneful bells at Lustleigh (11 cwt.) were coaxed into giving good music.

BOILING RADIATORS

Late, as ever, we left for Manaton and Dartmoor. Boiling radiators over Trendlebere Hill and no time to admire Becka Falls were our lot. The tower steps were climbed at Manaton (6, 8 cwt.) and the view of Haytor Down from the top was worth the climb.

'Tow ropes will be carried on all cars' read the programme, and, en route to North Bovey and lunch, we almost wished that Cyril had taken his own advice. On North Bovey Green, 'A person shall not, upon the ground, beat, shake, sweep, brush or cleanse any carpet, drugget, rug or mat or any other fabric retaining dust or dirt.' So cars were left on the green, uncleaned in deference to the by-law, and we rang Bob Minor, very fast, on the six bells (12 cwt).

'Mountain guides will meet the party at Chagford.' Perhaps our performance on the only ring of eight (18 cwt.) encountered that day deterred the guides, but these Taylor bells went well. On to Gidleigh where the Rev. S. C. M. Scott's father welcomed us to ring on his five bells (8 cwt.), and their minor key was not disagreeable.

Local ringers welcomed us at South Tawton (6, 11 cwt. in E) and stayed to watch some scientific Doubles. No doubt the sight of Cyril climbing the sally of the fourth bell convinced them that their bells were better rung 'off the balance.'

'Tea—half hour' was next on the programme, and most members rang at Spreyton Church (6, 12¼ cwt.) before eating. After recrossing the main road, the large square at Drewsteignton was found to be useful for parking. Ringing on the fine six (18 cwt.) went well, too. Eleven towers gone, two to go.

Choreton Bishop bells (6, 14 cwt.) were rung as darkness descended, and later Tedburn St. Mary's Church was located. As it lay about a mile from the village and off the main road, discovery was difficult in the dark. The bells (6, 10 cwt.) at this tower are rung from a gallery, and a band of ladies performed well at Stedman. Somewhat weary, the Friends 'tanked up' at the King's Arms (Tedburn and East Budleigh) and found strength to hold a 'public meeting' at the village hall, under the chairmanship of the Mayor.

For Matins, the Friends dispersed to ring on Sunday at Otterton and Woodbury as well as East Budleigh. A large bunch of flowers was presented to Mrs. Salway, landlady of the King's Arms, and all hoped she would be fit enough to accommodate ringers once more soon.

Sunday afternoon, and the homeward journey began. By a somewhat roundabout route we called at Thorverton (8, 14 cwt.) and had some good ringing. After tea in Tiverton, we regretfully passed by St. Peter's Church and went on to ring for Evensong at Dulverton (8, 17 cwt.). The party then dispersed.

Those taking part were: Brian Bladon, Lesley Howes (Stamford Hill), Dick and Elisabeth Bowden, Frank, Mary and Shirley Mack, Mary Hall, John Hunt, Reg Hooper and Bryn Shackleton (Bristol), Philip Mehew, Anne Amor and Helen —— (Bedford), John Gilbert (Long Ashton), Don Cobb (Locking), Graham and Ruby Eyles (Box), Eric Hitchins (North Bradley), Bill Carter (Swindon) and Cyril Savage (East Budleigh).

'SUNBEAM.'

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD

Dorchester Branch

The autumn meeting of the Dorchester Branch of ringers was held at Wyke Regis, when the Rector (Rev. F. E. Pratt) gave a most inspiring address and said: 'There are too few people who are true lovers of God, and people who are full of kindness and goodness are not necessarily true lovers of God.'

Following tea, the meeting was conducted by the Rev. F. E. Pratt in the absence of the chairman and vice-chairman. Business transacted included the survey of Sunday service ringing and the Blandford festival for Dorset ringers on October 25th, also the rededication of the bells at Piddletrenthide on October 12th. One new member from Preston was elected.

The meeting stood in silence in memory of the Rector of Upwey (Rev. A. S. Bryant). He had held the living for about 23 years, and always took a keen interest in the ringers and the Guild.

A vote of thanks was proposed by Mr. J. Hayne to the Rector, the ladies who served tea and the Wyke Regis ringers.

Towers represented were Abbotsbury, Buckland Newton, Charminster, St. Peter's, Dorchester, Piddletrenthide, Preston, Wyke Regis and a visitor from Burghfield (Berks).

REDEDICATION

St. Margaret's, Ipswich

The bells of St. Margaret's, Ipswich, were rededicated on October 4th by the Lord Bishop of St. Edmundsbury and Ipswich.

A short Evensong preceded the rededication, conducted by the curate; the address was given by the Lord Bishop. After the service the bells were rung. About 40 ringers attended, including Mr. J. Millhouse.

Thanks to Mr. H. Parks, who did the work in record time, the bells go excellently. The contract was carried out by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Canterbury District Annual

Attended by over 120 members representing 20 towers, the annual meeting of the Canterbury District was held at Canterbury on October 11th. For the service at St. Dunstan's Church the choir was strengthened by several ringers. The Rev. A. L. Lawler conducted the service and the Rev. S. M. Evans, curate of St. Lawrence's, Thanet, preached. The tea in St. Dunstan's Hall was prepared by ringers and friends of the church.

Mr. J. A. Russell (chairman) presided at the business meeting. The secretary and treasurer (Mr. B. J. Luck) reported a reduction in membership, which he thought would be made up when all subscriptions were received.

Officers renominated were: Mr. Russell, chairman; Mr. Luck, hon. secretary; Messrs. E. T. Eades and D. C. Chatfield, District representatives. Mr. W. S. Palin, who had been Ringing Master for the past six years, would not accept renomination. He was thanked for his services and Mr. D. A. Chapman was elected to the office.

Mr. B. J. Luck said he would not seek re-election next year, but he had found his successor, and with the approval of the meeting proposed Mr. T. C. Phillimore as assistant secretary for the current year, with the view of taking over the District secretaryship. This was approved.

The chairman said that it was a great shock to him, and no doubt the meeting, to hear this. Mr. Phillimore would most certainly have the ways of Mr. Luck engraved into him during the following year.

Seven new members were elected from Goodnestone, St. Alphege's, Canterbury, and St. Peter's, Thanet.

Mr. Luck announced that the annual meeting of the Association would be held in this District at Margate.

Ringing took place in the evening at the Cathedral (12), St. Stephen's (8), St. Dunstan's (6) and St. Alphege's (6).

RETIREMENT OF RECTOR OF CHESTER-LE-STREET

Canon C. R. Appleton, who had been Rector of Chester-le-Street since 1940, retired on September 30th. After the lifting of the wartime ban, the bells of Chester-le-Street became freely available, and many successful meetings have been held and peals rung during his ministry, always with his keen interest.

'A stroke in June took him to hospital for three months, but even there he listened to his bells at practice and on Sundays. He has since made a remarkable recovery but was advised by his doctor not to appear at the farewell ceremonies. However, he recorded messages to open a garden party, and to the Western District meeting at Chester-le-Street on September 20th, arranged as a farewell to him. On the latter occasion tributes by Mr. D. A. Bayles, the local Ringing Master, Mr. K. Arthur, president, and Mr. K. W. Cheeseman, vice-president of the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association, were recorded, to be played back at the Rectory.

Canon Appleton's farewell sermon was also delivered by tape-recorder, and these various recordings on tape inspired an idea to make a disc record as a souvenir which could be purchased by the parishioners. The recordings of bells, choir and organ, with the voice of Canon Appleton reading excerpts from the baptism, wedding and funeral services, and St. Paul's farewell to the Philippians, Chapter 4 vv. 4 to 8, were taken after Evensong on October 5th, and the record will be available shortly.

On the last evening that Canon Appleton was in the Rectory the bells rang out with a peal in thanksgiving and farewell. The band included five of the Sunday service band.

OBITUARY

MR. HENRY J. PARKER

It is with great regret that the death of Mr. Henry J. Parker (better known as 'Harry'), of Buckden, is recorded, having taken place on October 14th.

Harry joined the Ely Association in 1930 whilst living at Great Staughton, and became District secretary in 1933. He looked after the District during the war, after which he worked hard in getting things moving again. During December, 1947, he moved with his work (a gardener) into Bedfordshire, but was often seen at various meetings with his old friends in the Ely Diocese.

In 1952 he again moved back into the diocese and this time came to Buckden, where he joined the local band of ringers, with whom he rang until about six months ago, when his illness struck. He was a regular attender for service ringing and a well-respected member who rang 13 peals for the Association.

To his widow and family we extend our deepest sympathy. The funeral took place at Buckden on October 17th. H. S. P.

MR. R. PARR

Sh. Michael's Church, Aughton, near Ormskirk, Lancs, has lost its oldest ringer by the death of Mr. Richard Parr.

A regular churchgoer, 'Dick,' as he was known to his friends, was always punctual in the belfry and will be greatly missed, although his ringing was limited to the treble.

The bells were rung half-muffled before and after the funeral service, and in the evening a quarter peal of 1,440 Plain Bob Minor was rung to his memory by the following band: Honor Winter 1, R. Larkey 2, J. Lunham 3, L. Pearson 4, B. Tattersall 5, H. Poyner (conductor) 6.

MR. J. THOMAS

Mr. Louis A. Wilson, Wootton Bassett, Wilts, writes:—

As one of Jack's oldest ringing friends, I was grieved to read of his passing at Painswick, and I am sure he would not have wished to pass in any other way. I became acquainted with him in 1901 when he came to Swindon as a gas fitter. He came to Wootton Bassett and stayed with me on various occasions, and on his returning to Bristol I often stayed the weekend with him and his brother Bill at St. Michael's Hill. We were both interested in handbell ringing, and it was a treat to see Jack and Bill with four handbells each ringing Grandsire Triples. Incidentally, I myself had a go at it and made some progress.

Jack was fond of fresh air and always slept with his window open; he also had a punchball in his bedroom which he practised on when he first got out of bed. I thought I would like to have a go, with the result that the ball came back and hit me on the nose . . . I told him I much preferred ringing.

When he moved to London I still kept contact, and it was a real pleasure to be with him although hard work, as on handbells he often continued until after midnight. As a ringer and conductor he was at the top, and in his married life he was fortunate in having as mates ladies who could enjoy his life.

May he rest in peace.

MR. CHARLES WOOD

St. Paul's, Stalybridge, Cheshire, has lost one of its oldest ringers by the death of Mr. Charles Wood, who passed away on September 23rd, aged 78 years.

Mr. Wood had been a ringer for 58 years and he was an inspiration to all who rang with him. The bells of St. Paul's were muffled on the Sunday following the interment.

At a meeting held at Mottram of the Bowdon, Stockport and Mottram Branch of the Chester Guild, Mr. Wood's death was referred to by the secretary (Mr. K. Lewis) and the deputy Master (Mr. E. R. Elkins).

SOME AUTUMN OUTINGS

ISLE OF WIGHT BRANCH

The Isle of Wight Branch of the Winchester and Portsmouth Guild held their annual outing on October 4th, when a party of 53 ringers and friends crossed to the mainland on the first boat. Two coaches took them to Milford-on-Sea, where a ring was had on the eight bells.

A halt for coffee at Barton-on-Sea and then on to Lytchett Minster, where various methods were rung. A run through torrential rain followed to Swanage, where an excellent lunch was served at the Dorothy Café. Ringing on the beautiful octave at the Parish Church was much enjoyed.

That concluded the ringing for the day, and the coaches made their way to Lulworth Cove for the party to look around the renowned beauty spot, to Wimborne for tea, and through the New Forest to Lymington. A short halt for refreshments was made before embarking on the last boat to the island.

The ringers were delighted to have the company of the Vicar of Newport and the Rector of Freshwater and his wife, and their interest in the Guild's affairs is very much appreciated. The organiser, Mr. C. F. Guy, was thanked on behalf of everybody by the Master, Mr. W. Upton.

BROMHAM, BEDS

Although the weather was not kind on October 4th, Bromham ringers and friends set off in high spirits on their second outing this year.

At Roydon (6, 9 cwt.), the first tower, a touch of Bastow Little Court successfully came round and ringing was of a general standard. Although Hoddesdon tower rocks badly, ringing here was enjoyed on the first octave of the day.

After an enjoyable tea, we rang at St. Andrew's, Enfield (8, 20 cwt.), but difficulty was found in striking this nice-toned octave. The last tower was Cheshunt (8, 16 cwt.), and what a lovely set of bells to finish up on, and what a beautiful church to look round!

Once again we thank Mary Tysoe for arranging such an enjoyable outing, and also the incumbents and the people who met us.

BRISTOL RINGERS IN WILTS AND HANTS

Heavy rain did nothing to damp the spirits of the members of the Bristol City Branch of the Gloucestershire and Bristol Association when they set out for their annual outing on October 14th. After a brief stop at Salisbury for coffee we made our way to Romsey, and soon the Abbey bells were going to a variety of methods, Double Norwich being the highlight. Having taken lunch we literally sailed through flooded streets into Southampton, where we were privileged to ring the well-known bells of St. Mary's. We arrived at North Stoneham just in time to ring for a wedding. The light ten, however, proved almost too tricky for us and we were unable to produce the standard of ringing we had enjoyed at previous towers. Tea was taken at Winchester before setting off for our last tower at Everleigh, where a well-rung course of London Minor ended the day's ringing.

Our thanks go to Mr. A. V. Bennett (Branch secretary) and Mr. F. D. Mack (Ringing Master) for all their efforts in organising the tour and ensuring its success. R. J. B.

MR. VICTOR M. SMITH

We regret to announce the death at the age of 68 of Mr. Victor M. Smith, who for 47 years was a ringer at Godalming Parish Church and for a long period captain of the band. For health reasons he retired last November. The funeral was last Tuesday at Godalming, Surrey.

EMMANUEL CHURCH, PLYMOUTH

The ringers of Emmanuel Church, Plymouth, had a half day trip on October 4th. The outward journey was via Yelverton and Princetown, and Dartmoor was to be seen in its best autumn tints. Manaton was reached ahead of schedule, and after that our time-table went sadly adrift, as we tried to reach Bridford by the back door, although we had taken the precaution to go via Moreton Hampstead. We reached there eventually, after going through lanes where the coach was brushing the hedge on both sides. At a farm we were told if we could manipulate the next corner we had nothing worse than we had encountered. The menfolk got out to walk up the steep hill, and we reached Bridford. From Bridford to Chagford to a well-earned grand tea, now only 25 minutes behind time! After tea, ringing on the fine eight.

[The name Chagford will bring back to the Misses Vantom and Boulden, of Lydd, and Mr. and Mrs. Cobourn, of Harpenden, memories of a holiday spent in Plymouth, and a little trip by cars with several of Emmanuel ringers on September 5th, when we rang at Buckland Monachorum, Walkhampton, Chagford and Widecombe-in-the-Moor, with a picnic tea on the moors.]

From Chagford to Throwleigh, where we had the best ringing for the afternoon; and after cutting down on our tea break and catching up on the journey we arrived at our last tower, South Tawton, ahead of schedule.

At tea, Mr. Sims (Emmanuel captain), who was in charge of the ringing, expressed pleasure at having friends from Bickleigh and other visitors with us, and thanked the café management for an excellent tea, Mr. H. H. Thomas for making the arrangements, with especial thanks to Mr. Pridham for the wonderful handling of the coach. H. H. T.

PENARTH

On September 27th the Penarth ringers and a few friends had an outing to the Swansea area. At Newton we were met by Mr. Trevor Roderick and found the bells, with their light weight and long draught, not as difficult as we had been led to expect, and only the Kent failed because of the bells.

The 'go' of Aberavon bells was similar to our own, which brought back to the learners some of the confidence which had waned at Newton. Here we were joined by two Baglan ringers who journeyed with us to their home tower with its rather loud six. Mr. Gwyn Lewis met us at Cadoxton and he tried to help us through a course of Cambridge Minor.

The Duffryn bells seemed heavy going. Nevertheless, we had some well-struck Plain Bob before moving on to Neath where, watched by Mr. Harry Boyce, we completed a course of Cambridge Minor.

From Neath we went to Sketty, where we were met by Mr. Arthur Hoare and two of his local band. With eight bells again, we rang Grandsire, Stedman and Plain Bob, and it was a similar story in Gorseinon, where Mr. W. Dobbins was very helpful.

Our last tower was Llanelly, and here we spoilt the local practice night and really 'blotted our copy-books' by breaking a stay and fusing the lights.

Home was reached at 11 p.m. E. J. R. H.

LAVENHAM

On Saturday, October 11th, the Lavenham ringers held their annual half-day outing, ringing at St. Andrew-the-Great and St. Mary-the-Great, Cambridge; and after partaking of tea at the Dorothy Café finished the day's ringing at Trumpington. Many thanks to Miss K. Willers and Mr. T. R. Dennis, who helped to put these towers at the disposal of the ringers. F. S. M.

BARNSLEY DISTRICT SOCIETY

The monthly meeting on October 11th at St. Michael's, Thornhill, was a special occasion for the Barnsley District Society, when gratitude was expressed to Mr. Daniel Smith who, owing to ill health, has resigned the secretaryship after 25 years in office. On behalf of the District, Canon Coney presented Mr. Smith with an electric blanket and a bedside tea-making outfit.

The Canon recalled that when he came to Felkirk, Mr. Smith and Mr. Harold Chart were amongst the first people he met.

Mr. John R. Brearley, of Bolsterstone, also spoke of Mr. Smith's good work as secretary and the help he gave to young ringers. Mr. Smith thanked the members for their gift and said he had not expected anything for his services.

The vote of thanks to the Canon and wardens for the use of the bells, to Mr. Dyson, Scargill, and the local company for the arrangements, and Savile Arms for the excellent tea, was proposed by Mr. Noel F. Moxon. Fourteen towers were represented at the meeting.

The next meeting will be at Wath-on-Dearne on November 8th.

THE SUFFOLK GUILD

The meeting of the Saxmundham District at Tunstall and Blaxhall on September 20th was well attended, and many methods were rung. The Rector of Tunstall took the service and also organised the tea, for which all were grateful.

At the business meeting a rough outline was given of reducing the number of districts in the Suffolk Guild. It is hoped that a full attendance of members will be present at Leiston on November 15th when this will be discussed fully. New members elected were Mr. W. Wells, Saxmundham, ringing member, Mr. Thomas Cooke, Mrs. Thomas Cooke and Miss Brenda Cooke, of Darlington, Yorkshire, non-resident life members. A. R. B.

TRURO DIOCESAN GUILD

Many young ringers took part in the autumn festival of the Mid-Cornwall Branch held at St. Erme on October 4th. About 90 ringers were present, representing the towers of St. Mewan, St. Stephen-in-Brannel, St. Erme, St. Ewe, Tywardreath, St. Dennis, St. Columb Minor, St. Gorran, St. Newlyn East, Perranzabuloe and Truro Cathedral.

A service was conducted by Canon R. O. Oatey (rector), who also preached. The organist was Mr. N. J. Trethewey, and among those attending were Mr. W. H. Southeard and the Rev. A. S. Roberts (vice-presidents).

The judges for the test ringing were Messrs. J. Keatt and A. Lock. The standard was above average, and 18 first-class certificates were awarded. The ladies of St. Erme Church provided a splendid tea and refreshments in the evening.

An invitation to hold the spring festival at St. Columb Major was accepted.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD

Chertsey District

The Chertsey District meeting at Send on October 11th got away to a slow start, mainly due to ringers being kept in their own towers by weddings. However, the younger members had plenty of Grandsire Doubles before the service, which was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. C. Sylvester). A thought-provoking sermon was preached by the curate of Chobham (Rev. B. T. Thompson).

The usual sumptuous Send tea was laid on in the school by Mr. Strudwick and his helpers. It was agreed that a gift of glassware be given to Miss Hazel Hancock as a wedding present.

Ringing continued till 8.30 in methods up to Cambridge Minor. Altogether 34 ringers attended, most of them being District members.

THE CONDUCTOR'S LAMENT

'Twas October 1st, six ringers arrived,
A peal to attempt, the method Grandsire.
Bell raised, ropes adjusted, off we go;
To lose this peal would be a blow.

Been ringing for one hour, nearly two,
One hour more then we'll be through.
The striking's depreciated, let's give a shout.
'Come on now—do better than that!'

The fifth is the culprit, our John helps him out.
'Under and over me, pass treble, go down,
Lead this time, Percy, keep your bell up.
Stretch up higher and don't let it drop.'

Something is wrong, I can sense it somehow.
Oh, Percy! What have you done now?
The shock is too great, our Kath she calls
'Stand,'
For one pair of trousers lay flat on the ground.

Sunday morning, 10.30, our Percy arrived,
Despite lots of leg-pulling, well he survived.
'Don't do it again, Percy, or you'll get reported.'
'Not me,' says he, for BRACES he'd sported.

K. M. YEO.

[High Halden, Kent, October 1st.]

Bryant 7, J. H. Fielden (cond.) 8. For harvest festival. The band would like to associate this with the birth of a son to Mr. and Mrs. Maurice J. Thurmott.

THE following is believed to be a complete schedule of Principles rung to peals. It is a very short list, and apart from Stedman, none of the methods can be called standard. Peals in new Principles are very rare indeed. Several reasons probably contribute to this lack of interest in Principles, such as the difficulty of ringing without a fixed hunt bell and lack of musical compositions. Also, of far more importance, the production of the methods themselves has one great difficulty. For although hunt-controlled methods can be written down and require no proof of truth in the plain course, it is necessary to check the plain course of any Principle to ensure that it is true within itself. Now that the composition of peals for hunt-controlled methods has almost become an automatic art, our leading composers may have to turn to Principles for fresh fields of composition.

Stedman Triples.—5,040 at St. Peter Mancroft on October 25th, 1731, and at St. Michael Coslany on December 6th, 1731, by local bands of Norwich Scholars.

Stedman Caters.—5,076 at St. John's, Horsleydown, Southwark, on May 28th, 1787, by the College Youths.

Stedman Cinques.—6,204 at St. Martin's-in-the-Fields, Westminster, on October 6th, 1788, by the College Youths.

Stedman Major.—5,037 at Aston on February 17th, 1856, by the St. Martin's Youths.

Stedman Royal.—5,184 at Aston on October 21st, 1876, by the St. Martin's Youths.

Bob Major Triples.—5,040 at St. Martin's-in-the-Fields on May 20th, 1738, by the Union Scholars, 'containing the Treble Leads and Bobs of ye compleat peal of 40320 Bob Major, Eight In.' The method is Original with bobs made on the front (thirds instead of lead) and the composition is believed to have had all the bells affected by bobs.

Original Triples.—5,040 at Bushey on October 16th, 1926, by the Hertford County Association. The composition had the seventh acting as a plain hunt bell throughout.

Original Major.—5,000 at Ranmoor, Sheffield, on August 26th, 1908, by the Yorkshire Association.

Maidstone Major.—5,760 at St. John's, Wakefield, on August 18th, 1809, by the St. John's Youths. Also two peals at Borden, Kent, in 1813 by the Borden Youths.

Shipway Major.—5,120 at St. John's, Manchester, on March 31st, 1840, by the St. John's Youths. Also 5,002 at Kidderminster on January 31st, 1900, by the Worcestershire and Districts Association.

Cox's Caters.—Rung at St. Saviour's, Southwark, on December 7th, 1845, probably by the Surrey Youths of Camberwell, with John Cox as conductor.

Duffield Major.—5,000 at Duffield on October 8th, 1887, by the Midland Counties Association.

Duffield Royal.—5,040 at Duffield on March 19th, 1888, by the Midland Counties Association.

Duffield Maximus.—5,040 at Birmingham on March 17th, 1891, by the St. Martin's Youths.

Forward Major.—5,088 at Deritend on February 8th, 1889, by the Birmingham and District Amalgamated Association.

Forward Royal.—5,000 at Loughborough on January 3rd, 1890, by the Midland Counties Association.

Forward Maximus.—5,040 at Birmingham on January 13th, 1903, by the St. Martin's Youths.

Erin Triples.—5,040 at Gateshead on June 5th, 1909, by the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Guild.

Erin Caters.—5,076 at North Shields on July 12th, 1909, by the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Guild.

Erin Cinques.—5,063 at West Bromwich on September 23rd, 1911, by the Stafford Archdeaconry Society.

Aston Major.—5,008 at Handsworth on September 18th, 1909, by the Midland Counties Association.

Aston Royal.—5,120 at Aston on December 11th, 1909, by the Midland Counties Association.

Handsworth Major.—5,056 at Handsworth on June 11th, 1910, by the Midland Counties Association.

Handsworth Royal.—5,120 at Aston on November 26th, 1910, by the Aston Youths.

Shilton Major.—5,184 at Earl Shilton on April 9th, 1932, by the Midland Counties Association.

Spliced Erin and Stedman Triples.—5,040 at Bushey on August 26th, 1939, by the Hertford County Association.

Spliced Erin and Stedman Caters.—5,133 at Newcastle upon Tyne on January 27th, 1925, by the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Guild.

Scientific Triples.—5,040 at Hampton-on-Thames on July 5th, 1958, by the Middlesex County Association.

Of the above methods, Maidstone Major and Cox's Caters are not known.

Stedman Major and Royal as rung by the St. Martin's Youths were in Johnson's variation and not that given in Shipway.

Aston is believed to be the same as Handsworth, but with the Double Kent places in 3-4 instead of 5-6.

Scientific Triples can be found in 'The Ringing World' of July 18th, 1958.

Forward is a treble bob hunt for all the bells, with Kent places in 3-4.

The following methods might arouse some interest in the field of Principles:—

REVIEW

'A Handbook of Grandsire Caters.' Edgar C. Shepherd. (1s. post free, from Mr. R. F. B. Speed, Four Winds, School Lane, Stretton-on-Dunsmore, Rugby.)

One pleasing feature of the present day is the work of a few expert ringers in publishing, usually at a loss it must be admitted, pamphlets and handbooks on a variety of topics. Within the last year we have had made available to us through the efforts of individuals, belfry prayers, beginners' helps and collections of Doubles and Triples methods. Certainly Mr. Shepherd is to be thanked for having filled yet another need of the interested ringer.

At a time when the music of ringing appears to take second place to the intricacy of method construction, it is refreshing to find Mr. Shepherd, through his latest contribution to the study of change-ringing, reminding us of the attractions of Grandsire Caters, generally accepted as the most musical of methods.

Here we have, in ten pages of typescript, all that a conductor needs to be told about the subject. After a prefatory note—not quite so complete as one would wish—there follow 70 touches of various lengths from 269 to 593 and six excellent quarter peals. Next we are presented with a 'utility' peal in three almost equal parts, which the average conductor could learn in a quarter of an hour. We are then given a table with 12 opening courses in the tittums, 12 in the 'inverted' tittums and 12 courses to turn the bells from tittums to the handstroke-home position. A most useful transposition table shows us the callings that leave the three back bells undisturbed. The handbook concludes with brief but adequate notes on the proof of Grandsire Caters.

A minor criticism is that the terms '8—2,' '9—2,' '89' and '98' are not explained in the text, and experience has shown that these are not usually understood by beginners. A further point is the unwieldy format of '7 x 8½,' but the use of the typewriter and the need to keep down the cost of production have dictated this. NOLAN GOLDEN.

THE ST. MARTIN'S GUILD

A quarterly meeting of the St. Martin's Guild for the Diocese of Birmingham was held at Aston Parish Church on October 4th.

Before commencing the ordinary business of the meeting, the Master (Mr. Frank E. Haynes) referred to the sudden death of Mr. John Thomas, of Hinton-on-the-Green. An accomplished ringer, both on handbells and tower bells, John Thomas had been a frequent and welcome visitor to Birmingham and, by his quiet and unassuming manner, had endeared himself to all those members of the Guild who had been privileged to ring with him. The members stood in silence as a token of respect to his memory.

Mr. M. F. Hall and Mr. R. Bond, both ringers at Handsworth, and Mr. P. Faulks, of Warwick, were elected members, and the tower election of Miss P. Bourn, of Welwyn Garden City, was duly ratified.

The next meeting, the annual, will be held in the City as customary, but as the St. Martin's Hotel is no longer available permission will be sought for the use of the new Church Hall at St. Martin's. The Master reminded the members that, on this same day, January 3rd, the Universities' Association hold their annual meeting and dinner in Birmingham, and that it may be necessary to hold the Guild meeting early in the evening. Several towers will be available for ringing on this occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. Alan Ainsworth, of Newcastle upon Tyne, were very welcome visitors to the meeting.

A vote of thanks was accorded to the Vicar of Aston (Canon Guy Warman) for the use of the bells, and to Mr. Brian Downie, who had made arrangements for tea immediately prior to joining H.M. Forces.

OFFICIAL JOURNAL OF THE CENTRAL COUNCIL OF CHURCH BELL RINGERS

'The Ringing World' was founded in the year 1911 by John Sparkes Goldsmith, who remained its proprietor and editor until his death in 1942.

No. 2483 Vol. LIV. FRIDAY, OCTOBER 31, 1958 Registered at the G.P.O. for transmission as a newspaper. 6d.

JOHN KINGDON

WHEN the Rev. John Kingdon returned from the Mission Field in 1937 and became Vicar of Bollington in Cheshire he little thought how great a part bells and ringers were destined to play in his future life. He knew nothing of bells and had never come into contact with those who ring them, but being interested in all matters connected with his church, he eventually made his way to the tower whilst ringing was in progress. The dancing ropes held his attention and interest, and it was not long before he learned to handle a bell and in due course join in the ringing.

In 1947 Mr. Kingdon accepted the living of St. Mary-within-the-Walls, Chester (one wonders whether he would have accepted it had there not been bells there), and it so happened that the office of Secretary and Treasurer of the Chester Diocesan Guild became vacant shortly afterwards. At the Annual Meeting he was unanimously elected to this dual position and it was very obvious that no better choice could have been made, for he quickly showed that he possessed just those qualities which are so desirable yet not always found for such an office. There can be no doubt that his methodical precision, his attention to detail and his presence at meetings in many parts of the diocese did a very great deal for the solidarity of the Chester Diocesan Guild and helped in no small measure to bring this Guild to the position it now holds in the Exercise.

It was with very great regret therefore that members learned in early September of his impending retirement. A farewell peal at his own tower was obviously indicated, and on September 28th, his last Sunday as Rector of St. Mary's, the band which rang the record peal at Over, Cheshire, in 1950 assembled in the afternoon and rang T. B. Worsley's 5,024 of Bristol. It was fitting that the peal should be conducted by Mr. John Worth, of the Macclesfield Branch, where Mr. Kingdon first learned to handle a bell. A few days later the Rector and Mrs. Kingdon left for Storrington in Sussex where their future home will be.

It was clear, however, that the Guild as a whole wished to express its thanks and good wishes, and at the annual dinner on October 11th Mr. Kingdon's presence was demanded. It was typical of him that he should readily agree to make the long journey to Chester to be present on this occasion, which proved to be the greatest gathering of Guild members and friends on record. During the evening a presentation was made, which included a book on railways. With these tangible tokens of esteem and affection went the grateful thanks and good wishes of the

TOOK THE COLLEGE COURSE

I have wanted to write something about the College of Campanology, because you will remember well enough all the 'hot air' there was about it!

In our village tower one acquired a deep love of bells and of the church for which we were ringing. One would go to a large meeting further afield, and two pulls were enough: the inevitable look came over the faces of any first-class ringers—with every justification, but it was the hopelessness of the situation that was the heart of the matter. Apparently it was condemnation for life, 'Once a poor ringer, always a poor ringer,' beyond the power of any help.

Then in 1956 we went over to the Isle of Wight for our annual meeting, and heard the announcement about the College of Campanology (from one of the 'experts,' from whom we were usually quicker to flee in terror than from any other!). It was the first faint ray of hope.

Shortly afterwards our numbers suddenly shot down below danger level. I went up to practice, wondering if there would even be one, to find ten school children, who had come up out of the blue 'to see what ringing was like.' I went home again to find the draft College of Campanology course being printed in 'The Ringing World.'

With more caution than sense, we didn't apply straight away to the College for help but tried to follow the course, more or less, from 'The Ringing World' draft—till it suddenly shot ahead of us, and I realised the 'or less' had been too operative!

One night, when nothing would go right and the sound was appalling, we wrote off to see if the College could help us. We got ready to be torn limb from limb by the 'experts,' but needn't have worried; it was completely different from the old experience in the past. For myself, when two of us went to the meeting at Canterbury in July, I suddenly realised that the familiar 'look'—as far as I could be aware in the Cathedral—hadn't come over anyone's face. I am not exaggerating in saying that it was like some wonderful reprieve from life imprisonment!

Of course, Rome wasn't built in a day, and I shall go round to meetings with 101 faults and weaknesses ready to be pounced on, and striking still liable to suffer from nerves, but at least one knows exactly what is wrong and can do something about it. The younger members of the course: the same applies, and I have noticed also the kind of 'flexibility' of thinking that the course has given them: a sort of springboard which makes the grasp of change

WORCESTERSHIRE AND DISTRICTS' 21st ANNUAL DINNER

AS in previous years, the bells of the Cathedral and All Saints' were rung prior to the annual dinner. On the 12 bells at the Cathedral rounds were rung, Grandsire Caters and Stedman Cinques and a course of Major on the back eight bells. At All Saints' Grandsire Doubles, Grandsire Triples, Stedman Triples and Plain Bob Royal were rung interspersed with rounds.

In the Guildhall 184 ringers and their ladies stood to receive the president of the Association, the Very Rev. R. L. P. Milburn, Dean or Worcester. After the loyal toast and the singing of the National Anthem, Bishop C. E. Stuart (Assistant Bishop of Worcester) proposed the toast of 'The Association.' He apologised for the Diocesan Bishop, who regretted he could not be present, but that he was accustomed to deputising for him and had heard himself referred to as 'the good old stand-by.'

Bishop Stuart put forward reasons why people rang bells. Firstly, because it was often a family affair which had continued through the generations. Fathers taught their sons, and these days mothers taught their daughters to ring bells. Heredity was a strange thing according to a schoolboy whom he knew, who defined it in this way: 'If your grandfather had no children, and your father had no children, the odds were that you would have no children.'

Secondly, ringing was a skilled occupation, making demands, but bringing satisfaction and peace. Thirdly, there was the fellowship of the belfry, which did not stop there but was extended far beyond it. But above all, bells were rung to the glory of God, which was a most pleasing thing to do.

However, ringing was not always popular outside the towers, and the Bishop had had telephoned complaints when he was an incumbent. He remembered that it was often the abusers of ringers who were most anxious that the bells should be rung when their daughters were being married.

THE TIME TO WORRY

The Rev. H. L. Davies (Vicar of Cradley) replied for the Association. In some quarters, he said, ringers were much misunderstood, as on the occasion when he heard someone comment upon some ringing with 'There's them ringers—gone mad again.' He thought that there was no reason to take such remarks seriously; the time to worry was when there was no ringing from a tower. One of the most pleasing aspects of ringing was that it gave ringer the entrée to any tower in the country, and there was always a welcome wherever they went. There were great characters in the towers, but there was toughness, too, and ringers would often turn out when they were not really fit so that the bells could be rung on Sundays.

The Master (Mr. W. B. Cartwright) in proposing the health of 'The President,' who was also chairman of the dinner, expressed the general pleasure at the Dean's first appearance for such an occasion there. The Association was most pleased to have him with them, and hoped that it would be his first of many such visits.

In his reply the Dean said how surprised he was to see so many people present, and so many ladies, too, all of which enhanced his pleasure in being president of the Association. He considered that the afternoon's ringing was an honour for the Cathedral and a personal enjoyment to him as he listened to the bells. The restoration of the Cathedral tower had recently been completed, and this gave a worthy external aspect to the internal abilities of the ringers. The bells had long echoed across the Severn to the Malvern Hills, and as long ago as the reign of King Edgar there had been a royal order that bells should be rung.

In literature, ringers had been well served on the whole. Thomas Hood ('Dear bells! How sweet the sound of village bells, when on the undulating air they swim! Now loud as welcomes! faint now as farewells!'); Thomas Moore ('Those evening bells! Those evening bells! How many a tale their music tells, Of youth, and home, and that sweet time when last I heard their soothing chime'); Tennyson ('Ring out wild bells,' 'Ring happy bells') recalling the sounds as they came across the Lincolnshire fens to his father's Rectory. Shakespeare was not quite so enthusiastic with his 'Silence that dreadful bell.'

The Dean admitted that he had not expected to find 'belles ringing bells,' but that he was greatly pleased to see this, and quoted from an old inscription in a Cornwall belfry some advice to ringers:

'We ring the quick to church, and the dead
to the grave;
God is our use, such usage let us have . .'

He thought that ringers must be inured to shock from their experience of the clamour of bells, and that they always had to be on their toes for their art. They were vigorous and generous and achieved much in the exercise of ringing. The Dean ended with warm thanks for the good wishes of the Association.

After the dinner there was an entertainment provided by a concert party, 'straight' and humorous songs, a comedian and a musical trio. Later two courses of Stedman Caters were rung on handbells: Mrs. J. Thomas 1-2, J. D. Johnson 3-4, A. M. Tyler 5-6, D. J. Marshall 7-8, Vivien Barnes 9-10. A. W.

BELFRY GOSSIP

Her many friends will be pleased to know that Miss Mary R. Jaycock, of 20, Burlington Road, Burnham, is back in Burnham tower again after her car accident at Guildford on September 27th, when she had 54 stitches put in her face. Although terribly shaken she is otherwise uninjured.

The peal at Hughenden (see page 684) was the 250th for Mr. Philip Mehew.

Mr. Urban W. Wildney rang his 300th peal on October 18th. His peals have been rung in 69 towers with 254 different ringers.

News from St. Andrew's, Hornchurch, is bad. Owing to current repairs to the spire the bells are likely to be silent for at least two years.

Mr. G. E. Fearn rang his 1,000th peal for the St. Martin's Guild when he took part in a peal of London at Erdington Abbey on August 26th.

To the first peal on the recently recast bells of Boughton, Northants, rung a few months ago, the weight of the tenor was published as 7 cwt., approximately. Messrs. John Taylor and Co. have since confirmed its true weight as being 6 cwt. 18 lb., and that of the old tenor as 5 cwt. 2 qr. 8 lb., not 6½ cwt. as was for many years assumed.

The first peal of Spliced Surprise Major in three methods 'in hand' for the Leicester Guild was accomplished not without a little trepidation. Mr. P. J. Staniforth had rung the tenor the previous evening to a peal at Enderby on a fairly new rope, and finished with a crop of blisters. His hands were carefully bandaged by Jill, and he looked more like a prize-fighter being prepared for a big fight! The precautions were justified and a splendid peal was rung. The composition, by the late Harold J. Poole, was rung on his birthday, Trafalgar Day.

The bells of the parish churches in the Somerset villages of West Huntspill, Langport, Queen Camel and Wedmore will be heard in a programme entitled 'The Faith in Sedgemoor and Avalon' at 9.45 a.m. on Sunday, November 16th, in the West Home Service only.

While at Aldershot they have not rung two quarters by distinct bands from their Sunday service ringers, they have 16 members who have rung quarter peals and another 14 probationers capable of ringing rounds or hunting the treble.

Mr. J. H. Fielden writes explaining that the original account of the Cambridge University Guild week was lost in the post about a month ago. Unfortunately, other letters have gone astray.

The recent peal at Cowbridge, Glam, enabled Mr. Robert E. (Ted) Coles to 'circle the tower,' of which he has been captain for many years. He has taught and maintained a thriving band, which among its young people includes eight members from Cowbridge Grammar School.

Mr. Albert Parker, the chief ringer, has completed 50 years' service at St. James' Church, Wigan. The occasion was honoured by a peal and afterwards Mr. and Mrs. Parker were hosts at an excellent tea given to the peal band, the local band and the Vicar and wardens of Poolstock.

A veteran to enter the peal columns is Mr. Edward Rudkin, of Weston Favell, whose first peal at the age of 73 is recorded this week. While he learned to ring rounds and Minimus when at Ridlington in 1911, it was not until three years ago, when he joined Weston Favell company, that he took up change ringing. He also rings at Whiston, where there is the longest pull without guides in the Peterborough diocese.

MR. PERCY J. JOHNSON'S GREAT WORK FOR YORKSHIRE RINGING

WORD went round at the Snowdon commemoration dinner that Mr. Percy Johnson had been admitted to hospital for treatment but, not being seriously ill, he was expected home in a few weeks' time. It will be realised, therefore, what a shock it was when news came through that he had died on Sunday, October 12th, the day after the dinner—the first one he had missed.

By Mr. Johnson's death the Yorkshire Association has lost one of its oldest members and its senior officer in length of service. He joined the Association in 1901. In 1914 he was elected Ringing Master of the newly-formed Western District, and from that time he had been a member of the general committee without a break. He served for 15 years—from 1917 to 1932—as general secretary, and when he retired from that office he was elected vice-president of the Western District, an office he had filled with distinction to the time of his death.

46 YEARS ON CENTRAL COUNCIL

Mr. Johnson was a well-known member of the Central Council, having served on that body continuously since 1912; for the first eight years as representative of the Leeds and District Society, and from then onwards as one of the representatives of the Yorkshire Association. For a period before the first World War he was president of the Leeds and District Society.

Mr. Johnson's ringing career started at St. Matthew's, Holbeck, Leeds, in 1898, when he was 16 years of age. In 1903 he joined the band at Headingley St. Michael's, and in that year rang his first peal. Less than 12 months afterwards, he took part in a peal of London Surprise at Headingley, the first in that method by the Yorkshire Association; he was the last surviving member of that band. The year 1936 saw him back at Holbeck as conductor; he stayed there until 1944 and then rejoined the Headingley band, of which he had been a member ever since, for most of the time as conductor.

Mr. Johnson's full total of peals is unknown, but he rang 299 for the Yorkshire Association, and it is a matter of regret that he did not reach the third century, for that was an ambition he often expressed during the latter part of his life. A talented conductor—he called about 120 peals—he was also a gifted handbell ringer, and many of his peals were rung 'double-handed.' One of which he was particularly proud was the first peal of Double Norwich rung silent on handbells. That was rung at Pudsey in 1932.

His first and last peals, 54 years apart, were both Grandsire Triples. The first was at Holbeck St. Matthew's on March 14th, 1903, and the last at Headingley St. Michael's on April 13th, 1957.

Percy was something of a character, as those who knew him are aware. He expressed himself fearlessly and forcibly both in debate and in ordinary conversation. Once he had formed an opinion no amount of cajolery would persuade him to alter his mind. Small in height but stockily built, a good heavy-bell ringer, he commanded attention by his personality and by his deep voice. He had a remarkable memory—although that had failed of late—and a fund of anecdote. Always ready with a story of bygone ringing days, sometimes of rather doubtful propriety, he would often finish off by saying: 'If "The Ringing World" would publish the yarns that ringers tell, the circulation would go up by leaps and bounds'!

At the Snowdon dinner, while it was still thought that Mr. Johnson was just indisposed, he was referred to as 'Percy, the sergeant-major of the belfry, whose voice has struck fear and terror into the heart of many a young ringer but whose bark is worse than his bite.' That was the Percy whom many people knew; but had the speaker known the imminence of Mr. Johnson's death he would have enlarged on the kind and gentle nature hidden behind that gruff exterior, and the jovial, witty man whose company was a delight to those whom he regarded as his friends.

THE FUNERAL

The funeral service was at Headingley St. Michael's on October 18th, prior to cremation at Lawnswood. A musical and well-struck touch of Stedman Triples was rung on the muffled bells of St. Michael's before the service, conducted by one of Mr. Johnson's younger pupils, Roy Bettley-Cooke. After the service and before the coffin was borne from the church, a plain course of Grandsire Triples was rung on handbells at the chancel steps by William Talbot, John Ambler, William Barton and Roy Bettley-Cooke.

The funeral service was conducted by the Vicar of St. Michael's, assisted by the Archdeacon of Leeds, the Venerable C. O. Ellison, who is the president of the Yorkshire Association. Colleagues of Mr. Johnson from the National Association of Furnishing Trades Operatives and from the Leeds College of Art were there to pay their last respects. Among the ringers who were present were Mr. Leslie W. G. Morris, the secretary of the Yorkshire Association (who also represented the Central Council); Mr. A. E. Marsh, secretary of the Western District; Mr. E. Hudson, secretary of the Northern District; Messrs. J. Ambler, W. Barton, V. Bottomley, T. Strangeway and H. Walker, members of the General Committee; also Mrs. D. Skelton and Messrs. S. Barron, R. Bettley-Cooke, R. Butterfield, P. Dawson, W. Dixon, A. Johnson, E. Johnson, H. Lofthouse, M. P. Page, G. Robinson, W. Senior, I. Slack, W. Talbot and B. J. Whithill.

And so has passed to the Great Beyond one who was highly respected both for his knowledge and for his integrity. The Yorkshire Association has lost a character; it has also lost one of its most able servants. The ringing Exercise has benefited by his life but, although that is now ended, the work he did will live on and be a lasting memorial to him.

APPRECIATIONS

Mr. Paul Birkett writes:—

The death of Mr. Percy J. Johnson is a real loss to the Yorkshire Association and to the Exercise as a whole. As a young ringer I remember him as one of the outstanding personalities of the Exercise. His genial manner, humour and friendliness together with his gift of leadership always raised the tone of a meeting. 'P. J.' was one of the most influential members of the Yorkshire Association, also of the Central Council, over a long period of years and did a great deal of work for bellringing in a quiet way. He was always forthright in his views although he showed much toleration and had a great regard for his fellow men. He had a fine memory, both of ringers and events, and could often recall interesting anecdotes to suit the occasion.

Although a sound ringer and one always ready to help an inexperienced ringer, he was a very humble man, who never sought praise or limelight. While being sorry to lose him, it is good to have had the privilege of knowing him. Although 'P. J.'s' work is now completed he leaves an indelible mark of service and affection on ringers and the Exercise. We express sympathy to his widow in her great loss. May he rest in peace.

Mr. R. Bettley-Cooke writes:—

Many of the Western District of the Yorkshire Association, and especially of his local tower of St. Michael's, Headingley, were proud to be among the many friends of Mr. Percy Johnson, and I, as one of them, would like to express some of our thoughts at this time.

We all admired the way in which he could be most forthright and outspoken on the more complex ringing matters and yet be so quietly instructive to learners who really listened to him and tried to learn from him.

His punctual attendance at Sunday service ringing was, until the last few weeks, as regular and clockwork as he liked the ringing to be, and his ability to deliver suitable comments to ringers whose method of ringing or style did not meet his approval was something to marvel at, and also to fear, if one was on the receiving end!

His work for the Leeds and District Society, the Yorkshire Association and the Central Council, all of which he served long and faithfully, will be praised by better men than I, but I, personally, have cause never to forget him, as he taught me to ring and told me all I know of conducting, usually in long walks after service ringing.

So the Exercise has lost another of the old school who regard good striking as a normal thing to be expected of any ringer—a thing we can ill afford to lose, because, as he was so fond of saying, 'So many people these days don't seem to have a pair of ears!'

Our sympathies go out to Mrs. Johnson, and also to Freda and Peter.

OBITUARY

Mr. David Priestley Killed In Road Accident

With deep regret we record that Mr. David Priestley, of 36, Portland Road, Rushden, Northants, was killed in a road accident at Altrincham, Cheshire, on Oct. 20th. He was 23.

Mr. Priestley, who had been in training to become a nuclear engineer, was travelling from Scotland where he had been undergoing a course. It is not known whether he was going to Chester, where he was soon to have taken up a new appointment, or whether he was on his way home to Rushden. It is believed that he died instantly when his car was in a head-on collision with another vehicle.

He had a brilliant career at London University, where he gained a first-class honours degree in engineering.

David learned to handle a bell in 1953 at Higham Ferrers in readiness for the restoration, with addition of two trebles, of Rushden St. Mary's bells. He had since become one of the most outstanding ringers and conductors of the younger generation of the Wellingborough Branch of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild. While at London University he acted for a term as secretary of the University Guild, making many new ringing friends.

Coming so quickly after the sudden death of Mr. John L. Morris, David's tragic death will come as a shock to these friends. Although outstanding at school and at the University, he was sincere and modest, quiet and very likeable. David's father later learned to ring and is now in charge at Rushden. All who know the family will deeply sympathise with them.

Mr. Henry Dew

Members of St. Matthew's Church, Buckley, Flintshire, read with sorrow of the passing of Mr. Henry Dew. It was he who trained the Buckley company when it was formed at Easter, 1903, and to such good effect that they rang their first peal of Stedman Triples on Sept. 24th, 1904. He held two practice nights a week, and in those days travelled up from Chester, which was not as easy as it is today. Several of the original band are still alive, and it was from them that I learnt of the skill of Henry Dew.

CHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD HONOUR RETIRING SECRETARY

THE Chester Diocesan Guild's annual dinner on October 11th was a highly successful function, and 152 members and friends enjoyed an excellent meal served in the usual efficient manner by Messrs. Bollands, followed by an entertainment to match the meal.

The loyal toast was honoured and after a short interval the proceedings began with a course of Grandsire Caters on handbells. Then followed the toast of 'The Chester Diocesan Guild,' proposed by the Rector of Eccleston (the Rev. E. B. Jones). In a most entertaining manner he assured the company that until that morning he knew nothing about ringers except that they were a friendly crowd. He now knew no more!

When he came to Eccleston he discovered that ringers were nearer to Heaven than anyone else in the parish—55 steps nearer! He described in lurid detail an attempt of his to ring a bell at Eccleston, which had resulted in his being deposited in the font. He now claimed to be the only clergyman who had been in the font twice.

On his first week-end in Eccleston a band rang a peal for the 89th birthday of one of his ringers, Mr. Samuel Jones, who was still able to make short work of the belfry steps. He was interested to learn that ladies had now invaded the belfry though at his own tower no lady had yet presented herself. He wished the Guild well and concluded 'May it long flourish!'

The Master (Mr. J. W. Clarke), who responded, referred to the Rector's attempt to ring a bell and remarked that he had found a unique landing place. The floor was usually considered good enough! He could say that the Guild was in a satisfactory state, as the present company bore out. He had received a telegram from Mrs. Kingdon, reading 'Deeply regret absence: best wishes to all.' He was sure that the Rev. J. Kingdon, recently retired general secretary, would convey to her the Guild's greetings and good wishes.

Recently some people had found strange places to ring peals—on a compost heap, on a canal bank in a thunderstorm. An interjection that a member of the Guild took part was greeted with cries of 'Shame!' The Master concluded by thanking the Rector for proposing the toast and honed that he would learn to ring a bell without being deposited in the font.

PRESENTATIONS

Halfway through the proceedings a presentation of a book on the Great Western Railway and a cheque was made to the Rev. John Kingdon, lately general secretary and treasurer of the Guild. In making the presentation, the Master said it was difficult to find words to express all they felt, now that the time had come to say farewell. For 11 years he had carried out his duties with the precision and interest which one expected in a secretary and treasurer but did not always get. Never since the days of the Rev. A. T. Beeston had the Guild been served so faithfully. Mr. Kingdon was a worthy successor.

Mr. Kingdon came to Cheshire in 1937 from the mission field, to Bollington, where he took up ringing. It was not often that someone who took up the art late in life made a success of it—Mr. Kingdon was the exception. But that was typical; whatever he tried he invariably made a success of it. The Guild's position in the Exercise was very largely due to him. He was sorry that the time had come to part with him, but the time to retire was when one was fit to enjoy it. Many of the members were perhaps not aware that Mr. Kingdon was a railway enthusiast. In fact, in his study three books were close to his elbow—the Bible, the Prayer Book and Bradshaw's Railway Guide. On behalf of all members he wished him many happy years of retirement and expressed the hope that he would come back to see them. He also presented him with a picture of the Norfolk coast for Mrs. Kingdon.

Mr. John Worth, on behalf of the long-peal band who rang at his request, his farewell peal, presented Mr. Kingdon with a photograph of himself with the band. As Mr. Kingdon's proposer for Guild membership, he suggested that the Guild confer on him life membership. This was received with acclamation.

The Rev. John Kingdon was obviously affected by the occasion, and thanked the Master for the kind things he had said about him, which he felt were undeserved. He commented that some members paid their peal fees rather on the hire purchase system! The Master had asked him to come back and see the Guild after retirement. Well, here he was, just 11 days after retirement. He could scarcely do better than that!

RAILWAY ENTHUSIAST

His interest in railways was a family failing. His father had passed it on to him and he had passed it on to his son, who in turn had passed it on to his son, who at a very young age could differentiate between electric, diesel and steam trains. He thanked the long-peal band for his farewell peal and the memento. He was proud to be associated with that long peal, which was rung under proper conditions for a record peal. It was rung in a church tower; the bells could be clearly heard outside; and it was rung without refreshment.

He had come into contact with the Guild in the first place through the Macclesfield ringers but it was not until the end of the war that he realised that he could himself take up the art. He could ring a few simple methods but his main concern had been in teaching young people to ring for service. He was sorry to leave the area of the Guild, where he had encountered nothing but friendship.

Mr. A. R. Elkins, Deputy Master, in proposing the toast of 'Church and State,' referred to the Church as the oldest of our nationalised bodies, as it was nationalised by that great monarch Henry VIII., whose famous daughter, Elizabeth, made England a force in the world. Her reign was often referred to as a Golden Age, and was not the present reign the beginning of a Golden Age? In Tudor days ringing was in its infancy but now bells had become part of the warp and woof of our way of life.

The Rev. A. L. Minns, replying to the toast, made the point that the clergy were still officers of the State in so far as they periodically made returns to the Registrar General. He himself had been a ringer for some 30 years but had never had the good fortune to be at a church with a ring of bells. At one church, where they had one bell, he had rung it so lustily that the resident pigeons had strongly objected. Whereupon the churchwardens had arranged for the louvres to be covered, much to the delight of the local pigeon fanciers, who reported the return of birds which had been missing for years. In his present church two bells were hanging by threads and four were lying on the floor. They were building a new church in a new neighbourhood, which would have a tower, and he jocularly suggested that someone might like to have the bells hung there. Ringers served both Church and State and were proud of the connection.

The speeches were interspersed with musical items by Messrs. Taylor and Boyer, tune ringing by the Macclesfield and Wirral Handbell Ringers, and the gathering closed with a course of Bob Major on handbells and the singing of the National Anthem.

A valuable addition to the Guild's possessions is a beautiful handbell presented by Messrs. John Taylor and Co. and used to good effect by the Master in calling the meeting to order.

GUILD of DEVONSHIRE RINGERS

Branch Meeting At Buckfast Abbey

The Mid-Devon Branch held its usual autumn meeting at Buckfast Abbey on October 18th, when it was well supported by the Branch members, and visitors from North and South Devon and Kent.

Everyone had the opportunity to ring on these magnificent bells, whilst the more experienced ringers, together with three members of the community, rang touches of Grandsire and Plain Bob Triples, and a course each of Stedman Caters and Plain Bob Royal. A short service was later held in the Violet Evelyn Institute, conducted by the Rev. J. W. Timms, Vicar of Buckfastleigh.

After a bountiful tea in the Parish Hall, an excellent course of Plain Bob Major was rung on handbells by three of the Abbey ringers, with the help of Mr. W. Simmonds, of Torquay. A short business meeting followed, with the president (Preb. E. V. Cox) in the chair. Five new performing members and one non-resident member were elected, and it was resolved to hold the annual meeting at All Saints', Babbacombe, on January 3rd. The usual vote of thanks was carried.

THE BELLS OF ST. CLEMENT'S

THIS historic ring of bells has now been re-cast and rehung and, with the beautifully restored Wren church was reconsecrated on Sunday, October 19th, by the Bishop of London in the presence of H.M. the Queen and other members of the Royal Family, together with high-ranking officers of the R.A.F., for whom the church is to serve as a permanent memorial to airmen of the Commonwealth Air Forces who lost their lives in the war.

The service of reconsecration will have been witnessed by many through the medium of TV and the usual newspaper and periodical reviews and pictures followed the occasion. Ringers, however, may like to have a more detailed account of the work which has been carried out.

The original ring of eight was cast by Philip Wightman in 1693 and the tenor weighed 22¼ cwt., in E flat.

In 1843-44 George Oliver, of Whitechapel, recast the fifth and added two trebles to make the 10, which were so familiar to pre-war Londoners. In addition, there was a small clock bell cast by Robert Mot, of Whitechapel, in 1588.

St. Clement Danes' tower is not a large one but the old 10 were hung in one tier, level with the louvred sound openings and occupied all the available space. They were a nice ringing 10 with a character of their own, and were rung regularly by the Ancient Society of College Youths, the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths and the London County Association.

RESTORATION AFTER BLITZ

At the beginning of the war they were taken down and stored at the base of the tower, but at the height of the blitz when the tower and church were enveloped in flames and so much heavy timber crashed to the bottom, it is said that they became hot and the firemen's hoses cracked them. Soon after the loss of his famous church and bells the Rector, the Rev. W. Pennington-Bickford, died, many said from a broken heart. When examined on removal, seven of the bells had large visible cracks and the other three were doubtful. It was therefore decided to recast them all. The old clock bell, however, was not cracked, and this had been preserved as a five-minute bell.

The tower had suffered considerably, and the architect (Mr. W. A. S. Lloyd) was very concerned as to its safety. A scheme was prepared by the Whitechapel Foundry which placed the bells in a two-tier iron and steel frame at the level of the old ringing chamber, some 18 feet lower than before, and with this plan the engineers were in agreement, and the work was started in 1955. The bells are now a ring of 10 (tenor 21 cwt. 1 qr. 17 lb., in the key of E), with a flat fourth, hung dead for carillon use only.

ELECTRIC CARILLON MACHINES

The old carillon machine and clock were cumbersome things placed in a chamber beneath the ringers, with wires going up one wall through the ringing chamber to the belfry, and the clock winders had to make daily visits to keep the machines going.

All this has been replaced with an electrically-wound timepiece driving the four stone dials with miniature quarter and hour striking units, made by Messrs. Thwaites and Reed, of Clerkenwell.

Messrs. Mears and Stainbank made the three electric carillon machines, which are small motor-driven brass cylinders pegged to play 'Oranges and Lemons,' the R.A.F. March and the hymn tune 'Old Hundredth.' The pegs operate switches which, through relays, energise large solenoids connected mechanically to the bell hammers. The miniature quarter and hour strike mechanisms work on the same electric hammers.

There are two hammers to each bell, which are permanently poised and are, therefore, clear of all ringing gear. A simple tumbler switch in the ringing chamber, with red and green indicator lights, renders chimes and tunes inoperable during ringing.

The whole makes a neat and impressive installation and the tone and 'go' are excellent. If there be any criticism at all it is that the fifth and sixth ropes fall rather close to the north wall, but this was unavoidable as the engineers were insistent that a clear passage should be left along the south side of the frame to allow maintenance men to get to the air-conditioning plant in the roof of the church.

The band of serving or ex-R.A.F. ringers who rang Stedman and Grandsire Caters for the reconsecration service were, unfortunately, not heard on radio or TV, as the bells had to be lowered by 11 o'clock. But it is to be hoped that it will not be long before many more people have the opportunity to hear and ring on this latest addition to London's restored towers.

ST. JOHN AT HACKNEY

This church, which contained a ring of eight (tenor 24 cwt. in E flat), by Robert Patrick at the Whitechapel Foundry in 1786, was destroyed by fire in May, 1955. The bell-frame and fittings were badly damaged, but although the bells were not seriously damaged, the calamity presented the church with an excellent opportunity for remedying what had been a badly-oscillating tower.

St. John's Church was built in 1797 to replace the 14th century building, the tower of which still stands nearby. The tower was added in about the 1820's and was raised on the portico of the new church. The old eight were then transferred and were rung from the new tower for the first time on October 22nd, 1854. Considerable movement occurred when the bells were rung, particularly at the junction between the tower and the portico.

Under the direction of the architect, Mr. William C. Lock, and the consulting engineer, Mr. Douglas Weare, the tower has now been considerably strengthened and the position of the bell-frame lowered. The bells have been recast at Whitechapel into a new ring of eight, with the tenor 16 cwt. 1 qr. 6 lb. in F.

From tests made at the summit of the tower recently, it was found that the movement was now negligible and the 'go' and tone of the new bells are all that could be desired.

They were dedicated by the Bishop of Stepney on October 21st—almost 104 years to the day from the time when the old ring first rang from the new tower.

BATH AND WELLS DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

The problem of 'The empty belfry,' 'The depleted band' and 'The unringable bells'

The Bath and Wells Diocesan Association, one of the largest Associations in the country, is preparing a vigorous attack on these problems. Already a scheme has been launched to make good instruction available wherever it is needed, and really helpful grants to be made for the restoration and repair of bells.

This is taking the form of a new scale of affiliation fees, which aims at more positive recognition of the Association by all Parochial Church Councils in the diocese and a greater awareness, by the Church, of the contribution of ringers to the life of the Church.

One of the first practical problems to be solved in this campaign was the production of a suitable form of standard instruction, which would teach recruits to handle a bell correctly and with good style, and teach them the basic need—that of ringing good rounds and raising and lowering a bell in peal to perfection.

A booklet has been written and printed for this purpose and will now be available, free of charge, to every new recruit coming into the belfries of the diocese. Its style is simple and direct, and it will be followed by a companion booklet teaching the first steps to change-ringing.

Whilst the booklet is primarily for the use of the Bath and Wells diocese, it will be available at a modest charge to any others who may be interested.

It is hoped that the not-too-distant-future all the bells in the Diocese will be ringing, and fully manned by resident bands.

ARCHDEACONRY OF STAFFORD

The autumn meeting of the Society on October 11th was held at Brewood, a pleasant country village with a fine parish church, in the tower of which is hung one of the best 'eights' in the West Midlands (tenor 21 cwt.).

The attendance of 89 must have been very gratifying to the Rev. S. D. Austerberry, Vicar, who conducted the service and gave the address, and to Mr. C. S. Dumbell, who made the arrangements for this most enjoyable meeting.

A bountiful tea was kindly provided by the Brewood ringers and their wives. As one ringer remarked afterwards, it was well worth coming to a meeting at Brewood just for the tea alone. In view of the fact that no charge had been made for tea, a collection was taken, and this resulted in over £4 being handed to the Vicar towards Brewood Church funds.

R.A.F. APPRENTICES' TOUR

A group of bell-ringers from the Wendover and R.A.F., Halton, apprentices' sections toured eight towers in the Cambridge area on September 27th.

The towers visited were: Ickleton, Duxford, Whittlesford, Little Shelford, Harston, Meldreth, Melbourn and Royston, approximately one hour being given to each tower. The tour proved very enjoyable.

Methods rung were: Grandsire Triples, Plain Bob Maior, Grandsire Doubles, Plain Bob Minor, Plain Bob Doubles, St. Simon's, St. Martin's, St. Nicholas', Reverse Canterbury, Reverse St. Bartholomew, Stedman, Grandsire Minor.

JASPER SNOWDON COMMEMORATION DINNER

THE 26th Jasper Snowdon commemoration dinner was held at the Griffin Hotel, Leeds, on October 11th. Prior to the dinner there was general ringing at St. Michael's and St. Chad's, Headingley, St. Lawrence's, Pudsey, and St. Francis', Holbeck. Two peal attempts also took place, one of which—Bristol Surprise at Horbury—was successful. The 12 bells of Leeds Parish Church were unfortunately not available owing to the presence of television engineers in connection with the Leeds Musical Festival Week, which commenced on this day.

The president of the Association, Ven. C. O. Ellison, Archdeacon of Leeds, presided at this friendly gathering of 115 ringers and friends, supported by the general secretary, Mr. L. W. G. Morris, Messrs. S. F. Palmer and W. Barton (trustees), Mr. W. E. Critchley (peal secretary) and District secretaries Messrs. E. Hudson, J. J. L. Gilbert, H. S. Morley and A. E. Marsh. Principal guests included Mr. E. A. Barnett (secretary of the Central Council) and Mrs. Barnett, and Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Smallwood.

The president gave the loyal toast and then read messages of greetings and good wishes from Miss Margaret E. Snowdon and from the Association treasurer, Mr. G. Benfield, who is at present in the United States.

The first and principal toast to the memory of the late Jasper Whitfield Snowdon and past officers of the Association was proposed by Mr. W. Barton. Mr. Barton commenced by quoting a verse from the well-known hymn:—

> 'Time, like an ever-rolling stream,
> Bears all its sons away;
> They fly forgotten, as a dream
> Dies at the opening day.'

These words, he said, precede the obituary biography of Jasper Whitfield Snowdon in the Yorkshire Association report for 1885. They were not, however, well chosen, for the name of Snowdon will be remembered as long as church bells are rung by human agency and text books are needed to instruct pupils in the intricacies of our art. His name will live on long after the paint wears off the peal board in Pudsey (the speaker's) tower, which records Snowdon's 129th and last peal.

ACT OF PENANCE

Jasper was no ordinary man. Following every peal that he rang, he would sponge himself down with cold water. It is difficult to understand why a man should spend three hours bringing his body up to a warm and pleasant glow and then reduce it to freezing point with cold water. Did he regard it as an act of penance for the annoyance caused to those people living near the church who had to endure three hours of Treble Bob? Was the weather milder in those days or were ringers made of sterner stuff?

Jasper was also very fond of walking—not just gentle strolls through the countryside, but long treks lasting for days. He once walked from Leeds to London, a journey which took him six days. On arrival he partook of a hurried meal and caught the next train back to Leeds. We in the north can understand his eagerness to get away from London—what we cannot understand is why he should want to go there at all!

During his presidency of the Yorkshire Association, Snowdon made himself responsible for the compilation of the annual report, a task which he carried out single-handed. At one time he was seriously concerned at the number of members who had not paid their subscriptions. He tackled this problem by listing the names and towers of all defaulting members in the report, following which the subscriptions simply rolled in.

Mr. Barton went on to refer to several other past officers of the Association. One who would be remembered personally by most of those present was the late Canon Marshall, that genial parson ringer, a true son of the Church, who by his wisdom, tact and keen sense of judgment guided the affairs of the Association so successfully for many years.

Then there was that delightful person Jimmy Cotterill, for 28 years treasurer of the Association. Jimmy was a great ringer and conductor, and called the then record length (10,400 changes) of Treble Bob Major. His untimely death in 1935, whilst preparing to go to the annual general meeting at Doncaster, was a tragic blow to the Yorkshire Association.

He was followed in office by Sid Palmer, who continued to serve as treasurer for 17 years. Happily enough he is still with us and, at 84 years of age, still takes an active part in ringing.

One of the most proficient conductors of Grandsire and Stedman there has ever been, and secretary of the Association during the early part of the first World War, was Clement Glenn. Although exiled from ringing for more than 20 years, his peal total reached about 500, 376 of which were rung for the Yorkshire Association, and of these he conducted 288. When, in 1914, the Association was divided into four districts, most of the work of reorganisation fell on his shoulders—and how well he carried out this task.

This toast is, of course, intended to embrace all past officers of the Association, and Mr. Barton mentioned such names as William Snowdon, Charles Henry Hattersley, George Bolland, Charles Jackson, Percy Cooper, Frank Rayment, Fred Hutchinson, William Ambler, George Lewis, Francis Willey, Fred Cryer, Arthur West, Ted Cawser, Arthur Haigh, Leonard Brightman, Bernard Cook and Fred Clark.

PERCY JOHNSON

'But there is one other whom I feel I ought to mention, one who would have been here tonight had his health permitted. In fact, I think this is the first Snowdon dinner he has missed—our old friend, my personal friend, Percy Johnson. Percy, the sergeant-major of the belfry, whose voice has struck fear and terror into the heart and bosom of many a young ringer, but whose bark was worse than his bite. Many youngsters have profited by his mode of teaching—they couldn't do otherwise if they did as he said. Those of us who have known Percy down the years have known him as an excellent ringer, a first-rate conductor, and one who has always preached and stressed that good striking is the sole criterion of good ringing. But there are still a few of us knocking around who remember him also as the secretary who brought order out of chaos.

'Mr. Johnson took on the job of general secretary just after the first World War. Clement Glenn was the secretary in the early part of the war, but he left hurriedly to join the Navy, and that caused a certain amount of disruption. He was followed in office by an exceedingly capable man—Mr. Harry Williams, of Headingley—a good man, but one who just had not the time to give to the office, and things got rather out of hand. The issue of the annual report had ceased, not through any fault of the secretary, but because of restrictions and cost. But material which should have gone in the reports had accumulated, papers were lost or mislaid, the books were incomplete. Then there was the worry about the Northern District which, so far as the Association was concerned, was then absolutely dead. Not a single officer remained in the District. That was the position when Mr. Johnson took hold. Then, shortly afterwards, there was discontent and threats of resignations from up and down the county because the committee had been compelled to cancel resident life membership in order to keep the Association going; in fact, some individuals and some whole companies did resign when they knew that they had to start paying subscriptions again.

'But Mr. Johnson tackled this problem in the same fearless and forthright manner in which he seems to tackle everything. He defied or ignored his critics—and they were not a few—and in 1921 a report was issued which covered all the lapsed years from 1916 onwards. I am not saying that that report was faultless, it couldn't be from the material that was available; I grant that it was published at a loss, but it did more than any other single factor to put the Association on an even keel after the upset of the first World War. Granted there was depleted membership; but that, to a large extent, was rectified before Mr. Johnson relinquished office. But that was not all. There was the inauguration of these commemoration dinners in 1922, of which Mr. Johnson was the progenitor.'

Mr. Barton then formally proposed the toast 'Jasper Whitfield Snowdon and Past Officers of the Yorkshire Association.'

A fitting response to this toast was given in a course of Grandsire Caters on handbells by Messrs. W. E. Critchley, W. F. Moreton, W. Barton, L. W. G. Morris and J. Ambler.

THE VISITORS

The toast of 'The Visitors' was then proposed by Mrs. C. C. Marshall, this being the first occasion upon which the annual dinner had been addressed by a lady speaker. As a 'mere woman' Mrs. Marshall welcomed to Yorkshire, representing the Ladies' Guild, Mrs. Barnett, who had 'brought along' her husband, Mr. E. A. Barnett (secretary of the Central Council); also Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Smallwood, the Rev. J. Wylie (Vicar of St. Chad's, Headingley) and other visitors.

Mr. E. A. Barnett responded on behalf of the visitors. He assured Mrs. Marshall that he was not one of those who thought that north of Birmingham lay the frozen wastes—surely, this started at St. Albans! As a Southerner, he felt like a Daniel in the lions' den, but nevertheless it gave him great pleasure to be present at this, one of the main ringers' dinners of the year, and to meet again so many old friends.

Mr. Barnett then referred to Miss Margaret Snowdon, and said that it was he who had had the pleasure of seconding her election as an honorary life member of the Central Council—the greatest honour which could be bestowed upon one who had never previously been a member, and one which she well deserved.

Between the speeches the company was entertained with musical items by Mr. Edward Yorke (tenor).

The president thanked Mr. A. E. Marsh for his assistance in organising the dinner.

CAMBRIDGE UNIVERSITY GUILD'S WEEK AT BRISTOL

I SUPPOSE the only trouble with Cambridge Guild Weeks is that they are too infrequent. It seems a pity to have such a grand time only once a year. This year's Ringing Week, organised by Tony Cleaver, was no exception. Friday and Saturday, August 22nd and 23rd, saw members travelling to Exeter, where they assembled outside the west door of the Cathedral at 3.15. We started for Stedman Cinques but as the ringing was not worthy of such magnificent bells Frank Haynes called it round after 1 hour and 50 minutes. Afterwards a good touch of Spliced Surprise was rung on the Thomas eight and we made our way back to Bristol, our centre for the week.

THE RINGING MACHINE

'It wasn't the size
Which occasioned surprise.'

Sunday being a day of rest, we rose at 7.30 a.m., ate a hearty breakfast and went to Redcliffe, where we were made welcome, and a touch of Stedman Cinques was rung on the fine 12. Later in the morning we rang at St. Matthew's, Kingsdown, and then, after lunch, went to the home of our organiser, where Brian Price's ringing machine had been set up. Members had great fun here persuading it to ring 'Glasgow,' though 'Big Bob' proved elusive. Mrs. Cleaver did very well, providing tea for about 20 of us—many thanks!

Later in the week the ringing machine was moved to headquarters.

It would be difficult, if not impossible, to speak too highly of this magnificent engine, developing, as it does, some 10-bell power. The machine can ring anything on six, eight or ten bells containing a repeating block no longer than a lead of treble ten. When in the hands of its inventor it behaves perfectly.

Monday morning started the Guild Week in earnest. The first tower was the fine eight at Chewton Mendip, where the peal band arrived in haste, rang a lead of Original Triples, and left, in similar haste, for Mells, where a peal of Cambridge was rung. In the afternoon the Guild assembled at Wells for ringing on the grand ten there. Inside they are not too easy to hear, but although the back bells are deep set they had few vices. We returned via Cheddar (8) and the famous Gorge, the younger and keener members going on to Bath Abbey for practice.

Tuesday began early with Corporate Communion. We then divided into two parties—most going to Keynsham and All Saints', Weston, while a peal band set out to tour Bristol in the hope of finding the Marshfield road. This was eventually located, Marshfield reached and a peal of Yorkshire rung. A peal of Cambridge was lost in the afternoon, but others enjoyed themselves in Bath. Later Cambridge Royal was scored at St. Stephen's, Bristol.

CONSCIENTIOUS STRIKING

Wednesday was a successful day though unfortunately we could not ring at Gloucester Cathedral. A peal of Bristol was rung at Almondsbury—a fine eight which can be heard so perfectly in the tower that any blow which is not perfect 'stands out a mile for all to hear' and shames its striker. The afternoon was spent losing a peal at Wotton-under-Edge and ringing on the fine and historic 12 at Painswick. Invigorated, no doubt, by the drive back, we reached headquarters in good time and excellent form for the business meeting. During the course of the meeting it was unanimously agreed to send wishes for a speedy recovery to Major J. H R. Freeborn, who had unfortunately sprained his ankle earlier in the week.

Thursday heard ringing on the fine eight at Ditcheat, the 10 at Yeovil and a peal attempt at Sherborne. Here the noise in the ringing chamber was so great that when one member wanted to alter his rope, and the conductor bellowed 'Stand!' in his best stack-yard voice, two of the band promptly went into changes. Stedman Triples came to grief after half an hour. A practice followed and then a tea as leisurely as luncheon had been.

THE GRAPES OF WRATH

The rest of the party had gone round by Milborne Port and Wincanton and we joined them at Queen Camel. Someone bought some grapes and having offered them round, discovered what fun there was in watching people dispose of the pips, stalks and skins. One had no trouble at all; he spat a pip out in the donor's face, though outside the tower, I hardly need add. In the tower the bells were raised and soon Cambridge Minor was being rung. In view of the number of tenor men and would-be tenor men, most of the ringing was Minor, though a course of Stedman Doubles was rung.

The evening was spent as guests of Frank Hansford at Redcliffe. Half a course of Cambridge Maximus and some touches of Cinques were rung with members of the Redcliffe band.

On Friday morning we said goodbye to several of the party and then divided, one party going to Long Ashton and, after a great deal of searching, Barrow Gurney and Portishead, while the rest went for a peal of Bob Major at Blagdon. The bearings were dry, unfortunately, and Bob Major was called round after a quarter peal, the tenor man being wet through by this time. Brian Price then took blackboard and chalk and, putting on his schoolmaster's manner, he explained a new principle to us, which we rang. I don't want to start three months' acrimonious correspondence, but we called it 'Blagdon Triples.' The Rector of Blagdon invited us round for lunch, and I think few of the band had any regrets about the last peal as we enjoyed his excellent hospitality.

Congresbury in the afternoon presented an interesting feature—small tower— typical ground floor ring—a light eight, no doubt, and a tenor of 35 cwt. so deep set that it took two to pull it off. Here the advance party joined London University Society and several touches were rung together.

During the afternoon another party had set out for London at Clevedon and they joined us in high glee at Chew Magna. They had rung a good peal and one of the band was so delighted that he had stood drinks all round.

The evening was spent over dinner, enjoying steak and chips, and other relaxations. Saturday saw a peal attempt at Cirencester, which I believe was successful, but most of us were bound for home carrying memories of another wonderful week, and thanks to Tony Cleaver for his organisation, and all the incumbents who had made it possible.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Meeting At Maidstone

The annual District meeting at Maidstone on October 11th provided a good opportunity for ringing on the new bells, recast and rehung by Taylors a few months ago. About 50 members attended the service, conducted by the Vicar (Canon F. Bennett), during which a course of Grandsire Triples on handbells was rung.

At the business meeting, 13 new members were elected. The secretary's report and statement of accounts showed that in spite of a slight drop in membership, there was plenty of evidence of healthy activity in the District.

All the officers were re-elected, viz.: District secretary, R. L. Sills; District representatives, A. Waddington and W. R. Manser; 'The Ringing World' representative, P. M. Town.

A list of meetings for next year was finally adopted, and it was decided that the annual coach tour should be to Essex.

There was unanimous support for the Central Council survey of Sunday service ringing, and it was decided that the forms be sent out so that replies would be received before the November committee meeting.

A vote of thanks was expressed to the Vicar and the ringers of All Saints' and St. Michael's for arranging the meeting and preparing the tea.

Methods rung ranged from Grandsire Triples to Cambridge Surprise Royal.

OBITUARY

MR. C. E. JONES

The Manchester District has lost in Mr. C. E. Jones, a ringer who was connected with St. Peter's Church, Swinton, for the past 35 years, but owing to ill-health had not been ringing for the past two years. He was a very welcome visitor at surrounding towers. The funeral was at Swinton Parish Church on October 17th, and was attended by ringing friends.

OUTINGS

EAST GRINSTEAD GUILD

This year's outing on September 13th was a great success as it was one of the few fine days of the summer. Ringing at the first tower—St. Mary's, Portsea—unfortunately had to be curtailed because of a wedding. Promptly at 1.30 we presented ourselves at Portsmouth Cathedral, where Miss Knight and Roger Baldwin had the bells up and waiting; but we did not do justice to these lovely ten, and the best ringing was some Yorkshire Major.

Mr. Daughtry was waiting at Arundel, where most of the party had a ring and wandered off to see the town and castle before tea. One little group was nearly killed in the process: they were crossing the Arun bridge when a car swerved on to the pavement, pinning a man against the wall. Some of the ringers had a narrow escape.

After a good tea at the White Hart, a move was made to Angmering, where we had to help ourselves to the bells. Mr. Haffenden gave us a friendly welcome to Goring tower, which has the heaviest six in Sussex. These bells were rung to various Minor methods. A leisurely journey home completed a happy day. C. A. B.

FRAMSDEN HALF-DAY TRIP

October 11th was the annual half-day tour for the Framsden and District party. For the first time this took the form of a mystery tour, which was truly run to Eaton Socon and Biggleswade, where an excellent tea was awaiting the party. Ringing here after tea, some of the party saw the organiser's letter appropriately fixed up in the belfry revealing St. Paul's, Bedford, as the last call of the day, to the delight of all. Ringing ranged from rounds to Spliced Surprise, Stedman Triples and Caters, and Cambridge Royal. Home was reached by some around 2.30 a.m. after 14 hours and 190 miles covered.

HARPENDEN, HERTS

Some of the ringers of Harpenden Parish Church had a very enjoyable day on October 11th, when they visited some of the out of the way towers in Hertfordshire. In the morning, Datchworth, Little and Great Munden and Standon—a lovely six in an unusual tower—were visited. After a picnic lunch came Westmill, where Audrey Bailey, who had joined us for the trip, was able to say 'This is all' to the towers of Hertfordshire (congratulations, Audrey!); Aspenden, the only eight of the day; Ardeley and Weston. A quick cup of tea, and with numbers slightly depleted, on to St. Ippolyts, and so to the last tower of the day, King's Walden. Mr. A. Day expressed a vote of thanks to the incumbents and to the local ringers. M. A. C.

Dear Sir,—When I was a lad none of the blooded veterans who followed the hounds would condescend to accept a drink at the inn during a hunt from a lad or any stranger who had not proved his worth as a huntsman. I do not doubt that in the circles of bell-ringers the same principles applied. I can well believe that no band of Stedman ringers would accept a round of drinks from some novice who bumped his stay every other pull, and could not keep his place in rounds, let alone hunt the treble through a plain course of Grandsire. But the day would come when the pupil would be able to raise the tenor in peal and maybe call a touch of Spliced Surprise. How proud he would then feel to be allowed to buy a round of drinks for the rest of the band and, indeed, 'pay his footing.'

Inevitably there would be people and localities with whom or in which the paying of a footing could be carried to excess, and to safeguard against over-drinking or over-spending the institution of a footing fee became a very wise precaution, temperance being better than intolerance. But with the change in our approach to conviviality old customs are dying out. There are, however, still many amongst us who appreciate the labour of our mentors in bringing us to our present standard of proficiency, and appreciate, too, the tolerance of those who stand in with us to ring a touch of this or that. In such company it is indeed an honour to be allowed to pay our footing; and what an honour I would esteem it to be allowed to pay my footing in the company of such as William Shepherd.—Yours sincerely,

HENRY ALLEN.

Leamington Spa.

MR. W. C. GILLINGHAM

Dear Sir,—The Mr. William C. Gillingham whom Mr. Crook recently met in Canada was born in November 1889, and his father, also a William C. Gillingham, was well known at St. Margaret's, Ipswich, where he chimed the bells for Sunday services for a period of 28 years. His son rang quite a number of peals under the conductorship of the famous James Motts, including a peal of Kent Maximus a few days after his 17th birthday. His last peal in England was a peal of Superlative Surprise Major on April 23rd, 1907. The family left England on May 2nd for Canada.—Yours sincerely,

WM. SHEPHERD.

Addlestone, Surrey.

Sir,—The W. C. Gillingham referred to in Belfry Gossip, October 17th, came of an Ipswich ringing family; his uncle, Charles H. Gillingham, rang in the first peal of Cambridge Maximus. He left England for Canada in 1907, having then rung 21 peals; he came back in 1912 to be married at St. Margaret's, Ipswich, on March 2nd, when a peal was rung to mark the occasion. Before returning to Canada he rang the fourth at St. Mary-le-Tower to a peal of Kent Treble Bob Maximus. I don't think he has ever been back again; neither, as far as I know, is any of the family left in the town.—Yours faithfully,

CHAS. J. SEDGLEY.

Ipswich.

A correspondent asks: What is the correct weight of the tenor at Wiveliscombe, Somerset? He points out that when the first peal was rung after the recent restoration the tenor was published as 19¼ cwt. Dove has since made it grow to 20 cwt.. and the conductor of a more recent peal to 23 cwt.

THE RINGING WORLD

OFFICIAL JOURNAL OF THE CENTRAL COUNCIL OF CHURCH BELL RINGERS

'The Ringing World' was founded in the year 1911 by John Sparkes Goldsmith, who remained its proprietor and editor until his death in 1942.

No. 2484 Vol. LIV FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 7, 1958 Registered at the G.P.O. for transmission as a newspaper. 6d.

POINTS FROM RECENT PEALS

SINCE the last article in this series, the following towers have recorded their first peals—some claimed as such, and some not: Kentisbeare (Devon), Standon (Staffs), Boroughbridge (Yorks), Kirk Deighton (Yorks), Edgmond (Salop), St. Juliot (Cornwall), South Scarle (Notts), Tintagel (Cornwall), Lelant (Cornwall) and Heveningham (Suffolk). That means quite a good number this time. I suppose the day will come when all pealable towers will have been pealed, but there is plenty of scope yet, especially amongst the 6- and 5-bell towers.

As a point of interest, the numbers of 'unconquered' rings I make as follows: 12 bells, one; 10 bells, one; 8 bells, 29; 6 bells, 482; 5 bells, 514. These figures are for the British Isles only. Thus there are still over 1,000 churches where a peal has not yet been rung—nearly 20 per cent. of the total number with rings of bells. Of the 6-bell towers, 160 of them are in Devon and a further 48 in Cornwall (seven of the 8-bell towers are also in Devon). This will probably be expected, although it may cause some surprise to know that the third south western county, Somerset, has had peals on 170 of its 181 6-bell towers—a very high proportion indeed. Actually, there are still more than half the towers of Devon which are virgin territory. Somerset (50), closely followed by Suffolk (49), are the counties with the greatest number of unpealed 5-bell towers. Northamptonshire has most of these, but has had peals on 67 of the 94. At the other extreme, not one of the 33 5-bell towers of Devon has had a peal rung in it! No county has had peals on all its rings, although a few have on all those which are ringable. Counties with the fewest virgin towers are: Cheshire (3), Durham (2), Leicestershire (3), Middlesex (2), Northumberland (3), Surrey (2) and Sussex (3). At the other end of the scale, as indicated above, Devon has more unconquered rings than most counties have towers!

Now to return to our usual story. One or two corrections of footnotes are called for. The peal at Barnard Castle, believed to be the second on the bells and the first of Major, is not quite right, I fear. There have been two previous peals—Stedman Triples in 1906, and Kent T.B. Major in 1912; so this was the third. This tower has the longest peal silence since our last review. Likewise there had been a previous peal in seven Doubles methods at Litlington (Cambs). This was the first peal on the bells in 1921. Seven Minor methods had also been rung at Edith-Weston previously, and as recently as 1954, when the last peal before the recent one was rung.

After Barnard Castle, Elford has been the longest without a peal. There had been just the first peal on the bells in 1922 previously. Mr. Wilfred Williams' North of England and Scottish tour broke the peal silence of several towers. Dundee (St. Mary's) and Leith had not been heard since 1927. The former now has scored four peals and the latter two. Carlisle, St. Stephen's, had its last peal in 1931 (five in all now), and Cockermouth its last in 1933 (seven in all now). As was noted in Belfry Gossip, Tamworth has had a long silence. The recent peal broke the silence of 31 years. The tower was quite popular early on: 20 peals were rung from 1884 to 1896, 13 from 1905 to 1915 and four from 1920 to 1927, so its total is now 38.

Wootton, Northants, last had a peal in 1931; the first was in 1907, and there have been eight altogether now. Sharow's last was in 1932. There have been ten here, the first as far back as 1887. It was in the year 1933 that Potton and Payhembury were last seen in the peal columns (as the footnote claimed in the first case). Thirteen peals have been rung at Potton, but there had only been one before the recent one at Payhembury—also Grandsire Doubles. I confirm that the peal at Bamburgh was the third on the bells. The other two were in 1920 and 1936. Although quite a popular tower 30 years ago, Clifton Reynes had not appeared in the peal lists since 1937; nine peals were rung from 1905 to 1914 and 13 from 1920 to 1937. Shottesham's only previous peal was in 1938, and Sopley and Halvergate have also been silent from that year. The former had two peals then (the first on the bells), and the latter six from 1936 to 1938.

Woodlesford, Yorks, had 17 peals from 1887 to 1910, then a silence to 1938 when a peal was rung that year and another in 1939; then silence again until this year. Willersey last appeared in 1945 (one peal before that—in 1937). Woodchester, also silent from the same year, is of interest because all its ten peals (first in 1894) have been of Doubles although a 6-bell tower. Lea had its last peal in 1947, likewise Stalybridge, which was a very popular tower at the end of the last century. Thus 35 peals were rung in the 1880's alone, then another 15 from 1892 to 1911. Between the wars only six were rung, from 1926 to 1930. Then there was silence until the odd peal in 1947. Lastly, we have had Whitnash's third peal (first in 1920, then 1948, and now 1958).

Then we come to the congratulations section. Firstly, another 5-bell tower joins the double figures list—Forncett St. Peter. Southwark Cathedral has had its 200th peal since 1881, Burnham its 150th, Darley Dale its 100th and Buxton (Norfolk) and Fairfield their 50th peals. Congratulations to all these. Ringers might like to know of the following imminent landmarks: The next peal at Duffield will be the 250th on the bells; the next at St. Stephen's, Canterbury, will be the 100th, and at Frindsbury the 50th. Silk Willoughby, with 98 peals at the moment (up to and including the peal on September 27th), should shortly be the third 6-bell tower to reach the century. Mention of this will be duly made when it happens.

Finally, one or two points of interest. The peal at Wantage was the first of Major on the bells, despite the fact that the first peal was rung there in 1893, and there have been 11 altogether. The peal of Cambridge Royal at St. Peter's, Nottingham, was the first of Surprise Royal since the first peal on the ten bells in 1922, although there have been about 100 peals since then. Lastly, with the peal of Wooler Surprise Minor at Langleybury on September 24th, I believe that all the Surprise Minor methods have now been rung to a 5,040.

K. W. H. FELSTEAD.

NORWICH DIOCESAN

The quarterly meeting of the Northern Branch at Hethersett on October 18th was attended by 32 members and friends. At the business the belfry elections of Messrs. P. Shipton, Timothy G. Pett and George W. Buckle were confirmed, and Alan Ellis, of Norwich, who had left to live in Scarborough, Ontario, Canada, was transferred to the non-resident members' list. The best of luck was wished him in his new home.

The passing of Mr. W. R. Catchpole, of Buxton, was observed by one minute's silence. The former president, the Rev. H. G. Lillingston, was welcomed. The Rector (the Rev. R. G. Harwood), who conducted the service and gave the address, was thanked, as were Mrs. Alborough (organist) and Mr. R. Lofty and family for making the arrangements.

Methods rung varied from Plain Bob to Cambridge and there were also touches of Forward, Imperial, Duffield Major and Erin Triples.

A DAY IN DERBYSHIRE

The ringers from Heywood, Lancs, had a long and somewhat exhausting day in Derbyshire on October 4th. Towers visited were Fairfield, Buxton (8), Bakewell (8), Wirksworth (8), Duffield (10), St. Luke's, Derby (8), St. Peter's, Derby (8), St. Andrew's, Derby (10) and Ashbourne (8). They also visited Leek (10) and Middlewich (8). Lunch and tea were eaten while travelling.

Methods rung were: Triples, Grandsire and Stedman; Major, Plain Bob, Kent, Oxford, Cambridge, Double Norwich and Ashbourne College; Caters, Grandsire and Stedman; Royal, Plain Bob, Little Bob, Kent, Oxford and Duffield.

ERNEST READ HIS OBITUARY

It is not often, fortunately, that anyone reads his own obituary notice, but Ernest Morris, of Leicester, received a shock when he read in the local 'Evening Mail' the following heading to a full column article:—

'Time has been standing still at St. Margaret's Church, Leicester, because the church has had no permanent clock winder since the whole-time verger died a few months ago.

'Climbing the 80-odd steps to the tower every two days to wind the heavy clock machinery was a tough job, even for the verger, Mr. Ernest Morris, who was used to it.

'When Mr. Morris died . . . days went by without the clock ticking, and passers-by, so used to watching the clock, were concerned . . . etc.'

This naturally caused a great stir, telephone messages, personal inquiries, etc., to find out exactly when Mr. Morris died, and a certain amount of distress in the family.

However, two days later the same newspaper published a photograph of Mr. Morris with the caption, 'Back to Life.'

MR. BRYAN PATTISON'S 100 PEALS

Mr. Bryan Pattison, now at Durham University, has completed his first 100 peals, which were rung in 53 towers for 11 Associations. Details: Doubles 11 (conducted 11) including 21 methods; Minor 33 (25), including ten in seven methods: Triples 5 (1); Plain Major 9 (3); Treble Bob Major 1 (1); Surprise Major 26 (6) in 15 different methods; Caters 6 (4); Royal 2 (1); Surprise Royal 5; Surprise Maximus 1. Handbells 1 (Major). Total 100 (52).

HALIFAX AND DISTRICT ASSOCIATION

Meltham won the Association silver cup at the six-bell contest held at Calverley, near Pudsey, on October 18th. Five teams entered, and the test was 600 changes in any method after a plain course practice. Mr. N. F. Moxon was the judge, Mr. D. N. Stables marker, and Mr. P. Wheatry timekeeper.

Results: Shelley 112 faults, Sandall 222, Meltham 56, Friezland 100, Thornheath 388.

Replying to a vote of thanks, the Vicar (the Rev. Mr. Lane) said the Association would be most welcome to return to Calverley at any time in the future, on condition that it did not allow another 30 years to elapse between visits.

The secretary was requested to try for Armitage Bridge bells for the April meeting and contest and, alternatively, Earlsheaton. A proposal by Mr. G. Perrin that the Association should hold another meeting before April was carried.

A warm vote of thanks was passed to the local company and their ladies for providing tea, and the gift of 10s. to the Association's funds as half the profits from the teas.

WINCHESTER & PORTSMOUTH DIOCESAN GUILD

For the first time in the history of the Guild, a quarterly meeting of the Andover District was held at East Woodhay on October 18th. Some 20 ringers rang various Doubles and Minor methods. The service was conducted by the Rector (Rev. E. W. Omerod), and his wife and helpers served tea. At the business meeting, presided over by Mr. A. W. Alliston, members were asked to support the District's half-day outing on November 15th.

BELFRY GOSSIP

All Souls' Church, Loudoun Road, South Hampstead, has a 3-cwt. bell, the gift of the Canadian National Railway. This railway is changing over from steam to diesel, and an application by Mr. George Dow, L.M.R. commercial officer, resulted in the gift of the bell. The bell was dedicated by the Bishop of Willesden recently in the presence of Canadian National officials and is being sent to the Whitechapel foundry for tuning.

Five-year-old Stephen Newton regularly rings the five-minute bell for morning service at Nantwich Parish Church.

The composition of 5,040 Little Bob Royal (see page 632) was originally produced by Mr. C. Wallater in 1904.

The peal at Bromsgrove, Worcs, on October 25th was the 25th on the bells by Mr. Arthur J. Martin, the popular steeplekeeper.

The method rung in the peal at Hughenden (see page 684) was London Surprise Major and not Bristol Surprise Major. Will those who keep records please correct.

When the bells of Farnham Parish Church were removed for retuning and refitting at Loughborough it was found that the fourth bell (cast in 1723) was badly cracked in the crown and will need recasting.

Reader's letter in 'Radio Times': 'The bells of St. Mary's Church, Dover (9.45 morning service, September 21st) were a delight. It is said that when the weather is suitable they may be heard in the streets of Calais.' Can any reader confirm this?

Mr. Peter Border, of Coventry, can claim to be the youngest ringer to ring 500 peals. His 500th peal was rung at Evesham on October 25th. Mr. Border is 26 years and 8 months old, but he does not expect his record to stand for long.

Probably the active ringer with the longest connection with any one tower is Mr. G. Green, of Great Baddow, Essex, who rang 'inside' to a quarter of Grandsire Triples on October 26th. Now aged 86, he has rung regularly at this church for 72 years and is still going strong.

Ringing veterans will note with pleasure that Mr. Henry Hodgetts rang in a quarter peal in honour of his 75th birthday, which took place on October 22nd.

Mr. E. Rodenhurst, of Whitchurch, writes pointing out that the 1903 edition of 'Stedman' (page 99) gave a 5,016 of Stedman Cinques with Whittington's by W. L. Catchpole.

Although the peal of Grandsire Cinques at Wakefield was especially arranged to mark the 11th anniversary of the dedication of the bells, the band would also like it to be recorded that it remembers with gratitude the life and work of the late Percy Johnson, a vice-president of the Association, interred that day.

Wearing white blouses and grey skirts, eight members of Crondall Women's Institute gave a demonstration of handbell ringing at the Hampshire Federation of Women's Institutes at Winchester. Change ringing and rounds were demonstrated and tunes played to the audience of 1,000 women. The band had been trained by Mr. Keith Cox.

In the peal of Doubles at Grimley, Worcs, on October 26th, at least four of the band struck their first blow in three of the methods rung. The ringers of 2, 3, 4 and tenor are members of Dodderhill, Droitwich, Sunday service band, and after a quarter of an hour tea break, rang on the lovely Dodderhill bells for Evensong, despite somewhat damaged hands.

COVENTRY DIOCESAN GUILD HAS A BEST-EVER DINNER

THE general opinion at the Coventry Diocesan Guild dinner, held at the Wine Lodge Hotel, Coventry, on October 18th, was that it was the 'best-ever' dinner in the history of the Guild. Canon H. A. Hayden, Rector of St. Nicholas', Warwick, this year's chairman, presided over a company of 120, and supporting him on the top table were Mrs. Hayden, the Rev. D. M. and Mrs. Davies, Mr. F. W. Perrens and Mrs. Perrens, Mr. A. H. and Mrs. Beamish, Mr. H. Windsor and Mr. J. L. Garner-Hayward.

The chairman, in a speech of welcome, paid high tribute to members of the Guild for the help he had received at St. Nicholas' since they had been able to get their bells rehung. He was pleased to say that the bells were now being rung twice on Sundays by members of the Guild, who had all been trained since the bells were overhauled. - After more than 30 years' silence it was a particular pleasure to him to hear them ringing joyously Sunday after Sunday calling the parishioners to service. He was greatly indebted to the Coventry Diocesan Guild for their help in achieving this and wished them success in the future.

MR. ADOLPHUS ROBERTS

The Rev. D. M. Davies, Rector of Stoke St. Michael's, in proposing 'The Coventry Diocesan Guild,' brought good wishes for a pleasant evening from Mr. Adolphus Roberts, better known as 'Bob' Roberts. He explained that 'Bob' had unfortunately had to give up ringing after fracturing his arm. He spoke very highly of his service to St. Michael's for many years and thought at 87 years of age he was perhaps one of the oldest members of the Ancient Society of College Youths. He was not quite sure how many years he had been a member of that Society but was sure there could be very few with a longer membership. Mr. Davies spoke very highly of the work the Guild were doing and said how fortunate they were in having such enthusiastic officers to manage their affairs. It was a pleasure that both Mrs. Davies and himself looked forward to each year to meet the ringers of the Diocese at their annual dinner and to take part in such a pleasant evening. He coupled with the toast the name of the president, Mr. F. W. Perrens.

In his reply, Mr. F. W. Perrens said it was a pleasure to have a full house once again at this function. He paid tribute to the many young people present and congratulated the band at Whitnash on achieving their first peal by a local band of Sunday service ringers. He also expressed his pleasure at the progress made by Studley and Wootten Wawen since their bells had been rehung and he was also pleased to see such a large number of new members that evening from those two towers. He had a word of praise for Mr. Harry Windsor for the very good work he was doing in the Southern Section, but was afraid the same could not be said for the Northern Section. Although the standard of ringing was very high in the Northern Section, there was still a number of towers without ringers and he hoped this could be rectified in the future.

'THE RINGING WORLD'

He was very delighted indeed to see so many new faces at the dinner this year and thought that this augured well for the future prosperity of the Guild. Finally, he reminded members of the value of their own paper, 'The Ringing World.' He said he wished to underline the fact that it was their own paper, and he asked them to do all they could to make contributions to it and in so doing help to make the paper even more valuable than it is. He reminded those present who were not taking 'The Ringing World' that they should do so. The larger the circulation of the journal the lower the cost per copy.

The toast of 'The Ladies' was proposed by Mr. J. L. Garner-Hayward, who said what charm and dignity ladies brought to the ringing chamber. He placed them in three categories. One, the under 20's and unmarried, who treated their ringing not at all seriously and looked upon it as a form of exercise and relaxation. He was just experiencing this at St. Nicholas', Warwick, where he was teaching a band primarily composed of young ladies who fell into this category, but felt they would ultimately become the backbone of the tower.

His second class was the young ringer who was married to a ringer. This started off as being a fine combination, as they jointly supported a tower, but it usually resulted in the loss of the lady and eventually the gentleman, who later returned to the tower. Ultimately, until the family was out of hand, it meant that only one could come ringing. The other class was the lady with no further ties of family, who often became the most reliable member of the band. In paying tribute to the Ladies' Guild, the speaker said that he felt that branch of the Ringing Societies had proved its worth to ringing as a whole and could number amongst its membership some very notable ringers, far too many in fact to attempt to name them. The Coventry Guild was surely indebted to the ladies, as their last honorary secretary and treasurer had been a lady, who had served the Guild in a most able manner for over 25 years. What better tribute could he pay them? Looking around the room that evening, with nearly fifty per cent. ladies, he felt that he had not been sufficiently generous in his references to their charm and beauty. He called for the males present to stand and drink a toast to the ladies there, coupled with the name of Mrs. D. E. Beamish.

PROVED THEIR ABILITY

Mrs. Beamish, in thanking the proposer for his very nice remarks about the ladies, felt that ladies had a place in the tower, having by their ability proved themselves competent to ring alongside their male counterparts in all methods and on all numbers. She referred to the proposers' three categories and said she belonged to the third. Speaking on behalf of the ladies present she was sure that their association with ringing gave them much pleasure, and she hoped it would continue so.

Summing up, the chairman called for the oldest and youngest ringers present—Mr. W. Collett, of Warwick St. Mary's, and Miss Judith Suffolk, of Chilvers Coton. They were acclaimed with musical honours by the company. He also paid tribute to the honorary secretary for his work for the Guild and for having arranged such a delightful evening for them all.

Solos and duets were rendered by Mr. Albert Barley and Mr. Hubert Summers, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Summers, junior. Tunes on handbells were rendered by the Harbury Handbell Ringers, and the highlight of the evening was a course of Stedman Caters by Mr. W. Male on his tower bells. This instrument he constructed and is a church tower, complete with clock, etc. The bells are operated by a keyboard at the base of the tower and are very musical. Mr. Male's achievement was loudly applauded.

LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD'S REORGANISATION

There was a very good attendance for the final meeting of the Northern Branch held at Washingborough on October 18th.

After the usual service and tea the business meeting was presided over by Mr. J. A. Freeman, Guild Master. Mr. J. Moss, of Lincoln, was elected a member of the Guild.

The meeting endorsed all that had been suggested at previous meetings with regard to the new constitution, so that on December 31st the old Branch will cease to exist and the Grimsby, Gainsborough and Lincoln Districts will become Branches. The names agreed by the Guild half-yearly meeting were approved so the new Branches will be known as the North Lindsey, West Lindsey and the Central, formed from the Grimsby, Gainsborough and Lincoln Districts respectively.

Mr. J. Bray, Guild hon. secretary, spoke of the past history of the Branch, back to the days when it was the North Lincolnshire Association, and mentioned how well it has been served by the early officers.

The chairman thanked the retiring officers for their work, making special reference to Mr. Frank Lord, who for the past 10 years had carried out the duties of hon. secretary so efficiently. Mr. Freeman presented Mr. Lord with a cheque from the members—an appreciation for his services. Mr. Lord, who was taken by surprise, thanked the members for the gift and wished the new Branches every success.

The occasion brought out much discussion, particularly amongst older members, on the early history of the Guild. Before the formation of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild there had been several Ringing Societies covering the Diocese. In the south of the county there was the thriving South Lincolnshire Association, which prompted ringers in the north to meet at Market Rason on June 13th, 1884, to form the North Lincolnshire Association. This became the Northern Branch of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild on the Guild's formation on April 29th, 1899, thus the Branch had a life of 60 years, during which many famous ringers had been associated with its activities—Gabriel Lindoff and Arthur Craven, to mention but two.

The Branch has had only one Master during its life. It was in 1922 that Mr. J. A. Freeman the well-known Guild Master, was appointed, and he has held that office up to the present time. Mr. J. Bray was for 10 years Branch hon. secretary before becoming Guild general secretary in 1948.

On January 1st, 1959, the Lincoln Diocesan Guild will have six Branches of approximately equal strength. Each will have the same representation on the Guild Committee, and in the opinion of the officers and a big majority of the members, the affairs of the Guild will be administered more easily and more to the satisfaction of all concerned.

HEREFORD DIOCESAN GUILD

After a lapse of about 25 years the Clifford District held their quarterly meeting at Talgarth on October 18th, when some 30 members and friends had a full ringing programme, including Stedman, Grandsire, Plain Bob, Canterbury Doubles, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob, Double Court and Cambridge Surprise Minor. There was also some 'Churchyard Bob,' ably guided by a budding conductor from Bredwardine.

The Vicar (the Rev. T. Ll. E. James) gave an enlightening address at the service. The tea, prepared by Talgarth ringers and their wives, was sumptuous and necessitated a little belt-loosening before the business meeting.

Meetings were fixed for Whitney on November 15th and Clifford on January 17th, and three new members—A. Matthews, E. Smith and E. Pugh—all from Talgarth, were elected.

OXFORD GUILD AUTUMN MEETING

WITH plenty of opportunities for ringing in the morning and evening and an agenda full of interest to occupy the afternoon, the autumn meeting of the Oxford Diocesan Guild at Reading on September 27th was full of activity. The Master (the Rev. C. E. Wigg) presided, supported by the Guild officers.

Arising from the minutes, Mr. G. Edmans announced that the Guild's banner, dedicated last July, was the gift to the Guild of the Central Bucks branch. Appreciation of this generous gift was expressed by Mr. F. Sharpe (Deputy Master) and Mr. T. J. Fowler. Two suggestions in connection with the banner were adopted, viz:—A short history of it be compiled and kept in the Guild's library and that the banner should be kept in Great Horwood Church. The Guild also decided to present a book token to Miss Irving, who did the embroidery.

Correspondence included a letter from the Rector of Bletchley concerning the Sear window and it was decided to insert a letter in 'The Ringing World' asking all who appreciated the services of the Sear family to ringing to send a donation towards the cost of the window. Mrs. W. J. Paice wrote thanking all those members who by their friendship had helped her husband, particularly during his last illness.

Mr. E. J. Foster, who was elected a vice-president at the annual meeting, made a special journey from Hawley, Hants (where he is living in retirement), to thank the members for his election. A similar letter of thanks was received from Canon G. Dixon.

SUNDAY SERVICE SURVEY

The hon. general secretary called attention to the circular of the Special Committee of the Central Council on Sunday service ringing and stated that she was calling a meeting of branch secretaries to deal with the circular. Her action was confirmed.

In this connection Mr. P. Walker, who had arranged for the new printed report of the Guild, called attention to the following facts: Twenty-four towers reported to be unringable; 90 with no members of the Guild; 49 with less than four members. He felt that something should be done to reduce these figures.

The Master congratulated Mr. Walker and his helpers on an excellent piece of work in preparing the report. The hon. treasurer (Mr. A. D. Barker) commented that the cost of each copy was 5s. 5½d. Discussion arose when Mr. N. Diserens proposed a peal booking fee of 6d. per rope to help with the cost, but the meeting finally accepted Mr. Diserens' suggestion to leave the matter over for discussion at a later date.

NEW RULES

The draft of the new rules, recommended by the General Committee, was proposed by Mr. H. Lawrenson (Newbury) and seconded by Mr. W. Butler. Most were passed, but some provoked an animated discussion. A definition of membership was accepted as 'members of the Church,' although many were in favour of 'practising members of the Church.' As to subscriptions, the amount is to be decided at each annual meeting, to take effect from the following year. A charge of 2s. 6d. is to be made for each copy of the Guild's report.

Branch representation on the General Committee is to be the secretary and one other for every 100 members or a part of 100 exceeding 25. Elected committee members are reduced to six and the following were elected: Miss D. Fletcher (Beaconsfield), W. Birmingham (Slough), A. Diserens (Reading), P. Walker (Oxford), F. White (Appleton) and one vacancy that can be filled by co-option.

A grant of £50 was made towards the restoration work at Cumnor, which is costing £400.

BRANCH BOUNDARIES

The revision of branch boundaries was the subject of a motion proposed by Mr. W. Birmingham (Slough). He pointed out the unwieldy nature of his own branch and that it would take the East Berks and South Bucks Branch 3½ years to visit all their towers, making one visit a month. On the proposition of Mr. H. L. Roper it was decided to refer the matter to the Branch secretaries' meeting.

Mr. A. D. Barker proposed the rejection of the peal at Egham about which there had been some correspondence in 'The Ringing World.' There was no seconder and the matter was dropped.

The vote of thanks was proposed by Mr. H. L. Roper. This included the Vicar of St. Laurence's for his address at the service, Mrs. A. Diserens and Mrs. D. Catherall and helpers for tea arrangements, Mr. R. Diserens and his parents for local arrangements, and Mr. S. Lester (Radley) organist.

Towers visited included Swallowfield (5), where a new band has been formed after silence for more than 20 years. Here the bells are hung in a small tower supported by a wooden structure and the back four are in an almost straight line. A plan is afoot to rehang the bells and, if possible, to add a sixth bell.

THE MAJOR HESSE WEEK-END

The annual gathering and peal attempts to honour the memory of Major John Hesse were held at Wrington on October 10th-11th this year. Major Hesse was a well-known ringer throughout the country and did much for Wrington and its fine ring of 10 bells.

An attempt for a peal of Stedman Triples at Yatton on the Friday evening was unsuccessful, but on Saturday a peal of Stedman Caters was rung at Wrington in 3 hours and 15 minutes, conducted by Mr. Albert Tyler. This was also rung in memory of Mr. John Thomas.

The company were then entertained to tea by Mrs. Hesse and were pleased that Mr. Rodney Hesse was also able to be present. In thanking Mrs. Hesse for her hospitality once more, Mr. H. J. Sanger said that he was sure it was a good thing to remember the great ringers of the past. On this occasion there was a note of sadness in the death of Mr. John Thomas, who was to have called the peal.

The peal band were pleased to welcome Mr. A. A. Hughes, who came up the tower before the peal, but were sorry he was unable to stay for tea.

Those present were the Rev. B. Lee (Rector of Wrington), Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Knight, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Kingcott, Miss Mary Hall and Messrs. A. Tyler, H. Sanger, A. Sanger, L. Derrick, A. Reed, W. Gigg, S. Smith and M. Horseman. M. J. H.

REDEDICATIONS

Piddletrenthide

Rehung in July after an absence of about eight years, the five bells of Piddletrenthide, Dorset, were dedicated by the Bishop of Sherborne (the Rt. Rev. Maurice Key) on October 12th.

When the bells were removed from the tower in order that they could be sent to Loughborough for recasting and tuning, they had been silent for many years because of unsafe timbers and frame. Nobody seems to remember definitely when the bells stopped ringing. Some say about 20 years and some 30 or even 40 years.

The service of Evensong, during which the dedication was performed, was conducted by the Bishop, assisted by the Vicar (the Rev. H. Cooper Anderson) and the sermon was preached by the Bishop.

Among those present at the service were representatives of the Dorchester branch of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild from Charminster, St. Peter's, Dorchester, Preston, Wyke Regis, Buckland Newton and Langport, Somerset.

The bells were rung immediately after the act of dedication, and after the service touches of Grandsire and Stedman Doubles were rung.

The Vicar states that money is still needed to meet the cost of the work which has been carried out to the bells and tower, and that the parishioners are very keen to have a sixth bell hung as a suitable space was left when the new frame was installed. R. H. D.

St. Finbarre's Cathedral, Cork

Sunday, September 23rd, was the climax to the rehanging of the Cathedral bells, for on this date the Dean rededicated the bells to the greater glory of God.

The rededication took place on Ringers' Sunday at Matins before a crowded Cathedral. The lessons were read by Fred Bogan and Fred Dukes. After the collects, the Dean rededicated the bells. The inspiring sermon was preached by Canon R. J. Kerr (Rector of St. George's, Dublin), who took as his text the title of Fred Bogan's article in the Cathedral Year Book, 'Come at My Call.' The Minor Canon (the Rev. E. P. Mills) conducted the service.

The bells of the Cathedral were rung before all services, and during the afternoon seven ringers from Limerick Cathedral turned up, so the bells were put to good use, and it is pleasing to record that Joyce Foster rang several 120's of Bob Doubles on the third bell, and a right good job she made of it, too. Lindsay Bingham and Edith Spencer both did well at plain hunting, whilst George Bingham was as steady as a rock on the tenor. Harry Ellis, Cyril Foster, Fred Bogan and Fred Dukes all assisted in keeping the 'babes' right.

At 5 p.m. all transport made for the Lock —correctly spelt Lough!— to the residence of Fred and Dorothy Bogan. A magnificent and most welcome feast awaited the seven Limerick and the Drogheda ringers. All the visitors were most grateful to the Bogans—the perfect hosts. The Limerick people rang for Evensong, after which they returned to their homes, all much impressed by the Cork bells and the Bogans. Very many thanks to Cork!

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

UNRINGABLE TOWERS IN 'DOVE'

Dear Sir, — Replying to Mr. Southwood (page 660), I endeavoured when compiling the 'Guide' to class as unringable only those towers where the bells have been derelict for a long time and are unlikely to be rehung in the foreseeable future.

Roughly 160 rings are so indicated and I have verified at least one quarter of them by personal inspection. The remainder have been for the most part obtained from Association reports—the Norwich Diocesan Association's list of towers not in union accounting for almost half.

Unfortunately, not all Association reports are reliable. For instance, the Cumberland Association's report shows Cockermouth bells as unringable—a statement which appears nonsensical after reading the report of the recent peal tour in Scotland. Apparently at one time there was no ringing there—a condition which happily no longer obtains, but the use of the word 'unringable' was unfortunate.

The Lancashire Association has persisted for years in classifying St. Peter's (R.C.) Church, Lytham, as 'U,' notwithstanding that an Association meeting was held there in recent times, and the local ringers with whom I had the pleasure of ringing assure me that the bells have at no time been unringable.

Brixworth, Irnham, Sedgefield and Llangynwyd bells were shown as unringable in error. Great Comberton's were out of order when the 'Guide' went to press but were rehung during the long time the publishers took over printing, and since publication both Hertford (All Saints') and St. Albans (St. Stephen's) towers have been made safe. The two tenors at Bloxham (Oxon) are no longer disused, and ringers who keep their copy of 'Dove' up to date might like to note these.

I plead 'not guilty' to classing as 'unringable' the two Cornish towers cited by Mr. Southwood, nor do I understand A. A. F.'s reference to Wetheringsett (page 692) as 'Dove' gives a ring of five (Nos. 2, 3, 4, 5 and 6 of an octave), so if the party had consulted 'Dove' beforehand they would not have anticipated finding a ring of six!

While I do not share Mr. Southwood's optimism that five out of ten of my 'unringables' may be found safe—my information is that there are many more 'unringables' besides those stated—I support wholeheartedly his suggestion that keen and determined ringers should make a point of visiting these towers, and I will most gladly make the necessary corrections in any future edition of the 'Guide' if any of the bells should prove to be ringable.

Whilst on the subject of persistent misreporting, will the many conductors, and the Yorkshire Association, please note that Drighlington tenor weighs only 14 cwt. 16lb., and not 16cwt., as so frequently quoted. This was another example of Warners' 'inflated' weights.—Yours, etc.,

R. H. DOVE.

Moral for four members attending the Norwich Diocesan Association (Northern Branch) meeting at Hethersett: Bus time-tables must be studied as carefully as a new method if buses are to be caught.

SALLIES IN MOTHBALLS

Dear Sir,—It would seem that the Welfare State attitude has now appeared in ringing circles.

Why put the blame on the Central Council because some bells are not rung for Sunday service? After all, the members of the Central Council are scattered throughout the whole country and meetings of a select committee must be expensive to arrange and would serve no purpose.

The Central Council will soon have so many irons in the fire that meetings must be held monthly to cope with an ever-increasing agenda, and ringing members will receive no benefit from it at all.

Why 'pass the can'? If a tower nearby has no Sunday service band, then local ringers should try and help out, and each Association and District should make their own survey. After all, the idea in forming an Association is to link together all towers in its area and to deal with its problems in a light of local knowledge.

Finally, I must add that I wholeheartedly agree with your correspondent, A. H. Cross, in his views on peals and peal ringers. Peal ringers very often form Sunday service bands, but I think the time has come when it must be realised that the 'backbone' of the Exercise is the Sunday service ringers. Peal ringers are, at the best, only the 'ribs.' — Yours sincerely,

ALAN R. ELLIOTT.

Kelvedon, Essex.

Note. — The functioning body in dealing with silent towers is Associations and Districts. The Central Council's survey has one fundamental purpose, to quicken interest, and not to let a lackadaisical attitude develop.—Ed.

Dear Sir,—The correspondence on 'Sallies in Mothballs' makes very sad reading. But it is not all bad. How nice of someone to trouble to put in the mothballs! — Yours sincerely,

C. N. VAISEY.

LEEDS UNIVERSITY SOCIETY

Dear Sir,—I should like, through the medium of 'The Ringing World,' to draw the attention of ringers to the formation of a new Society, the 'Leeds University Union Campanological Society.' As most Universities have a bellringers' society we felt that Leeds should be no exception and an enthusiastic response has resulted in 30-odd members being enrolled, a good half of whom are already change ringers. A peal attempt to mark the formation of the Society is to be made on November 5th at Collingham.

We are also making strenuous efforts to acquire a ring of bells for the University Church of Emmanuel, ardently led by its churchwarden. Dr. Youell, who is our new staff president.

Finally, may I express our gratitude to the many friends in the Leeds District who are in any way assisting us in our first difficult stages.—Yours sincerely,

R. BROWN.

PEAL RINGERS AND SUNDAY SERVICE

Dear Sir,—Many letters to 'The Ringing World' suggest that peal ringers are, in the main, non-service ringers—Mr. A. H. Cross's being the latest to catch my eye ('Ringing World,' October 24th).

With very few exceptions the peal ringers support the service bands very strongly, in fact many of them are captains of local bands while others are leading lights in the various Associations.

Where there is no local band the peal ringer type will go elsewhere to do his or her service ringing.

If a peal ringer leaves a service band it is usually because there is a lack of real interest by other members of the band, resulting in bad ringing and no progress. As the peal ringer likes good ringing and likes to make progress it's not surprising if he leaves a stationary band!

Up and down the country the peal ringers are striving for perfection all the time, not only in peals, but in local practices and Sunday service ringing, and without their efforts the standard of ringing would be very low indeed.

Having struck a blow on behalf of 'those selfish peal grabbers,' I now await a salvo from the 'anti-pealers' league.—Yours sincerely,

WILFRED W. RING.

Bethersden, Kent.

HESTON'S CHALLENGE

Dear Sir, — In reply to the challenge of Heston, Middlesex, appearing in your edition of October 17th, the band of St. Mary's, Willesborough, Kent, rang three quarter peals on Harvest Festival Sunday, October 12th, being 1,260 Plain for 8 a.m. Holy Communion, 1,260 St. Clement's for Morning Prayer and 1,280 Reverse St. Simon's and Reverse St. Martin's Doubles for Evensong. True, Willesborough is a six-bell tower, and three members of the band rang twice, but two of our best ringers were unavoidably absent, the three quarter peals were in different methods, and Mr. Edward Ruck, who, as usual, rang for Morning Prayer, is in his 92nd year.

All credit is due to Heston ringers, but in my opinion, what is more important is the consistency with which such performances are maintained. Your correspondent, Mr. Webb, did not mention whether such a high standard of performance is a regular feature of the Sunday service ringing of his band. — Yours sincerely,

CRAWFORD T. HILLIS.

Willesborough, Kent.

THE LATE MR. DAVID PRIESTLEY

Appreciations

With the sudden and tragic passing of David Priestley at the early age of 23 years, the Exercise has lost that type of young man whom it can ill afford to lose.

Five short years ago David took upon himself the task of learning to ring so that he might serve in that capacity in his Mother Church of St. Mary, Rushden, which was soon to have a new ring of eight installed.

He quickly proved himself to be an apt and efficient pupil, and in a remarkably short time he became a competent ringer in not only plain methods but also in Treble Bob methods.

With his fine intellect, method learning came comparatively easy to him, and at his passing, in those five short years he had at his command a wide variety of Surprise methods, and perhaps his crowning glory in the art was a faultless peal of Stedman Cinques, and there is no doubt that, had he been spared to remain with us, an outstanding ringing career lay before him.

He was of a quiet and unassuming nature, genuine and sincere in all his words and deeds, and a very likeable and a very lovable personality.

His passing, however, is not only a loss to the Exercise, but also to the nation.

From school at Rushden he eventually proceeded to the University of London, and in due course obtained his B.Sc. degree, passing with honours.

As a scientist, he stood on the brink of a brilliant and successful career in the service of the nation, and it is of such promising young men of outstanding academic ability that the nation can ill afford to lose.

We at Rushden will remember David not only with respect for his ringing and academic achievements, but also with affection and gratitude for the friendship we enjoyed with him.

As the bells of heaven ring forth, I like to think of David at the end of a rope, as I am sure he will be, still praising and magnifying his Creator and serving Him in heaven as he did on earth.

To his parents we extend our heartfelt sympathy in their sorrow, and I would entreat them to look beyond the gloom of this life and to picture the glorious reunion which awaits us all as we meet with our loved ones in God's heavenly kingdom, with the full-throated roar of the bells of His kingdom to greet us.

They shall not grow old,
As we that are left grow old,
Age shall not weary them,
Nor the years condemn.

A. G.

Mr. Denis A. Bayles, hon. secretary of Durham and Newcastle Association, writes:—

It had been a very nice week-end, including the visit to the Carlisle ringing festival on the Saturday, where I had sat beside David Priestley at tea. In our conversation we had talked, among other things, of the plans for next year's London University tour, for our membership of the London Society gave us another link. I also learned that he had completed his stay at Annan and was proceeding to Warrington for his next job. Then, on the Tuesday I was horrified to read of his death.

David had lived in Newcastle for several months and during that time he had endeared himself to a wide circle of ringers. He had been a very regular attender at Newcastle Cathedral for Sundays and practices throughout his stay and was also a keen supporter of the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association at its meetings. It was not only his ability as a ringer that made him welcome in peal attempts and other ringing activities, but also his cheerful, friendly disposition that contributed towards the happy fellowship that is an essential part of ringing. One of these occasions was recalled at Carlisle when he gave me a photograph taken on an expedition to Bamburgh earlier this year.

Comparatively little of David's ringing career came within the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association and others will testify to his splendid work elsewhere. Nevertheless on behalf of this Association I wish to pay our tribute to a young gentleman whom we were very pleased to have in our membership, for whose stay with us we feel richer and are thankful and in whose sudden decease, with its loss to the Exercise in general, we feel a sense of real personal loss and great sorrow. We extend our deepest sympathy to his parents, relatives and friends in their sudden and severe loss.

Mr. Roger Keeley writes:—

We in London learned with deep regret of the sudden and tragic death of David Priestley. David was secretary of the University of London Society from 1955 to 1957, while a student at University College. It was here that he obtained the best degree for mechanical engineering in the University in 1957.

We remember him for his modest, unassuming personality, his perseverance in learning a new method and his patience in teaching beginners. He always took endless pains to strike his bell faultlessly thoughout a peal. Some of us recall one such peal rung at Stepney, after which he remarked, 'I missed three dodges in that, I must do better next time.' There was no flippancy in this remark, he really meant it, and such was his attitude to all his ringing.

As secretary, he combined an arduous task and academic work with tremendous skill, and, with him, one felt that the Society's fortunes were never for a moment in doubt. It is of such people that one may confidently say—they are the salt of the earth. His loss will be felt in many parts of the Exercise, and we extend our deepest sympathy to Mr. and Mrs. Priestley.

MR. ALFRED WHIMPEY

The death occurred in Winchester Hospital on October 23rd of Mr. Alfred Whimpey at the age of 78.

Alfred Whimpey was a real character. He had been sexton and captain of the bellringers at Abbot's Ann for many years and was one of the Winchester and Portsmouth Guild's staunchest supporters. His happy and cheerful disposition, his ready wit and gift for telling a joke will long be remembered by all who had attended the Andover District meetings.

Crippled in both legs, he was unable to walk without the aid of a stick, but this did not prevent him from crawling up the stairs at Abbot's Ann twice on Sundays, and many young ringers have passed through his hands from the village.

One of his proudest moments was when a band from the District rang the first peal on his native bells as a 76th birthday compliment to him. He was also proud of the fact that he had 20 honorary members from Abbot's Ann enrolled by him for the Guild, and he had hoped to increase this number to 30 in 1959.

The funeral service took place the following Tuesday, the bells being rung half-muffled by Guild members as the cortege left the church. It is hoped to ring a muffled peal to his memory in the coming weeks. G. D

MR. JOHN BASS

With the passing of Mr. John Bass, of Wollaston, Stourbridge, the Worcestershire Association loses the last surviving member of an old company which did much towards putting it in the centre of the 'ringing map' and which included such noted ringers as William Short, Robert Matthews, Alfred Davies, the immortal Harry Withers, Samuel Grove, T. J. Salter and Alfred Hackett, to name but a few, most of whom had been Association or Branch Masters at one time or another.

His introduction to change ringing came at a very early age when his grandfather, Mr. William Lawrence, took him to Wordsley, and he became a visitor to the Wollaston tower towards the end of the last century when Adolphus Roberts was their very able leader and conductor. There are records of several extents of Minor which he rang in 1901, and his first peal, Bob Major, at Sedgeley, came on November 15th, 1902. His last peal was Double Norwich Major at Oldswinford on September 9th, 1950.

Of his recorded total of 513 peals, 440 were rung for the Worcestershire Association, the complete list being: Doubles, various methods, 14; Triples, Grandsire, 61, Stedman, 80, others 3; Caters, Grandsire 6, Stedman 8; Cinques, Grandsire 3, Stedman 4; Minor, Plain methods 63, Treble Bob and Surprise 10; Major, Plain methods 82, Treble Bob 24, Bristol 27, Cambridge 36, London 47, Superlative 14, others 7, Spliced 5; Royal, Plain 3, Treble Bob 5, Surprise 4; Maximus, Plain 2, Treble Bob 3, Surprise 3.

Joining the Wollaston company in 1910, he subsequently became their leader and trained many pupils who became proficient in the art of ringing. Highly esteemed by his fellow ringers, he was presented by them with a silver medallion in the form of a bell upon completion of 50 years' membership of the Association in 1951, and at the Association's annual meeting at Worcester on Easter Monday in that year he was unanimously elected a Freeman. He resigned the leadership at Wollaston in 1956, owing to ill-health, but remained a member until his death. He was for many years a member of the Parochial Church Council, resigning only when his health began to fail. He always laid particular emphasis upon Sunday service ringing and it was seldom that Wollaston bells did not ring out both morning and evening.

The funeral took place at Wollaston Church on October 11th, with the Vicar (the Rev. F. B. Honey) officiating. He referred in detail to the many ways in which Mr. Bass had carried out his duties and served his church.

Four of Jack's fellow-ringers, Messrs. F. G. Handley, Sidney Thompson, Samuel Thompson and C. E. Stinton, J.P., were bearers, and at the graveside a course of Grandsire Triples was rung by Messrs. Sidney Thompson, John Lloyd, Clifford Skidmore and Bernard Ashford.

There were many beautiful floral tributes from relatives and friends, the St. James', Wollaston, band, and the Worcestershire and Districts Association, and ringers from most of the towers in the area joined the large congregation in paying their last respects to an old and valued friend. B. C. A.

Swindon Ringers' Outing

Thee car loads of ringers from Swindon had an outing into Worcestershire on October 18th, organised by Mr. A. Peake. Ringing took place at Ashchurch, Bredens Norton, Eckington and Pershore before tea in Worcester. Afterwards came two ten-bell towers—All Saints', Worcester, and Claines.

DURHAM AND NEWCASTLE DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

Annual Meeting In Newcastle

The annual general meeting of the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association in Newcastle-upon-Tyne on October 11th was made a special occasion by the presence of the Lord Bishop of Newcastle (the Rt. Rev. H. E. Ashdown) at the service in the Cathedral.

The service was conducted by the Provost (the Very Rev. N. M. Kennaby). A course of Grandsire Triples on handbells was rung after the third collect. The Bishop took his text from the Acts—'They were all with one accord in one place.' He drew from ringing a parable to be applied to the life of a Christian. In ringing, one needed to be always learning, to be part of a team and to be striving to maintain and hand on the tradition. Those three points were necessities, too, for the Christian life. The collection, amounting to £5 4s., was placed in the Bell Restoration Fund.

A company of over 70 members and friends sat down to tea in the Cathedral Library and the business meeting followed the tea. The president, Mr. K. Arthur, expressed his pleasure at seeing such a good representative gathering, which included the Vicar of Embleton and his fellow ringers, probably the first-ever from Embleton to attend an annual meeting. He also proposed a hearty omnibus vote of thanks to all who had made the meeting possible.

The hon. secretary, Mr. D. A. Bayles, reported that the year had not included any outstanding event but had nevertheless seen the work of the Association continuing steadily, with meetings well attended.

IMPROVED FINANCES

The hon. treasurer, Mr. F. Ainsley, reported an excess of income over expenditure in the year's working. The total balance had increased from £68 14s. to £94 8s. 9d., with the corresponding figures for the General Fund being £50 7s. 7d. and £70 19s. 10d. The improvement resulted in the main from the reduced amount of peal ringing, which had greatly reduced the cost of the annual report. It was a satisfactory financial position, but there was no room for complacency.

The hon. editorial secretary, Mr. J. Brewster, had recorded only 22 peals for the year—a decline of two on the low total for the previous year. The peals were rung in 18 towers by 45 members with six conductors. The highest individual totals were: J. A. Ainsworth 20, G. S. Deas 18 and K. Arthur 14, with J. A. Ainsworth and K. Arthur heading the list of conductors with seven each.

In the election of officers there was re-election of all save that of hon. editorial secretary, where Mr. J. Brewster felt obliged to resign due to pressure of other duties. In the absence of any other nomination the offer of the general secretary to combine the offices was accepted, making the complete list for 1958-59 as follows: President, Mr. K. Arthur; hon. treasurer, Mr. F. Ainsley; hon. general secretary and editorial secretary, Mr. D. A. Bayles; hon. auditor, Mr. J. F. Bird. District officers:—Eastern: Vice-president, Mr. C. N. Lea; secretary, Mr. W. F. Sheraton. Western: Mr. K. W. Cheeseman and Mr. C. T. Lamb. Northern: Mr. J. A. Ainsworth and Mr. G. S. Deas. Southern: Mr. T. Cooke and Mr. E. P. Rock.

A vote of thanks to the retiring officers was proposed by Mr. R. W. Leighton, who mentioned especially the excellent work of Mr. J. Brewster and the regret that was felt that he could not continue in office.

Meetings for 1958-59 were arranged as follows: Christmas social function, Chester-le-Street, January 3rd. J. W. Parker Commemoration, St. Ignatius', Sunderland, March 14th. Half-yearly, Fenham, May 9th, 1959. Annual general meeting, Darlington, September 26th, 1959.

A motion by the president for the amendment of Rule 11 to create two trustees, to whom should be entrusted the oversight of the Association's property, was accepted. Sixteen new members were elected.

Among other business the secretary was asked to convey fraternal greetings to the meeting of the Cumberland and North Westmorland Association to be held at Carlisle the following Saturday. Sympathy was expressed to Mr. and Mrs. C. McGuiness in the loss of Mrs. McGuiness, sen. Congratulations and best wishes were extended to Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Ainsworth and Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Deas, whose weddings had taken place since the end of the Association's year.

During the day the bells of All Saints', Gosforth; St. George's, Desmond; SS. James and Basil's, Fenham; St. Mary's, Gateshead; and St. John's and the Cathedral in Newcastle were available for ringing, and a variety of methods was rung. D. A. B.

TRURO DIOCESAN GUILD

About 50 ringers attended the fifth annual ringing festival of the Stratton Branch at St. Andrew's Church, Stratton, on October 25th.

The service was conducted and the address given by the Rev. C. P. Triplett, with Mr. W. Parnell as organist. Tea was provided at the Kings Arms Hotel.

The Guild's Ringing Master, Mr. D. Burnett, took the chair at the annual meeting which followed and the Guild secretary (the Rev. W. H. R. Trewhella) was also present. The Rev. R. Watts (Kilkhampton) was elected chairman for 1959, Mr. R. J. Hicks re-elected secretary, and Miss C. de Jong (Stratton) treasurer vice Mr. A. Bissett. Ringing consisted of Grandsire, call changes and rounds. R. J. H.

A TALE OF SUSPENSE

(or The Lack of It)

To you, my friends, I will relate
A tale that you will all debate
About six ringers led by Kate,
Who got into a funny state.

Three maids were there with all their graces,
But wait! Our Percy has no braces,
His slacks seem bent on going places,
Causing the maids to wear red faces!

One hour fifty and all was nifty,
But now poor Perce looks rather shifty,
He has good reason to, I'm sure,
His slacks are moving towards the floor!

John could not see our Percy's plight,
And, trying to keep the poor chap right,
Quothed '4-5 up and keep it tight,'
But Percy was a sorry sight.

His slacks had slithered to the floor;
Gasped Kathy, 'What an awful bore!
Stand them up we must for sure
Ere someone comes in through the door.'

The moral to us quickly races
That if you wish to show your paces
Before the maids with all their graces,
Do not start without your braces!

V. R., E. M., W. W. R.

The attempt was at High Halden, Kent, on October 1st.

TANWORTH-IN-ARDEN, WARWICKS.—On Oct. 22nd, 1,248 Plain Bob Major: E. G. Fletcher 1, J. Corbett 2, Alma Greaves 3, J. T. Gwilt 4, A. C. Morris 5, C. A. Barron (cond.) 6, J. Green 7, J. W. Perkins 8. First of Major for 2, 3 and 7.

LEICESTER DIOCESAN GUILD

On October 18th the Hinckley District held their monthly meeting at Leire, a small parish set deep in the heart of the South Leicestershire countryside. It was an occasion which had been long looked forward to by District members. Leire has for many years been unique among the four-bell towers. The names of its ringers, who, Sunday after Sunday, have rung out the score and four, have appeared frequently in the peal columns, ringing Surprise Major with the best. Now, mainly due to their efforts, Leire is a four-bell tower no longer, for on October 4th the Bishop of Leicester dedicated two new treble bells, which had been given by the ringers and their friends. And so it was that on the 18th ringers from many towers in the surrounding district went along to savour their excellence.

The afternoon's ringing was followed by Evensong taken by the Rector (the Rev. Mr. Craven), after which tea was served in the village school. District business being disposed of, a return was made to the tower for further ringing on the delightful six.

Afterwards a social evening in true Hinckley District style was held at the local inn. Stedman and Treble Bob 'in hand' went remarkably well, and all the old songs were sung, before the company finally made their way back in the dark to Leire Halt for the last train home. M. V.

OBITUARY

THE REV. S. P. ROWCROFT

A serious loss to the Dorchester Branch of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild is the death of the Rev. S. P. Rowcroft, Vicar of Abbotsbury and chairman of the Branch since the retirement of Canon A. W. Markby. Although not a practising ringer, he was keenly interested in the art of church bellringing and was always eager to forward the interest of the ringers. His interest led to honorary membership of the Guild and subsequently election as vice-chairman.

After service in the Royal Flying Corps in the first world war, Mr. Rowcroft was ordained in 1919. He did much towards building new churches at St. Helens and Wigan, and later held livings at Lozells, Birmingham and Frankley, Worcestershire, before coming to Abbotsbury in 1953.

Members of the Dorchester Branch at the funeral were Mr. R. H. Duke (hon. secretary), Mr. H. J. Ford (Ringing Master), Mr. J. H. Hayne, Mr. D. Wood, the Rev. P. J. Heaton (vice-chairman) and Mrs. D. P. Duke. The funeral was conducted by the Rev. J. C. Townsend (son-in-law) and the Ven. J. C. Chute (Archdeacon of Sherborne).

MR. W. J. ROBERTS

The death occurred after a short illness at Over Hospital, of Mr. W. J. Roberts, of Newent, Glos, on October 19th, at the age of 80 years.

Mr. Roberts had been in business as a wheelwright for over 50 years. He served in France with the Royal Engineers during the first world war, joining in 1914. One of the founder members of the North Forest Branch of the Gloucester and Bristol Association, he had been captain of Newent tower for 50 years. During that time he had rung and conducted several peals in Doubles and Minor methods; he had also trained many young ringers in the surrounding towers.

At the funeral service at St. Mary's Church, Newent, on October 23rd, conducted by the Rector (the Rev. C. Hodgins), four local ringers acted as bearers. The bells were rung half-muffled immediately after the service and during the evening.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD

Dorchester Branch

The newly-dedicated bells at Piddletrenthide which are in a new frame and on ball bearings, were tested by members of the Dorchester Branch when they held their quarterly meeting on October 18th. The Guild service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. H. Cooper Anderson) assisted by the Branch vice-chairman (the Rev. P. J. Heaton) and ladies of the church served tea in the village hall.

At the business meeting, when the vice-chairman presided, tribute was paid to the late Branch chairman (the Rev. S. P. Rowcliffe), who had died earlier in the week, and the company stood in silence.

It was reported that the band learning at Piddletrenthide under Mr. W. A. Riggs were making good progress. Mr. Riggs thanked the hon. secretary for arranging ringing at the dedication.

Subject to confirmation, Branch practices will be held at follows: November 5th. Maiden Newton; November 29th, Upwey: December 13th, Cattistock: January 3rd, Frampton: January 10th, Abbotsbury. The next Branch meeting (annual) will be held at St. Peter's, Dorchester, on January 17th. The usual votes of thanks were passed.

Salisbury Branch

The Salisbury Branch held a very enjoyable meeting on October 18th at Downton. The day was reasonably fine, the bells are a treat to ring and the tea was 'super.' The Vicar (the Rev. J. E. Overton) conducted the Guild service and then joined the company for tea, at which time we numbered 27, including visitors from Wareham, Bournemouth and Birmingham. At the business meeting, preliminary consideration was given to the review of Sunday service ringing, and to the suggestion of a Branch outing next spring.

Ringing continued at Downton till 8 p.m. and included Double Norwich, Cambridge and Bristol, while some members went on for the evening to the light six at Britford, where methods were rung up to Cambridge.

CHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD

When the Crewe District held their meeting at Nantwich on October 18th. attended by 64 ringers from 12 towers, Mr. Joe Boyer, a former Nantwich ringer, who now lives at Southport, brought along the handbell team of the No. 1 Company, Southport Boys' Brigade. Their programme of handbell ringing after the customary ringers' tea was warmly applauded.

The Rector (the Rev. E. M. B. Southwell) conducted the service and he was thanked in the vote of thanks after tea by Mr. W. Kerr, the Branch secretary. Also thanked by Mr. Kerr were Mr. J. Brough, leader of Nantwich ringers, for making the arrangements, and Mrs. E. J. Boffey and the ladies who assisted with the tea.

THE RINGING WORLD

OFFICIAL JOURNAL OF THE CENTRAL COUNCIL OF CHURCH BELL RINGERS

'The Ringing World' was founded in the year 1911 by John Sparkes Goldsmith, who remained its proprietor and editor until his death in 1942.

No. 2485 Vol. LIV FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 14, 1958 Registered at the G.P.O. for transmission as a newspaper. 6d.

STRIKING COMPETITION

THE regular reader of 'The Ringing World' will be aware that striking is becoming an increasingly popular subject of articles and letters. It is evident that quality of striking on the whole leaves much to be desired, although there are notable exceptions. At the towers where a high standard is maintained the learner is fortunate for he or she has a standard available every Sunday and at every practice. At the other towers the position is much more difficult.

No Association or Guild can shrug its (metaphoric) shoulders and excuse itself from tackling the problem of striking on the grounds of the very real difficulties involved. The problems of securing the status of ringers as Church workers and belfry reform no doubt seemed as difficult to our grandparents, but they tackled it with the results we enjoy to-day.

The North-West District of the Surrey Association was not satisfied that everything was being done that could be to focus attention on striking and give practical effect to securing improvements. The subject was discussed from time to time and various suggestions put forward. They included listening to bands ringing for services or at practice and competition ringing. In the end, despite the risks it felt were involved, it was decided to proceed with a simple striking competition. The first was held in October, 1957, and proved an enjoyable afternoon, but in one year little else could be proved. The most important factor was that over 90 ringers were present, the largest attendance at a District meeting for years and that an opportunity was given to hear some good striking.

At the annual meeting in January it was decided to hold another competition and October 25th was the chosen date. The same rules were adopted for it and are summarised below. Entry is restricted to genuine Sunday service bands and there are no entry fees or prizes. Bands may adjust ropes for length and ring up to two minutes rounds before ringing the test piece. This is 252 changes of any Triples or Major method, but bands from 5 or 6-bell towers may ring Doubles or Minor. The judge and marker are out of sight and do not know which band is ringing.

As in 1957, the day proved to be a fine one, which showed Ashtead up at its delightful best. A delay caused by a wedding put the starting time of the service and the competition back forty minutes, but nerves survived this, and the discovery that a new set of ropes had had to be fitted the previous evening because of the bad condition of the old ones.

The six teams then took their turns at ringing, all choosing Grandsire Triples, and then the 90 people present adjourned to the school, where tea was waiting. When it had been finished (had the Ashtead band been out scrumping the previous evening?) the District Master, Mr. Gordon Peters, introduced the judge, Mr. Charles Kippin, of Southampton.

His opening remarks were that the ringing was generally better than in the previous year, probably due to less nerves. Nevertheless, this remark gave great encouragement to the organisers. In fact, three of the five bands that competed both years had less faults, and a fourth had scored only one more. The faults per change were 91 per cent. of the previous year's figure.

The winning team was St. John's, Croydon, which had but one hesitation and maintained a good pace of ringing. Second was All Saints', Banstead. They missed one dodge, but kept a good compass. Most of their faults were centred on two bells, and Mr. Kippin reminded all of the care that must be taken to strike odd-struck bells correctly. In third place was St. Mary's, Beddington, who had no trips and maintained a nice compass throughout. Ashtead, Ewell and Wimbledon were the other three competitors.

Mr. Kippin concluded by saying that bells 4, 5, 6 and 8 recorded most bad blows, and of these the 5th was most consistently slow at back.

Suggestions were then made for the committee's consideration for future years, after which Mr. Leslie Dawson, former captain of Christ Church, Friezland, was introduced to the company. He had brought with him a record of his tower ringing Oxford Treble Bob Minor and, thanks to Mr. Ted Lewis, a local ringer, a record player was waiting to play it. There was universal admiration for the wonderful standard of striking achieved, although it was equally obvious that closed handstroke leads would take a lot of getting used to by Southerners.

Summarising the position after two competitions, it can now be said that, provided that the effort can be kept on a friendly basis and cut-throat competition avoided, the competition does provide a focal point once a year for attention on striking. It gives an incentive to bands to improve their striking, an annual demonstration of progress (or regression), and until a better idea is thought out, it is better than doing nothing to improve the general standard of striking in an Association or Guild's territory.

In conclusion, there is one rather sobering thought which gives a preview of the probable results of the Central Council's research into the state of Sunday service ringing. This District has 27 towers, which take sufficient interest in it to have a representative. Of these, six have entered for the competition this year. Of the remainder, it is doubtful if more than four could raise a Sunday service band capable of ringing 252 Grandsire Triples.

BELFRY GOSSIP

The sudden death of the Archbishop of Sydney and Primate of Australia (Dr. H. W. K. Movill) on October 24th was marked by special ringing in many churches on October 29th, the day of his funeral. A peal was rung at St. Paul's Cathedral, Melbourne, and there was special ringing at Parramatta, St. Mary's (R.C.) Cathedral, Sydney, and at St. James', Turramurra. 'A very prince of the Church and a great Christian gentleman' is our correspondent's tribute to the late Primate.

The ringers of St. Mary's, Addington, Surrey, are grateful to Mr. Ralph Bird for his untiring efforts in training a local band. which successfully rang its first peal on October 25th, 1958, of Plain Bob Minor.

Mr. Fred Rogers, of Portsmouth, makes a very welcome appearance in the peal columns again after his illness over 18 months ago. The rest of the band wish him continued good health and many more peals like this one, which he rang in his usual brilliant style.

For family reasons Mr. Brian D. Threlfall is resigning the office of hon. secretary and treasurer of the Universities Association at the annual meeting to be held at Birmingham early in the New Year.

The Sunday service band at St. Peter Mancroft journeyed to Bury St. Edmunds on November 1st to ring a peal in honour of their former Vicar, the Rev. John Waddington, being installed that day as Provost of Bury St. Edmunds.

The band which rang the peal at Cossington would like to associate it with Ernest Morris, who would have been ringing but for the fact that he was called upon to act as verger for the Bishop of Leicester. For several years Ernest has been waiting for All Saints' Day to fall on a Saturday to ring an All Saints' peal, and we are sorry that he missed it!

The peal of London Surprise Royal at Wells Cathedral, the heaviest ring of ten in the world, is probably the most conspicuous feature of our peal pages this week. It will be noted that Mr. Edward Jenkins turned in the 56 cwt. tenor. But for business commitments. Mr. F. Dunkerley would have been a member of the band and they wish to associate his name with the attempt.

The peal of Grandsire Triples rung at St. Andrew's Church, Stratton, Cornwall, was Charles Sangwin's 60th peal.

After the meeting of the Lewisham District at Greenwich, a badge of the Friends of Canterbury Cathedral was found in the ringing chamber. Will the owner please apply to Mr. A. G. Hill, 24, Stanmore Road, Belvedere, Kent.

London ringers noticed 'a healthy improvement' in Miss F. Brown, of Australia, when she rang in a quarter peal at Holy Trinity, Wandsworth, during a visit to London. They suggest it may be due to the good atmosphere at Stoke Bishop.

Mrs. Ernest Morris, of Leicester, is now busily engaged in collecting contributions for her grocery stall in connection with the Christmas Fair which is being held for St. Margaret's Church, Leicester, during the first week in December. Ringing friends near and far will doubtless help 'Our Bessie.'

Having received his first instructions in handling a bell on Armistice Day, 1918, Mr. Ivor Probert, of Burghill, Herefordshire, completed, on November 11th, 40 years' service as a bellringer. Ivor has rung some 20 peals for the Hereford Diocesan Guild and for several years has been captain of the local band. In the 1930's Double Norwich Court Bob and Cambridge Surprise were a regular feature of the Sunday service ringing.

COLLEGE YOUTHS' 321st ANNIVERSARY DINNER

WITH traditional dignity the 321st anniversary dinner of the Ancient Society of College Youths was held on November 1st at the Bridge House Restaurant beneath the shadow of Southwark Cathedral. A company of 151 stood to greet the Master, Dr. P. A. F. Chalk, as he made his ceremonial entry escorted by his senior steward, Mr. Wilfred Williams, and the junior steward, Mr. B. K. Lunn. The association of the Master with Cambridge University was marked by the presence of members of the University Guild and the Cambridge Youths.

As usual, the senior College Youths were honoured, but there was only one present, Mr. J. R. Sharman, with over 60 years' membership. Seven or eight members of more than 50 years' standing stood up to take wine with the Master. There was hearty applause when the senior Past Master, Mr. Alfred B. Peck, was similarly honoured.

The Master prefaced his remarks in proposing the toast of 'The Church' with a welcome to the company, especially visitors from Cambridge. The Society's visit to Cambridge this year was most pleasurable and they were received with warm hospitality.

They had no record of clerical ringers in the 18th century as far as he knew; it was not until the middle of the 19th century that clerical ringers came to the fore. The Rev. F. E. Robinson saw that time did not hang on his hands, as he rang 1,250 peals. In fact, a large number of clergy took up ringing and they had the founding of the Diocesan and County Associations. They had had many clerical members of their Society. Canon Coleridge was one, but as far as he know not one had been Master.

Why did they ring? He thought the answer was that they enjoyed ringing. 'I do not think it is a bad thing to say we enjoy ringing, because most ringers feel at the same time they have a duty to perform as Church workers.

The Master recalled the days when he rang at Much Hadham, where they took their surplices and cassocks into the ringing chamber, and that gave them just time to sing in the choir. There were many ringers who sang or who had sung in the choir. Within bell-ringing there was a wonderful fellowship and it would be well if they could extend that fellowship.

RINGING AT ST. PAUL'S

The Archdeacon of London (the Ven. O. H. Gibbs-Smith), in reply, said he wanted to acknowledge the debt the Church owed to ringers and he was very proud to be associated with the ringers at St. Paul's. The bells of St. Paul's, Westminster and Southwark were all rung by members of the Ancient Society of College Youths, and the Provost of Southwark would agree with him that ringing was an absolutely essential service to the Church.

At St. Paul's there was no department which ran more smoothly and efficiently than the bellringers. Their service at St. Paul's was performed at a very high level: that was why, perhaps, there was so little interference from the Dean and Chapter. He was one of those agile enough to go up to the belfry, and the reason why he often went was because his young daughter, aged six, had such a passion for bellringing.

The service of ringers was taken very much for granted and yet ringers were the people who told the world about the Church and were their best publicity agents. 'In the name of the Church I thank you—for all you have done in the centuries past and for what you are doing to-day.'

The Provost of Southwark (the Very Rev. G. E. Reindorp), who proposed the toast of 'The Ancient Society of College Youths,' mentioned in a witty speech his appreciation of the services of the ringers of Southwark Cathedral. They had some strange men in their Society. He recalled a tall, auburn-haired man who led a choir at a festival who was wearing not the hood of a doctor of music but the hood of a doctor of medicine. He afterwards found out that he was a gynæcologist, and the only adornment on the wall of his consulting room was a certificate of membership of the Ancient Society of College Youths.

The Provost wished Mr. B. K. Lunn, who was giving up his office as junior steward in order to train for the ministry at Trinity College, Dublin, all success.

The secretary, Mr. John E. Chilcott, who replied, said he had received apologies for absence from Mr. Albert Walker, the Myers, of Plymouth, Mr. John H. Jones (Tamworth) Mr. Edwin H. Lewis, Mr. Harry Miles (Carbis Bay), Mr. Alan R. Macdonald (Poole), Mr. Joseph T. Dyke, the Rev. Norman Motley, Mr. J. Henry Fielden, Mr. W. Manser and Mr. Frank C. Price. He was sorry to say that both Mr. Macdonald and Mr. Dyke were ill, and he was sure they would wish him to send a message wishing them a speedy recovery.

MEMBERSHIP GROWING

It was his duty to report on the general health of the Society and he was very pleased to say that it was very satisfactory. They had a steadily growing membership and all activities continued to be well supported. They had made 36 new members during the year and, as they knew, they did not canvass for members. Those who had joined had come from Lancashire, Yorkshire, Cumberland, Cornwall, Ireland and Australia. Many were young but were well known as ringers. Mr. Smallwood was stirring up activity in Derbyshire and he hoped it would not be long before there was a College Youth peal there.

They had held their cycle of practices and meetings. The only change was that Cornhill bells were out of action. They in London were very fond of these bells and hoped that they would soon be restored. This year their county meeting was held in Cambridge, where the ringing arrangements were first-class and the meeting was well supported. Another exceptional occasion was the joint meeting with the Cumberland Youths at Beddington. They had never held a joint meeting before and it was hoped that at some future date, although not too soon, another meeting would be held.

In regard to peals, 16 had been rung during the year against 23 in the previous year (but that total included four Society peals in a day. The peals included one of Surprise Maximus, five Stedman Cinques (including one at St. Paul's and one of Past Masters), two Stedman Caters, two Surprise Royal, four Surprise Major and two Stedman Triples (one at Newport Pagnell by local College Youths).

LOSSES BY DEATH

The company stood while the following, who had died during the year, were remembered, not all of whom were College Youths:—

Frederick W. Richardson, Frank Bennett, Albert C. Hardy, Alfred Barnes, James Fernley, John H. Brothwell, George W. Moss, Charles J. Camms, Charles W. Smith, Frederick R. Williams, Ernest H. Oxenham, Frank E. Pervin, William A. Lewis, John B. Hessey, Frederick Dench, Ernest E. Grimes, Frederick Vickers, Fred Russell, Joseph Hardcastle, William Vale, William Denyer, Mrs. Phyllis Poole, James E. Lilley, Felix J. Sutton, J. G. Macdougal, Walter Sear, Alfred Jones, William J. Webb, William R. Catchpole, Herbert P. Cliff, William J. Paice, Leslie Sadler, George Foxell, John L. Morris, John Thomas, David Priestley and Percy Johnson.

The secretary said that the Rev. Llewellyn-Edwards, who was an old and valued member, when he died left the Society £150. The terms of the bequest were that the bells of a City church should be rung on Shrove Tuesday and afterwards the members partake of suitable refreshment. As the Society needed a new name book, although the honoured the bequest by ringing the bells of St. Lawrence Jewry, some of the money was spent on a very lovely name book. He would like to mention Mr. Russell Wilson, who was kind enough to present the beautiful skins with which the book was bound. The peal book also had been written up until the end of 1957.

Last year Mr. Peck announced that he was not standing as secretary, and the Society decided to respect his decision. Last December they made presentations to him and to Mr. Hughes. To Mr. Peck was presented an engraved silver cigarette case and lighter and to Mr. Hughes a cut glass and silver salad bowl. Together with these gifts was a list of subscribers. He was very pleased they were able to show in a tangible form the affection they had now for them.

'HOW LOVELY THE BELLS SOUNDED'

Mr. A. A. Hughes, who proposed the toast of 'The Visitors and Kindred Ringing Societies,' said a few weeks ago he had an example of how much the public counted on their efforts to get first-class striking and perfect rhythm. The Rector of Aldgate's daughter was getting married, and the Rector wanted the bells, which were in a poor condition, to be rung for the wedding. They doctored the bells as much as they could. Seven of the eight men turned up and he said 'Ring seven,' and they rang 1, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8. The eighth man turned up and they started very well. Soon there was a big bang. They rushed up to see what had happened and found that the seventh bell had fallen. He said 'Keep going.' Later, at the reception, a number of people came up to him and said 'How lovely the bells sounded.' That was perfectly true.

Mr. Hughes had a special word of thanks for the incumbents of the churches where they held their practice meetings. As to kindred Societies, they had with them representatives of Societies from all over the country and they gave them a hearty welcome.

The Rev. J. F. D. Triningham, Rector of St. Lawrence Jewry, and Dr. C. M. P. Johnson, of the Cambridge University Guild, replied.

Mr. M. P. Moreton proposed the toast of 'The Ringing World,' and said if they looked at the first issue of 'The Bell News' they would find that the number of peals rung was small and the methods simple. By 1900 London Surprise was not so rare. 'The Bell News' had been succeeded by 'The Ringing World' and now they were getting many peals of Spliced Surprise. Without 'The Ringing World' they would not know what meetings were being held or read reports of meetings. The Central Council would be very difficult to organise; there would be no controversial matters: nobody would know what was being rung. If 'The Ringing World' ceased publication, however, the greatest loss would be of news of friends all over the country. He asked them all to do their best to keep 'The Ringing World' as a flourishing paper.

Mr. Frank Smallwood, in reply, said he was very pleased to note that they were good enough to toast 'The Ringing World,' as it was their paper. It had been served by three very good editors. Perhaps they did not know there had been a fourth. Last year, when the Editor had a Continental holiday, he occupied the editorial chair for a fortnight and he had the pleasure of blue-pencilling the footnotes of the inevitable peal of Double Norwich. If they compared 'The Ringing World' of to-day with that of 20 or 30 years ago they would see a remarkable improvement in the quality of the printing. It was remarkably well printed and a credit to the Woodbridge Press and the Editor.

JIMMY DWIGHT, THE POET

The concluding toast, 'The fragrant memory of their Masters of 300, 200 and 100 years ago,' was proposed by the Master. He said of the Master of 1658, Peter Smith, they had no information. In 1758, unfortunately, the habit of recording the Masters' names in the name book had ceased. The Master of 1858 was James Dwight, and he certainly left his mark behind him. He took part in the first peals of Stedman Caters and Stedman Cinques 'in hand.' The first was in 1851 and the second in 1854, and they were both rung for the Society. In 1861 a peal of 8,580 Stedman Cinques was rung at Cornhill, the then record length, in which he took part, and he was so pleased that he wrote an ode to commemorate the occasion. The last line read 'and Jimmy Dwight, the poet.' Not only was the ode produced at College Youth dinners but it was also sung.

The toast was honoured in silence.

During the evening a touch of Stedman Cinques was rung on handbells by W. T. Cook 1-2, W. Williams (conductor) 3-4, M. V. Chilcott 5-6, B. D. Threlfall 7-8, John Chilcott 9-10, M. P. Moreton 11-12. To the great delight of the company Mrs. A. A. Hughes played a selection of tunes on handbells, accompanied by Mr. Stanley Fox.

COLLEGE OF CAMPANOLOGY

The second annual report of the College of Campanology for the year ending August 31st, states that it can record progress and there is evidence to show that with further publication of its aims, methods and achievements, such progress could be greatly extended. Wherever its work has been launched its efforts have been welcomed as meeting a need, in some cases where other efforts have failed. Of all the pupils tested this year only one is reported as having failed.

The record of achievement for the year is as follows: —Membership, 80; courses of instruction completed or under way, 7; panels, examiners, 15; tutors, 29; towers at which instruction is given, 26; learners, over 150; ringing talks given, 47; members whose status has advanced during the year, 26; members' ways of advancing ringing during year, 10.

The College records with pleasure the elections to fellowships of Mr. Ernest Morris, president of the College, life-long ringing instructor, record long peal ringer and author of works on ringing; Mr. Frederick Sharpe, hon. consultant to the College (bells and towers), author and acknowledged authority in this field, president of the Central Council.

Officers of the College for 1958-59 are:—President, Mr. Ernest Morris; vice-president, Mr. Harry Miles; hon. chaplain, the Rev. A. G. G. Thurlow; deputy hon. chaplain, the Rev. Malcolm Melville; hon. consultant (towers and bells), Mr. F. Sharpe; Press and public relations officer, Dr. F. S. J. Hatcher; principal, Mr. A. York-Bramble; registrar, Miss S. K. M. Knight; bursar, Surgeon-Captain A. Lawrey; students' delegate, Mr. Roger Baldwin. The four last-named constitute the Administrative Committee.

Correction.—The method rung in the peal at Morebath (page 705) was Grandsire Doubles, not Plain Bob Doubles. In the peal at Buckland (page 704) two 120's of Stedman were rung, not seven. The ringer of the third in the peal at West Hallam on June 28th should have been Edwin Walklate, and not Clive Walklate.

A PEAL WEEK-END IN THE DUKERIES

Mr. John Ketteringham, of Lincoln, kindly arranged four peals near Retford on October 24th-26th for friends from Derbyshire and the Southwell Guild. The writer nearly failed to make Gamston in time for the Friday evening peal, having completed 200 miles from Snowdonia, the last 20 in dense fog.

A good, fast peal of Bob Minor was accomplished on these nice Hedderly bells in ample time, however, though the conductor was feeling the effects of eight miles of tramping over 3,500 feet high Carnedd Llewellyn the previous day, and the long drive followed by a peal with only sandwiches since breakfast, before he crawled to bed at the Aldridge Hotel, Retford.

The drive to Cuckney next morning lay through Clumber Park, whose great avenue, tinged by autumn, merged into the misty distance. John had oiled these pleasant bells, and, with a young band, a peal in five Minor methods was completed before partaking of the welcome hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Rooke, at Warsop.

On the way to Tuxford a slight detour was made to visit Laxton, which is the sole surviving village to use the mediæval three-field strip system for its agriculture. The recently augmented eight at Tuxford have the disadvantages of a long draught and very quiet trebles, but Herbert Rooke had boldly chosen to call John Ketteringham's new and interesting, but none too easy, composition of Little Bob Major. Fears appeared justified when 'Stand' was called after 40 minutes, but a second start was made and the peal successfully brought round. Fourteen-year-old Kenneth Ballington is to be commended on ringing the method without previous practice and on 'sticking to it' despite the sore hands of over six hours' ringing that day.

Next morning the old-style ten at St. Swithun's, East Retford, was visited in its fine central tower. There that remarkable veteran, Mr. John Segar, mystified and amazed us with his almost unique and uncanny ability to tap complicated methods on handbells, as well as with his composition systems, and an interesting hour was spent.

The afternoon peal was at nearby West Retford, a nice-toned six hung in the old style. Wath Delight had been chosen, but a conducting error in the second 720 caused a halt, and as one of the ringers had promised to be in time for a quarter peal at Cresswell that night it was fortunate that Kenneth, who had been excused this peal, turned up to see why we had stopped. He again showed his ability to master the unfamiliar quickly, and this time the first peal of Wath Delight Minor was successful.

Service ringing was at East and West Retford, and the kind people at the Aldridge prepared supper before the journey homeward through Sherwood Forest was begun

D. P. J.

The peal at Isham, Northants, on November 1st, was the first to be rung by the local band since the war. Mr. E. M. Atkins, although not now often present with the band, has been a member since 1906, when the bells were installed.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

THE SURVEY

Dear Sir,—Several of your correspondents have recently referred to the problem of depleted bands and silent bells and it is encouraging to read in a recent issue of the determined efforts being made by the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association to get all bells in their Diocese ringing and fully manned. Possibly valuable ideas and information may result from their new and vigorous approach to this problem.

The Bath and Wells Diocesan Association was one of the first of 18 Associations which have already promised fullest co-operation in the survey of Sunday service ringing being carried out by the Central Council, and its contribution promises to be a very valuable one.

The Yorkshire Association has already submitted its survey report to the committee, and several other Associations have their surveys well under way. It is hoped that within the next month or so many other Associations will undertake this worthwhile task.

Details of the survey were published in 'The Ringing World' of September 5th, and supplies of printed questionnaires for Associations to send out to towers are available on request from the Editor.

Members of Associations or Guilds can render a valuable contribution to service ringing by encouraging their Associations and Guilds to undertake as soon as possible the survey of towers in their areas as requested by the Central Council Committee.—Yours sincerely,

NORMAN CHADDOCK,
Convener,
Central Council Committee on Sunday Service Ringing.

ELECTRICALLY-OPERATED RINGING

Dear Sir,—We hope that you will allow us a little space in your columns to ask for some advice.

In the bell-tower of St. Peter's Cathedral, Adelaide, is hung a noble octave (tenor 41 cwt.), but we suffer the disadvantage of being close to two hospitals and a university college. All the practice that we are allowed is 1½ hours a week.

Consequently, when we read in 'The Ringing World' of March 28th of a peal rung at St. Andrew's, Histon, we were extremely interested to learn that there was employed a device whereby the clappers were tied and the bells sounded on electrically-operated handbells in the bell-chamber. For some time we have been trying to work out some such device ourselves so that we can practise at will, but without success.

We immediately wrote to Histon asking for details but have had no reply. Perhaps our letter was insufficiently addressed to reach its destination.

We therefore appeal to your readers. If anyone knowing how this contrivance works will be kind enough to send us the necessary information, we shall be extremely grateful.—Yours sincerely,

W. B. PITCHER, Secretary,
St. Peter's Cathedral Bellringers' Society.

'SALLIES IN MOTHBALLS'

Dear Sir,—I should like to add a little to Mr. Stevens' letter ('Ringing World,' October 3rd) and also to that of my dear old friend, Arthur Cross ('Ringing World,' October 24th).

I am afraid there are many 'good' ringers who put themselves first and their service to God and His Church second or even third.

I well remember at a meeting a few years ago congratulating a young lady on her excellent striking. She could ring in any method that was called for. I then asked her where she rang on Sundays. She said, 'Oh, anywhere I can get some good ringing; they only ring Grandsire Doubles at our church.'

I told this young woman what I thought of her and many others like her. I would mention that the young lady in question is not a member of the Oxford Diocesan Guild, and I don't know that we want her.

It would be a good thing if some such ringers adopted the motto of a well-known organisation, 'Service, not Self.'—Yours faithfully,

JOHN FOWLER.
Cookham.

ST. CLEMENT DANES

Dear Sir,—I should be very grateful if any past or present members of the Royal Air Force and its associated Forces who would be prepared to ring on Sundays and/or on such special occasions as ringing may be required (these are not yet known, but no doubt April 1st will be one) at St. Clement Danes on a rota basis would drop me a line stating (a) how often they could come, and (b) whether morning or afternoon—Matins is at 11 a.m. and Evensong at 3.30 p.m.—Yours faithfully,

E. A. BARNETT.

MR. PERCY JOHNSON AND HEADINGLEY

Dear Sir.—An omission of part of my memoir of the late Mr. Percy J. Johnson in 'The Ringing World' of October 31st and a consequent mix-up of dates, gives a wrong impression of Mr. Johnson's connection with ringing at Headingley St. Michael's, Leeds.

He went back to Holbeck, from Headingley, in 1906 (not 1936, as quoted in 'The Ringing World') and then rejoined the Headingley band towards the end of the first world war. He continued a member of the Headingley band, without a break, from then until the end of his life. Where the date 1944—given in 'The Ringing World' as when he rejoined the Headingley band—has come from I do not know.

Apropos the muffled peal of Superlative rung at Headingley as a tribute to Percy Johnson, which I conducted, there is a small matter which might be of interest. The report bears a footnote that it is my 300th peal for the Yorkshire Association. Since sending in the report I find that Mr. Johnson (my dear friend, Percy) rang in 150 of those peals—exactly one half of them.—Yours sincerely,

WILLIAM BARTON.
Pudsey, Yorks.

KENT'S UNRINGABLE BELLS

Dear Sir,—Following the example of our Essex correspondents, I am submitting a list of the bells in Kent which are either not allowed to be rung or are unringable. It may be of use to any ringing party organisation, or any potential 'tower-restorers.'

Rings of eight.—Sandwich (only the tenor ringable); Mersham (last rung about four years ago, many of the wheels rimless, tower locally supposed to be unsafe); Rochester, St. Margaret's.

Rings of six.—Hothfield (tower badly cracked, no ringing allowed); Kennington (tower locally supposed unsafe, since the front five bells all swing the same way; ropes removed and chiming apparatus installed 1951); Eastling (bells completely derelict, clocked); Elmstead (bells also clocked); Sheldwich (bells have been derelict for 50 years, two are out of their frames on the bell chamber floor, surrounded in sticks and filth); Southfleet (bells unringable); Lamberhurst (tower at present unsafe, bells not being rung); Sandhurst (bells supposed to be unringable).

Rings of five.—Ivychurch, Newchurch and Kingsnorth (all these towers supposed locally to be unsafe, bells not allowed to be rung in any of them); Canterbury, Holy Cross (frame and fittings shaky, brasses almost worn away, not rung); Godmersham (bells derelict, clocked); Preston-by-Wingham (frame and fittings unsafe, bells swing-chimed for services); Woodnesborough (bells hung for chiming only). Frinsted (bells disused and in poor condition); Bredgar (bells unringable).

The rings of eight at Birling and five at Brookland are almost unringable owing to the state and 'go' of the bells. I was under the impression that the ring of five at Nettlestead was not rung, but since there was a ringing meeting there earlier this year, I presume this situation has now been changed. The ring of six at Wouldham is ropeless, but otherwise ringable.

I am inclined to question the justification of the unringability of the bells at all the towers that are reputed to be unsafe. Most of the towers in question seem to be fairly strong, and no cracks are visible. I know that in at least one case the Vicar is responsible for the neglect of the bells.

I am hoping to make a survey of the unringable towers in Kent. So far my clientele has been entirely local: I would be very grateful to receive any information about any of the towers, especially those of Sandhurst and St. Margaret's, Rochester, of which my information is negligible.—Yours faithfully,

NICHOLAS J. DAVIES.
Kennington, Ashford.

FIRST PERFORMANCE OF PRINCIPLES

Dear Sir,—Mr. Blagrove has, I think, omitted Washbrook's Surprise Principle from the list on page 699 of 'The Ringing World' of those in which peals have been rung. My 'Ringing Worlds' are temporarily inaccessible, so that I cannot quote the precise date, but I believe the peal was rung at Caversham in or about 1913.

I must say I feel rather doubtful about Maidstone Major and Cox's Caters, but in the absence of figures one can do no more than surmise that they were, perhaps, methods really.—Yours faithfully,

E. A. BARNETT.

CARLISLE'S 800 YEARS OF CIVIC INDEPENDENCE

TO celebrate Carlisle's 800 years of Civic Independence the Cumberland and North Westmorland Association held a ringing festival on October 18th, which was attended by ringers from all parts of the North of England and also Edinburgh. The bells of the Cathedral and St. Stephen's were rung throughout the afternoon and evening.

The ringers attended Evensong in the Cathedral, conducted by the Dean (the Very Rev. Cyril Mayne), and Canon W. R. M. Chaplin (president of the Association) read the lesson.

The Dean, in his sermon, said: 'You are engaged in a very important piece of work because there is not a moment when you can afford to lift your attention from the ringing. It is a work which demands a tremendous amount of concentration, and you have to keep your minds on what you are doing the whole time.

'When you are ringing you are doing God's service. It might be a good thing if, before you begin to ring, you offered up a prayer to God, a short prayer, that your work might be worthy. It is team work and an incentive, not to rivalry but to co-operation with others.'

At the tea, served in the Fratry, and with the Town Clerk and Mrs. H. D. A. Robertson and the Dean and Mrs. Mayne as guests of honour, the secretary (Mr. J. W. Brownrigg) welcomed the visitors. He said although they could not find information about bells in Carlisle 800 years ago, there was a record by the Lanerost Chronicler that on the restoration of the Cathedral, after its destruction by fire, Bishop Strickland (1400–1419) 'raised the tower and furnished it with four bells.' One of those bells, the seventh of the present ring of eight, exists to-day. It would appear that bells existed in the Castle and Moot Hall as well as the Cathedral, as Sir Walter Scott writes when the Bold Buccleugh in 1596 rescued Kinmont Willie from the Castle, 'The bells of the Castle rang out, those of the Cathedral and Moot Hall answering them.'

Replying to a welcome, the Town Clerk said it was only that week during the visit of H.M. the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh that he realised the importance of bells and bellringers. It was essential that the bells should be ringing while the Royal Party drove from the station to the Town Hall, and it was also essential that the bells should stop immediately the Royal Party arrived. The Cathedral ringers co-operated wonderfully and assured him that if a yellow duster was waved from the Town Hall the bells would stop in 25 seconds. This was done and the bells ceased with perfect timing.

Mr. Kenneth Arthur, president of the Durham and Newcastle Association, expressed on behalf of his Association and other visiting ringers fraternal greetings. Carlisle and Cumberland, he said, would go down in the history of change ringing. The first peal in Cumberland was rung at St. Stephen's, Carlisle, in 1865 by the oldest Society of change ringers—the College Youths—and the Royal Society of Cumberland Youths got its name from the Duke of Cumberland.

The president of the Association thanked the ringers and wives of Carlisle for making the necessary arrangements and for providing such a wonderful tea. The ringing ranged from rounds to Plain Bob, Grandsire, Stedman and Double Norwich, and some good striking was heard from both towers.

MR. RAT CAME TO INVESTIGATE

While a handbell peal was being rung in the old harness room at Stevenage Bury by a band which included two ladies a rat came to look at the band quite a number of times. The conductor, Mr. W. Lawrence, is unable to confirm whether the rat came out at the end of each six-score, but at the end of the performance he disappeared.

The peal, we believe, makes history. Each of the ladies rang a single bell.

DOUBLES METHODS

Dear Sir,—In reading my earlier letter (published on page 611) as an attack on Doubles ringers, Mr. Haines has completely misunderstood its import. The peal at Kislingbury was cited, not for any 'idle critical' reason, but as a specific case where the C.C. Analysis Committee will, in order to complete its tables, have to decide how many methods were rung. It is my contention (and this is where Mr. Haines and I DO cross swords) that there were only twelve methods, not 21, in that peal. A call CANNOT constitute a method, which is defined by its plain course—and no amount of cycling after a day's work (with or without tea) will alter that fact. And now, before Mr. Haines implies from this that I am objecting to all Doubles variations per se, perhaps he would care to turn to the peal columns on pages 493 and 557 of this year's 'Ringing World'?

As Mr. Dodds says, many of these variations are quite unknown to the majority of Doubles ringers. The following table, while not claiming to be exhaustive—it gives only one name for each variation, for example—may be of interest and, I trust, use.

PLAIN COURSE

Call:	Plain Bob	Reverse Canterbury	St. Simon	St. Nicholas	St. Martin	Winchendon Place
Plain Bob Bob:	Plain Bob	Southrepps	St. Simon	St. Giles	St. Martin	St. Miles
Rev. Cant. Bob:	Kennington	Rev. Cant.	St. Albans	St. Nicholas	St. Paul	Winchendon Place
Old Bob Single:	Old	St. Columb	Cassington	St. Thomas	St. Peter	St. Luke
Grandsire Single:	April Day	Clifford's Pleasure	Eynsham	St. Andrew	St. Leonard	St. John
Grandsire Extreme:	Besthorpe	Costessy	Shropham	Norwich	Mileham	Walsingham
All Saints Plain Lead:	Seighford	Little Aston	Elford	Shareshill	Austrey	Ryton

Thus, for example, St. Simon's rung with a Grandsire single is Eynsham, and St. Martin's with a Reverse Canterbury bob, St. Paul. — Yours sincerely,

CYRIL A. WRATTEN.

REDEDICATIONS

FELTHAM, MIDDLESEX

The dedication of the two new trebles at Feltham, Middlesex, which took place on Saturday, October 25th, was a very happy occasion, attended by about 40 ringers and friends, including Mr. A. A. Hughes and his son, Mr. W. Hughes, of Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, who cast the two new bells.

The design and construction of the frame and the work of erection has been carried out entirely by the local captain, Mr. T. Price, Master of the Middlesex County Association. The work is a fine piece of engineering, and the 'go' of the new bells is absolutely perfect; they are steady and easy to handle, and in tone they blend admirably with the rest of the ring. The result is that Feltham now possesses a charming little light ten.

The dedication service, which was preceded by ringing on the old eight, was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. A. Calder). When the two new bells were dedicated, rounds were rung on the ten.

A lovely tea was provided by the local ringers in the Church Hall.

Afterwards the Rev. G. C. Taylor, president of the Middlesex County Association, in a few informal words. congratulated Mr. T. Price on his achievement. In reply, Mr. Price expressed his thanks for the help and advice given by Mr. W. Hughes during a number of pleasurable visits to the Whitechapel Foundry, and also to Mr. Stephen Gamble, of the local band, who had spent many hours assisting him.

Mr. Price mentioned a number of people present who had long associations with Feltham. Firstly, Mr. A. J. Lewis, who read both lessons at the service, and who had been the greatest help and encouragement throughout the project; he had been active in parochial affairs for over 50 years. Secondly, his brother, Mr. W. A. Lewis, who had attended the dedication of the original eight in 1901. Finally, Mr. W. Welling, of Old Windsor, who had rung a peal of Stedman Triples at Feltham just 50 years ago.

Ringing on the 10 followed. Methods rung included London and Cambridge Surprise Royal, Grandsire, Stedman and Erin Caters and a touch of Plain Bob Minor to try out the front six. The bells were much admired and enjoyed.

PUBLOW, SOMERSET

The fifth bell of Publow, which has been recast by Messrs. John Taylor and Co., was rededicated at the 9.30 a.m. service on October 26th. After rededication the bell was pulled off by Mr. F. C. Mogford, and as the clergy and churchwardens returned to the vestry the bells were rung in rounds. Local ringers were very satisfied with the bellfounders' work.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD

The Banbury and District Branch held its autumn meeting at Wroxton on October 18th when, in spite of the sunny afternoon which must have kept some members in their gardens, about 40 members and friends from London and North Berks assembled under the new Branch chairman, the Rev. T. W. Griffiths, of Great Tew. The service was conducted by the Vicar and tea served by the ladies in the Village Hall. Three new members were elected, one of whom is the great-grandson of Mr. F. Selwyn, the veteran ringer of Banbury, who was also present. The next meeting was fixed for Adderbury on January 3rd, and it was agreed to hold a dinner and social evening in Banbury on January 10th. After the business meeting there was further ringing at Wroxton and also at Hanwell.

WEDDINGS

Mr. Bryan C. Stirland — Miss Hazel Hancock

Many friends of both bride and bridegroom gathered at Christ Church, Ottershaw, on November 1st for the wedding of Mr. Bryan Stirland, of St. Mary's, Reading, to Miss Hazel Hancock, popular secretary of the Chertsey District of the Guildford Diocesan Guild.

The bells were rung by local ringers before the service, which was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. Dudley Hiam). The bride, given away by her father, wore a full-length dress of white brocade. She was attended by Miss E. Loveland and Miss E. Hiley in blue brocade and Miss Penny Thompson in pink. The best man was Mr. Geoffrey K. Dodd. As the couple left the church the bells were rung by members of St. Mary's, Reading, band.

The reception was held at the Otter Hotel, attended by 50 guests. The happy couple later left for a honeymoon in Plymouth, the bride travelling in a charcoal grey suit. During the afternoon a peal of Plain Bob Minor was rung at Ottershaw to mark the occasion.

Mr. Trevor A. Cross — Miss P. Smee

On October 25th the wedding took place between Mr. Trevor A. Cross and Miss Patricia Smee at the Church of SS. Mary and Nicholas, Leatherhead. The bride, who was dressed in white, was given away by her father. The service was conducted by the two curates of Leatherhead.

As the bride and bridegroom left the church the bells were being rung and 'fired' by the local ringers as a token of their best wishes to the happy couple. The reception, attended by over 60 guests, was held at the Prince of Wales.

After the reception and whilst the bride and bridegroom were getting ready for their honeymoon at Bournemouth, a quarter peal of Plain Bob Royal was rung by the following: G. Mariner 1, Pauline Sprackling 2, A. H. Winch 3, F. Oakshott 4, A. Smith 5, Rev. C. Marshall 6, A. J. Smith 7, B. Hawkins 8, G. T. Butcher (conductor) 9, C. S. Jarrett 10. First quarter of Royal by 2 and 4.

THREE PEALS IN A DAY IN S.W. HERTS

On October 18th Mr. Ken Dunstan arranged another three peal attempts near Watford. The programme seemed easier than the one in May, which included two rings of ten, but in the event the bells proved more exacting than expected. Pat Cannon set off in very brisk style on the tenor at Aldenham, calling Yorkshire, and a very fast peal would have been rung had not the sixth rope begun to disintegrate below the sally, necessitating a cautious finish.

The little six at Elstree in the afternoon promised to be an easy ring, but despite the beauty of tone of these new bells, the clappering left a lot to be desired and made some of the bells appear very sluggish, so that the band were beginning to feel rather tired for the evening peal at Bushey. The first peal of Evening Star Delight was successfully accomplished at Elstree.

A late start was made at Bushey, but the tenor man, Ralph Bird, who now joined us specially to 'circle the tower,' was fresh, and a good, brisk peal of Rutland was rung, completing the trio, these bells sounding best at such a speed, though work is needed to achieve it. Did Phil Davies recognise his excellent composition, it is wondered, for none 'let on' that he had participated in the first performance.

OBITUARY

MR. ARTHUR J. CHAMBERLAIN

With a feeling of personal loss ringers in the Newark district learned of the passing of Mr. Arthur J. Chamberlain, of Southwell, on October 7th, aged 78.

A man of integrity, a ringer who, in his prime, would have a go at most things and stick at very little, and a friend of all learners was A. J. C., as he was affectionately known by most ringers in Nottinghamshire.

Learning to ring at Southwell Minster in 1894, at the age of 14, he remained a member of the Minster band for 64 years until the time of his death, during which period he rang in the region of 77 peals.

One of his favourite pastimes was composing 'date' touches, and for the young conductor there would always be a scrap of paper produced with a few musical touches for service ringing, especially Grandsire Triples.

A. J. C. was a lovable man. No varying moods or sarcastic remarks about his fellow ringers and, above all, he had a wonderful sense of humour and was never happier than when telling a joke against himself. Arthur Chamberlain will be remembered with gratitude for many years to come.

A half-muffled quarter peal of Grandsire Triples was rung at the Minster in the evening following the funeral. The sympathy of all ringers in the District is extended to his wife and daughter and family. F. W. M.

CHARLES CHURCH, PLYMOUTH

On November 1st a plaque was unveiled at Charles Church, Plymouth, by the Lord Mayor of Plymouth, Alderman G. J. Wingett, dedicating the ruins of the church as a lasting memorial to the citizens of Plymouth who lost their lives in blitzes on the city during the last war. Some 1,200 men, women and children were killed, 40 churches and 4,000 houses were destroyed. Prayers were offered by the Rev. J. A. James, Vicar of Charles with St. Luke's, whilst the Blessing was given by Dr. Norman H. Clarke, the Bishop of Plymouth.

The church was destroyed in March, 1941, and all that remained were the outer walls; the walls of the tower and spire also remained almost intact, but the very fine ring of 10 bells came crashing to the ground, a tangled mass of scrap metal. The church now stands within the Charles roundabout in the newly-constructed city.

Three of the present band at Emmanuel Church were ringers at Charles when the bells were silenced by a Government order in 1940—Messrs. J. P. Sims (captain), A. E. Perkin and H. H. Thomas (hon. secretary). The first two were married at Charles. Messrs. Sims and Thomas were present at the ceremony on November 1st. H. H. T.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Lewisham District

It was necessary to change the venue for the annual meeting of the Lewisham District from St. Luke's, Bromley Common, to St. Mary's, Bexley, on October 26th, as the date was unsuitable to the church authorities.

Mr. E. A. Barnett presided at the business meeting, when seven new members were elected, and the election of two non-resident members was ratified.

The secretary's report conveyed the impression of a satisfactory condition in general with reservations on minor points. There was one change in the officers, Mr. I. H. Oram (Chislehurst) was elected District Ringing Master in succession to Mr. A. S. Richards (West Wickham), who received a vote of thanks for his exemplary services. Messrs. A. G. Hill, A. S. Richards and Mrs. M. R. Andrews were elected hon. secretary and District representatives respectively.

The chairman paid a tribute to the memory of Mr. J. L. Morris, and the meeting's respect and grateful remembrance were expressed in the traditional manner.

The Vicar (the Rev. S. Hooper) conducted the service and Miss M. R. Andrews and her assistants undertook the catering for a company of about 50 most efficiently.

HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Royston Revisited

The last time a ringing meeting was held at Royston was in October, 1952. Between then and November 1st this year permission has been withheld, so it was with joy that the Northern District gathered there.

There was a good attendance, with friends from the Ely Diocesan Association as well. No business meeting was held, as the bells were only available from 5.30. J. S.

BATH AND WELLS DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

The quarterly meeting of the Chew Deanery Branch was held at St. Andrew's, Clevedon, on October 25th, by invitation of the new Vicar of Clevedon Prebendary T. P. Nicholls.

Following ringing in the afternoon, the Association form of service was conducted by the Vicar. Mr. Ernest Caple played the organ.

In the course of his address, Prebendary Nicholls quoted passages about bells from Tennyson's 'In Memoriam,' which was inspired by the death of Arthur Hallam, who is buried in Clevedon Churchyard.

Following an excellent tea at the home of Mr. Caple, the Vicar presided at the business meeting. The company stood in silence to the memory of Mr. John Thomas, after which the Vicar said that he had been a parson for 33 years and this was the first time he had addressed and attended a ringers' meeting. No new members were elected but 11 ringers from St. Andrew's, Clevedon, were welcomed back into the Association.

The annual meeting was arranged for Nailsea on the first Saturday in December, and the November practice at Publow. The Corporate Communion will be held at Clevedon on the fourth Sunday in April. The secretary also mentioned that some towers had not yet paid their subscriptions for 1958.

After votes of thanks to all who had contributed to such an enjoyable meeting, ringing was resumed in various methods under the direction of the Ringing Master, Mr. H. W. Knight. M. J. H.

OUTING

EWELL, SURREY

The outing of Ewell bellringers into Wiltshire was something of a misnomer. Of the 60 people who took part only one-third were ringers. Towers visited were Amesbury, the three at Devizes, Southbroom, Bishop's Cannings (reputed to be the first church in England to have eight bells), Upavon and Andover. Messrs. C. W. Munday, R. Spittle and D. Spittle shared the supervision of the ringing and the outing was organised by Mr. J. E. Beams.

A Plymouth Worthy

Dear Sir,—Members of the S.W. Branch of the Guild of Devonshire Ringers have been sorry to hear that Mr. W. C. Hiscott has been very ill, and underwent an operation in a Plymouth hospital in October. Several of his ringing friends have visited him in hospital and we are very pleased to report good progress and a cheerful countenance.

Mr. Hiscott commenced his ringing career about the turn of the century at Charles Church in Plymouth. After the first war, if my information is correct, he was for a time a member of Emmanuel Church band, subsequently becoming an honorary member of the Guild, and although he and Mrs. Hiscott went to reside at Liskeard, Cornwall, early in the last war, he has maintained his membership of the Guild.

When ringing recommenced he became a ringer at Liskeard, but we frequently saw him at our meetings. He has given up ringing, owing to his health, for three or four years.

All his friends in Devon and Cornwall, I am sure, extend to him, through 'The Ringing World,' of which I know he is a regular reader, best wishes for a speedy and complete recovery, and trust he will soon be at home in the delectable Duchy and able to listen again to the bells of St. Martin's, Liskeard, and perhaps take a walk on a mild frosty evening in the direction of the Cheesewring and again hear the bells of St. Cleer. THE RINGING WORLD

'The Ringing World' was founded in the year 1911 by John Sparkes Goldsmith, who remained its proprietor and editor until his death in 1942.

THE HUNT RIGHT AND WRONG

Or An Echo Of Old Berkshire

IN September, 1891, the 'Reading Mercury' carried a description of the restoration of Blewbury Church; it contained a history of the bells and their founder, of whose sad end it told . . . .

'A new bell was cast by a man named Hunt, who placed upon it the following inscription:—

Three times run and twice cast,
Blewbury tenor was made at last.

It is said that Hunt threatened if he did not succeed in making the bell in three castings he would destroy himself. He did commit suicide some time afterwards, and was buried with a stake driven through his body at the crossroads outside the village, at a spot still known as Hunt's grave.'

A few days later, the correspondent found himself under fire from a reader who indignantly contradicted 'this unfounded statement': The bell alluded to was cast at the foundry at Cholsey by Mr. John Hunt, in the year 1825, and was filled with beer in the yard of the foundry. Mr. Hunt was the founder of several church bells, two of which are in the tower of Cholsey Church at the present time. Some time after casting this bell, Mr. Hunt left Cholsey and took the foundry at Bow, called Clay Hall Ironworks, which he carried on for some years, and on his retirement went to live at Bardon villa, where he died in 1868, aged 81 years; 'His end was peace.' Suffice it to say he was not buried with a stake through his body at the crossroads. After the final paragraph of hurt feelings, the writer signs himself 'Charles Hewett Hunt, The Elms, Cholsey. 5th Oct., 1891.'

Explanation and apology came ten days later: 'I am sorry I was not sufficiently precise to prevent the error of confusing the old bell and the new bell,' wrote Mr. Lowsley. 'There are two Blewbury tenors, so also two Hunts who made them. If Mr. Hunt had considered, he must have discovered that his beloved relative of Cholsey, who had recast the bell in 1825, could not be identified with Mr. Hunt of Blewbury, who made the bell in 1558, inscribed—

"J. Hunt made mee, Blewbury tenor for to be;
Three times runne and twice caste,
Blewbury tenor was made at laste."

'My father told me he was walking in his orchard when he heard such discordant clangs that he went to see what was the matter, and found the bell split—this ended the bell made in 1558 by J. Hunt who, tradition says, hanged himself, and was buried at the crossroads. Everyone must know that this practice has been discontinued for a century, therefore this man could not be Mr. Hunt's relative (the custom now being burial at midnight without religious service).

'Now for the new bell (1825) made by J. Hunt, I cannot say what was done before the bell came to Blewbury; but once here it was slung up under the yew tree in the churchyard, and filled with beer contributed by the farmers, publicans and other inhabitants of the parish. None was tasted until the bell was full, and then it was distributed by my father, some of which I now have (66 years after). The bell was then hung and tuned. A man by the name of Bosley walked to and fro on the footpath by the Cleeve for days while the chipping was going on, with the bell rung at intervals for him to declare when it was in tune.

'I have great regard for this bell, for when a boy some 60 years ago (i.e., 1830), I have lain in bed counting the strokes of the curfew, rung at 8 p.m. and 4 a.m. The clerk, who rang the curfew, was remunerated with a small payment—said to have been left by a person who was lost on the adjacent downs and was guided home by these bells. One other incident of the bell permit me to give: When a boy, I was playing near the church when the bell was being rung; all at once there was a noise like thunder—the man in charge rushed out of the belfry terror-stricken. We ran to see what had happened, and found the clapper had fallen out. The bells are heavy and good, as a local poet once described them as—

"Blewbury great rollers,
And Hagbourne fine bells".'

Mr. L. Lowsley concludes his letter with a recital of Blewbury's old buildings, prehistoric monuments, and local worthies—the Rev. Acres Wentworth, the friend of Wesley, Huggins, Ludlow, and Parson Jones the miser. But to me the most interesting figure is the lonely Mr. Bosley listening by the Cleeve.

BELFRY GOSSIP

Mr. E. J. Fowell, in forwarding copy of a peal rung at St. Mary's Basilica, Sydney, writes: 'Just can't understand why any ringer coming out here to settle selects Melbourne to Sydney. Excuse me if I sound biased, but we not only have more variety and greater number of towers, but excellent weather, beaches, sunshine and no snow.'

The peal rung at Overseale, Derbys, on Saturday, October 4th, and published on page 684 of 'The Ringing World,' was a peal of Biddenden, not Biddenham.

Congratulations to the three first pealers at Yardley-Hastings, also thanks to Edward Smart, of Bozeat, who stood in at short notice to make the peal possible.

Mr. H. C. Spencer informs us of a slight error in the peal report of Plain Bob Major at Wolborough, Newton Abbot (page 719), in which his initials were given as H. W.

A veteran of the North Staffordshire Association, Mr. Albert Lawton, took part in a peal at Lane End on November 6th for his 74th birthday. Happy birthday!

Ringing at Knowle, Warwickshire, for Guy Fawkes Day, dates back to 1672, when the ringers were paid 2s. 6d. and also given gunpowder. The Fifth was honoured again this year with a quarter peal.

With the peal of Erin Triples at Erith on November 7th, five members of the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths have rung Erin to Triples, Caters and Cinques. They are Mrs. T. H. Francis, Messrs. Alfred J. House, Arthur G. Mason, Frank J. Matthews and Thomas J. Francis. Mr. Francis has conducted all three.

We have a number of carol tunes for eight bells available for copying, mainly from the collection of the late John Armstrong. These will be forwarded on receipt of a stamped addressed envelope.

The Rev. John Draper, of St. Paul's Church, Durban, is shortly sailing for England on the 'Carnarvon Castle' and arrives at Southampton on January 2nd. He is taking a six months' course at Canterbury. While he only rings the treble, he is hoping through contact with members of the Kent County Association to improve his ringing.

The ringer of the fourth bell in the peal at Addington (see page 737) was Andrew M. Macve and not as printed.

Latest description of a ringers' tea to reach the Editor—'a gargantuan gastronomic spread.' Perhaps the ladies would not appreciate such a Rabelaisian reference.

The ringers of the peal at Burgess Hill, Sussex, on November 8th, wish to congratulate Mr. Arthur Gravett, of St. Peter's, Brighton, and for many years a ringer at Burgess Hill, on his 78th birthday. They also thank Mrs. Stella Knight for standing in at the last minute and also for the wonderful tea she provided.

In 1913 Mr. William Abraham, of Bristol, rang his first peal 'inside,' the conductor being the late Mr. Fred G. May. Forty-five years later Mr. Abraham has arrived in Cape Town, and has made his home near the house where Mr. May lived until his death in 1956. Five days after landing he was in St. Mary's, Woodstock, tower, where his regular attendance is of great help to the band.

There were four 'firsts' in the half-muffled quarter peal of Grandsire Triples at St. John-the-Divine's, Leicester, on Remembrance Sunday. First on eight by 13-year-old Keith Townsend and 11-year-old Roger Pratt. First 'inside' on eight by 13-year-old Peter Chilton. First on eight as conductor by Vernon Pratt, aged 15. The band consisted of one deputy churchwarden, three choristers, two servers and one sidesman.

THE WHITECHAPEL BELL FOUNDRY

ESTABLISHED 1570

MEARS & STAINBANK, 34, WHITECHAPEL ROAD,
BISHOPSGATE 2599. LONDON, E.1.

THE ESSEX ASSOCIATION AT DINNER

THE fifth annual dinner of the Essex Association was held at the Shire Hall, Chelmsford, on October 11th. The Master (Mr. R. C. Heazel) presided over a company of 100, and supporting him on the top table were the Lord Bishop of Chelmsford, the Bishop of Colchester, the Provost of Chelmsford and Mrs. G. E. Gordon, the Archdeacon of Southend, the Master of the College Youths (Dr. P. A. F. Chalk), Dr. Armstrong Gibbs and Dr. P. J. Spencer-Phillips.

The Master, in proposing the toast of 'The Church,' said the Church in Essex was faced with a task so vast that it was frightening to think about. Those people who lived in country districts with well-established parish churches looked questionably at the contributions made to the Diocesan Quota, and which were earmarked for the provision of churches and parsonages in the new towns. They asked why should the existing parishes subsidise the New Towns. This was an entirely wrong attitude to take.

In the New Towns there were great opportunities to get to the people, and these opportunities could not be missed. One only had to talk with New Town clergy to realise what they had to deal with. Baptisms every Sunday, Sunday Schools with 500 or more scholars, parishes filling up with 80 or 90 new people each week, and so on. Ringers could help by seeing that the bells of churches within the New Towns were rung regularly for services.

The Lord Bishop of Chelmsford in replying said that he was very conscious of the debt the Church owed to ringers. Ringing was practically peculiar to the British Isles, although there were certain overseas territories where it was practised.

The Church in Essex had a real task to face in the New Towns, but he was confident that it could be overcome if all sections of the diocese pulled together. It was essential for the Established Churches to realise that they had a part to play in providing churches in the New Towns.

Dr. Allison concluded his reply by exhorting the Association to provide such a witness in their ringing and lives that other people might be moved to come and worship.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION AND COLLEGE YOUTHS

The Master of the Ancient Society of College Youths proposed the toast of 'The Essex Association.' Dr. Chalk said that it was an honour to him to be asked to propose this toast as he was an Essex man. When he was born, he was expected to progress in the following manner: first, walk; secondly, talk; and thirdly, learn to ring. It was while his family was living at Maldon that he learnt to ring at the parish church there. After a while, they moved to Stansted Mountfitchet, where he came under the eye of Walter Prior. Dr. Chalk described in humorous vein the graduated procedure of being admitted to the band for service ringing.

The 'Controller of the Feast,' namely the secretary and treasurer of the Association, replied. Mr. Gant said that they were very pleased to have Dr. Chalk and his wife with them, and drew attention to the fact that quite a number of the past Masters of the Ancient Society had been Essex men, either by birth or adoption, among whom were Messrs. E. P. Duffield, J. Bullock, G. Cecil and T. G. Fox.

CONFIRMATION SERVICE RINGING

Dr. P. J. Spencer Phillips proposed the toast of 'The Vice-Presidents,' and the Bishop of Colchester, who replied, said at the last dinner of the Association at which he had been present he had appealed for an effort to be made by the Association to ring for weekday Confirmation services when these were held at churches possessing a ring of bells. He was thrilled to be able to report that his request had been carried out. Not only were the bells being rung, but in one case—St. Michael's, Braintree—a peal had been rung before the service! Such a response was so encouraging to the clergy.

The Archdeacon of Southend proposed the toast of 'The Guests and Artistes,' to which Dr. Armstrong Gibbs replied in suitable terms.

During the evening, the company was entertained by Miss Joan Edwardes, who sang enchantingly, Dr. Armstrong Gibbs, who gave his usual immaculate performance on the piano, and by handbell ringing. Part songs were sung by the Danbury Beaux and Belles, who also led the company in community singing.

Rang London Major For His 81st Birthday

Some of the former glories associated with the name of Gofton and St. Paul's, Whitley Bay, were revived on November 5th when another peal of London at St. Paul's included Goftons on 2, 3 and 4. But this was not just another to add to a long list, for it was in celebration of the 81st birthday of R. Alder Gofton on October 21st.

This may or may not be a record, but it is certainly a remarkable feat of physical and mental endurance, and all the band congratulated him heartily on his splendid performance before enjoying his hospitality in drinks all round.

R. Alder Gofton is now the sole survivor of the band that rang the first London Major 'in hand' by four brothers on November 3rd, 1920. The two performances were linked by the use of the same 5,024 by Lindoff. Billy and Dick are the sons of R. Alder Gofton.

James E. Gofton, another of the famous four brothers, died earlier this year in Newcastle, although his death was not reported at that time to 'The Ringing World.'

TRURO DIOCESAN GUILD

Penzance Branch At Phillack

The annual meeting of the Penzance Branch was held recently at Phillack, and was splendidly attended by over 100 members, including Mr. Douglas Burnett (Ringing Master), the Rev. W. H. R. Trewhella (diocesan secretary), Miss E. Symons (Branch chairman). Mr. Robert Cochrane (Bishop's Hatfield) was a welcome visitor. The Rector (Rev. D. C. Mercier) conducted the service and gave an address. The Rev. A. S. Roberts (Branch secretary) read the lesson.

A splendid tea was served by local ladies, and at the business meeting the officers of the Branch were re-elected. A balance in hand of £13 12s. 2d. was reported. It was agreed to contribute £2 2s. to the Constantine Bells Fund: the three bells were being augmented to six and would be dedicated in December, and as the tower was on the border it would probably belong to the Truro Branch.

A vote of thanks was expressed enthusiastically to the Rector, local ringers and helpers for the success of the meeting, and also to the Tuckingmill ringers, who had very much augmented the male section of the choir at the service. Never before had such a choir been heard at a meeting.

Good use was made of Phillack's grand eight during the afternoon and evening, and many present also enjoyed ringing at the nearby towers of Gwinear (6), Lelant (6) and Carbis Bay (8). Landewednack (The Lizard), the most southerly tower in the British Isles, was chosen for the spring meeting.

RECORDED BELLS FOR TWO N. STAFFS TOWERS

Faculties were granted with 'great reluctance' by the Chancellor (Judge Connolly H. Gage) at a Special Consistory Court held at Stoke-on-Trent on November 11th for the use of recorded bells in churches at Ashley, near Market Drayton, and at Bagnall.

The applications were opposed by the Rev. H. Bayles, secretary of the Lichfield Diocesan Advisory Committee, who said bellringing was an English art it would be a pity to lose. 'These recorded bells are artificial and do not accord with the Book of Common Prayer.'

The Rector of Ashley (the Rev. David H. N. Wells) said bellringing was a dying art, and the Advisory Committee would have to face that fact sooner or later. His church had been presented with £300 to install recorded bells, and the Parochial Church Council were in favour.

CRACKED 16th CENTURY BELL

Mr. Tom Bailey, solicitor, representing Bagnall Parochial Church Council, said the only bell in St. Chad's Church, Bagnall, dated back to the 16th century. It was cracked, 'rather hideous,' and its only recommendation was its antiquity.

Mr. Bailey added that he had been authorised by the Archdeacon of Stoke-on-Trent to say there was no objection to the recorded bells from the Archdeaconry.

The Rev. Eustace Kenneth Victor Pearce, Rector of Bucknall-with-Bagnall, said there was no space on the ground floor at St. Chad's for bellringers and there would not be sufficient space to erect a staircase to a bellringers' loft if one were built.

LOCAL CHURCH RECORDINGS

The Rector said a recording could be made of some local parish church bells for use at St. Chad's.

A petition of 90 signatures from parishioners supporting the application was submitted to the court.

It was submitted that both church towers were unsuitable to support a genuine ring of bells.

The secretary of the Advisory Committee submitted that recorded bells could lead to recorded sermons and choirs.

In giving his decision, the Chancellor imposed a condition in the case of Ashley that the bell apparatus should be locked, be used only on Sunday and nothing but a village chime should be used on the instrument. He concluded: 'I sincerely hope those interested in the good of the Church will think twice before these applications are made, and search their hearts and consciences to see if it is not possible to have a ring of bells in their towers.'

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD

Witney and Woodstock Branch

The Branch autumn meeting was held at Northleigh, where members and visitors were greeted by fair ringing, cheerful faces and 'Welcome to Northleigh' written on the tower blackboard. Ringing started at Freeland, where some trouble was experienced with the very light bells. An excellent touch of Plain Bob Minor preceded the service, which once again was an experimental one (embodying material collected for the Guild Office Book Revision). The full Northleigh choir turned out to help with the excellent singing.

This Branch seems unusually fortunate in its teas. The provision this time was up to the highest standards that anyone can hold. After the short business meeting and a showing of coloured slides there was more ringing at Northleigh and Stonesfield.

SOUTH HAMPSHIRE PEAL RINGING TOUR

'There's ringing and "grabbing," arranging and touring,
Composing and striking and hunting and [dodging;
Each mate must excel in some principal part,
The Pentathlon of Greece could not show so much art.

The parties are met and arrayed all in white,
Famed Ellis ne'er boasted so pleasing a sight.
Each nymph looks askew at her favourite [swain,
And views him half stript both with pleasure and pain.'

I MISQUOTE from the Rev. Reynell Cotton's 'Hampshire Cricket' without qualms, for was not its author a cleric, and did not T. J. Lock's team visit Hampshire this year on their annual tour?

We came into the county as most people do, from the north-east, and found as most people do that it is a very unexciting way of entering the shire. Not that the fault is Hampshire's—it is the Army's, for the Army does not improve the districts that it takes over, as most people in Britain realised during the war. Soon we were to pass through the large and hideous conglomeration of buildings that is Aldershot; but before this, Don, our driver, found us an extremely pleasant way to spend an hour-and-a-half. This was to take lunch at the Queen's Hotel, Farnborough—during which we faintly heard jet planes practising for the air show.

Aldershot behind, we reached the most attractive main street of 'Oldtown' or Alton, where the Beeson family joined us, and turned into the Meon valley. Passing through some eight or nine villages we reached Soberton and left a band to attempt Cambridge Major. Before ringing a peal of Surprise Minor at Hambledon a visit was made to Broadhalfpenny Down, where the first cricket club proper came into being in 1750. Standing on opposite sides of the crossroads, both the signpost and the historic inn are named the Bat and Ball! Two unusual things were seen here. The first was that whilst the inn's front door is in Hambledon, the rest is in the village of Catherington; the second was the narrow elliptical shadow cast on the gently-swaying inn sign—this was moving from the bowler's hand to the bat and back again!

With two peals to our credit we soon reached our admirable H.Q. for the week—the Cotswold Hotel, Southampton—here to find dinner almost ready. It was rumoured that three people later tried to establish an all-night conversation record, breaking up (or down) at 4 a.m.!

Our Sunday morning walk took us over the Itchen to ring and attend service at Bitterne Park, the site of the first permanent Roman settlement in Britain. After viewing the fine modern glass, some of us adopted 'shirt-sleeve order' during the walk back to lunch. A scenic tour through Winchester and the fringe of the New Forest, relieved by tea at Lyndhurst, was followed by ringing at St. Michael's, Southampton, our welcome by the Rev. K. W. H. Felstead and the Kippin family being most friendly.

BLACK MONDAY

I am sure that the term 'Black Monday originated on a ringing tour—I think we all felt this, after losing two safe peals. However, the fact that the two Rons swapped smoothly and unnoticed between two wrongs did enable us to take coffee amid the ruins of Old Southampton, instead of completing our peal of Yorkshire Royal at St. Michael's. A quick visit to Lymington was followed by two hours' good Bristol at Milford-on-Sea, until our conductor, exulting in the music of the 65's, could not resist calling three wrongs. Bill Rogers and several of the ladies added to our grief by describing to us the delights of their swim, for it was a glorious afternoon.

We redeemed ourselves by well and successfully ringing Hampshire Surprise at Sherfield English, which has a fine light ring in the octagonal tower of its modern and pleasing church. Joined by the equally-successful band from Lockerley, we moved on hurriedly to the sleepy town of Romsey for lunch, and after an all-too-brief look inside the South of England's finest church—to wonder at its progression from Saxon through peerless Norman to perfect Early English—we began our attempt for 4-Spliced Surprise Major. Our longest incomplete ring this, the end coming suddenly and inexplicably after 2 hours and 50 minutes' good striking on these impressive bells.

Ken Dunstan had to return home on the first day and so we were pleased to see him back again when we reached Alverstoke on Wednesday morning. Fred Scott had also motored from Slough to meet us there, and it was not long before our attempt for Rutland had settled down to striking that was only slightly maculate. Once more we broke down in a sudden and bewildering manner, but being pleased with the preceding ringing and determined to to better, we sought and obtained permission to try again after lunch, and rang the peal without further incident.

The rest of the party were granted permission to ring at Fareham, and after lunch attempted, and lost, Portsmouth Surprise at Portsea, again ringing nearly two hours.

Returning to our H.Q. for an early dinner we were pleased to find George Pullinger waiting to meet the party. Some of us were very generously taken to Ringwood for practice night by Mr. and Mrs. Kippin and Roger Savory, to whom we are most grateful. The writer was very pleased to fulfil a long-standing desire—to meet Ron Marlow, and to ring at Ringwood. On arrival at the Cotswold we found that Philip Corby had arrived as planned, making the party almost complete.

As expected, we were beaten to Curdridge on Thursday morning by our remaining member from Birmingham—he modestly admitted to leaving at 4 a.m. and breakfasting in Southampton! A good peal of London was rung here, and opinions varied widely about the bells—the writer thinks that the higher harmonics are irritatingly loud, piercing and painful, and as a result did not enjoy the peal at all, especially as the tuning is inaccurate. In the afternoon we left a band to ring Cambridge at Shedfield, where the local band are all ladies, and were pleased when Miss Daysh came with us to ring at Swanmore. Another early dinner, and three of us, joined by Margaret for the last of several times, drove to Portsmouth for the Cathedral practice—a deceptively long and discouraging drive, too. Our welcome and ring on this very fine ten more than compensated us, and we were glad to meet Kathleen Knight, Roger Baldwin, York-Bramble and Fred Burnett.

THUNDERSTORM

On Friday we changed for a while to floating transport, leaving for the Isle of Wight, with a cool breeze gradually dispersing the light mist. The first bell-buoy that rang evoked nostalgic memories of the Mersey for Ralph, and we learnt that these bells are all harmonically tuned to a rigid specification—bell collectors note!

The fine but little-rung bells at Carisbrooke proved odd-struck, but with new ropes would be enjoyable to ring for a peal. Lunch was found in Newport and a carnival encountered in Ryde, where everyone had a quick ring before the procession reached the church. Eight of us then left for Brading to attempt 4-Spliced Surprise. At first the bells sounded inside like 'a series of muffled explosions,' but gradually seemed to become more and more pleasant, and a very good peal was rung—followed by a dash to Cowes for the last ferry boat.

As we passed Ryde Church we could hear Cambridge being very well rung, and it was thought that, with one course to ring, the band might just catch the boat—they did, with minutes to spare! The morning's heatwave developed into a terrific thunderstorm which caused prolonged failures of the electric lighting in both towers during the peals, though it had ceased by the end of the Brading attempt. Mary Hall joined us (for the next two days) at supper time, after which Alick presented Tom and Kath with a camera, expressing our gratitude for all their hard work in making the tour as successful and happy as it was.

AT NORTH STONEHAM

Yorkshire Royal on Saturday morning at North Stoneham was abandoned in favour of Major, in which we were joined by Reginald Reed, a good peal resulting. Dennis Knox called 5,216 Lincolnshire at Bishopstoke, after which Len Stilwell (who has now rung 600 peals) admitted to this being his longest length for a peal! This band, and the non-peal ringers, wish to thank Mr. and Mrs. George Pullinger for entertaining them, and for providing refreshment in their home.

In the afternoon Stedman Caters was attempted on the magnificent ten at St. Mary's, Southampton, but we were sorry to lose this after one-and-a-half hours, sorry because it would have been a wedding compliment to John Chilcott and Eileen Ricketts. So ended the last peal attempt, but we still had the evening and following morning to indulge in pleasant social intercourse.

Guildford was the stopping place for lunch on Sunday—here we saw Mark White on the bridge, and here also Mrs. Corby strengthened the case for lady drivers by arriving to meet Philip within a minute of the planned time.

Many greetings and then farewells were exchanged before we left on the last stage of our journey to London; and now it remains for me to say thank you—to, once again, Kath and Tom, all incumbents and tower captains, and to Don, our keen and helpful driver.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

DOUBLES AND VARIATIONS

Dear Sir, — The letter from Mr. Blagrove seems to me a very fair example of the brotherly love between Doubles ringers mentioned by one of your correspondents a few weeks ago.

Might I suggest two far more satisfactory techniques for revealing such lapses.

First, a very simple idea tried out last year at the C.C. meeting in Dublin. The Peals Analysis Committee present their report which is duly adopted and then at some later stage in the meeting it is pointed out that a peal accepted in this report is irregular—chaos then ensues! The net result is that everyone accepts that it is irregular, but lets it stand.

The alternative procedure is to leave the matter for some years until the Peals Analysis Committee wake up of their own accord—this experiment has also been tried with some success!

In a more serious vein, when I look at the masses of methods in the Doubles Collection which contravene all traditions on method structure I feel that those who ring so called variations of the better methods show good taste and should not be discouraged by all this rubbish about methods with different work at the lead-end only being variations. — Yours sincerely, RICHARD F. B. SPEED.

STEDMAN CINQUES WITH WHITTINGTONS

Dear Sir,—Replying to Mr. Jack L. Millhouse's letter (page 694), I have no knowledge of any earlier Whittington peals other than those he mentions at Lincoln Cathedral in 1931 and Surfleet, 1933.

We rang some of it in Birmingham, but did not like the 'music' between the course-ends.—Yours sincerely, ALBERT WALKER.

HESTON'S CHALLENGE

Dear Sir,—Congratulations to St. Leonard's, Heston, band on ringing two quarter peals with two separate bands for their harvest thanksgiving services. Recently the Allesley, Coventry, ringers attempted two quarters with entirely different bands. Plain Bob Major was successful, but Spliced Surprise Major in six methods was lost after about half an hour's ringing.

TWO CORRECTIONS?

Dear Sir,—I have two queries I should like cleared up. The first occurred in your publication dated October 31st, in the article, 'Cambridge University Guild's Week in Bristol.' Do you or, indeed, would any member of the ringing faternity consider Congresbury, Somerset, bells, tenor 35 cwt. to be a light ring of eight as stated in the above mentioned article?

The second occurs in your issue of November 7th. Since when has the Church of St. Mary-the-Virgin, Nottingham, had a tenor of only 25 cwt. 2 qr. 23 lb. in C? Surely this should read tenor 35 cwt. 2 qr. 23 lb. in C sharp.—Yours truly, PETER J. ROBERTS.

MINIMISE TIED BELL INSTRUCTION

Dear Sir,—Reference B. M. Willmott Dobbie's letter ('Ringing World,' page 694) the teaching of rhythm and striking should form a major part of the instruction given to learners, but I think it is one which is not only sadly neglected but is in some cases never mentioned. There are several reasons for this, I suppose, and I give below some of the causes of bad striking together with my opinions, for what they are worth, if anything.

In many cases instruction starts with a 'tied' bell and continues until the learner is considered proficient enough to ring in rounds with an 'open' bell. This has much to commend it except for the fact that by the time ringing in rounds has started the habit of listening for the sound of each bell has not been established and is generally considered of less importance than style of ringing and ability to control the bell. I think the ideal method is to limit the 'tied' bell practice to a minimum and provide instead very short touches of rounds on varying numbers of bells from two to six, always with an instructor at hand, until a stage has been reached when the instructor is dispensed with and the 'tied' bell practice further limited to ringing up and down, and for the correcting of individual faults.

After this, experience should be gained in ringing on different numbers of bells to prevent specialisation, my own particular cross, as I find it difficult to maintain a good rhythm on 8, 10 or 12 bells without undue concentration.

Two much emphasis on the musical qualities of ringing provides an attractive but unnecessary red herring, as until the change ringing on eight bells stage is reached the field is narrow. A more worthwhile qualification than being able to tell whether the tenor is E flat or D sharp is to be able to carry the rate of striking in one's head. Here the Head Nodders and the Adam's Apple Wobblers are to the fore. It may be argued that this is also a fundamental qualification for the appreciation of music, but surely this is as far as one's musical training should go.

Lastly, I must rebel at allowing a learner to ring either a Principal or a twin-hunt method until he has mastered the method of Plain Bob and has an appreciation of its importance in the fields of method construction, proof and composition. Plain Bob is the simplest possible method and it allows the learner relatively more time to listen to his striking and the general ringing rhythm.

To sum up, I think 'tied' bell instruction should be minimised; that choristers make no better ringers than people of the same calibre as myself, whose musical repertoire is limited to the National Anthem, 'Rule, Britannia' and 'Land of Hope and Glory,' all slightly off key; and that the Grandsire and Stedman fiends cause much bad striking by the learner, who is worrying whether to go in quick, in slow, in the hunt or in the local.—Yours etc.,

MICHAEL HATCHETT.

PEAL RINGERS AND SUNDAY SERVICE RINGERS

Dear Sir,—I, for one, entirely agree with Mr. Ring ('Ringing World,' November 7th). Why draw a distinction between service ringers and peal ringers? It's a distinction without a difference. All peal ringers in the Essex Association are service ringers and in some cases leaders of their own band.

One very useful purpose served in peal ringing is the experience gained in the way of confidence and better striking by the beginner in his or her early peals which cannot be obtained in any other way.

The publication of peals and their compositions and new methods makes interesting copy for our periodical; without such it would have a precarious existence.—Yours sincerely,

LEWIS W. WIFFEN.

'SERVICE RINGERS OR SELFISH PEAL RINGERS?'

Dear Sir,—I have no doubt what the thoughts of our Mr. William Ring are, although I do not know whether he is a 'ring' on his own or not, for he appears to support the peal ringer yet mentions the word selfish towards him, so where are we — service ringers, selfish peal grabbers or he?

I suggest to him, so as to satisfy and defend himself, that he takes a scrutiny of the 22 peals which were rung in or above Major in which approximately 177 ringers took part, published in the same issue as his letter, and find out how many of those 177 ringers rang in Major or above for the morning service at their own recognised church.—Yours, etc.,

J. BURGESS.

THE GUIDE — AN APOLOGY

Dear Sir,—Will you please allow me to make a very humble apology to Mr. Dove re my reference to Wetheringsett being quoted as six. I had to make a last-minute change in our programme and hurriedly scanned 'Dove's' for details, like as not without my spectacles and read six for five. I regret any embarrassment I may have caused.

I have, however, discovered an omission and, rather than put my foot in it again, made a second and thorough investigation on Nov. 8th.

The church at Shimpling, Suffolk, contains a ring of five not mentioned in the Guide; 1-2-3-4 are by Thomas Newman 1735, tenor 8 cwt. 2 qr. 23 lb. in A by Mears 1843. They were apparently rehung on the addition of the tenor and they appear to have had very little ringing done on them. The balls of the clappers are well worn on one side due to chiming, the other side is as round as new as the bells on that side are hardly worked. Two wheels are broken, three intact. I think they could be rung if the wheels were made good.

The bells would be very noisy if rung from a floor just below. If rung on the ground there would have been approximately 25 ft. of rope without guide. There's no sign of guide fixings; maybe this accounts for their disuse.

The church stands well back from the road and remote from the parish it serves.

UNRINGABLE BELLS

Dear Sir,—There have been a number of letters quite recently on unringable bells in various parts of the country, but has anyone stopped to think why these bells have been classed as unringable in the first place?

In some cases where cracks have suddenly appeared in the tower or the bells are going really badly and in need or rehanging the reports are genuine, but in many other cases it is neglect, not only by the vicar and churchwardens but also by the ringers in the surrounding area.

I feel that if our forefathers had bothered a little more about the bells in the churches in their neighbourhood many of these rings of bells could be rung to-day instead of being in their present state of neglect.

Surely it is the business of the district secretary to make inquiries about these towers and to try and make periodical visits every five years or so if only after a meeting at a nearby tower.

Even to-day towers after a few years' silence are gaining the reputation of being unringable. A recent case of this was at Beedon, Berks, where the local captain had spent many hours caring for the bells. He has now been dead eight years, since which the bells had not been rung until a month ago when local ringers paid a visit and found them as good as ever.

The same thing applied at Farnborough, Berks, well off the beaten track, and the Oxford Guild Report gives Midgham as unringable, although I am informed by the district secretary that a local ladies' band ring them twice on Sundays.

But the strangest experience that I have had with unringable bells is at Chute Forest, an isolated tower in Wiltshire. Here there is a modern ring of six bells by Mears and Stainbank, which I am informed by the Vicar were installed when the church was built, this being less than 70 years old. The tenor bell here is 6 cwt. 1 qr. 25 lb., and the Vicar is positive that the bells have never been rung as a chiming apparatus was installed with the bells, the pulleys for this being fixed over the holes in the ringing chamber ceiling.

The woodwork and wheels are still as new, but there is the usual amount of twigs, the belfry floor being about a foot deep. The fate of the church is in the balance, the Vicar wishing to have it pulled down and sell the bells, whilst the villagers are fighting to keep their church. Our visit was only the second to the belfry during the present Vicar's incumbency. If the church is to remain, a complete restoration of the roof costing £2,000 is required—an impossible sum for such a small community. However, it is hoped we can ring the bells before their removal.

One wonders what the local ringers of those days were thinking of allowing bells to be hung for ringing without visiting or trying them. Can anyone dispute the Vicar's statement?

It is only since Mr. Dove had his excellent Guide printed that ringers realise that there are bells in some of these churches, and I think the tower grabbers are doing more than anybody to keep these bells ringing, if only on very rare occasions.

I therefore appeal to district secretaries to keep the bells in their area ringing. It rests with the individual ringer as to how long a ring of bells will stay silent before they qualify as being unringable.—Yours sincerely,

GEOFFREY K. DODD.

WIVELISCOMBE TENOR'S WEIGHT

Dear Sir,—In reply to your correspondent's query regarding the weight of Wiveliscombe tenor, I quote the following from an old book based on the history of 'Wifela's Combe' (and going back to the 12th century) published by Barnicott and Pearce, The Wessex Press, 1911, and edited by F. Hancock, Vicar of Dunster and Prebendary of the Cathedral Church of St. Andrew, Wells:—

'No. 8. Tenor (weight 23¼ cwt.). "By Winter's gift I measure time for all; to mirth, to grief, to church service to call." Robt. Winter of Bishop's Lydeard, Esq., donor. John Tyler and J. C. Timewell, Churchwardens. W. A. and D. C. T. Pannell, Cullompton, 1829.'

We Had The Kitty!

After an enjoyable ringing meeting held at Great Budworth, Cheshire, on November 8th, several of the ringers, together with wives, visited the local hostelry. Ten o'clock came all too soon and 'time' was called. All the 'kitty' had been used with the exception of a small amount of 4s., and our correspondent adds he was instructed to send this amount to 'The Ringing World' and give it the nom-de-plume 'Great Budworth Kitty.'

Our correspondent's footnote reads: 'The company consisted of 14 ringers and four wives. All the 14 ringers take "The Ringing World." If we had more 100 per cent. gatherings our problems would be solved.'

CORRECTIONS FOR NEXT EDITION OF GUIDE

Dear Sir,—'A Bellringer's Guide to the Church Bells of Britain' is unfortunately incorrect in several instances besides that of Heydon, Cambs.

(1) The weight of the tenor at Gretton, Northants, is stated to be 9¼ cwt. I have a letter from Messrs. John Taylor and Co. written several years ago, giving its weight as 8 cwt. 2 qr. 24 lb.—rehung by them in 1924.

(2) Whiston, Northants, is stated to be 14¼ cwt. About 1931 Messrs. John Taylor and Co. gave me its weight as 15 cwt. 4 lb.—rehung by them in 1896. This weight is clearly stated on a peal board recording a peal rung in 1936.

(3) Castle Ashby tenor is E flat—not E as given in 'Dove.'

(4) Adstone, Northants, has but one small bell in a west-end gable (there's not a tower). The first Guide gives five bells, tenor 16 cwt.

(5) Nussington, Northants. This tenor is 9 cwt. 2 qr. 16 lb., and the weight is clearly printed in the belfry by the firm who last rehung these bells, which are a minor five. The tenor is not 11 cwt.—Yours faithfully,

P. AMOS.

Northampton.

SUNDAY SERVICE RINGING

Dear Sir,—Bethersden, Kent, is a fairly small village and has a fine old church with six good bells. Last week when in the village I was talking of the bells to a lady and she said, 'We have no ringers here now.' I believe there are five or six peal ringers in this village and maybe a few call change ringers, and yet Sunday service ringing is by arrangement. I am not an anti-pealer but a service ringer of many years.—Yours faithfully,

REG PELLETT.

Woodchurch, Kent.

NEWS FROM VICTORIA

Ever since an attempt for Major at Ballaarat in March of this year came to grief our appetites have been whetted to score a peal on this noble octave (cast in 1867 by Mears and Stainbank). But on September 27th, armed with spanners, ropes and oilcans, reminiscent of 'Great Adventure days,' we doctored the notorious 7-8 of the City Hall ring and were lucky this time. A very good peal of Bob Major came round in 3 hours 17 minutes.

As can be imagined, there was much rejoicing after the attempt and the party were royally entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Heyes (parents of Graeme W.) in Ballaarat City—thus Eureka Stockade was again fought and won! The band would like to associate this peal with Mrs. Richardson, of Lincoln, and Charles Sharples, of Lancashire, together with Frank Oakshott, of Leatherhead, who was in the March attempt.

Bells are pitifully scarce in Victoria, and it has saddened many hearts that the octave in the magnificent R.C. Cathedral of St. Patrick in Melbourne has been in very poor repair. Led by Peter Richards (late of Hamilton, N.Z., and still later of Tunstall, Kent), Ken Minchinton, Diana and George Pipe have put in many hours' work up in the bell chamber and belfry. They were made pealable a month or so ago, but an attempt was stopped after 1 hour due to a cathedral service. As a gesture the St. Paul's Cathedral Society offered to ring the bells muffled for His late Holiness Pope Pius XII on October 10th, and were asked by the authorities to attempt a peal. Thus the first 5,000 ever was brought round on this rather unmelodious but unique octave, cast in 1851 by Murphy, of Dublin—a space of 107 years. The press made much ado of this and recordings were taken of the ringing.

The idea then occurred to us (hardly peal-grabbers!) that we might be able to attempt at St. Paul's Anglican Cathedral a peal within the following fortnight to complete the three ringable towers in Victoria for peals in the month. Luck was against us—a great disappointment—but we lost Stedman after about 1 hour. However, we rounded of proceedings with a non-conducted quarter of Stedman Doubles on the 'pretty six' (1, 2, 3, 6, 8 and 10) of the back ten, which readers can imagine would sound splendid with a 31¼ cwt. tenor. PILGRIM.

P.S.—Rouse up, chaps! You who are thinking of making Great Adventure II. We're looking forward to making you very, very welcome here in Melbourne, and indeed all over Australia—the lure of another 12, too!—P.

A REVIVAL AT STAINES

St. Peter's Guild of Change Ringers, Staines, was revived after being in abeyance since 1935 at a meeting on November 10th, presided over by the Rev. R. W. Carter, Vicar. Officers elected were: Ringing Master, Ronald I. Shepherd; secretary and treasurer, John L. Taylor; steeplekeeper, Gordon Walmsley; chairman, Miss Jenny Tydeman. A tower and belfry improvement fund has been opened, and fund-raising activities proposed include a jumble sale in the New Year.

Arrangements have also been made with the Rev. C. D. R. Sharpe (Vicar of St. Mary's, Staines) for regular practices on Mondays from December 1st onwards. With the exception of peal ringing by visiting bands, this tower has been virtually silent since the war, and although there are no regular service ringers attached to the church as yet, it is hoped that with the assistance of St. Peter's Guild and members of the S.W. District of the Middlesex Association a regular service band can be built up.

WALTHAM ABBEY JOINT MEETING

Welcome autumn sunshine and the beautiful old Abbey, with its lovely ring of 12, made a fine setting for the joint meeting of the Essex Association (S.W.) and Middlesex Association (N. and E.) held at Waltham Abbey on November 8th. Such meetings are now annual events shared by many Associations. A company of 100 were reminded that the Abbey was the venue chosen for the first-ever joint meeting of any Associations when these two companies held such a meeting way back in 1920. The back-room boys responsible for that event were 'Bill' Hewett and the late 'Ernie' Butler, who shared a city office.

At 3 p.m. a full company set a high standard with a course of Grandsire Cinques, and it was pleasing to note that throughout the day methods from Caters to Maximus made pleasant listening.

Canon A. V. G. Cleall was very sincere in his welcome to a large congregation, and his address was delivered in his usual forthright and inspiring manner. He revealed his love of the Abbey bells and recognition of their service to the church.

The sight of everyone enjoying a sumptuous tea paid great tribute to the work and organisation of the local ladies, led by 'Auntie Grace' (not half of the company had notified their intention to attend). It also confirmed that ringers' wives and mothers do secretly love to play their part in our meetings.

The respective Masters—Mr. J. Crampion and Mr. G. Hart—paid tribute and thanks to Canon Cleall and all who had contributed to making the meeting so pleasant and successful.

In the hush of eventide when numbers had dwindled the meeting was closed, and the full beauty of the back eight was heard in a touch of Spliced Surprise, which was obviously enjoyed both by those listening and those fortunate enough to take part. C. E. W.

JOINT MEETING AT SUTTON-IN-ASHFIELD

Between 60 and 70 ringers, representing 28 towers, attended the joint meeting of the East Derbyshire and Notts Association and the Mansfield Branch of the Southwell Diocesan Guild at Sutton-in-Ashfield on October 18th.

Ringing commenced at 3.15 p.m. and continued until 5 p.m., when an excellent tea was had in the Rectory, kindly provided by the local ladies.

After tea, Mr. T. Radford, a vice-president of the East Derbyshire and Notts Association, gave a very warm welcome to all present and said that the meeting had enabled him to renew some old friendships. Mr. S. Fossey, chairman of the Mansfield District, replied to this welcome and expressed the hope that the two Associations would continue working together. He also moved a vote of thanks to the ladies for providing the tea. Mr. B. A. Sollis, on behalf of the local ringers, said that they had enjoyed entertaining everyone.

It was decided to hold the next meeting at Greasley on December 27th as a joint meeting with the Society of Sherwood Youths.

Four new members were elected; they were Mr. C. Hodgkinson, Mr. R. Pedley and Miss S. Fitzpatrick, of Greasley, and Mr. W. Iball, of Mansfield.

The bell fund collection realised £1 1s. 6d. Mr. H. T. Rooke proposed and Mr. G. Challans seconded that this sum be divded equally between the two Associations: this was carried unanimously.

Methods rung during the day included rounds and call-changes for the beginners, Grandsire Doubles, London Surprise Minor, Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Plain Bob, Little Bob, Double Norwich, Kent Treble Bob and Cambridge Surprise Major. D. H. R.

ROPE MAKING FOR BRISTOL CATHEDRAL'S BELLS

The bells of Bristol Cathedral are to ring out again. Not the original bells, which remain relatively unused through risk of damage to the central tower, but the bells of ancient Temple Church, burnt out in the blitz. These have been retuned by Messrs. John Taylor and Co., of Loughborough and rehung in the north-west tower of the Cathedral.

The new bell ropes have been presented by Joseph Bryant, Ltd., makers of 'Poulard' church bell ropes. The Dean of Bristol, the Very Rev. Douglas Harrison, expressed his interest in seeing them made, and our photograph, reproduced by courtesy of the 'Bristol Evening Post,' shows him watching the final stage in the making of the set of eight ropes with which the bells will be rung again after a lapse of many years.

The sally of the tenor rope is being given a final trim by the foreman ropemaker, Mr. George Woodman, who takes a personal pride in seeing that every rope is as perfect as can be made. A touch of interest is added by the fact that Mr. John Bryant, shown standing in the foreground, is the eighth generation of this well-known Bristol family of ropemakers.

JOINT MEETING AT GREENWICH

The combined meeting of the Lewisham District of the Kent County Association and the Northern District of the Surrey Association held at St. Alfege's, Greenwich, was a very happy occasion. In a church beautifully decorated for the harvest festival, the Vicar (the Rev. J. Higgins) conducted the service, and the young ladies of the local band, assisted by Mrs. Dafters and Mrs. Jones, of Lewisham, prepared a most satisfying tea for the company of 50 present. A cordial welcome to Surrey friends was offered by Mr. J. Dafters.

NORTHAW RINGER SHIPWRECKED

Mr. John Beale, Second Officer of the 5,000-ton freighter, 'Forresbank,' whose home tower is Northaw, Beds, was in the tragedy when the 'Forresbank' was destroyed by fire off the South African coast.

On Sunday, November 2nd, John took part in the ringing at St. Mary's, Woodstock, and he was able to join the band again for practice on the following Tuesday and demonstrated he had not lost his interest and skill in ringing although he had been away from home for over a year. The following day he had lunch with Mr. V. Sheppard and sailed for Durban an hour later.

Four days later the news was received on the mid-day radio at Cape Town '"Forresbank" abandoned and on fire.' It was subsequently learned that the crew had taken to the boats, and were picked up by the 'City of York' and were safe in Durban. The hull is on the rocks, having burned fiercely, and salvage is out of the question.

Mr. Cyril Chambers, the well-known Durban ringer, contacted Mr. Beale, and the news he gives is that the crew had lost all their possessions. They expected to be in Durban for two weeks.

TO HAMPSHIRE FROM HERTFORDSHIRE

On Saturday, November 1st, a small party of ringers left St. Albans for a tour of Hampshire and Berkshire. For the first ring of the day we were joined by two Ashtead ringers, and with our numbers increased to eight had a very enjoyable ring at Arborfield. We were warmly welcomed by members of the local band, two of whom joined us for the rest of the tour. The next tower was Heckfield (5). The tenor has been reported to weigh from 15 to 20 cwt.; we will only confirm that it took some expert muscle-work to turn it in to Grandsire Doubles. We enjoyed ringing there, however, and appreciated the welcome.

After an excellent lunch we moved to Strathfieldsaye, another five, hung in a dome. After a head-first entry into the belfry by means of a ladder and trap door, we managed to light the oil lamp and find the dark rope circle. We were surprised at the excellent 'go' of the bells.

As we had a little time in hand, a visit to the local Roman remains at Silchester was suggested. The Vicar was very co-operative and allowed us to ring on the light five (tenor 6 cwt.) in the church nearby. The next call was the highlight of the day—the well-kept eight at Bramley. Another five at Swallowfield concluded the ringing.

Our thanks are due to the incumbents and tower captains who made possible a most enjoyable day. C. C.

BARNSLEY & DISTRICT SOCIETY

The Society's monthly meeting on November 8th at Wath-on-Dearne was attended by representatives from 14 towers. Presiding at the business meeting, the Rev. J. H. Oxer gave the Society a hearty welcome. The next meeting will be a special one—the first visit to Wakefield Cathedral, with Sandal bells from 2.30-4 p.m., tea in Brook Street School, Wakefield and the Cathedral bells at 5.30. Paul Thompson, of Hoyland Common, was elected a new member. The vote of thanks was proposed by Mr. John S. Seager, who mentioned specially Miss Vera Parish and the local company for the arrangements and the ladies responsible for the tea.

Mr. Harold Chant said 1959 would be the Society's jubilee year and he had tried to put together the history of the Society. (We hope to publish extracts from this in 'The Ringing World.'—Editor.)

A WEEK IN LINCOLNSHIRE

IT was a fine Sunday afternoon when four young ringers from Mid-Essex were joined by one from Kent at Chelmsford railway station on August 31st, all set for a week's ringing in Lincolnshire. The transport was a Vauxhall Victor hired for the week, with the wheel in the capable hands of Dick Harrison, of Broomfield, the rest of the band at that stage being Ivan Saunders (Danbury, the organiser of the tour), Bert Brinkley (Springfield), Ian Oram (Chislehurst) and Tom Roast (Danbury). At Colchester we picked up Philip Erith, of Ardleigh, who completed the band.

Our first tower was at Chatteris, where we rang for evening service. North again via Peterborough to Market Deeping, just over the border in Lincolnshire. Eventually we arrived at the Queen Hotel, Lincoln, at 9.30 p.m., which was to be our headquarters for the remainder of the week.

Ringing began on Monday at Branston, where we were met by Mr. John Cook. A bell-rope had now been strapped over the bonnet of the car with the sally across the radiator as our mascot. On to Dunston, our first five, where the Vicar provided refreshment. Martin, Timberland and Ruskington followed; at the last-named the ropes hang in two parallel rows of three. After lunch at Sleaford came Silk Willoughby, Folkingham with its noble tower, and the leaning tower at Horbling, where Philip was presented with the tenor to ring at his 100th tower. After an early tea at Donington we were ringing Little Bob at Wigtoft, and another chancel ring at Algarkirk, an anti-clockwise six. At Frampton we were met by the local ringers and a course of Cambridge was rung. On to Tattershall, Wellingore and Navenby, where the incumbent met us in each case.

NORTH LINCOLNSHIRE.

Tuesday we headed north to Saxilby for our first tower, and then to the fine Norman church at Stow. On to Willingham, Upton and Lea to be met by Mr. G. Lunn, the local District secretary. After lunch in Gainsborough we crossed the border into Nottinghamshire to ring at North Wheatley, where the bells have recently been in the hands of the founders. Back into Lincolnshire to Corringham, Blyton and Messingham, where we were met by the Rev. Michael Freeman who rang with us, before going on to Appleby (probably the worst six of the week). At Winterton the local captain met us, and with him we rang a touch of Cambridge.

Tea was in Barton-on-Humber before going to Thornton Curtis, where entry to the belfry is over a coke heap. At Elsham a new method was discovered—Bastow Little Court—which became popular later in the week. On leaving Elsham we failed to conquer a hill, but eventually arrived at Brigg for a course of Single Court. The sexton at Broughton had gone out with the belfry key and so we made our way to Kirton-in-Lindsey, only to find a choir practice on; but soon the west-end was competing with the east-end in a course of Bastow.

Wednesday dawned sunny and remained so all day. Bardney started the day, followed by the excellent six at Horncastle, West Keal, East Keal and its fine Early English tower, and Stickney. The fifth at West Keal was so slow that one could set it up before hearing it speak. Lunch was at Boston, where Dick excelled himself by reversing into a narrow parking place in the crowded market place.

A WELL EFFECT

After lunch we visited Fishtoft, Freiston, Bennington and Old Leake. At Wrangle we were told that at our next tower, Friskney, the bells were almost unringable; but on arrival found that apart from descending six steps to the belfry, which gives the effect of ringing in a well, and the walls green with damp, the 'go' of the bells was quite good. Here we introduced Forward into our method repertoire. On to Wainfleet's very pleasant six, and after tea to Halton Holgate, where Dick, eager to ring the tenor at his 200th tower, found that a previous band had broken the tenor rope, but made up for it with a run of 75 m.p.h. along a disused air strip to Candlesby, with its miniature five in a miniature church. Willoughby followed, and finally to Alford, to be met by the local ringers and to end the day on this excellent six.

NORWICH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

The Eastern Branch held its autumn meeting at Pakefield on October 11th. Fine weather greeted ringers and friends to this extremely eastern tower and the eight bells were soon ringing to a variety of methods under the capable guidance of the Branch Ringing Master (Mr. E. T. Chapman).

The choral service was conducted by the Rector, the Rev. K. Wilkinson Riddle, who incidentally is also Vicar-elect of St. Peter Mancroft, Norwich, to which church he will be inducted early in the New Year.

The short business meeting was presided over by the branch chairman, Mr. E. R. Goate, who was supported by the association president, Mr. F. Nolan Golden, and other officers. Two new members were elected, viz., Rev. G. C. Galley, newly-appointed curate at Great Yarmouth, and Mr. P. M. Shipley, a probationer, of Kessingland. The next meeting will be held on Dec. 6th at Acle.

The branch chairman welcomed Mr. W. B. Duncan 'back to the fold'—he has recently retired to live at Gorleston—and congratulated him on attaining 50 years' membership of the Association.

Mr. Ben Thompson presented to Mr. Golden a copy of Shipway's 'Campanologia,' dated 1816, for inclusion in the Association's library. On behalf of the Association, Mr. Golden suitably thanked Mr. Thompson.

The meeting closed with votes of thanks to the Rector, organist, also to Mr. and Mrs. Peter Kindred and the lady helpers for the magnificent tea which has become part of the Pakefield welcome.

HARLINGTON LEG OF PORK SUPPER

The traditional leg of pork supper was held this year again at the Red Leaf Restaurant, Hayes. The ringers of Harlington rang at 7 a.m. and at 7 p.m. in accordance with the will of the donor in the year 1605. This dinner has always been held, as the will reads, on November 5th.

The Rev. A. F. Morgan presided at the supper. With him was Major L. F. Ellis, Rector's warden, with a company of 35 ringers and visitors. Mr. L. Grice, captain of the Harlington ringers, said he was pleased to have in the company Mr. W. A. Coles (vice-president of the Middlesex County Association), Mr. F. W. Goodfellow, Mr. T. G. Bannister (captain of Hillingdon), Mr. M. J. Palmer and Mr. C. A. Ashpool. During the evening handbells were put to good use.

Mr. Grice said that he was pleased with the ringing at Harlington during the last year. Harlington had always been a call change tower but he now had an enthusiastic band ringing methods who hoped to advance. Practice nights were well attended.

WICKEN, NORTHANTS.—On Oct. 18th, 1,440 Cambridge Surprise Minor: F. C. Case 1, L. Smith 2, W. F. Eyden 3, J. Linnell 4, W. A. Yates 5, G. E. Green (cond.) 6.

OBITUARY

MR. WILLIAM GAYES

The death of William Gayes on October 28th, at the age of 85, took from the Macclesfield area one of the real old timers, who was known as 'Old Bill.'

He started to ring at St. Michael's, Macclesfield, in 1890, and during the 1890's was one of the band who developed change ringing in the town. He maintained his interest until 1914, when he was called up to serve with His Majesty's Forces. Coming home, he did not go back to the tower, but kept in touch through W. Matthew, who worked next door to the blacksmith's shop where William Gayes was employed.

In 1927 Christ Church tower was in danger of having a chiming apparatus fitted. Mr. Gayes was approached and agreed to take over the tower. There were then only four ringers left, but a full band was trained. From the small beginning of a peal of Grandsire Doubles in June, 1929, has been developed a band ringing Stedman and Cambridge regularly for Sunday service. Of the original four ringers, Messrs. John Worth and Wilfred Stevenson went on to ring hundreds of peals and long lengths of Bristol and Cambridge. Of the band which rang the peal on November 3rd no less than nine were taught by him. He had not done any regular ringing for about five years, but whenever there was a peal on at Christ Church he was always walking round the church listening.

As the Rev. S. May said during the funeral service in church: 'Well done, Old Bill, for a good and useful life.'

MR. WALTER LITTLE

Mr. Walter Little, who died on November 5th at his home, The Ford, Great Dunmow, Essex, aged 74, had a commendable record as a Sunday service ringer. He had suffered from an internal complaint for a long time.

He started his ringing career at Great Dunmow in 1903 when he assisted to form a change ringing band. Upon moving to Stebbing he became a keen Sunday service ringer with the local company. His quiet and unassuming manner endeared him to all who knew him.

The funeral took place at St. Mary's, Stebbing, on November 10th, the Vicar, the Rev. F. Boykett, officiating. Many friends attended. Dr. L. Castleden and Mr. H. W. Smith represented Great Dunmow and Mr. H. W. Moore represented Bocking. He leaves a widow and a large family, several of whom have learned to ring. His son, Alfred, is the present captain of the Stebbing tower.

A NORTH HAMPSHIRE TOUR

Ringing at Sherborne St. John at 9 a.m. on November 1st, said the programme, and about a quarter of an hour late the first touch was on its way on the poor six in the tower with the green spire, reminiscent of Hertfordshire. The bells at Church Oakley were also of indifferent tone and produced peculiar rumblings for good measure. Our visit to Dean was most unsatisfactory, as several of the clappers were very stiff, especially that of the fourth, so that method ringing was pointless. A short drive brought us to the pretty village of Laverstoke, with St. Mary's tower housing a good Mears six (tenor 11 cwt.), and a course of London was rung.

The bells of Hurstbourne Priors had been thought to be unringable until recently, but we found their 'go' fair, the chief trouble being the tendency of the third to drop suddenly. Cambridge went quite well. Our final call before lunch was the excellent Taylor ring at Longparish (6, 7¼ cwt.), easily the best six of the day.

Two ex-R.A.F. members of the party, who were stationed at Middle Wallop, were able to satisfy long-standing ambitions to ring at Over Wallop on the odd-toned five. Prior to ringing at Goodworth Clatford we were invited to a cup of tea by the Vicar (the Rev. S. A. Gidlow). The bells at Abbot's Ann were muffled in memory of the late captain, Mr. Whimpey, but as three and four were muffled the wrong stroke, a most usual effect was produced. Another cup of tea awaited us after a pull at Amport—a chancel ring—thanks to the generosity of the Vicar (the Rev. R. J. H. Cholmeley).

Our arrival at Tangley was delayed by a herd of cows, but soon the merry five were away to Stedman. Mr. Webb welcomed us at East Woodhay, where the bells are of a pleasant tone but are very odd-struck and, being very quiet as well, are tricky to strike accurately. The only eight of the day followed. Highclere (tenor 11 cwt.): despite the fact that we were a mixed band our ringing was of a high standard and included a course of Bristol on this good octave. A pleasant drive through the nearby park brought us to Burghclere, where we were pleased that Mr. Gosling had a pull with us.

Our final tower, Sydmonton, was perhaps the main attraction of the day. Only within the past few months had the bells been rung for the first time for almost 70 years, and so we were wondering what the 'go' would be like. Before ringing, however, a most complicated chiming apparatus had to be disconnected and a new rope fitted to the third. Then, by torchlight, the bells were raised singly and some rounds attempted. These being successful, Bob Minor and Cambridge came round without much difficulty. The bells are a very pretty ring, and it is a pity they are so noisy in the ringing chamber.

So ended another enjoyable outing, and the thanks of the party are extended to all those who met us, particularly to the incumbents of Goodworth Clatford and Amport for their kind hospitality, and not least to Geoff Dodd for all his useful local information.

There are 11 regular twin-hunt pure Triples methods, all of which have been rung to peals. These 11 methods have also been spliced together in one peal.

Grandsire Triples.—A peal board at St. Peter Mancroft records a peal rung on August 26th, 1718, and also refers to previous false peals. Grandsire Triples and Caters had been practised in London since 1684, and although the Norwich peal is the first known, it is extremely unlikely that it was the first rung. Grandsire has also been rung under the titles Hick, Hank and Garthon's Triples.

Double Grandsire Triples.—Peals of Double Triples were rung on November 17th, 1765, at Spitalfields, and on January 4th, 1766, at St. George's, Southwark, by the College Youths. These may have been Grandsire Double Triples, however, and not Double Grandsire Triples. Similarly, a peal at Richmond, Surrey, on January 4th, 1767, by the Richmond Society. The Society of All Saints' Youths rang a peal of Double Grandsire on December 31st, 1779, at Wakefield.

Reverse Grandsire Triples.—The peal at Hackney on March 9th, 1782, by the Cumberland Youths, was probably the first in the method.

OUR BELLS

Handed to a ringer at St. James' Church, Grimsby, after a particularly unsuccessful practice.

The citizens take their nightly walk
In our tree-lined avenues,
Perhaps to spoon or maybe talk
About the latest news.

They listen enthralled to the song of a bird,
The girls are misty eyed;
'Tis the sweetest music ever heard
From one of the feathered tribe.

Alas! Alack!! 'Twill end too soon,
The bird will desert his perch,
When furtive figures are seen to loom
Converging on our church.

Silence falls o'er this old town
Of grime and fishy smells,
As word is passed with many a frown
'''Tis Practice Night at the Bells.'

Hark to the sound of scurrying feet,
They are rushing helter skelter.
Our brave policemen keep to their beat,
But the population take shelter.

The cause of this is plain to see,
Should you care to climb the tower;
But take a warning, friend, from me,
Be prepared to meet a shower.

You enter quietly, take a seat,
No doubt 'twill take some believing,
But really, friend, you're in for a treat
When this flipping lot get weaving.

You sit in a daze, your tongue is tied,
Your senses are dulled with fear.
There's no mistake you have qualified
For the 'Bravest Deed of the Year.'

Away, brave friend, before 'tis too late,
As far as you can away from it.
Away, brave friend, from that tower of hate,
Book a seat in the 'Jet Propelled Comet.'

Peace descends, the practice is o'er,
The police are calling 'All Clear.'
At every window, at every door,
Terror-struck faces begin to appear.

Our feathered friend with throat so sore
Tries to trill his beautiful call,
But bless my soul he is beaten once more
By the din from 'The Hole in the Wall.'

You culprits eight, take heed I say,
Next time your skill you try,
I beg of you, I beg, I pray,
Spare a thought for the passer-by.

THE RINGING WORLD

OFFICIAL JOURNAL OF THE CENTRAL COUNCIL OF CHURCH BELL RINGERS

'The Ringing World' was founded in the year 1911 by John Sparkes Goldsmith, who remained its proprietor and editor until his death in 1942.

No. 2487 Vol. LIV FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 28, 1958 Registered at the G.P.O. for transmission as a newspaper. 6d.

OUR FIRST RINGERS' MEETING

ON November 1st, All Saints' Day, my wife Joan and I attended our first ringers' meeting. Being complete novices in the art of change-ringing (we are struggling with what, to us, are the intricacies of Grandsire Doubles), we did not quite know how we should fare in the company of 20 or so proficient ringers.

Our first surprise on opening the church door was the sight of George. George has visited our tower occasionally to assist our two patient instructors. Generally he has been garbed in an old sweater over an open-necked shirt and baggy trousers. On this occasion George's six feet three inches were immaculate in a well-cut suit with knife-edge creases, snow-white shirt, and restrained tie. Obviously, we thought, a monthly meeting is some occasion! We were quite right, and our first has left its impressions.

Perhaps the chief of these was that of Charlie, who regularly week by week, aided by Harry, the Guild secretary, comes and patiently (usually) teaches us. Often on practice night have our clashes and faulty striking made him wince and groan. But on this occasion we saw him absolutely, wholly, completely and utterly in his element, his face flushed with pleasure, as he called several touches of really well-struck Stedman with some of the good ringers. If anyone lives for bell-ringing it is Charlie, and we can never thank him enough for coming each week to instruct us, especially as we are not very promising material.

Then there was Harry, who travels about a dozen miles to get to our tower on practice nights, where we see him as a rather quiet but very helpful assistant to Charlie. On the occasion of the meeting we saw him for the first time in action. Unobtrusively, but very efficiently, he guided the meeting on an even keel. Rounds for beginners, something spliced for the experts, the Vicar thanked and put in the picture as regards the service, a touch of 120 Grandsire for novices like Joan and I, the president of the Guild welcomed, six for Bob Minor—Harry managed it all.

On the arrival of the president, who to us was just another ringer, a voice hissed in our ears: 'Here is the president!' The words were said with such respect that Joan felt she ought to curtsey, and I had a ridiculous impulse to grab a bell-rope and ring wildly, for just at that moment no one was ringing and Harry was organising ringers for rounds. It seemed all wrong that the president should walk into church and find a silent tower.

George is a man of parts. This was brought home to us at the meeting, for his rather sleepy expression completely belies a very active brain, a fact we speedily realised as we saw him ably conducting a most joyous ring in several complicated methods. Then, too, surprise of surprises, he turned organist for the service, playing with feeling and expression.

The service was one which left a definite impression. The whole company sitting at the front of the church, the words of the hymns (new to us) set to familiar tunes, the prayers, and the Ringers' Prayer in particular, and by no means least, the Vicar's talk, so well chosen for the day.

As tea was in the village hall, a furlong distant, and the bells were up, it was decided to lock the church. Joyce, one of our band, pushed the huge key into the lock and there it wedged itself. Not one of us could either tease it out, or coax it to turn. So the Vicar stayed on guard, to be relieved in due course by the verger who, during his spell on duty managed, by some process known only to himself, to extract the key from the lock; thus all was well.

Although we knew the members of our own band, and Sydney and Tony from a neighbouring tower, there were inevitably many whom we had not seen before, who yet left their mark. The tall man who helped his even taller young son in one or two touches; the young married couple who rang together and looked as if they had always done so; the girl in the black frock whose expression when ringing was so completely composed that one thought nothing could ever ruffle her calm; and the two 12-year-olds who were both so shy of ringing before so many, and yet who managed so well.

These impressions, and many more, contribute to our happy memory of our first ringers' meeting, which has left us with only one regret. Why, oh why, did we not take up bell-ringing 20 years ago, when in our 'teens?

JOAN AND TERRY ROBERTS.

BELFRY

The new church at St. Mark's, Biggin Hill, Sussex, has given an order for a ring of six bells costing £2,000. The 60ft. bell tower, now being constructed, should be completed this year. It is hoped to have the consecration in the spring. The training of a band of ringers is being planned in a neighbouring church.

Congratulations to Leeds University Campanological Society on ringing their first peal.

The local band at Willesborough, Kent, have so far rung over 100,000 changes for service ringing this year.

Advice from a Yorkshire ringer: 'Never shout at a ringer who owns a car. He may come in useful some time.'—From 'The Belfry.'

The band who rang in the in memoriam peal at Wetherby, for Mr. Percy J. Johnson, included four of his pupils. The two first-pealers have been ringing for over 40 years.

After the peal at Acle on November 8th, rung in honour of Mr. Herbert W. Lidbetter's 86th birthday, the band were, as usual after this annual event, hospitably entertained at 'Hollycroft.'

The band who rang the peal at Wing, Rutlandshire, would like to thank Mr. and Mrs. Clark, of Wing, for entertaining them to tea afterwards. This was the first peal on these bells since November, 1931, and probably only the third rung there.

The ringers of the peal at Berrington, Salop, desire to thank the Rev. R. H. Hill and local ringers for their hospitality. Swindon ringers have a similar acknowledgment to make to the Rector of Brinkworth.

The first peal on the bells of Ashbourne Parish Church since 1923 has been accomplished. It was rung at the second attempt, the first attempt (Stedman Triples) failing through a shift between a well-known Derbyshire lady ringer and a well-known College Youth!

GOSSIP

Bells will be heard prior to the broadcast service on Sunday, December 7th, at 9.45 a.m. in the Home Service, from Constantine Parish Church, Cornwall, conducted by the Vicar (Rev. R. O. Mossop), and the preacher will be Canon J. E. Fison, of Truro Cathedral.

Another veteran in a birthday peal is Mr. Sydney Flint, who rang the treble for his 80th birthday at Aughton, Lancs.

Official weight of Market Bosworth tenor, given by Messrs. John Taylor and Co., is 14 cwt. 2 qr. 5 lb. Controversialists please note (the same as in the Guide).

By ringing the fourth at Pakefield on November 13th, Mr. A. W. Bird, of Gorleston, 'circled the tower.' The peal was Mrs. E. T. Chapman's first of Major. Congratulations, Ella! You rang very well.

Mr. E. G. Buck, Northern District secretary of the Herts County Association, makes a welcome return to peal-ringing after his recent operation, with the peal of Yorkshire Surprise Major at Barkway on November 1st.

For some time past, Mr. George Goodman has been teaching beginners at Putney and other towers. The first signs of success became evident during the quarter he arranged at Wandsworth. All credit to them!

While the peal was in progress at Burton-on-Trent, on November 15th, an I.T.A. television unit was busy at a dog show in an adjacent hall. The ringers hope that viewers had a background of bells, as the ringing was for a national event—the tenth birthday of H.R.H. the Prince of Wales.

The bells of Christ Church, Shankill, Lugan, Co. Armagh, will represent Northern Ireland in this year's Christmas Day broadcast. They are a fine ring of eight with a tenor of 22 cwt.

THE PHANTOM PEAL RINGER RIDES AGAIN

THE scene is the village of Amport, in Hampshire; the time, the witching hour of midnight on the first Friday in November. Hallowe'en has come and gone; the countryside lies dark and silent as the grave.

But hark! Do ghouls still walk? What ghostly music fills the air? The villagers stir restlessly in their beds and fearfully recall old legends of yesteryear. Can it be the dreaded phantom ringers?

At Amport R.A.F. Station the sergeant of the guard wakes with a start, the hairs of his scalp tingling. He dons his carpet slippers with shaking fingers, stumbles to the door and listens unbelievably. Are the ancient tales true, or has 'B' Flight broken out again? In any event this is a matter for the civil police, and the sergeant does not hesitate; he dials '999.'

Meanwhile, at the village church, six phantom ringers are conferring with the Rector, who justifiably points out that, although the bells are theoretically fully muffled, they will have to be made a lot quieter before any midnight peal-ringing takes place. Our phantoms can only agree and, as no more muffles are available and the ascent to the bell chamber appears hazardous in the extreme, they reluctantly decide to abandon the attempt and to go on to the next tower.

As certain phantoms sit yawning in their chariot, waiting (as usual) for the phantom tenor king, a Ford car chugs out of the darkness and halts beside them. The following conversation ensues:—

Police Sergeant: 'Good morning!'

Phantoms (in chorus): ' 'Good morning, officer!'

Police Sergeant: 'Is this the church?'

Phantoms: 'Yes.'

Pause for suspicious glances on both sides.

Police Sergeant: 'You haven't just been in there by any chance, have you?'

First Phantom 'Er . . . .'

Second Phantom: 'Umm . . . .'

Third Phantom: 'Yes.'

Police Sergeant (triumphantly, rattling handcuffs and twirling moustache): 'Ah-ha!'

Posse, comprising sergeant, constable and military policeman, pile out of the car and surround quaking phantoms.

Some little time later, explanations having been forthcoming and the full names and addresses of all of our heroes duly noted ('Yes, that's it, officer, Arthur Patrick, my 2,342nd tower, no doubt you've heard of Loughborough . . .') the party made tracks for Abbot's Ann, where attempt No. 2 was scheduled to start at 3 a.m. Arriving two hours early, some time was spent in rendering the muffling as effective as possible without making the bells completely inaudible, and a start was eventually made at half-past one. Winchendon Place Bob Doubles ran smoothly to a successful conclusion, and our spirits rose appreciably.

We slept in the car until breakfast-time (6 a.m.), when we received a warm welcome from the proprietor of the local transport cafe and were brought back to life by bacon, eggs and coffee.

PEP-PILLS!

Seven o'clock saw the party adjusting ropes at Broughton in readiness to attempt the first peal on the bells. Pep-pills were much in evidence here, and those who used them are able to present a very favourable report on their effectiveness: no doubt their use will soon be banned by the Central Council. The steady seven were duly rung on these pleasant bells.

On to Lockerley in brilliant sunshine, where Bill Deason met us looking disgustingly wide awake and sporting a new hat which the late R. Hood would have been proud to own. It was apparent from the size of the feather that an ostrich is shivering somewhere. Four methods were rung at a stately pace on these musical but somewhat noisy bells.

Lunch was waiting at the village inn, and we sat down well satisfied with our total of three out of four so far, and every prospect of scoring the remaining three to set up a new record.

However, this was not to be. At Sherfield English, where Chris Kippin joined us, Cambridge Major had been tapping along in fine style for nearly two hours when a conducting error put paid to our hopes; a sad disappointment, for this eight certainly rates as one of the most musical in Hampshire.

Over tea it was decided by a majority that the two remaining attempts should still take place, and the party consequently set off for Stockbridge to try for another 'first on the bells.' However, a broken treble rope brought the ringing to a premature conclusion in the third extent. No more luck came our way at Goodworth Clatford, where permission had kindly been given to ring the bells unmuffled from 9 p.m. until midnight; a mysterious fire-up in Cambridge Minor ended the day's ringing.

In spite of the apparently unsuccessful outcome, most of the band were well satisfied with what had been achieved, particularly as the standard of striking had never fallen below good throughout the day, and it is hoped that another attempt will be made in the not too far distant future.

We extend our grateful thanks to seven kind and co-operative incumbents (especially those who gave permission for us to ring at somewhat unusual hours); to all the local ringers who met us; to the phantom tenor king who kept us all awake and was 'not a bit tired but just irritable' at the end; to Geoff Dodd for his customarily impeccable arrangements; and most of all to Dave Hawkins for his fortitude in driving nearly 200 miles without sleep between Friday evening and Sunday morning, ringing three peals, losing divers others and still getting us safely home.

IRISH ASSOCIATION PRESIDENT'S 75th BIRTHDAY

Many greetings were received on November 7th by Mr. William Pratt, president of the Irish Association, on the occasion of his 75th birthday. These included messages from Mr. E. A. Barnett on behalf of the Central Council, Mr. F. E. Dukes, the Irish Association, the three District secretaries of the Irish Association on behalf of their members, and many towers.

On November 8th a company representative of the Irish Association assembled at Holywood to ring a peal in honour of the birthday. Included in the band were Mr. Harry Ellis, Limerick (Southern District), Mr. F. E. Dukes (Eastern District), Messrs. H. Brown, T. J. Dunwoody and Miss Jean Stewart (Northern District), Messrs. W. Hall, W. A. Patterson and F. E. Fagg (Belfast churches). Unfortunately, after 50 minutes' ringing, the attempt failed due to a trip. A quarter peal of 1,264 Plain Bob Major was then rung by W. Hall 1, H. Ellis 2, F. E. Fagg 3, H. Brown 4, W. A. Patterson 5, Miss Stewart 6, J. T. Dunwoody 7, F. E. Dukes 8. Afterwards Mr. Pratt joined in ringing several touches.

Tea followed at the Parochial Hall, where Miss Stewart produced a birthday cake with '75' figured on it. Congratulatory speeches followed from Messrs. Dukes, Dunwoody, Ellis and Patterson in appreciation of Mr. Pratt's services to the Association. Mr. Pratt suitably replied.

ARCHDEACON OF STAFFORD SOCIETY AT DINNER

THE seventh annual dinner of the Society for the Archdeaconry of Stafford was held at the Stork Hotel, Walsall, on November 8th, when there was an attendance of 101. This figure was limited by the amount of available accommodation; many applications for tickets had to be returned.

For the first time since this annual dinner was inaugurated, the function received civic recognition through the attendance of the Mayor and Mayoress of Walsall, Cclr. and Mrs. F. Harrison. Another distinguished visitor was the Bishop of Lichfield (Dr. A. S. Reeve), who was accompanied by Mrs. Reeve. Other visitors included the Vicar of Walsall (Rev. V. S. Nicholls) and Mrs. Nicholls, Dr. A. S. Lavelle (Vicar of Wednesbury) and Mrs. Lavelle, the Rev. T. O. Boulton (Vicar of Penn) and Mrs. Boulton, Mr. and Mrs. Wynn Evans, Mr. and Mrs. F. Perrens, Mr. and Mrs. J. Courtman and Miss Harrison. The Society's popular president, Ven. W. A. Parker (Archdeacon of Stafford), was in the chair, and he was supported by Mrs. Parker. Apologies were received from the Bishop of Stafford, the Dean of Lichfield, the Rev. C. H. Barker (clerical secretary) and Mr. G. Peers, jun., of Tamworth.

Following a good meal came the toasts, the first of which, 'Church and State,' was proposed by the Mayor of Walsall, who said what pleasure it gave him and the Mayoress to be present that evening. It was essential that the Church and the State work in complete harmony together.

In reply, the Vicar of Walsall stated that Walsall was fortunate in having a man like Cclr. Harrison, who displayed his sterling Christian qualities not only as a churchwarden but in his civic duties also.

Proposing the toast of 'The Society,' the Bishop of Lichfield spoke of his appreciation of the work done by ringers throughout the diocese Sunday by Sunday. He was pleased to know that the Society had a large number of young members, and he appealed to those present that evening to maintain the traditions of the Society in the future.

Replying to this toast, Miss Annette Frost, a young ringer from Penn, said that while ringers obviously got pleasure from their ringing their main satisfaction should be in the service they were rendering to the Church.

The toast of 'The Visitors' was proposed by Mr. G. Darlington, of Wednesbury, who said how delighted he was to see the Mayor and Mayoress of Walsall and the Bishop of Lichfield and Mrs. Reeve giving the dinner their support.

In reply, Mr. A. Wynne Evans, of Wolverhampton, speaking as a non-ringer, said how impressed he was with the spirit of goodwill which obviously existed amongst ringers.

Mr. Bennett (lay secretary) then thanked the Archdeacon of Stafford for so efficiently taking the chair. Thanks were also expressed to the artistes for their services. Entertainment which followed was provided by Major B. Pearson (conjurer), Miss Margaret Hyde (soprano), with Mr. K. Wood (accompanist) and Mrs. E. Drew and Miss M. Roden, from Claverley Dramatic Society

A course of Grandsire Triples on handbells was rung by Messrs. H. Knight, F. Brotherton, E. E. Speake and H. Howell.

During the afternoon ringing took place on the 12 bells at Walsall Parish Church.

In the quarter peal rung at Llantrisant (page 739), the Kerleys who were ringing consisted of a father, two sons and a grandson.

'CAMPANOLOGY' — Some Notes By Wilfrid G. Wilson

SOME of your older readers may remember one of our short-lived ringing papers — 'Campanology.' No. 1 was published on September 16th, 1896, and it appeared every Wednesday, price one penny, until No. 26 on March 10th, 1897. Its proprietor was William Bedwell, who had a printing and stationery business in High Street, Lewisham. He was also at that time hon. secretary of the Lewisham District of the Kent County Association.

When the Master at St. Margaret's, Westminster (Mr. William H. Hewett), opened his box in the ringing chamber recently, I saw a set of this journal, and Mr. Hewett was good enough to lend them to me. I found them so interesting that I have made these notes of items which I think may be of interest to others of your readers.

The editorial in the first issue set out Mr. Bedwell's 'plan of campaign.' 'For the benefit of our colleagues in the provinces who may be arranging to visit the Metropolis we intend to publish a list of dates, times and places of meetings for practice in London and its environs' And he did—every issue up to the last had such a list. Visitors to London nowadays would, I am sure, find a similar list useful. We have, I know, Dove's Guide, but that cannot, by its nature, be always up to date. The provinces could also claim to have similar help and it may be, therefore, that a list published every two or three months would suffice.

The next point in his plan of campaign reminded me of recent editorial decisions about anonymous correspondence. 'We have resolved,' he wrote, 'not to admit any contribution which does not bear the signature of the writer.'

And the next, if it were possible today, would bring joy to the hearts of Association treasurers. 'Notices of meetings will be inserted gratis, thus effecting a saving of expenditure to many Associations—a departure which we feel assured will be generally appreciated.'

J. ARMIGER TROLLOPE

I personally was thrilled to see that the very first peal reported—Oxford Treble Bob Royal at St. Peter Mancroft, Norwich—contained the name of my own teacher, J. Armiger Trollope, who rang the second and composed the peal.

An article entitled 'A country ringer's experiences in the belfry of Westminster Abbey' gave the editor a chance to ride one of his hobby horses—as will be apparent from later extracts also. There were six bells at the time; the floor was unsafe, and Nos. 4 and 5 went so badly that only 'set changes' were rung. 'Ringing goes on, but with frequent intervals for rest.' But they had to spread a newspaper over the seats because of the dirt. 'Part of the carpet [?] was regularly supplied by the pigeons and other birds.' On reaching his native village the writer of the article resolved to get the Central Council to present a humble petition to the Abbey authorities headed 'Cleanliness is next to Godliness.'

In addition to an illustrated article on St. Margaret's, Westminster, which probably accounts for the preservation of these numbers in that belfry, issue No. 2 has an article on peal books by J. Armiger Trollope. To those who knew him as probably the most able historian of bells and ringing that the Exercise has had, his suggestion that Associations which were hard up should not spend their money on ornamental peal books must seem strange. I wonder if he would have repeated this 50 years later. He made, of course, the valid point that the early peal books were invaluable, but that in days of printed annual reports, available to all, a better use could be found for Association funds.

In this number was started a page of compositions. Peals of Treble Bob Major from 5,024 to 8,128 were given and, what may well have been a hit at rival publications, it was stated that 'the greatest possible care is taken to examine all peals before being inserted in this Journal, by which we hope to avoid the annoyance and disappointment which has often occurred by the publication of false compositions.'

Note for A.P.C. An advertisement said: 'All bell-ringers should have Hovis bread—cures indigestion.'

No. 3, in its editorial, stresses the necessity for the tuition of young members, and makes the statement—still very true today—'Of what avail is all the study and knowledge of seven Surprise men without the eighth?'

Among the peals published were 11,328 London Surprise Major in 6 hours and 6 minutes at Drayton, Berkshire, composed and conducted by J. W. Washbrook, with the Rev. F. E. Robinson in the band, and a peal of Grandsire Triples at Tilehurst, in which Miss Alice White took part. An illustrated article was about St. Martin's, Birmingham, and the composition page, Grandsire Caters.

No. 4 has an illustrated article about St. Mary and All Saints', Chesterfield, with its crooked spire. On reading that when the ten bells (24½ cwt.) were opened in 1820, six peals were rung in two days, one is not surprised that the spire is crooked!

COLLEGE YOUTHS' DINNER, 3s. 6d.

In No. 5 appears the first of a series of advertisements for the 259th anniversary dinner of the Ancient Society of College Youths, price 3s. 6d. For the 321st, this year, the price was 18s. 6d.

Members of the Middlesex Association will be interested to know that No. 6 contained a report of the seventh annual meeting of the Association at Southgate, at which a committee was set up to consider with the South and West Middlesex Guild the desirability of uniting as Districts of one County Association. The Middlesex secretary at that time was Mr. A. T. King, and it is a sign of the times that whenever his name appears in a report of a touch or quarter peal he always gets 'Esq.' put after his name.

OXFORD UNIVERSITY SOCIETY VISIT LONDON

Members of the O.U.S. and their friends, etc., 14 in all, left Oxford on the 9.7 a.m. express on November 15th on the first stage of their outing. Robin Hodgson, an ex-Master, joined us at Paddington. At St. Dunstan's, Stepney, we were met by Mr. Fox and Roger Keeley, who had done much of the arranging on our behalf, and who was to be our guide over London. The magnificent bells were soon heard to Grandsire Caters; the band, which was certainly not overladen with experience, performed creditably here as elsewhere, and before we reluctantly made our way westwards, Stedman Caters and a half course of Cambridge Royal had been rung, besides a course of Plain Bob and three leads of Kent Royal.

After lunch the first objective was St. Olave's, Hart Street. A little difficulty was experienced at first on this light eight, but before long some good, if not perfect, striking was heard. Dermot Roaf had escaped from the clutches of 'the other place' by this time, and Ruth How and Rodney Meadows also joined us. Several standard methods were rung here besides a short touch of Spliced Surprise in four methods.

We were lagging a little behind schedule by the time we reached St. James', Clerkenwell, asd so we shortened our time to 45 minutes. The bells are rather difficult to ring for several reasons, not the least of which is the fact that they are rather deep set. Notwithstanding this difficulty, the best ringing of the day, a course of Yorkshire, was done here.

After this the O.U.S. had to cross London to Pimlico. Here we found that two of the bells had 'run dry' and had to be oiled before we could ring. This limited us to the inevitable three leads of Bristol and Kent, while Dermot was made to apply his mathematical brain to calling a 63 of Stedman. Further reinforced by Jim Cook and Shirley Rymer, we went to St. Margaret's, Westminster, to be joined by one or two of the London University ringers. Mr. Sanders stood in in some Cambridge Royal, and provided an object lesson to some aspiring O.U.S. members on how to handle a heavy bell. Again Grandsire and Stedman Caters were rung, and to finish the day's ringing the Society rang a half course of Yorkshire Royal, which was easily the best 10-bell ringing of the day and ran very close to the Yorkshire at Clerkenwell.

Most of the Oxford party arrived home before midnight, but the Master was grateful for the fog which enshrouded him as he climbed into his college at 2.15 a.m. on Sunday.

Our grateful thanks are due to Roger Keeley; without his help there could have been no outing—certainly not an outing which was as successful and enjoyable as this was. J. H. P.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD

The nomination meeting of the Chertsey District, held at Egham on November 15th, attracted 46 ringers. Among those present were the Master of the Guild, Mr. C. W. Denyer, the general secretary, Mr. S. Russell, and his assistant, Miss R. Hyde.

Ringing before the service ranged from rounds to a well-struck course of Cambridge. The Guild Office was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. S. C. Strong).

After the usual excellent tea, provided by local ringers, Mr. C. W. Denyer took the chair for the business meeting. Nominations for District officers for 1959 were: Ringing Master, Mr. R. Collins; assistant R.M., Mr. J. King; District secretary, Mr. J. King and Miss E. Loveland; auditor, Mr. W. Shepherd; executive committee, Mr. T. Luxford. Two new junior members from Egham were elected.

Mr. B. C. Stirland warmly thanked the District for the wedding present made to him and his wife. Members were very pleased to see them both again.

The general secretary reminded the District of the importance of sending in reports of meetings to the 'R.W.' The vote of thanks was proposed by Mr. W. Shepherd. R. C.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

UNRINGABLE BELLS

Dear Sir,—The letter from Mr. Nicholas Davies makes both interesting and sad reading—interesting as providing useful information concerning unringable towers in this county, and sad because they are unringable—or reputedly so!

Mr. Davies asks for information on two towers in particular. As regards the 6-bell tower of Sandhurst, these bells, hung in a massive 14th century western tower, were augmented from five during the 1930's. They were rung up to the beginning of the last war, but suffered from neglect during the war and after. To the best of my knowledge, there is very little wrong with the bells that could not be remedied by a few hours' work with spanner, etc. At present, the tenor cannot be raised, as it is striking the frame—this could, of course, be easily remedied—and I expect that the other five would take quite a bit of ringing. Even so, when compared with the condition of the recently reopened Hampshire tower of Sydmonton (actually the 'go' of these reputedly unringable bells is quite fair!), no one, I am convinced, would be prepared to include Sandhurst as a genuinely unringable tower.

St. Margaret's, Rochester, is rather different. Here again, the pleasant-toned light eight, which are hung anti-clockwise in a good 15th century west tower, were rung up to the outbreak of war. The frame and fittings are, I understand, in very poor condition indeed; in addition, about a quarter of the ground floor ringing chamber is now blocked by a large heating stove, and at least two of the ropes would now fall on top of this stove. Even were the bells in good ringing order, it would be quite impossible to ring them under present conditions. The only possibility would be a ringers' gallery, installed at the level of the sill of the west window, or slightly higher—even then, the ringers standing over the stove would no doubt have rather a warm time!

I fear that Mr. Davies' information about the other towers is only too correct, although, with him, I am very much inclined to doubt whether all the reputedly unsafe towers are really so. Personally, as regards Mr. Davies' local tower of Kennington, I have heard many well-known ringers in the Ashford area say that the story of the unsafe tower is quite untrue, and, although I have never inspected the bells myself, I am inclined to agree. However, only an inspection by a qualified bell-hanger could decide one way or the other in this and the other 'unsafe' towers in the county, and I trust that this may one day take place.

Finally, there is one more unringable tower which Mr. Davies has not mentioned, and this is—unlike some of the others—a genuine case. The tower in question is Chislet, where the heavy ring of six has, I think, not been rung within living memory. Happily, in this case, restoration is in progress, and the bells are now in process of being rehung by Taylors. I believe it is hoped that they will be in good ringing order by early in 1959.—Yours sincerely,

PETER N. BOND.

Fordcombe, Kent.

FIRST PEAL PERFORMANCES

Dear Sir,—Mr. Barnett is correct: Caversham Major was accidentally omitted from the MS which I submitted to the Editorial Office. A peal of 5,040 was rung at Caversham on July 15th, 1913, by the Oxford Diocesan Guild. The method was first published as Washbrook's Surprise Principle, but this name was later changed to Caversham Major.

The peal of Maidstone Major at Wakefield was reported as '5,760, being the extent of 120 courses, with 1, 7, 8 fixed' A further 5,760 was rung at Borden, Kent, in 1813, followed by 5,856 (122 courses) in 1814. Thus we have a course of 48 changes, and I fail to see how this could fit in as a hunt-controlled method. It was therefore included in the list of Principles.

Cox's Caters was reported as 'a peal of Caters on Cox's Principle on December 7th, 1845, in 3 hours and 45 minutes, composed and conducted by John Cox.'

There is no complete list of all first performances. In 'History and Art,' Mr. Morris made improvements on the C.C. list of 1923, which list was incomplete in many ways. Since the publication of 'History and Art' early performances in other methods and also some earlier dates have come to light. Only by publishing in 'The Ringing World' everything known can we hope to arrive at something like a complete list. If someone sees a mistake in the lists, or notes an omission, I hope they will not sit back and say, 'That list is incomplete.' Instead, like Mr. Barnett, they should put pen to paper and send details to 'The Ringing World.' In this way we might arrive at a complete list of First Peal Performances. The absence of such letters appears to indicate that the lists so far are complete and accurate.

Mr. R. I. Shepherd has sent details of Aston Major, which is the same as Handsworth, but the 12 places are moved to 34.

THE SURVEY

Dear Sir,—I would be most grateful if Association secretaries when sending in their replies to the Central Council inquiry on Sunday service ringing would include a copy of their latest annual report. These reports are very useful for providing some of the background information about Associations which we will need in submitting our committee's report to the Council.—Yours, etc., P. M. J. GRAY.

ANOTHER UNIVERSITY SOCIETY

Dear Sir,—The Exercise may be interested to hear of the formation of another University Society—the University of Sheffield Guild of Change Ringers.

An enquiry at the beginning of term revealed that there was a sufficient number of ringers to start a Society, and this resulted in the formation of the Guild, with a membership of 16, including three absolute beginners.

We are indebted to the Vicar, and tower captain Mr. Ditcher, of Ranmoor Church, for the use of the ten bells there on Tuesday evenings for weekly practices.

There are also plans for occasional Saturday afternoon meetings, and the first of these was held at Bradfield on October 18th. During an enjoyable afternoon, several methods were successfully rung on the six bells.

It is hoped that a tour may be organised next summer, and also joint meetings with other university Societies arranged.

The number of universities now without a band of ringers is very small, and Sheffield is no longer among this number.—Yours faithfully,

J. S. RANK, Hon. Sec.

ST. MARGARET'S, ROCHESTER

Dear Sir,—Re Kent's unringable bells, I would like to submit the following to Mr. Nicholas J. Davies:—

St. Margaret's, Rochester, has a ring of eight (tenor 13¼ cwt. in G.). The bells were originally a ring of six, and I believe they were augmented to eight by Gillett and Johnston. The dates of the back six are as follows: Treble 1790, 2nd 1884, 3rd 1790, 4th 1621, 5th 1624, tenor 1884. There have not been many peals rung here. It is a left-handed ring with a draught of about 30 ft. with no guides. I believe the Rev. F. E. Robinson called Stedman Triples here, and I think Frank Bennett and A. H. Pulling have both called peals here. The bells are musical, and I have rung in three peals here—two of Kent T.B. and one of Grandsire (the last peal on the bells, February 14th, 1948).

The bells need rehanging, new ropes and fittings, but finance and lack of ringers is the trouble. The bells at Wouldham are a ring of six by Mears (tenor 13¼ cwt. in G). They were rung about two months ago for the induction of a new vicar by the ringers from Meopham, Kent.—Yours, etc.,

CHARLES E. J. NORRIS,
Steeple keeper, Rochester Cathedral.

RE PEALS FOR ANALYSIS COMMITTEE

Dear Sir,—The peal rung at Upchurch on August 2nd, sent in by me, is a three-method peal of Doubles. If Mr. Blagrove thinks April Day Doubles is not a method I would refer him to Mr. E. Morris' 'History and Art of Change Ringing' (page 377); also to the Central Council's Collection of Doubles and Minor Methods, No. 14. Unfortunately, the Extreme Single is not given, which is a bad end of St. Dunstan's Doubles. These methods for 5-bell ringers are older than I am (64), and all methods of Doubles are taken from the three—Grandsire, Plain Bob and Stedman.—Yours faithfully,

WILLIAM A. J. KNIGHT.

WOMEN RINGERS OF 18th CENTURY

Dear Sir,—Recently it was stated that 'the greatest change in ringing in the last 60 years has been the introduction of women to the belfries,' and one has been led to believe that before that period the lady ringer was non-existent.

What, therefore, is one to make of entries like these, which occur in the churchwardens' accounts for this parish?—

1781. 'For ringing—Hanna Young 10/-, Ellen Witehead 4/-.'

1790. 'Hanna Young, for ye ringers, 6/-.'

1808. Jan. 9. 'Mary Totty, for ringers' allowance, 9/6.' MARY S. SMITH (Mrs.).

Heswall, Cheshire.

HOSPITAL MEMORIES

Dear Sir,—I have just been discharged from the South Devon and East Cornwall Hospital, Deanport, Plymouth. As a subscriber to the 'R.W.' from No. 1, naturally my 'R.W.' was brought in to me. I had read it through and dropped it on a chair by my side. A staff nurse passing through the ward stopped, looked down at it, and a conversation something like the following took place.

'Hallo, a ringer?' 'Yes! Are you?' 'No, but Father is.' 'Where does he ring?' 'Croydon.' 'Do you know any of the Croydon ringers?' 'Yes.' 'Then you must know Mr. Fred Collins and Mr. and Mrs. Oatway?' 'Oh yes, quite well.'

'Father' is, I think, Mr. Abbot; I don't know the staff nurse's name, as she is married. I asked her to pass on my compliments to the ringers mentioned. She also knew quite well Mr. Sangwyn, of Bridgerule, N. Devon.

During my stay in hospital (five weeks) I was much comforted by visits from Mr. Harry Thomas (chairman, South West Branch, Devon Guild), Mr. Tom Myers (Plymouth) and Mr. Will Lavers (Plympton), and several members of the craft.—Yours truly, Liskeard, Cornwall. W. G. HISCOTT.

REDEDICATION

Desborough, Northants

The rededication of the bells of St. Giles', Desborough, took place on November 19th. The bells have been retuned, refitted with new wooden wheels, back-stays and slides, and remounted with totally-encased ball-bearings.

The ceremony was performed by Canon G. F. Turner, R.D., president of the Diocesan Guild of Bell-ringers, and other clergy taking part were the Vicar (Rev. T. R. Bonsey) and the Vicar of Loddington (Rev. G. Dolman). In the procession the cross was carried by a ringer, David Loake.

The ringers who rang rounds after the rededication were Miss Gwenyth Dimbleby, Miss Sonia Feakin, Mrs. A. Loake, Messrs. H. Tailby, G. Wright, D. Loake, B. Foster and B. Yeomans.

After the service, members of the congregation were invited to refreshments in the Hall, while visiting ringers from Rothwell, Corby, Weldon and Kettering joined the local band to ring Grandsire Triples, Bob Major and Little Bob Major. All agree that a fine job of work has been done—the noise in the belfry is almost down to zero, and the sound outside is also reported to be greatly improved.

It is a great credit to the band that the work was carried out as economically as possible, and that all the money for it has been raised or promised.

On the gift day £600 was given—an example of generosity towns of greater population and wealth might follow. It is hoped that a grant from the Diocesan Bell Restoration Fund will be made.

GOSPEL OAK BELLS RING AGAIN

There are only six 6-bell towers in the county of London, and all of them have been unringable for some years. In a survey of these towers recently undertaken it was found that the most likely one to be made ringable again was that of St. Martin's, Gospel Oak. The bells had been silent for 8½ years, and inspection showed that while the frame and fittings were basically sound, a lot of work had to be done to make them usable again.

This work included the fitting of a completely new wheel to the third, the checking and lubrication of bearings, sliders, clappers, etc., and the repair of wheel rims and spokes. The ropes were fortunately in good order, except for one which had been pulled up into the belfry and left lying around the broken wheel exposed to London's grime. This rope was rejuvenated by being washed, sally and all, in strong detergent solution, with a remarkably satisfactory result.

On Saturday, November 15th, a band from St. Matthias', Richmond, assisted by a ringer from Somerset on a visit to London, went to the church and rang the bells for the first time after their long silence. The tone was most pleasing and the 'go' excellent. To the great delight of the Vicar (Rev. Leslie St. Aubrey), who has given his wholehearted support to this amateur restoration effort, a quarter peal of Grandsire Doubles was rung.

Those responsible for this restoration think there must be many rings in the country which could be restored and made ringable again at small expense by ringers sufficiently enthusiastic to do the work themselves, especially in towers where financial stringency precludes a professional restoration. At any rate, they are now turning their attention to other 'unringable' bells in London.

The writer would like to place on record his thanks for the help and advice, freely given, which he has received from Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, who have also supplied the necessary new parts. D. J. N. S.

OBITUARY

THE REV. S. A. GIDLOW

Visitors to Goodworth Clatford, Hants, will regret to hear of the death of the Vicar, the Rev. S. A. Gidlow, on November 8th. On that day he set out to meet a visiting peal band, but it was doubtful if he ever reached the church as he was found lying at the end of his drive and died on his way to hospital. The peal attempt was unsuccessful.

Mr. Gidlow was a ringer, and practised the art until ill-health prevented him from climbing the belfry stairs. Nevertheless, he kept in close touch with ringers, and until 1953 was chairman of the Andover District. Many outing parties and visiting peal bands will remember the teas he and Mrs. Gidlow generously provided at the Vicarage.

When Mr. Gidlow was inducted to the living in 1936, Goodworth Clatford had only three bells, although there was a frame for six. He resolved to set about raising the extra money. In the next year, for the Coronation of King George VI, two new trebles were added, and a third bell was the gift of the Iremonger family. A number of peals have since been rung on the bells.

The funeral service was on November 13th, and in the evening a quarter peal of Grandsire Doubles was rung by L. Dean 1, Cherry White 2, Hazel White 3, B. Grainger 4, A. G. Smart (conductor) 5, W. Mulford 6. It was the first quarter for 1, 2 and 3.

MR. REUBEN WRIGHT

The death occurred at his home at Theberton, Suffolk, of Mr. Reuben Wright at the age of 89 years, following a heart attack. It was only in July of 1957 that Reuben gave £1,000 towards the restoration of Theberton bells and tower, costing £1,800. After the funeral an attempt was made to ring a half-muffled peal on Theberton bells, but came to an end in the fourth extent. Ringers taking part were R. Peck 1, J. Pilgrim 2, A. Pipe 3, E. Pearce 4, A. Bridges 5, J. Bailey (conductor) 6.

MEMORIAL TABLET TO MR. F. B. YATES

On October 26th, during morning service at King's Norton Parish Church, a bronze tablet to the memory of Frank Bertram Yates, a former churchwarden and noted Birmingham industrialist, was unveiled by the Vicar (Rev. A. E. Ashford) in the presence of a large congregation. Those present included Mrs. Yates and members of the family; Messrs. Frank E. Haynes and Albert Walker represented St. Martin's Guild.

The Vicar in his sermon paid a moving tribute to Mr. Yates' services for many years, his raising of £2,000 for restoration of the church, his gift of two treble bells, increasing the ring to ten bells, and his services as a bell-ringer.

The tablet reads as follows:—

Frank Bertram Yates. Born 23rd January, 1877. Died 4th March, 1957. Ringing Master 1924–1926.

Mr. Yates was a vice-president of St. Martin's Guild and gave two treble bells to Birmingham Cathedral, increasing the ring to 12 bells. A. W.

BEDFORDSHIRE ASSOCIATION

The November meeting of the Luton District was held at Dunstable on November 15th. Ringing commenced on the Priory bells at 3 p.m. and continued until 4.30 p.m., when the new Rector (the Rev. C. Maconochie) conducted a short service. Tea was held in the Priory Cafe. There was no business meeting. Over 40 ringers attended the meeting and during the evening the ringing ranged from rounds to Surprise Major.

It was westward on Thursday to Eagle, Swinderby, Norton Disney, Bassingham, and to the heaviest six of the week at Brant Broughton (tenor 23½ cwt.). Once more we crossed into Notts to Coddington, where the treble was without a stay, and so to Newark for lunch. Back again into Lincoln to Claypole (bells out of tune), Hough-on-the-Hill, Honington, Barkston, Barrowby and Denton, where we had considerable trouble with the clock hammers. Having time to spare, we entered into Leicestershire, only to find that Croxton Kerrial bells were at the founders'. Bert was persuaded to go without his tea, and we had a ring on the merry six at Eaton. Eastward bound to the Somerset-type tower at Great Ponton, a minor five and the heaviest-going five of the week, and Ancaster. Then to Fulbeck for a touch of Fulbeck Bob Minor, before joining the local practice night at Leadenham, where the Vicar rang with us.

'TWICE MORE'

Eastwards on Friday to four close towers—Nettleham, Welton, Scothern and Dunholme—where we achieved a course of Beverley Surprise. Then on to Wragby, where two incidents occurred. Philip's rope caught on a clock case and caused some confusion, and when lowering the bells, Dick, unusually on the treble, got about half way down and called 'Twice more,' missed, caught, and all rose some way off the floor. Legbourne was the last tower before lunch in Mablethorpe, after which we rang at the parish church, on a very good six.

North to Saltfleetby All Saints', only to find the tower to be unsafe and the bells fixed with strings tied to the clappers. At Saltfleetby St. Clement's the vicar kindly left us some refreshment. Waltham's proved to be a very good six, but at Laceby the tower was in scaffolding. On to Ulceby, Caistor with its long, steep stairway, Claxby, where the locals made a recording of our ringing, and to the lightest six of the week at Bigby (tenor 6 cwt.). Finally to Broughton once again, successful this time in finding the sexton at home. These fine six in a Saxon tower are well worth a return visit.

THE RUTLAND FESTIVAL

On Saturday we joined the many visitors to the Rutland festival, and were pleased to meet friends from Bedford. Joe E. G. Roast had now joined us and was somehow squeezed into the car. On our way down we called at the new five at Waddington, Skillington and Colsterworth. We then rang at the available towers in Rutland, to mention just Oakham, Greetham, Cottesmore and Belton as being outstanding.

The Lincoln ringers were most helpful in arranging for us to ring at the four towers in the city on the Sunday morning, especially as we were privileged to ring on the excellent 12 at the Cathedral, also on the eight at St. Giles', and the two sixes of St. Peter-at-Gowts and St. Botolph's. After lunch we found the Nocton tower captain at home, and obtained the key to ring. On to Ashby-de-la-Launde, where the bells were described as 'rough but ringable,' and where the fourth ringer was well rung by his bell. Then to the last two Lincolnshire towers at Great Hale and Helpringham, before heading south to call at Clenchwarton, Norfolk, for evening service. Our last ringing came at Ingham, in Suffolk, where our spare rope proved useful on the tenor.

So on bidding farewell to Philip at Ardleigh we once more arrived at Chelmsford station, but this time to part, with 1,273 miles behind us, and 111 towers in seven counties and 21 different methods to our collection. One cannot thank Ivan enough for all his work in correspondence, Dick for his excellent driving, and Bert for keeping the party amused; also to all incumbents and local ringers who either met us or permitted us to ring—in fact to everyone who helped to make this week so enjoyable.

QUARTER PEALS AND SKITTLES IN SOMERSET

November 8th proved an excellent day for ringers from the Bridgwater and Nailsea area to attempt quarter peals.

A start was made at St. Andrew's, Clevedon, where D. E. Cobb conducted a successful quarter peal of Bob Major, the striking being of a high standard. At 11 a.m. Portishead was searched for coffee, but only one café was found, which was full. The party then divided and went to Easton-in-Gordano and Portbury. Cambridge was unsuccessful at Easton but at Portbury a good quarter of mixed Doubles, conducted by M. Horseman, was brought round in excellent time.

By this time thirsts were worked up and we retired to a sandwich lunch at the Black Horse, Clapton-in-Gordano. After lunch, numbers rose and quarters were attempted at Clapton and Weston-in-Gordano and East Clevedon. Bob Doubles conducted by K. Prime at East Clevedon was the only successful method. Thirty members sat down to an excellent tea at Nailsea Parish Room. At 6 p.m. further quarter peals were attempted at Backwell, Congresbury and Nailsea, but these met with no success.

At about 8 p.m. the pre-arranged skittles match took place in the Ring o' Bells, Nailsea, where the Bobs beat the Singles in a spirited encounter. The top scorers were Herbert Hardwidge and Ruth Gaunt. The evening was brought to a successful conclusion at about 10 p.m. by a spirited rendering of the Ringers' Song.

ARCHDEACONRY OF HALIFAX GUILD

On the recently overhauled bells of Elland, the Guild held a successful meeting on November 8th attended by 36 ringers, most of whom were of the younger geperation. Ringing ranged from rounds to Cambridge Surprise Major. An enjoyable tea was followed by a business meeting at which the Rector (the Rev. H. Eastwood) presided. Four new members were elected, and it is hoped to hold the annual meeting at Halifax Parish Church in January. The vote of thanks was proposed by Mr. C. F. Sutcliffe and acknowledged on behalf of the local ringers by Mr. P. Birkett. A short handbell session followed the lowering of the bells in peal at 9 p.m.

YATTON RINGERS VISIT BIRMINGHAM

On November 8th, Yatton ringers and friends again embarked upon a late outing by rail, this time visiting the Birmingham area. We were met by Messrs. George and Henry Fearn, who guided us to St. Chad's for our first pull. A short break for lunch followed, and we were then accompanied by Henry Fearn to the other towers by coach while George Fearn left us for yet another peal attempt.

Ringing took place at Erdington Abbey and the Parish Church. Next came Sutton Coldfield with bells more comparable with our Somerset's heavy rings, and here almost the whole of our large party managed to get into the larger ringing room at the same time. At Lichfield Cathedral our start was unfortunately greatly delayed. However, tea (which was well worth waiting for) was postponed, so that we could ring these lovely bells, which were the only ones we had the opportunity of rising and lowering in peal.

A race back to Birmingham for a late pull at St. Martin's finished in a big disappointment, as a service still in progress made it impossible for us to ring. 'Many thanks,' however, to those who had arranged the programme and endeavoured to keep things running smoothly. Ringing ranged from rounds to Cambridge Major and Grandsire and Stedman Caters.

A short break for refreshment and it was time to say goodbye to the relatives and friends we had met and start our journey home, once more arriving 'very late.'

His tower bell peals total 357 (conducted 6) and are: Doubles 4; Minor 16; Triples 42; Major 20; Surprise Major 186; (36 different methods); Spliced Surprise Major 3; Caters 11; Royal 3; Surprise Royal 26 (nine different methods); Cinques 14; Surprise Maximus 30; Spliced Surprise Maximus 2.

On handbells he has rung 143 (conducted 47) made up of Minor 5; Triples 8; Major (including Surprise) 96; Caters 7; Royal 22; Cinques 5.

THE RINGING WORLD

OFFICIAL JOURNAL OF THE CENTRAL COUNCIL OF CHURCH BELL RINGERS

'The Ringing World' was founded in the year 1911 by John Sparkes Goldsmith, who remained its proprietor and editor until his death in 1942.

No. 2488 Vol. LIV FRIDAY, DECEMBER 5, 1958 Registered at the G.P.O. for transmission as a newspaper. 6d.

MEMENTO MORI!

THAT may seem a strange heading for an article in a ringing journal. Certainly not a cheerful one. But, we are informed, it is to be applied to the art of bell-ringing; and, if that be so, the doom of 'The Ringing World' must naturally follow!

Just lately two quite contradictory statements have been publicly made before the Chancellor of the Lichfield Diocese. For the one, the Secretary of the Diocesan Advisory Committee, opposing the application for a Faculty for installing electronic bells, said: 'Bell-ringing was an English art it would be a pity to lose.' All credit to him! For the other, the rector of one of the churches applying for such a Faculty is reported to have said: 'Bell-ringing was a dying art and the Advisory Committee would have to face that fact sooner or later.'

The question whether these towers where recorded bells are proposed are suitable or not for a genuine ring of bells need not come into the discussion. The point is that the rector's use of the plea that 'bell-ringing is a dying art' in support of his application for artificial bells is thoroughly unsound, besides being totally untrue, and indeed unfair to the thousands of ringers at home and overseas who are working to maintain the high traditions of the Art and giving of their best to gather and train recruits. Not only that, but the statement gives a wholly misleading impression to the general public and calls for a public refutation.

Are we to visualise the gradual dismantling of the hundreds of rings of bells which have called people to the worship of God through centuries, and their replacement by artificially recorded sounds, on the understanding that ringers have no desire and no ability to perpetuate their kind? The idea is too foolish for words. Who could claim the right to predict such a doom except he be basing his assertions upon ignorance, or prejudice, or violent dislike? It stands to reason that one who never moves among ringers and never reads or hears about their gatherings and performances, and knows nothing of the enthusiasm for the art, or of its fascination, can have no grounds for pronouncing any judgment upon the state of affairs.

False prophets are always about. The Church has suffered from them. So have ringers. But we can deal with them, and this sort of prophecy will not worry us overmuch because of its palpable stupidity. For while ringers may be a comparatively small section of the population they are quite a formidable body, and ninety-nine per cent. of them would raise their eyebrows in surprise at the mere suggestion that their art is on the way to becoming moribund. There are too many evidences to the contrary. If there may be indifferent exhibitions of ringing, so also music, painting, or any other of the arts have their tyros; but that does not warrant the assumption that any one of them is dying out. And many of the performances of bell-ringers today are of such surpassing brilliance that they are prophetic of advancement rather than decay.

The writer can claim to have a fairly wide knowledge of ringers' views and doings up and down the country during over 50 years, and can assure the gentleman who is the cause of these defensive remarks that he is hopelessly wrong. The whole thing might not be worth comment but for the fact that it publicises a fallacy and is likely to prove a disservice to the Church and ringers generally.

A mountain of indications is available to weigh against the gloomy outlook. One has only to turn the pages of the ringing journals for more than half a century to appreciate a measure of the progress being made. In addition to an enormous increase in the number of peals rung, an examination of their records will show a multitude of fresh names year after year and a noteworthy number of very young ringers of both sexes. Further, a revival of ringing has taken place in the Universities, and most of the younger Universities now have their own organisations with encouraging prospects. Again, the expansion of county and area Associations through the demand for the formation of fresh branches speaks for itself. One cannot overlook, either, the many towers which perhaps never come into prominence, but where steady teaching is going on and the aim of keeping a Sunday service band up to strength is ever to the front. And much of this, one ventures to say, will be found true of the call-changers' preserves as well as of scientific change-ringers.

We ringers of today, therefore, have this mighty consolation, that as the older generations of ringers pass away the light still glows, and will glow the more brilliantly in the future—aided without doubt by this Journal—notwithstanding all attempt to belittle the art or dig its grave.

BELFRY GOSSIP

Mr. Derek P. Jones rang his 100th peal this year on November 21st at Whitwick, Leics. His peal total is now 375, of which he has conducted 178.

With the peal of Plain Bob Minor at Bradford on November 18th, Mr. A. Percival Knights has rung peals of Plain Bob from Minor to Maximus.

The delay of publication of peals at Norwich (September 5th), Norwich (September 17th) and Dartford (October 28th) arises from letters being lost in the post. The peals from Norwich were twice lost.

We are asked to state that the name of the ringer of the third in the peal of Grandsire Triples at Lane End, Staffs (see page 752), was Geoffrey Davies and not Jeffrey Davis as submitted.

Mr. Gerald C. Hemming, of 36, Peewit Road, Hampton, Evesham, Worcs, is anxious to obtain a copy of the following issues of 'The Ringing World' for 1953: February 13th, 20th and 27th, and March 6th.

Mr. Trevor Lewis, the captain of Christ Church, Radyr, four miles from Cardiff, has after considerable difficulty recruited a band to ring methods ranging from Grandsire Doubles to London and Cambridge Surprise Minor.

Mr. Stephen Ivin writes from Oxford: 'I really cannot understand how anyone could contemplate attempting seven peals in a day with my old friend Pat Cannon. I have found that one a year is sufficient tax on my endurance!'

Fourteen-year-old Roger Lord rang his first peal on November 15th at Scunthorpe. He took the tenors to a peal of Plain Bob Major 'in hand,' and the band included his father and godfather. Now for your first tower bell peal, Roger!

Knowle, Warks, is not alone in ringing on Guy Fawkes' Day. Both Bilton and Dunchurch ring on this day, and their record dates back to about 1650, writes Mr. W. E. Burnell, captain of Bilton ringers.

The Guildford Guild library has a bound copy of 'Campanology' which is being featured in our columns in Mr. Wilson's articles.

After the peal at Langham, Rutland (publication delayed through lost letter), the conductor, Mr. Horace M. Day, and the rest of the band with two listeners were kindly entertained by Mrs. Hubbard, wife of the tenor ringer.

An in memoriam quarter peal was rung at Thorpe-le-Soken, Essex, on November 19th to Mr. Rupert Clarke, who in 1935 had the old five bells rehung and a new treble added. He was a former churchwarden.

Mr. A. H. Hill, of King's Langley, Herts, has returned to ringing after an absence of 30 years. The local band were very pleased to see him ringing the tenor to a quarter peal on November 23rd.

Last Saturday, the Rochester diocese held a thanksgiving service and pageant in the Royal Festival Hall to commemorate the raising of £500,000 (half the required amount) towards church building. The Lord Bishop requested that all possible bells in the diocese should be rung in the afternoon of this day, and at several towers peals were successful.

Over 100 letters have been received by the Editor this week for card tunes. In view of the very limited number of typewritten sheets which are in circulation, the Editor has decided to publish the tunes. A number appear in this issue on page 798, and others will appear next week. We must warn readers that some are imperfect. Will readers please accept publication instead of an individual reply.

In issue No. 8 is printed a list of names of 'a company of workers' organised by the Central Committee for the Collection of Peals for the Central Council to deal with compositions in certain specified methods. And what famous names, with what a lot of talent, was in that list—all prepared to devote their time to the work of the Central Council—the Rev. C. D. P. Davies for Grandsire Triples; the Rev. H. Earle Bulwer, Stedman Triples; Dr. A. B. Carpenter, other Triples methods; J. A. Trollope, Bob Major; John Carter, Duffield and Forward; H. Dains, Double Norwich; J. R. Pritchard, Stedman Caters and Cinques; Gabriel Lindoff, Superlative Surprise Major; N. J. Pitstow, London Surprise Major; Tom Lockwood, Treble Bob Major; Arthur Knights, Treble Bob Royal and Maximus.

No. 9 has a paragraph one would like to see more often nowadays. Certain famous London towers are mentioned as being anxious to give young ringers a hearty welcome to their practices!

Compositions giving the total extent of the changes on a specified number of bells have been news in 'The Ringing World' lately. This issue of 'Campanology' gives what it calls the 'Maximum of Maximus'—479,001,600 changes of Plain Bob Maximus, by J. A. Trollope. Such a simple (!) composition, too, that it takes up only about three inches of one column of print.

Readers of J. A. T.'s 'History of the College Youths,' and still more, those who have seen his manuscript history from part of which this book was taken, will be familiar with his skill at pen and ink drawings of churches and towers. In issue No. 10 are some early examples. He writes an article on Guildford — that's near home, Mr. Editor—and illustrates it by sketches of four of its churches.

The 259th anniversary dinner of the College Youths was evidently a great success, to judge by the account of it in this number. The dinner 'was served up in excellent style, not a discordant note was heard, course-end after course-end coming up in record times.'

No. 12 records two peals of Maximus thought worthy of praise in the editorial: 5,016 Double Norwich Court Bob Maximus at St. Mary-le-Tower, Ipswich, on November 28th, 1896, in 3 hours 47 minutes, composed and conducted by James Motts (first peal in the method); and on the same date, 5,088 Kent Treble Bob Maximus at St. Paul's Cathedral in 4 hours 26 minutes, conducted by Jas. Pettit, in which Mr. W. T. Cockerill rang the tenor (63 cwt.) single-handed.

PHOTOGRAPHS OF RINGERS

At the end of three months' existence as 'the first weekly illustrated Journal entirely devoted to the Art of Ringing to be published for One Penny,' the Editor wrote that, in addition to the illustrations of churches, 'we hope to give photos of ringers who have rendered good service to the Exercise, nor shall we ask or expect any remuneration or premium from these gentlemen for so doing.' (The italics are mine.—W. G. W.)

It is difficult to imagine our Editor today considering such an assurance necessary when he published a photograph.

This issue also recorded the formation in July, 1896, of the Victorian Association of Change Ringers at Melbourne, Australia. And now, some 60 years after, we have a representative of an Australian Association elected to the Central Council.

No. 15 records five peals rung in Sussex towers as the result of seven evenings' ringing by members of the St. Peter's, Brighton, Society —all conducted by George Williams and featuring such (later) well-known names as George Baker, Frank Bennett and Keith Hart. Two peals of London and one each of Cambridge, Superlative and Double Norwich Major would still be a creditable performance 60 years later.

'Brother String'—who may well have been the Editor, I don't know—started a series of articles by which he hoped to persuade those ringers who had never progressed beyond Treble Bob to attempt methods like Double Norwich and the Surprise methods. Equally true today, and something I find myself saying over and over again to beginners, is the statement: 'Home study is the great road to success; one hour by the fire is better than three in the belfry.' He also made the point that there was nothing more difficult in conducting touches and peals in these methods than in ordinary everyday methods.

No. 16 has 'Brother String's' article on Double Norwich, and to encourage his readers he starts by pointing out that 'this title does not mean double difficult, it simply means that a similar work is done from behind as from the front.'

THE BRIDGWATER PEAL

A mystifying letter in this issue needs a 'recap' of earlier news. No. 14 published a performance of Holt's Ten-part peal of Grandsire Triples at Bridgwater, Somerset, the first peal on the bells. An account of the peal referred to 3 hours and 20 minutes of splendid ringing, hearty congratulations from the local ringers, everyone highly gratified, etc. The following week a letter was printed from a Mr. J. Joyce, who wrote that the midway single turned up in 1 hour 47 minutes (i.e., 3 hours 34 minutes for a peal) and the bells ran round in 3 hours 20 minutes at a plain lead, Holt's end single was neither called nor made and the back change turned up twice during the peal, 'therefore I fail to see that it can be a true peal.'

In No. 16, T. Doble, who rang the fifth, wrote that the midway single came up in 1 hour 42 minutes; he denied in toto that the back change came up twice, 'and the bells running round at a plain lead is a fabrication as I was ringing the fifth which was in the hunt.'

He goes on to say that during the latter part of the peal there was a considerable amount of rattling at the belfry door . . . 'I cannot say who did it, but J. Joyce was found at the door alone.' This doesn't exactly agree with the congratulations and gratification mentioned earlier. And Mr. Doble ends most emphatically, in italics: 'I myself shall always consider I have the honour to be one of the band who rang the first true peal of Grandsire Triples on the bells of the Parish Church of St. Mary, Bridgwater.'

But the queerest part of all this is the letter which also appeared from the conductor and which I must quote in full:—

> 'Having read in "Campanology" about the peal of Triples at Bridgwater, I beg to contradict J. Joyce's statement about the halfway bob single turning up in one hour and 42 minutes' [a misprint for 47 I expect] 'and the home bob single in 3 hours and 20 minutes. Referring to the single which I didn't call, as I told him in the tower at Bridgwater at the end of the peal; but I called Holt's Bob, which was nearly two blows late, therefore I left the single out and called "That's all," and brought the bells round in two leads after the last bob was called, and not one lead as he stated, therefore we hold the peal to be true.—Yours truly,
> J. MADDOCK
> (conductor of the peal).'

An interpretation of all this, still leaving one in no doubt about the truth of the peal, would be most interesting. I should add that this was Mr. Maddock's first peal as conductor. He rang the treble, so perhaps he couldn't see whether the bells came round or not!

'TOM TOLLADAY'S 12,000'

An account in this number of the entertainment to supper, by the Rector, of about 20 members of the St. Margaret's Society, Westminster, says that W. Truss contributed the ringers' favourite song, 'Tom Tolladay's 12,000.' It would be most interesting if any of your present readers could tell us what the song was.

No. 17 records the first peal of Stedman Caters by John S. Goldsmith at St. Nicholas', Brighton, on January 2nd, 1897. Fourteen years later he was to start our present journal. About the Bridgwater peal, the Editor very tactfully put a note under 'Answers to Correspondents' that he did not think that any further good could result from the publication of more letters about the peal and that it was for the Association concerned to decide whether the peal was true.

In No. 19 is a biography of Mr. J. J. W. Carr, managing partner of the bell foundry started by his father in 1863 at Smethwick. In the 1890's Mr. Carr produced a ring of six maiden bells, of which the firm was very proud. According to the article, this ring was (in 1897) still the property of the firm. Its owners were unwilling to let it pass out of their possession and the bells went 'on tour in various parts of the country where they are used to heighten the attractions of different theatrical performances.' We are not told their weight, only that they were awarded two gold medals and a diploma of honour and were pronounced by the experts to be perfect in tone and finish. What we would really like to know is what happened to them—whether some lucky ringers have them in their tower to use today.

The editorial in No. 20 returns to one of Mr. Bedwell's hobby horses—the neglected state of many belfries, especially in the Metropolis. He puts a deal of the blame on the fact that the clergy in many cases do not support the ringers, and he quotes remarks by the Master of the College Youths. 'If the clergy were found more at the west end of the church, bell-ringers would be found more frequently at the east end of the church.'

'Brother String,' having dealt with Superlative Surprise Major some weeks back, deals in No. 21 with Cambridge Surprise in what he calls the 'Burton Variation,' because this allows more freedom in composition, thus allowing more musical peals to be composed. The method is what today we know as New Cambridge, but I guess not a few readers were mystified by a misprint which made the second, when doing the front work with the treble at the end of the course— dodge 1-2, lead, 3 blows in seconds, 3 blows lead, dodge 1-2 with treble and make seconds!

Whether a portent of the paper's coming demise or not, in this issue was started a 'Sale or Exchange' column—three lines, one insertion, 6d.; three insertions, one shilling. Only one entry appeared—a gent's cycle; so the gross takings on this venture were 4d. a week for three weeks!

SYDMONTON'S FIRST PEAL

Sunday, November 16th, will be a day to remember for the villagers of Sydmonton, Hants, as after nearly 70 years of chiming only they were able to hear their six bells rung for 2 hours and 48 minutes of good ringing in the first peal ever recorded on the bells.

An article has already appeared in 'The Ringing World' on the history of these bells. The first peal attempt was arranged for October 5th but had to be postponed because of a breakdown of one of the cars.

However, no snags arose for the second attempt. The band met at 3.30 and a start was made shortly afterwards for Bob Minor. Two oil lamps were lighted as electric lighting has not yet been completed in the church.

Ralph, the conductor, had to shout at the top of his voice, the bells being immediately overhead. Fortunately there were no trips, and a great sigh of relief was expressed when the bells came into rounds.

We were all impressed by the way that Mary rang a difficult treble; she put up a fine performance, proving that there are good lady ringers.

We would also like to associate Pat Cannon and Trevor Cross with this peal, both of whom were included in the party for the previous attempt but not able to present.

It is hoped now to go ahead with the forming of a local band so that the bells may be rung regularly for every service. G. D.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD

Farnham District

'The most successful meeting of the year' was the title earned by the annual nomination meeting of the Farnham District, held at St. Mary's, Worplesdon, on November 29th.

Very many ringers attended and most of the towers in the District were represented. Several methods, ranging from rounds to Cambridge, were rung during the afternoon and evening.

The Ringers' Service was conducted by the Rev. L. C. Smale, chaplain to Brookwood Hospital. He gave a very interesting sermon, quoting extracts from a very old book on bell-ringing.

Tea was served at Worplesdon Place, and was followed by a speedy but thorough business meeting, with Mr. C. W. Denyer (Master of the Guild) in the chair.

An apology for absence was received from the District secretary, Mr. C. J. Beadle, who is in hospital having a slight operation. His wife was asked to convey the best wishes of the meeting for his speedy recovery. Mr. S. Joyce gave the vote of thanks to the chaplain, organist and organisers of the tea.

The names of Major E. J. Bragg and Mr. W. Viggers were nominated for the posts of Ringing Master and assistant, to be voted on at the annual general meeting to be held at Aldershot on January 31st. All other committee members were re-elected. Nine new ringing members were elected. M. A. C.

CRANFORD, MIDDLX.—On Nov. 23rd, 1,260 Plain Bob Minor: Susan Goodfellow 1, Barbara Marchant 2, T. S. Baker 3, June Richardson 4, D. Fowles 5, P. J. Woodgyer (cond.) 6. First in method for 1, 2, 3 and 4. For Evensong.

A Fashion Critic Conductor

Inspired by a Belfry Gossip paragraph on the dress of Crondall lady handbell ringers, Mr. W. W. Ring, who conducted 1,260 Grandsire Triples at Tenterden, Kent, on November 16th, writes:—

'Miss Millen was rather gay in a cream blouse and plaid skirt, while Miss Meynell turned out in a blue jumper, slacks and brown boots (brown boots—I ask you!).

'The eminent Miss Relf had a Paisley blouse, a skirt by Daks, and beetle-crushers. Miss Marshall wore a white blouse and grey skirt in the best W.I. tradition, but this was offset by beetle-crushers, too!'

The ringers were Winifred Millen (first of Triples) 1, Mary Meynell 2, Violet Relf 3, Elizabeth Marshall 4, W. P. Tickner 5, W. H. Prior 6, W. W. Ring (conductor) 7, P. Relf 8.

THE SUFFOLK GUILD

A meeting of the Saxmundham District held at Leiston on November 15th was well attended, with Mr. L. G. Brett, the Guild Ringing Master, being present. Ringing ranged from Plain Bob Major to Yorkshire Surprise.

At the business meeting Mr. James Bailey, District Ringing Master, gave a warm welcome to all present. The proposed new Districts for the Suffolk Guild gave vent to much discussion. On a motion by Mr. Alan Pipe, seconded by Mr. Peter Bedford, it was agreed that these should be accepted, with the recommendation that Wickham Market and Marlesford should be in the same District. New members elected were Monty Basket, John Ludbrook, Denny Watling and Trevor Hughes (ringing members) and S. Pritchard-Barrett (honorary member), all of Kelsale. A collection in aid of the Suffolk Guild Restoration Fund amounted to 10s. 7d. The date of the next meeting was held over in view of the new Districts. A. R. B.

WAREHAM BELLS

In June the bells of Wareham, Dorset, were removed to Loughborough, the seventh to be recast and the others retuned. When the bells were out of the tower it was then possible to examine thoroughly the beams supporting the frame, and several bad pieces of timber were found. As a result it was decided to remove the old beams and install new girders and a new metal frame.

The Barron Bell Fund had already given £300 towards the cost of restoration, and they have now most generously doubled this. But there is still £600 to be found. The parish is working hard to raise this money, but any donations would be most gratefully received by Mr. Ashton-Taylor, Worgret Road, Wareham—the treasurer of the Bell Fund.

It is hoped to sell pieces of oak from the beams and frame, as some of it is in excellent condition and is hundreds of years old.

BELL-RINGING IS NOT A DYING ART

The statement made by the Rector of Ashley at the Lichfield Consistory Court that 'bell-ringing was a dying art and the Advisory Committee would have to face the fact sooner or later' (see 'R.W.', page 759) has been emphatically denied by Mr. E. H. Edge, hon. secretary, The North Staffordshire Association of Change Ringers. To the 'Sentinel' he writes:—

'During the past three months this Association has been conducting, as part of a country-wide census being carried out by the Central Council of Church Bell Ringers, a comprehensive factual survey of Sunday service bands and ringing at all the churches in North Staffordshire (north of a line Marchington–Eccleshall) with rings of five or more bells. With four returns to come in the position is as follows:—

'Ten- and eight-bell towers—Seven completely manned for all service ringing; seven satisfactorily manned, i.e., at least six bells rung regularly for all services; two less well rung; none not rung.

'Five- and six-bell towers—Thirteen completely manned, four partially manned, three not rung, four unringable.

'In all, more ringers than ringable bells (although the ringing strength of some towers is greater than others).

'With nearly 80 per cent. of the bells satisfactorily rung for services Sunday by Sunday, this can hardly be called "a dying art." At any one point in time the situation has probably never been better.

'There is no doubt that many churches are in need of recruits and others of experienced ringers, particularly for instruction, but these internal difficulties emanate mainly from the last war when for several years the church bells were not permitted to ring, bands were dispersed and no training of new ringers could take place. In many towers there is an age gap of 20 years between the older ringers, taught before the war, and the eldest of the young ringers who have joined the towers since the war.

'Our church bells ring and will continue to be rung for very many years to come.'

CHURCH-GOING IN NORTH STAFFS

Dear Sir,—A great saving of expense and labour would accrue and much acrimony would be removed if the parishioners of Ashley and Bagnall attended at the village 'locals' on a Sunday evening and listened in to the B.B.C. broadcast of church services. The question of the propriety of recorded bells would not then arise.—Yours sincerely,

Leamington Spa. HENRY ALLEN.

'WHITTINGTONS'

Dear Sir,—Mr. Walker's letter on page 761 reminds me that the first peal on the 12 bells at Canterbury in December, 1924 or 5 (I am temporarily unable to check the exact date), was Stedman Cinques in the Whittingtons by the late F. Hayes, of High Wycombe.

Mr. Hayes as a composer was unlikely to have many compositions of Stedman Cinques, so it is more than probable he had called this peal himself in his own tower some years before.—Yours sincerely, E. BARNETT.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

GREAT YARMOUTH AND ITS CLOCK CHIMES

Dear Sir,—As many readers will know, the magnificent Parish Church of Great Yarmouth, now rapidly rising from wartime ruin, will soon possess a fine ring of 13 bells (tenor 30 cwt. in D) with a flat sixth.

It is necessary in the very near future to choose the quarter chimes for the clock. These can be on 4, 5, 6 or 8 bells. I am seeking advice from many quarter on the matter, and should be glad to have the views of any readers interested. We already have the Cambridge Chimes (often wrongly called the Westminster Chimes!) on our Town Hall which, apart from their over-familiarity through the wireless, seems to exclude them from our choice.

I hope to be 'at home' to anyone interested at Yarmouth Vicarage on the evening of Wednesday, December 17th, there to make a choice or at least to get a short list of possible chimes. I should be grateful for any helpful letters by then. A grand cruciform mediæval church at the end of an ancient market place seems to call for a grand and solemn chime rather than a merry one; apart from this I have no ideas at the moment. But it would be very pleasant to have a chime which would come to have an association with Yarmouth in the minds of our multitudes of holidaymakers, and which they would hear again with pleasure as they get out of their long-distance motor coaches on Church Plain nearby.—Yours sincerely,

GILBERT THURLOW.

Great Yarmouth Vicarage,
Norfolk.

PEAL RINGERS ARE NOT ONLY TO BLAME

Dear Sir,—I also agree entirely with Mr. W. Ring ('R.W.', November 7th). Why criticise and blame the enthusiastic peal ringer, or any other enthusiastic ringer, for the faults and failures of others?

For a change, let us see put up for criticism the 'dog in the manger' type, the 'stick in the mud' type with little or no interest, and the unreliable Sunday service ringer who only turns up when he feels like it.

Yes, I ring peals on Saturdays and attend Guild meetings; I am leader of a tower whose band try to keep the bells ringing on Sundays (not always successfully).

In addition to our own practice I attend others in the District; in each case we try to ring simple methods when enough Sunday service ringers turn up with enough interest to have a go.

Quite often I travel a distance of 14 miles each way by bus to attend a really good, progressive practice, where Surprise Major methods are regularly rung for Sunday service, and all this band are regular peal ringers.

I quite agree that Sunday service ringing should be the 'backbone'; if this was so there would be no need for the Central Council's concern over the poor state of Sunday service ringing.

There are plenty of 'Sunday service' ringers who have not enough interest to attend a Guild meeting, even in their own District.—Yours, etc.,

R. W. REX.

Thatcham, Berks.

OTHER FACTORS ABOUT SERVICE RINGING

Dear Sir,—I am interested in your current series of letters on the question of Sunday service ringing, and quite agree that the vast majority of peal ringers are regularly to be found in the tower on Sundays. I do feel, however, that all your correspondents have fallen into the common error of considering the ringer purely in that capacity, and not also as the member of a congregation and a family.

Shift work makes both peal and regular Sunday ringing difficult. The presence of young children or an invalid in the family may mean that while an occasional peal is possible it is not easy to be committed to a regular attendance on Sundays, particularly if the ringer wishes to attend a service, as to ring would double the length of time away from home.

I can also think of a variety of circumstances in which, perhaps temporarily, attendance at church may conflict with the obligation in the tower. It is obviously desirable that a ringer should live in the parish of the church where he rings, and worship there also, but this is not always possible. If a youngster is introduced to ringing, often by a school friend, he might be able to ring regularly on Sundays only by discontinuing attendance with his family at his local parish church.

Again, the ringer who learns while away from home—perhaps at college or in the Forces—and has even become a peal ringer, may be faced with this same problem on his return. More common is the difficulty of an established ringer who marries and sets up his home at some distance from the church with bells. This is particularly true of the ringer at a cathedral or an old church now in the heart of a commercial or industrial area. If he is regular in his attendance his young family may well have to attend their own church without him.

There are ringers who are organists, and those who find the liturgical observance of the church which happens to have bells is not that to which they have always been accustomed. I can think also of a peal ringer who has always attended with his family a church where the bells have now been unsafe for some years.

Ringers affected by any of these conditions should obviously give an explanation to their own tower captain and the incumbent, if he is interested, but they are certainly not called upon to justify themselves to a casual critic. We should be chary of general criticism and judge only on an accurate knowledge of individual circumstances.—Yours truly, LUCILE M. CORBY.

Sevenoaks, Kent.

NORTH STONEHAM TENOR

Dear Sir,—Two weeks in succession now (November 14th and 21st) the weight of the tenor at North Stoneham has been given in your peal columns as 9 cwt. 26 lb.

Mr. Matkin especially should not have forgotten that the back seven were recast by Taylors in 1956 and rehung almost exactly two years ago.

The tenor, for the benefit of future conductors of peals on the bells, now weighs 10 cwt. 1 qr. 16 lb.—Yours faithfully,

DAVID J. FORDER.

Swaythling.

BETHERSDEN AND SUNDAY RINGING

Dear Sir,—I regret I am quite unable to act upon the suggestion of J. Burgess, of Friezland, and check up on the 177 ringers he mentions to see who rang Major or over for morning service, but I'm certain that very few of them did because many of them I suspect hail from 6-bell towers, and you can't ring Major on six bells however hard you try!

We are not so concerned with what they ring but with whether they ring for service, and I'm quite sure that most of the 177 ringers mentioned rang for service somewhere—probably always have done and always will do; I therefore stick to my former statement that peal ringers are also service ringers (with a few exceptions, of course).

Mr. Pellet has me staggering with a right-cross from out of the blue—I wasn't expecting such a crushing blow from the Woodchurch quarter!

While it is true that Bethersden bells have been silent for some months, it's not because there are no ringers (moral: ignore village gossipers—Reg Pellet, please note): quite a different reason, I assure you; but I cannot go into it here I'm afraid.

We have four peal ringers in the band, but one is out of the district at the moment and another can only ring for service on odd occasions owing to awkward working hours, so that leaves us with two peal ringers (who always turn up); the rest of the band is made up of non-peal ringers, some of whom think nothing of letting the remainder down by coming very late or not at all.

However, our troubles have been ironed out now and we ring at least once every Sunday, call-changes and method ringing, depending upon who turns up; moreover, our ringers can handle their bells, which is more than can be said for some of our neighbours!

If Reg cares to come over to Bethersden at any time we shall be pleased to see him.—Yours, etc.,

WILFRED W. RING.

Bethersden, Kent.

KENT'S UNRINGABLE BELLS

Dear Sir,—A few additional comments on Mr. Davies' letter may be helpful. Of the 8-bell towers, at Sandwich the tenor is still rung for the 8 p.m. curfew, while at St. Margaret's, Rochester, a boiler stands in the ringing chamber, thus preventing the bells being rung.

The trouble at Sandhurst is that the tenor hits the frame; one other six—Chislet—has been unringable for many years, but a restoration is now in hand.

One 5-bell tower was omitted—High Halstow. Here is an excellent example of a disinterested vicar who has had the ropes removed and a new ringing room ceiling installed, without rope-holes. The bells at Newchurch have been rung within recent years: on the occasion of my visit we were told we rang at our own risk, the local band being insured.—Yours sincerely,

IAN H. ORAM.

Lee, S.E.

EQUATE THE OPPOSITE VIEWS

Dear Sir,—Whenever one goes to a meeting, a topic that sooner or later arises is 'peals.' It would appear that in campanological circles it is considered a mark of esteem to have so many hundred peals to your credit. Thus one type of ringer emerges—the type who always has his eye on his peal total. (Can this be called 'peal mania'?) At the other end of the scale we have the person who hasn't a good word to say for peal ringers. (Anti-peal mania, perhaps?) In between, of course, we have the whole host of ringers who are tolerant of both types and subscribe to neither of these extreme views. Where does this get us? Presumably nowhere, for two persons with fundamentally opposed views can never be made to agree. (Try having an argument with someone.)

However, I think it is generally agreed that peal ringing improves striking, and if we look upon peal ringing as a means to an end—better striking and thus better service ringing—and not as an end in itself—merely the adding to one's personal peal score—we shall have equated in some small measure the two opposed views.

Again, is the quality of Sunday service ringing necessarily measured in terms of quarter peals? Surely the quality of service ringing is essentially a local matter where the object is to extend the local bands to their limits, whether it be multi-method Spliced Surprise Major or well-struck rounds, all doing their best at what they are capable. Obviously this limit will vary between bands, and thus, whilst admitting that competition is a great stimulant, it would be wrong to gloat over any apparent superiority at achievement when a particular band has the ringers, facilities and methods at their fingertips. —Yours faithfully,

DAVID STAPLES.

METHODS AND VARIATIONS

Dear Sir,—I have clearly been misunderstood by Mr. Wratten. I did not state and never have stated that a call makes a plain course into another method. My argument is that if a conductor wants to report a peal as 21 methods, be it 21 methods or 12 methods and 9 variations, no one has the right to re-report this peal as has occurred in the 'R.W.' recently.

On the pages which Mr. Wratten points out there also on page 557 appears three peals by frinds of mine, and on page 493 another by them. They are reported in methods and not methods and variations, and no one can alter these reports be they members of the C.C. Analysis Committee or a ringer in the smallest tower in the smallest village on this island. The C.C. can split peals into methods and variations if they wish to for their records. They cannot, however, make anyone report a peal in this way and I don't think they are trying to.

Some people, both in and out of the C.C., misunderstand its rules and decisions. The C.C. only offers advice on ringing matters such as composition, methods, etc. I was very pleased to see in the 'R.W.' that the C.C. did not try to make anyone complete the Sunday service survey form but asked Guilds to bring it up at the next meeting and see if its members would undertake such a survey. Therefore let other people stop telling conductors how to report peals lest they offend any good conductors or ringers and the offended leave the Exercise, which I am sure no reasonable ringer wishes to cause.

I once read in the 'R.W.' where someone said the standard of Doubles ringing had fallen off considerably. I know not if this person was comparing Doubles ringing with 8-bell ringing, but recently I had the pleasure of ringing at Burnham.

This town is really aware of the good or bad qualities of bell-ringing, due to the efforts of Mr. George Gilbert. However, this fine old gentleman told me that he had started training his present band after having lost an excellent 8-bell band who could ring Major as well as any band, which must have sounded wonderful on this lovely eight. He, of course, taught his new band Doubles methods, and on Sunday they rang Doubles with 1 and 2 leading and the tenor drumming. Yet the public stopped George in the street and told him that the ringing of late sounded much better than previously.—Yours faithfully, TERRY M. HAINES.

HESTON'S RECORD

Dear Sir,—In 'The Ringing World' of Nov. 7th, your correspondent, Mr. Hillis, said I did not mention in my letter whether such a high standard of performance is a regular feature of our Sunday service ringing. Naturally we do not ring two quarter peals each Sunday with two different bands.

In January this year we decided to attempt at least one quarter peal each month for Sunday service, and up to the present time we have rung 14 quarters, including Grandsire and Stedman Triples and Bob Major. We have 18 regular Sunday service ringers and each one has rung in quarter peals this year. We also have four recruits who can ring rounds.

Wishing Mr. Hillis and his band the best of luck.—Yours sincerely, W. W. WEBB.

Heston, Middlesex.

NEW CHURCHES AND BELLS

Dear Sir,—In your report of the 321st anniversary dinner of the Ancient Society of College Youths, the Archdeacon of London is quoted as saying that ringing was 'an absolutely essential service to the Church.'

This is rather a sweeping statement to make, as obviously it can apply only where a church possesses a ring of bells. There are also many churches possessing ringable bells whose parishioners do not appear to regard their use for Sunday services as either necessary or desirable.

In a somewhat different category are most of the new churches which have been built in this country during recent years. Few of them have been designed with substantial towers capable of accommodating a ring of bells.

These new churches being built today present special problems, as even the provision of a single bell is something of an expensive luxury, when money is scarce and building costs are high. In such cases, where perhaps the organ is represented by an electronic device, it is not unlikely that bell sounds will be produced electronically as well.

Thus it would seem that of all the churches in the land, the proportion requiring a band of ringers is steadily becoming less.

As a matter of interest, I wonder if any of your more knowledgeable readers could say how many of the completely new churches built since the last war have been furnished with a ring of bells.—Yours faithfully,

M. L. MANN.

Lincoln.

SOUTHWELL DIOCESAN GUILD

Despite the very foggy conditions, approximately 35 ringers attended the quarterly meeting of the Southwell Diocesan Guild held at St. Giles' Church, Balderton, on November 15th. Thanks to a large party from Greasley, the bells were soon going to a variety of methods before a service, conducted by the Vicar (Rev. Mr. Johnson).

A fine tea was arranged and served by Mrs. C. W. Reed and her helpers. At the business meeting, with the Vicar in the chair, the secretary's action regarding the old records of the Midland Counties Guild was confirmed. After the meeting a general return to the tower for more ringing followed.

NEWARK'S GOPHER DINNER

THE day dawned with its traditional fog, but this cleared sufficiently by the evening to enable all intending visitors to arrive in time for the sixth annual Gopher Dinner, held at the Northern Hotel, Newark, on Friday, November 14th.

After the partaking of a most enjoyable meal, the loyal toast was proposed by the president, Canon J. H. D. Grinter.

The toast of 'The Society' was proposed by the longest serving member of the Society, Mr. E. F. Taylor, who coupled it with the name of the Master (Mr. J. W. Raithby). Mr. Taylor recalled that he personally originally introduced the Master to ringing many years ago.

The Master in reply thanked Mr. Taylor for his kind words and wishes for the Society. During the last year the Society, he said, had probably reached its lowest ebb, during the summer months. At the last dinner he had seen a revival but this had petered out early in the year. Later in the year, due to a publicity campaign organised by the Vicar and himself, both in the Church Magazine and the local press, ten new learners had been obtained and a certain amount of progress had been made. All were doing well. He thanked the local papers for the generous way in which they had co-operated in this project.

Mr. Raithby also proposed the toast of 'The President,' and said it was always a great pleasure to welcome the Vicar on the annual outing and to the Gopher Dinner.

The Vicar, thanking the Society for their good wishes, said that he had enjoyed the outing to Chester, which was new ground to him. He apologised for not seeing the ringers as often as he would have liked, but he had not been enjoying the best of health, and despite the well wishes of one busy lady in the parish and the secretary's extolling during the dinner of a muffled peal, he was not yet at death's door.

The toast of 'The Visitors' was proposed by the secretary, Mr. F. W. Midwinter, and acknowledged by Mr. S. Adams.

The company included the president (Canon J. H. D. Grinter), the Master and Mrs. Raithby, Mr. F. W. Midwinter and Mr. E. F. Taylor.

Mr. and Mrs. S. Adams, Mr. and Mrs. J. Butler, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Reed, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Exton, Mr. and Mrs. W. Butler, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Bartlam, Mr. and Mrs. A. Simpson, Mr. and Mrs. H. Stevenson, Mr. and Mrs. W. Wilson.

ANDOVER DISTRICT OUTING

Augmented by friends from the Newbury area, the Andover District had an enjoyable outing into Wiltshire on November 15th.

At the first tower, Collingbourne-Ducis (6), six ropes were encountered. The heavy six at Netheravon provided the highlight of the day—a course of London Surprise Minor. Amesbury (6) bells were rung before tea at Milliard's Café. Durnford's five bells have a slow-going tenor, and the day's ringing finished at Woodford (6), where the fourth bell is tucked away out of sight behind the organ.

We were pleased to meet en route ringers from Salisbury and Southampton, and to renew acquaintance with the Rev. Kenneth Davis. Thanks are accorded to the Misses White for their arrangements. G. K. D.

OBITUARY

MR. C. PORTSMOUTH

The parish of Harlington, Middlesex, and the Middlesex Association in particular have sustained a great loss by the death of Mr. Charles Portsmouth, who had rung at Harlington for 50 years. His first connection with the Parish Church was as a choirboy, and at 17 he was in the tower as a ringer. He also became the first Scout Master in Harlington. From 1919 to 1929 he was captain of the ringers and later became churchwarden. On a Sunday Charlie was always to be found either in the tower or in his seat in church. He leaves a widow.

The funeral was held on November 26th, the Rector (Rev. A. T. Morgan) officiating. The Middlesex County Association was represented by Mr. W. H. Coles (vice-president), with Mr. L. Grice, captain at Harlington, and Mr. A. Sapsford.

Mr. Coles sends this appreciation:

'Charlie was of a kindly, generous and gently humorous nature, and he had through the years endeared himself to all who were fortunate enough to know him well. Those of us who are left to mourn his loss will be comforted by the faith that by now he will have received his just reward by the greeting "Well done, thou good and faithful servant".' L. G.

MR. HARRY RIDGWAY

Mr. Harry Ridgway, who died at his home at Deenshanger, near Wicken, Northants, on November 17th, aged 76, had been a ringer for well over 50 years—first at Passenham and since 1920 at Wicken. He was a wheelwright.

He passed to higher life the way he always said he would like to. He rang for evening service at Wicken on November 16th, and on Monday mid-day, after having his usual pint at the local, sat beside his fire and slept all earthly cares away.

His peals consisted mostly of Grandsire and Stedman Triples, and he was the regular treble ringer in the late A. J. Green's Surprise Major band. To all who knew Harry he was a beloved, jovial character, who was renowned for his fine taste of a good pint and a game of dominoes.

After the funeral his fellow ringers rang a half-muffled quarter peal at Wicken in his favourite method—Stedman Triples. W. A. Y.

MR. B. H. SWINSON

We regret to record the death on November 17th of Mr. B. H. Swinson, of Tower Hamlet, St. Saviour, Jersey, C.I.

MR. GEOFFREY CARTER

We regret to announce the death of Mr. Geoffrey Carter, the well-known member of the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths, and also of London University Society. Cremation took place this week at Golders Green Crematorium.

GUILD of DEVONSHIRE RINGERS

The president (Preb. E. V. Cox) and about 30 members attended the annual meeting of the North West Branch at Black Torrington on November 8th. The Rector conducted the service.

Owing to the illness of the chairman (Mr. F. Smale), the Rev. J. G. M. Scott presided at the business meeting. Mr. R. Pearce was elected secretary and treasurer in succession to Mr. J. Sangwin who had resigned, and Mr. C. Sangwin Ringing Master. Twenty new members from Shebbear College were welcomed. Thanks were expressed to the Rector and the ladies who provided the tea. Ringing included Grandsire, Stedman, Plain Bob and Kent T.B.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Ashford District

The dominating tower of Aldington, visible for many miles over Kentish countryside, with its fine ring of six bells was the scene of the meeting of the Ashford District on November 15th, for the first time for 21 years.

The meeting started slowly, as the church is very isolated, but the Rector (the Rev. P. E. Goldsmid) and Mr. D. Hooker (captain of the Aldington band) were on hand to welcome visitors to their well-kept ringing chamber. At the service the Vicar gave a thoughtful address based on Psalm 81, verse 3. Mr. Peter Small read the lesson, and Mr. C. T. Hillis was the organist.

It was a cheery party that walked the cold, dark mile or so to the warm Village Hall, where an excellent spread was enjoyed by the 23 visitors.

The Rector agreed to act as chairman at the short business meeting. The secretary reminded the gathering that the District last met at Aldington in May, 1937, when over 100 ringers met to celebrate the late Mr. Charles Slingsby's 100th birthday, and that on that occasion over 200 visitors packed the church and afterwards had tea on the Rectory lawn. He then presented the Rector with a photograph of that meeting, showing Mr. Slingsby and other stalwart veterans, of whom only Mr. F. Mitchell (then secretary of the Association) and Mr. E. S. Ruck are still alive. Mr. Hooker promised to mount the photograph and install it in the ringing chamber. Two new members joined the Association.

Mr. T. Cullingworth voiced the thanks of the visitors to the Rector and Mr. Hooker for such an enjoyable meeting. C. T. H.

MR. AND MRS. BIRMINGHAM

TODAY, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Walker celebrate their diamond wedding, and the congratulations and good wishes of the whole Exercise will be extended to the happy couple on this unique occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. Walker were married at St. Andrew's Church, Taunton (Mrs. Walker's home town), on December 12th, 1898. He was 22 years old, having migrated to Taunton when his father's employment took him from Birmingham. Whilst in this town he became interested in ringing, and learned to ring, together with the late James Hunt, in 1895, at St. Mary Magdalene Church, where the conductor was Thos. W. Radford. It was mainly at the suggestion of his fiancée, as she was then, that he took up the Art; and he rang his first peal on February 1st, 1896. This was Grandsire Triples. He was elected a member of St. Martin's Guild in 1897. On his return to Birmingham about 1900, a rather sorry state of affairs confronted him. There was a band capable of ringing Stedman Cinques but they had no conductor, and had to be content with ringing plain courses.

This did not suit Albert, so he commenced studying conducting, and in 1904 he called his first peal of Stedman Cinques; and from that day Birmingham never looked back. Between 1904 and the present time he has taken part in no less than 553 12-bell peals, conducting 239. Seven were non-conducted, the most outstanding being Stedman Cinques on handbells, when the six ringers drew for a pair of bells out of a hat held by the umpire, James George.

Albert called the first peals on 12 at St. Mary's, Taunton, in 1923, Exeter Cathedral in 1924 and Buckfast Abbey in 1930. He called the first peal of Cambridge Maximus in Birmingham, being the first on the bells, by the Guild, and by all the band. He has taken part in peals on no less than 45 12-bell towers, including St. Paul's Cathedral, London. Another noteworthy performance was the first peal of Stedman Sextuples on handbells, which he conducted. He organised a 12-bell week, when six peals in different towers were planned. Five were successfully accomplished, but a broken rope at Wolverhampton brought one failure. His total peals number 850, of which he has conducted 346.

Albert Walker's life has been one of loyal service to St. Martin's Guild and the Exercise generally. He served as Ringing Master from 1906–1910, and 1921–1935. In 1944 he was elected Master and, because of his insistence that the office should go round, served for three years. However, in 1949 the Guild again elected him as Master, when he served two years, resigning to give place to Ald. A. P. Smith, who was in 1950 Lord Mayor of Birmingham. The Guild once again elected him as Master in 1953, and he served for another three years. He has been tower warden and Sunday service Ringing Master at St. Martin's for more years than he can remember, and is held in highest esteem by Canon Bryan Green, the present rector and successor to about a dozen rectors under whom Albert has served.

Naturally, a man of such outstanding ability would find his way to the Central Council, and in 1932 he was elected an honorary member, and has served on the Standing, Literature and Broadcasting, Carter Ringing Machine and other committees with distinction.

For all these efforts Albert has been encouraged, helped and sustained by Mary, his wife, or spouse, as he calls her sometimes. She is as well known to ringers as her husband, and those who enjoyed her wonderful hospitality when they lived at 81, Baker Street, will long remember her kindliness.

To many ringers up and down the country, Albert Walker is Birmingham, and Birmingham is Albert Walker. Very many owe to him their grateful thanks for giving them the opportunity to ring their first peal of Stedman Cinques. Also quite a number, including the writer, have him to thank for his willing and patient help when they were trying to master the mysteries of calling Stedman. During the whole of his married life he has never spared himself any trouble in helping those with less ability than his own, and he has so many friends and admirers that it is certain his name will go down in ringing history together with other great men associated with Birmingham, such as Thurstans, Lates, Johnson and Carter.

Contemporary with Carter's later years, Albert Walker was among the first to see the value of Carter's compositions, and was the first to conduct the more complicated efforts which he produced, many of which would never have been rung but for Walker's enthusiasm. It is fairly safe to say that he put Carter on the map. Such is his modesty, however, that he would never lay claim to such distinction, and it is left to the writer to say what ought to have been said long ago. Walker saw the evolution of

Greetings will ring out on Christmas Day, from 9.20 to 9.30 a.m., in the Home Service, from the towers of All Saints', Rotherham; Woodchester Parish Church, Gloucestershire; Christ Church, Lurgan, Co. Armagh; St. Clement Danes', London; St. Cuthbert's Parish Church, Edinburgh; St. Mary's, Grundisburgh, Suffolk; All Saints', Gresford, Denbighshire; and (recorded) from the Church of the Nativity at Bethlehem. Stuart Hibberd will introduce the programme and link the various towers.

Among the apologies read at the annual dinner of the Ancient Society of College Youths was one from Mr. A. York-Bramble.

Mr. Norman Chaddock contributes an interesting article on the bells of Rotherham Parish Church to 'The Phœnix Gazette,' the monthly journal of the United Steel Companies Ltd. There is a very good picture of the present band.

By ringing in a quarter peal at Bethnal Green, London, with the band from Hornchurch, Mr. Sid Penfold made a very welcome return 'home' after a lapse of over 40 years, for it was here he learned to ring as a pupil of Matt Wood. Peal boards commemorating peals in which he rang, conducted by Mr. M. Wood and Mr. Attwater, still hang on the walls of this rather uncared-for ringing chamber, but the bells still 'tell a tale' in this East End backwater.

Would the former 'admirers' of Mrs. Elisabeth Bowden please note that the printing of her name in a half peal on November 8th at Wotton-under-Edge as Elizabeth Grime does not denote that her marriage did not really take place at all last February, but was a lapse on the part of the conductor, for which he is humbly apologetic. To make amends he called Lis and Dick Bowden a 'wedding' peal at Cheddar on November 29th.

When Mr. Ernest Morris rang in a quarter peal at South Wigston on Remembrance Sunday his memory went back to November 11th, 1918, when, as S/Sgt. E. Morris of the District Purchasing Office of Supplies, R.A.S.C., he rang the 54¼ cwt. tenor in York Minster to 1,260 Grandsire and also conducted the quarter. The tenor then went badly.

We have still a supply of survey forms available for any Guilds or Associations inquiring into the state of ringing in their areas.

Mr. Alan A. J. Buswell enquires what are the longest lengths of Plain Bob Doubles and Grandsire Doubles.

The handbell peal at South Wigston on November 2nd (see page 806) was the 200th peal together of Brian G. Warwick and John A. Acres.

Included in the band which rang the peal of Kent Major at Leyland, Lancs, on November 29th, was Miss Dorothy Crook, of the local company. Although capable of ringing this and other methods 'inside' (often round the heavy end), she modestly chose to ring the treble. She is probably the first Leyland lady ever to take part in a peal, and to show their pleasure and appreciation the male members of the Leyland band presented her with a brooch.

Two-and-a-half hours after the start of a half-muffled peal to the memory of the late verger at St. Peter Mancroft, Norwich, on November 19th, the lights were switched off at the mains by an intruder. It was the first time for some years that the emergency gas lamp was not lit prior to a peal attempt, and the ringing came to an abrupt conclusion. A churchwarden came up to the ringing chamber some minutes before to watch and had left the vestry door open.

ESTABLISHED 1570

MEARS & STAINBANK, 34, WHITECHAPEL ROAD,
BISHOPSGATE 2599. LONDON, E.1.

NORWICH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

Presentation to Rev. H. G. Lillingston

A representative gathering of members met at Marsham on November 29th to give practical appreciation of the services rendered to the Association by the Rev. H. G. Lillingston during his presidency, 1955–57. This was the gift of an 8-day travelling alarm clock.

Making the presentation, the president (Mr. Nolan Golden) paid tribute to the tremendous amount of work and encouragement that Mr. Lillingston gave to ringers and ringing in general in the diocese. His attendance at Branch meetings especially gave the leadership that was required, and during his period of office the Association went from strength to strength. It was with great dismay that members learned that he must retire on account of ill-health, and they were all pleased that he had now recovered.

In his reply, the Rev. H. G. Lillingston thanked the members most sincerely and assured them of his continuous interest in the Association, and everything he could do to further their aims he would do.

Fifty members and friends attended the service in the Parish Church, conducted by the Rev. H. G. Lillingston, who also gave the address.

Three new ringing members and one non-resident life member were elected at the meeting.

Southern Branch

The Southern Branch held its autumn meeting at Banham on November 8th. The Rector (Rev. H. R. Barton) conducted the service, after which tea was served in the Church Room by members of the Mothers' Union.

Dr. P. H. A. Jonason presided over the business meeting, supported by Messrs. A. G. Harrison and H. Tooke (vice-presidents), W. Love (general secretary), W. G. Saunders (Ringing Master), C. F. W. Phillippo (Branch Secretary) and members of the committee.

Thanks were expressed to the Rector for use of the bells, the organist, and the ladies for arranging the tea.

Ringing on church- and handbells continued well into the evening.

The annual meeting of the Branch was fixed for February 7th at Diss.

REDEDICATION

Charlton Kings, Glos

Recently the rededication took place of the eight bells of the Parish Church of St. Mary, Charlton Kings, Gloucestershire. For a long time these bells had gone very badly; some say that they should have had a new frame when last rehung instead of patching up the old. It may well be that those people were right; it always pays best in the long run to do a job well, and make do and mend is not always cheapest in the end.

These bells now have a new frame, and as we heard at tea after the service, new voices as well, for they have been retuned, and a recording of them from the same spot was made before and after and played over to us. These bells have been placed at a lower level in the tower in order to send the sound more upward and outward, thus covering a larger area of this large parish and at the same time making the bells much more tolerable to those who must live under the tower.

The Bishop of Gloucester, in the sermon which followed the act of rededication, spoke of the message behind the call of the bells. He said: 'It is nonsense to say that God can be worshipped outside the church. Our moral standards spring from God, and if we are going to uphold these standards we must constantly renew acknowledgment of God by constant worship.'

MR. & MRS. ALBERT WALKER

To-day Mr. and Mrs. Albert Walker, of 86, Scribers Lane, Hall Green, Birmingham 28, celebrate their diamond wedding anniversary. On behalf of ringers the world over we extend to them our love and best wishes on this happy occasion.

MR. & MRS. BIRMINGHAM

that wonderful piece of mechanism, Carter's ringing machine, and, like the writer, had the experience of seeing it under all sorts of conditions whilst it was under construction. It was always being altered and improved. At one time it would be arranged to tap out changes on a piano keyboard; at another, to tap them ont on bells; and at another, to tap them out on nothing, but simply produce the graph showing the method being worked out. How appropriate that Walker should have been appointed by the Central Council to be one of the trustees of this wonderful piece of engineering!

The writer regards Albert Walker as one of the two greatest exponents of the ringing and conducting of Stedman Cinques the Exercise has ever seen, and feels confident that he would agree that the other is none other than his old friend Herbert Langdon, of London.

May the happy couple be spared to be with us for many more years. JAFUS.

LEEDS & DISTRICT SOCIETY

Despite the fog and cold, over 40 members and friends attended the meeting, held at St. Chad's, Headingley, on November 29th. Ringing started a little later than advertised, due to a baptism, but the bells were kept going to a variety of methods, and during the afternoon and evening five Surprise Major methods were rung.

An excellent tea was provided in the nearby schoolroom (those ringers who are teachers seem fated to a six-day week of 'dinner duty'), and at the business meeting which followed ten new members were elected. The Vicar of St. Chad's was present, and in a short address to the members said how pleased he was to see a new generation taking up the art of ringing.

BOLTON, LANCS.—At the Church of the Saviour, on Nov. 9th, 1,260 Grandsire Doubles: S. Walton 1, Miss G. Bridgford 2, D. Young 3, J. Bogle 4, R. Eastham (cond.) 5, R. Crook 6. For Remembrance Sunday.

RAILWAYMEN'S GUILD

The Inquest

The Railwaymen Ringers came to Christ Church, Crewe, on November 29th to do honour to a well-known ringer, Mr. W. Frank Stenson, by attempting a peal of 5,040 Stedman Caters as a compliment on his 70th birthday and to commemorate his 25 years as a regular Sunday service ringer.

The ringers came from as far afield as Scarborough, Leeds, Bedford, Bridgwater (Somerset), Leamington Spa, Chester, Nantwich and Crewe, and included Mr. Richard D. Langford, the conductor.

But the inquest? After an hour-and-a-quarter's good ringing a trip occurred, and crash went the peal. Then the inquest, with such questions as Who was in the slow?—Who was quick bell?—Who did not make the bob?—Who was dodging with who? Some of these could not be answered, so it was decided to go for a quarter peal. Again, after 45 minutes and only a few courses from home, something went wrong and up went the quarter. Another inquest and again no verdict—unless it was lack of concentration.

However, nothing daunted, off they went again; and yet again misfortune dogged them, for after another 40 minutes' good ringing the railwaymen ran off the line.

As it was now too late for a further attempt the ringers retired, not too gracefully, for tea and to commiserate with Mr. Stenson, who was in 'the band.'

Despite no positive results after three hours' ringing, the visitors enjoyed and much appreciated the ringing and companionship, and arranged to come again in the New Year. Thanks were accorded to Mrs. Stenson for her kind hospitality.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

PEAL AT BOW CAUSES BAN ON WEEKDAY RINGING

Dear Sir,—Since the restoration of Bow Church, E.3, six years ago, I have been happy to allow visiting parties of ringers to come to ring the bells whenever a request to do so has been received.

I much regret that I shall no longer be able to grant every application, as on Wednesday, November 19th, a party of visiting ringers rang the bells continuously from 6 to 9.30 p.m. The church stands in the middle of the road and across the road on each side there are many people living in flats. Only a few yards separate the church from these homes.

The annoyance caused led some of the residents to call the police. The ringers had obtained my keys from the Rectory when they arrived and had locked themselves in. My spare keys were with builders engaged on repairs, and some time elapsed before I was able to obtain a key to enable a young man to climb the railings and enter the church and bring the deplorable session to an end.

From time to time former ringers from Bow come back with friends and ring for an hour or so, and I had no reason whatever to expect such prolonged ringing on this occasion.

Some of the greatest sufferers were members of my congregation and parents of young children, and some time will have to elapse before any visitors can have permission to sing the bells on a weekday.—Yours faithfully,

FRANCIS METTRICK,
Rector of Bow and Rural Dean of Poplar.

EAST LONDON FURORE

Dear Sir,—The peal which was rung on a week night at Bow-in-the-Road has caused such a furore in East London that it may well close the tower to all non-service ringing.

I await with interest the footnote to this peal as it must have been an occasion of much import that an attempt was justified.

It is a great pity that the occupants of the flats opposite did not take matters into their own hands and ensure that it would be physically impossible for the 'backbone of the Exercise' to ring for a long, long time.—Yours sincerely,

ERNEST J. ROWE.

London, N.15.

A MEMORY OF BALLARAT

Dear Sir,—In reply to 'Pilgrim' regarding the first peal on Ballaarat Town Hall bells, if my memory serves me right we have William Linter, of Fareham, Hampshire, still with us, and maybe carrying on the good work of change-ringing.

It is quite a coincidence the two peals occupied the same time—3 hours 17 minutes. We had tried to ring Double Norwich but it just would not go, so we rang a good peal of Stedman.

My memory of the peal dwells mostly on having a grandstand view of people going and coming along the corridor, at times pointing out to each other as the ringing went smoothly along, a new experience for all of us when ringing a peal.

I was never more thankful for the finish of a peal than this one.—Yours, etc.,

C. SHARPLES.

THE NEW EIGHT AT HAWKSHEAD

Dear Sir,—Wherever a new ring is installed or a ring augmented there is a certain eagerness or rivalry noticed among ringers to be the first to score a peal on them. Hawkshead, in the Lake District, is an instance of this.

Everything there is brand new (bar the old six bells): frames, wheels, ladders, catwalks, the two trebles—the lot; everything in the tower looks new, and it is not surprising that a band of ringers from the neighbourhood should have an eye on this prize and accordingly arrange an attempt for it.

This was made and was successful on Saturday, November 22nd, and two locals were included in the band. The Vicar of Hawkshead was one of them; he rang the treble. His perseverance was rewarded, and when rounds came up in 2 hours 50 minutes he was surprised to know that nearly three hours had passed so quickly.

After the peal came the pleasant part—the adjourning to the tea room, where the inquest is held mingled with the knives and forks. There was no need for much inquest, however, and the talk soon reverted to consideration of the peal footnote and the answers to Norman Chaddock's questionnaire. Most fellows are agreed that Norman takes some answering. Finally someone said: 'What about paying the score for this tea?' It was then learned that a benefactor had provided it. As one who had partaken I inwardly bestowed my thanks and appreciation.

I am sure that those of our fraternity who do as I do—go pealing on Saturday afternoons (when I get the chance)—will appreciate how pleasant the meal after the peal can be.—Yours sincerely,

JAMES E. BURLES.

Barrow-in-Furness.

'WAIT FOR ME'

Dear Sir,—Your correspondent's letter about the 'light ring of eight' at Congresbury reminds me of a visit to this, our neighbouring tower, for the benefit of one of our local ringers who had never rung there.

The bells are a ground floor ring, and our visitor grasped the tenor rope to ring some rounds. 'Go' was called, and the slow, stately tones rang out 1234567—1234567. Number 8 tried valiantly to complete the octave; indeed, he even played at pendulums in his efforts to join us. It was all to no avail, however, and when the plaintive call, ''Ere, wait for me,' was heard in broad Somerset dialect, we sensed defeat was near. I believe the call of 'Stand' in this instance was received with relief from the heavy end!

Subsequently we spent a very enjoyable evening, and left well satisfied with our efforts on this 'light eight.'—Yours sincerely,

JOHN BRAIN.

Barkwell, Somerset.

P.S.—On another occasion I saw an aspiring but inexperienced 'heavy-bell' man rung by the tenor to a course of Major. That was the end of him for the rest of the practice!—J. B.

MEMORIES

Dear Sir,—I would very much like to thank Mr. W. G. Wilson for his article on the old ringing paper 'Campanology' and its proprietor, William Bedwell, whom I knew well and rang with over 60 years ago, in your issue of November 28th.

Mr. Bedwell came to Lewisham from Essex some time in the late 1880's, and when I knew him he was in charge of that tower. He was, as Mr. Wilson states, secretary of the Lewisham District of the Kent County Association, and he was District secretary when I was elected a member in January, 1897. I am now the only ringer left in the District who knew and remembers him. I well remember, too, Mr. Bedwell publishing his paper, and until last year when they had to be cleared out for restoration work there were several copies in the clock room above our ringing chamber.

My memories of the paper are that if Mr. Bedwell had been a journalist and not a printer it would probably have flourished. Its failure to do so forced him into bankruptcy, his health gave way and he died a comparatively young man not long after. Much of the editorial work was done by the late F. W. Thornton, of Greenwich. He was mace bearer, toastmaster and personal attendant to the mayors of Greenwich. He was a fluent speaker and was equally gifted with his pen.

There are still some of us left who remember the late Mr. A. T. King, whom Mr. Wilson also mentions. Mr. King was the founder and first secretary of the Middlesex Association as we know it today. He was a civil servant and was chief of the National Debt Office. He was also a lay reader in the Diocese of London, and was one of the first laymen in London to occupy a pulpit. Mr. King had a great effect on London ringing and was a kind friend of ringers generally. Many of the London clergy had been at Winchester with him and were his personal friends, and as such he was able to open many London towers (especially the 12-bell ones) to the Middlesex Association which had hitherto been the prerogative of the very select few. He was always 'at home' to any ringers at his office and pleased to see them at any time, and if they had any personal problems would help them if it were at all possible. My memories of Mr. King are very happy ones. —Yours sincerely,

E. BARNETT.

GOSPEL OAK'S BELLS

Dear Sir,—I observe that Dr. Neil Smith has remarked that the Vicar of Gospel Oak showed great enthusiasm for the efforts to get the bells going again.

As the bells became silent at the Vicar's wish, and the local band still exist although ringing at another tower, I find this statement hard to accept.

The bells could have been put in order and rung at any time by the bona-fide band during the last eight years.—Sincerely yours,

ERNEST J. ROWE.

'CAMPANOLOGY' — Some Notes By Wilfrid G. Wilson

JAMES R. MACKMAN

James R. Mackman rang his first peal of Major (Kent at Gainsborough in February, 1897) reported in No. 22, and I was reminded that when I first started ringing, in 1926, Mr. Mackman was an officer at the Borstal Institution at Feltham, Middlesex, and he used to invite Ernest Turner and me to go with J. A. Trollope to watch the Borstal boys have a boxing tournament, and afterwards we would ring handbells in his quarters. I can still recall the clang of the iron gates every few yards along the corridors and the jangling of his huge bunch of keys.

A peal of Double Norwich Court Bob Major was also recorded at Warnham, Sussex, conducted by Geo. Williams, in which each member had rung over 100 peals. Quite a feat in those days.

In an earlier issue a beginner had asked the inevitable question—which is the simplest way of conducting Holt's Original? One of the replies (from A. E. P.) was to set the calling of the bells before to the tune of a well-known hymn, thus:—

O God our help in a-ges past
5 3 4 5 4 4 4 3
Our hope for years to come
4 3 4 7 5 4
Our shel-ter from the storm-y blast
3 4 4 7 5 3 5 3
And our e-ter-nal home
7 4 7 4 3 3

The peal runs to five verses and a small bit over which was called the Amen—2 (S) 5 6 3 (S).

I believe A. E. P. was not the only ringer to call verse in aid to help with this performance.

Recorded in No. 24 is a handbell peal of Stedman Triples at Romford on February 17th, 1897: George R. Pye 1-2, William Pye (conductor) 3-4, Ernest Pye 5-6, Wesley Watson 7-8. The first handbell peal in the method by all and the first in which the three pairs of working bells were rung by three brothers.

The editorial for No. 25 refers to the diamond jubilee of Queen Victoria and of various schemes for its celebration. Chatham decided to restore St. Mary's Church and provide a ring of eight bells. Our Editor once again could not resist ending up with 'We hope we may yet hear that steps are being taken to thoroughly restore the bells and belfries of Rochester Cathedral and Westminster Abbey during the present year; the condition they are now in is—at all events the latter place—a national disgrace.'

What I believe was the last issue, No. 26, dated March 10th, 1897, contains no hint of this unhappy event. The full-page illustration, which had been a regular feature, was this time St. Clement Danes', in the Strand. In this year, 1958, the picture and article could not have been more topical.

THE DECEASE

What caused the paper to stop after such a promising start? We are given no idea. But we may guess that Mr. Bedwell's printing business in Lewisham High Street had to be neglected while he was doing the job of a District secretary of the local branch of the Kent County Association, indulging his hobby of ringing on every possible occasion and at the same time trying to run a weekly paper on a personal basis. You, Mr. Editor, will agree I am sure, that a weekly paper, if you are responsible for everything, is a full-time job on its own.

If in trying to pick out interesting items for these notes I have laid most emphasis on London and its ringers, there are two reasons for this. One, of course, was that the Editor was a Londoner and gave, perhaps unconsciously, a greater proportion of his space to the Metropolis, as he called it: the other is, of course, that I too am a Londoner.

What is perhaps really surprising is how little difference there is between the format and contents of 'Campanology' and that of 'The Ringing World,' considering how much all else has changed in the same period.

And now these 26 issues of the paper must be returned to that locked box in St. Margaret's ringing chamber, with thanks to Mr. Hewett for keeping them so safely and (however doubtfully) for letting me borrow them. I wonder what else he has in that box!

GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL ASSOCIATION

Tewkesbury Branch Annual Meeting

The annual meeting of the Tewkesbury Branch was held at Tewkesbury Abbey on November 29th. From the number of notifications received for tea, there had been very high hopes that this meeting would be very well attended—but this was not to be. The fog which pervaded the country made no exception of Tewkesbury and surrounding areas. As a result, many friends, visitors and members who had indicated their intention to attend were prevented from doing so. This naturally was a great disappointment to the ringers who had been able to find their way to the Abbey and who were looking forward to meeting old friends. It was disappointing, too, for the members of the Tewkesbury Abbey Guild of Ringers, who had put in so much work to make their visitors welcome and to ensure a successful meeting.

At the ringing before the service and tea, we were pleased to welcome a few visitors from Swindon. Touches of Grandsire Triples, Stedman Triples and Bob Major were successfully accomplished, and we also had some pleasing rounds on the 12 bells.

The service in the Abbey was conducted by Canon B. Purefoy, assisted by the Rev. J. M. Clutterbuck, and we were very pleased that both were able to take tea with us later.

Because of the many empty places, the masses of refreshments which had been so well prepared by the Tewkesbury ringers, their wives, mothers and friends, remained substantially unattacked—although those who were there did full justice to themselves. The vote of thanks for the arrangements was proposed by Peter Warren in his usual inimitable style. Canon Purefoy responded, and in referring to certain of the proposer's remarks stated that it was not that he disliked the sound of church bells but rather that he was of the opinion that the Abbey bells, at least to his ear, were unmusical. He hoped that perhaps some day some benefactor would give a sufficient sum to have the 12 bells recast and retuned, but until that day he would continue to suffer, at least aurally. He stated, however, that he would always be very pleased to welcome to the Abbey bands of experienced ringers.

The business meeting followed, when the following officers were re-elected: The Rev. E. V. Smith, chairman; Mr. G. H. Burrows, of 24, Lansdown Place, Cheltenham, secretary; Mr. E. T. Newbury, Ringing Master; Mr. A. Pulley, representative on the management committee. It was decided to hold future annual meetings at Tewkesbury and to have four other meetings during the coming year.

After the business meeting came more ringing. The tower was favoured by late visitors from Cheltenham and Wakefield, and attempts were made at Stedman Caters and Cambridge Surprise Royal. Maybe it was that the fog which was thickening outside was penetrating the tower, but after a few unsuccessful efforts our visitors had to leave, and we rang touches of the 'old faithfuls.' E. W. P.

OBITUARY

MR. GEOFFREY CARTER
AN APPRECIATION

Geoffrey Carter was never a very highly skilled ringer. He rang perhaps a dozen peals, but as a descendant of John Carter he had ringing in the blood. Geoffrey was the ringing companion par excellence. Whilst some parties of ringers may have been complete without him non was ever incomplete that included him. He did not miss many University of London Society functions, but when he was not there it was never quite the same. The party was not complete—it never will be again. He was a part of us in a way that no other member has been, and in the 13 years that the Society and Geoff were together we grew round him from the time that he was one of only a dozen members in all and much the most senior.

He was invariably late, and those who weren't would be looking to the door for that little figure with the queer, stooping, springy walk, the shock of unruly, curly hair, the clothes that none but a bachelor would be allowed to wear, the inevitable pipe and the cough. When he came all knew him and he knew us all. He called us affectionately 'Old Boy' or 'My Dear,' but none ever used these phrases with more genuine affection nor received it in return. There was always much to talk about with Geoff —music, literature, travel, friends, bells, his job in I.C.I., our jobs, and many more topics of which he had such an exhaustive knowledge. He was never ill at ease talking to anyone nor they to him.

He had his faults: he was an abominable correspondent, but then Geoff wasn't the sort of person one corresponded with; he was a poor week-ender—invitations to stay for the week-end somehow never came to fruition; he never learnt to dodge his bell properly, he simply stared you between the eyes and rang over and under—but how well he could do this when the ringing had a beat.

We remember Geoff trudging the Somerset lanes in 1946 ('Two pints to the mile, old boy'); we remember, too, some story about losing his way in the women's dormitory of a youth hostel the same year; we remember him complete with crash helmet and hair flowing out round the sides on the back of David's Vespa or tucked down in the other David's 'bug'; we shall remember him in the hurly-burly of practice night at Gospel Oak. We shall remember him, too, in Somerset again this summer, a painfully sick man but still enjoying it all with that chuckling little laugh, playing with the children and one little toddler of 16 months offering him her hair brush. We shall remember his annual renderings of 'Buttercup Joe' and his fund of stories. You indeed sowed a rich harvest for us, Geoff.

God bless, Geoff . . . God bless.

MR. FRED SEAR

Mr. Fred Sear, who passed away after a long illness on November 20th, was a member of the family of Sear of Bletchley, so well known in Midland ringing circles in the first part of the century.

A railwayman all his working life, he was first employed at Rugby, and then became station master at Steeple Claydon. During his period of service here he was instrumental in getting the bells restored and ringing again. In 1920 he moved to Melford in Staffordshire, but still kept up his interest in ringing at Bletchley, often travelling there for peals, etc. Two more promotions, to Armitage in 1926 and Rugeley in 1933, kept him in the same area of Staffordshire, where he was a frequent visitor to the belfries at Lichfield and Rugeley, until the ban on ringing in 1940. In that year he retired, and went back to Bletchley until 1946 when he moved again to Rugeley to be near his daughters.

Although his new abode was on the outskirts of the town, he came down to the belfry at Rugeley very frequently, being always a welcome visitor, ever ready to help with the training of the young band there.

After a few years, however, his health prevented him travelling in so often, but he always came whenever possible, until a serious operation put a final stop to his ringing. He still kept up his interest in the Exercise, and was always glad to receive a visitor and talk about ringing.

He was buried at Rugeley on November 24th. The local band was represented at the funeral, and a half-muffled quarter peal was rung to his memory in the evening.

MR. EDWIN BISHOP, Jun.

Mr. Edwin Bishop, who died on November 30th, had been a valuable member of the St. Denys', Rotherfield, Sussex, band of ringers for nearly 50 years. It was a great shock to everyone, as the previous afternoon he had been watching the local football team playing at home. He passed away peacefully in his sleep at the age of 66 years.

A quiet, lovable, unassuming character, he was always most regular in his attendance for Sunday service ringing and practice nights; he was always ready to help learners, and Frank H. Hicks, now of East Grinstead, and the writer of this are just two who benefited from his help.

Mr. Bishop only rang about five or six peals in his early days of ringing, as he had a very serious operation which prevented him from standing in any more peals; but his love for St. Denys' Church and the bells knew no bounds. He was one of the original band who learnt method ringing when in 1908 the bells were augmented from five to eight.

The funeral took place at Rotherfield on December 3rd, and the bells were rung half-muffled as a last token of respect. A full peal had been arranged in the evening but had to be cancelled because thick fog prevented some of the ringers getting there. It is hoped this will be rung at a later date. Mr. Bishop did not have any family, and our condolences go to his widow who was also a great friend of all ringers. He was laid to rest near the church within sound of the bells he loved so much, and so we said farewell to our brother ringer—may he rest in peace.

THE LADIES' GUILD VISIT BETHNAL GREEN

The Central District of the Ladies' Guild, augmented by a number of the sterner sex, held a small but enjoyable meeting at St. Matthew's, Bethnal Green, on November 30th.

Ringing in the afternoon was followed by a much-appreciated tea in the comfortable Church Hall. The following business meeting was presided over by the vice-president. Several apologies for absence were received, including one from Mrs. Lock, the president. Although her absence was regretted, members asked the secretary to convey to her their congratulations on her choir's success in a recent competition, The fact that the cup was being presented that day prevented the conductor from attending.

A satisfactory item of business was the election of two honorary and three new ringing members. It was announced that the next meeting would be held at Stamford Hill on January 31st, this being the annual for the District. Heston was chosen for the quarterly meeting on May 30th. Among the appropriate votes of thanks was one to the gentlemen who so nobly washed-up while the ladies conducted their business.

Ringing in the evening ranged from Grandsire Triples to Spliced Surprise.

VILLAGE BELLS

Softly o'er the landscape stealing
Comes the sound of joy-bells pealing,
Borne on frosty air.
Sweet the tone of their deep voices,
It would seem each one rejoices
On this morn so fair.

Full of hope their notes are swelling
As their message they are telling,
Far away and near.
Now proclaim they, full of gladness,
'Most of joy and least of sadness'
For this bright New Year.

Village Bells! how sweet your ringing!
Much of comfort ye are bringing
To the sick and sad,
And to all, your merry greeting
Brings a joy, however fleeting—
Makes sad hearts grow glad.

So we meet this New Year bravely,
Hand in hand, and mutely, gravely,
Look up to our God.
He will keep up to its ending,
And whate'er is of His sending,
E'en though chastening rod,

Will be for our good—we know it;
Let us then be quick to show it,
And His mercy own;
Whetner sun or cloud be o'er us
God's own presence is before us,
And His Love is shown.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD

West Dorset Branch Annual Meeting

The annual general meeting of the West Dorset Branch was held at Bridport on November 29th. About 50 ringers attended, representing 11 towers in the Branch, and there were visitors from Yeovil and the Devon Guild.

The very pleasing eight were rung up in peal at 3.30 p.m. Three methods only were rung during the day—Grandsire, Stedman and Yorkshire. There were also two touches of call-changes.

The Guild service was conducted by the Rector (Rev. J. P. Hinton), who also gave the address. Canon C. Carew Cox read the lesson. The Branch organist, Mr. B. Elsworth, played the organ. A really excellent tea was had in the Church Hall, kindly provided by the Bridport ringers and their wives, who also served the tea.

Before asking the secretary to read the minutes, Canon Cox, the Branch chairman, thanked the Bridport ringers for their generous hospitality; also on behalf of the Branch he congratulated Mr. P. J. Roper (one of the Bridport ringers) on his award of the O.B.E. Mr. Critchard and Mr. Roper both suitably replied. Apologies for absence were received from Mr. G. S. Morris and Canon Havelock-Davidson, who wrote telling of his departure from West Dorset.

The hon. secretary's report and statement of accounts were passed as being very satisfactory. Canon Cox said he had given the required three months' notice that he was not seeking re-election as chairman, and he proposed the Rev. O. L. Willmott be elected chairman. Mr. Willmott, however, used his powers of persuasion to such good effect that in five minutes he had Canon Cox re-elected chairman for 'just one more year.' Canon Cox will then have been chairman for 30 years.

The remainder of the Branch officers were re-elected, with thanks for their work during the past year, and Canon Cox congratulated the Branch on the successful start to monthly practices for learners in change-ringing. It was agreed to hold quarterly meetings at Bradpole, Symondsbury, Evershot and Powerstock. The annual meeting would be at Beaminster on November 28th.

The following were elected members of the Guild: The Misses P. Hayne, D. Crabb, V. Case, E. Wall and E. Underwood; Messrs. F. Bool, H. W. Davis, H. J. Smith, C. Poole and N. Saint.

The Rev. O. Willmott said Askerwell now had £770 towards the £1,100 required to hang their bells. The Branch agreed to make a grant of £5.

Mr. C. W. Powell said how pleased the Branch was to have the president of the Devon Guild attending the meeting. Preb. E. V. Cox suitably replied.

Canon Cox expressed thanks to all and closed the meeting with prayer. J. T. B.

Seager 9, B. Holland 10, H. O. Chaddock (cond.) 11, G. K. Chaddock 12. First quarter on 12 bells for 1 and 7. Rung for Evensong, and a farewell to the Succentor (the Rev. R. Milner), who leaves to become Vicar of Westwood, Coventry.

A KENTISH TOUR

Prompt on time, a party of 20 ringers arrived at Seal Chart, with its cramped belfry, at the start of a tour of the Tonbridge area of Kent. Trouble with old ropes at Ightham delayed proceedings, but ringing included a course of Beverley on the fair six. Shipbourne bells, by Lewis of Brixton, are very odd-struck, and some very mixed striking resulted.

A drive along country lanes brought us to Hadlow, which bells are approximately the front eight of a 12. An attempt at raising the back six bells of Tonbridge in peal emphasised the need for practice: we were pleased to have Mr. Walter Dobbie to stand in a course of Bristol here. Best results were achieved on the good Gillett eight at Tunbridge Wells by ringing at speed.

Having satisfied the wants of the inner man, we made our way to Speldhurst and Penshurst, which bells are rather difficult to hear satisfactorily. The entrance to Leigh belfry is unusual in that it starts as a conventional spiral stairway which suddenly ends, the remainder of the ascent being by ladder. York was rung on the average six. The seldom-rung bells of picturesque Chiddingstone are spoilt by the seventh which bangs out in the belfry, and the tenor which requires plenty of hard work to be turned in.

A short tea break and then a visit to Hever, to be met by the Rector. These bells are in need of repair but some reasonable ringing was had. The wooden tower of Cowden houses a Warner six, which go well in damp weather. The last two towers were the best of the day—Edenbridge with its fine Gillett eight, which are rung from a gallery (a good course of London here), and finally the heavier ring at Westerham, spoilt by a loud third.

A pleasing feature of this outing was to be met by local ringers at most of the towers. We extend our thanks to them, and to all the incumbents who gave us permission to ring.

OFFICIAL JOURNAL OF THE CENTRAL COUNCIL OF CHURCH BELL RINGERS

OUR PART IN THE CHRISTIAN FAMILY

By the Rev. A. S. ROBERTS

THE late Dr. C. W. Stubbs, Bishop of Truro from 1906 to 1912, wrote a number of poems and carols, and in many of these there are references to towers, spires and bells. The carols were set to music by his son-in-law, the late Dr. T. Tertius Noble, organist of York Minster. One of the outstanding of these is 'The Cornish Bells,' the first verse of eight, in which some 35 towers with bells are mentioned, being:—

O merry ring the Christmas bells across the Western land,
From Launceston town to Michael's Mount,
from Bude to Sennen Sand.
The joyous echo sweeps along far spaces by the sea,
And church bells answer church bells with their 'Gloria Domine!'
O Cornish bells, ring far, ring free,
Ring 'Gloria tibi Domine!'

and another:—

Ring gladsome bells, ring pealing bells,
from Falmouth harbour wide,
To where St. Mary's Minster stands above the Truro tide.
Ring Christmas bells of Roseland in your maddest, merriest glee,
From Probus to Penkevil, from Lamorran to the sea.
O Kenwyn bells, etc.

The Bishop evidently knew his bells in his diocese for the other choruses begin by naming a different ring of eight, except in the case of St. Buryan. No doubt he had heard and been impressed by this unusual but sonorous ring of four, hung in an iron frame in 1901, when a 23½ cwt. tenor was added. They are now unringable.

We must not pretend that Christmas bells are common only to Cornwall. What can happen at Land's End (for the parish of Sennen has six bells) cannot, we know, happen at John o' Groats; but throughout the British Isles we might well add another chorus and join in the singing as well as the ringing:—

'O all ye bells, ring far, ring free,
Ring "Gloria tibi Domine!"'

Christmas is the festival of the family and the home. As there is one great world-wide family of Christian people, so there is the smaller family of the diocese, and the still smaller one of the parish. Whatever our interest in ringing, our first loyalty is to our home tower, although we may sometimes go to cathedral, abbey or secular tower for special enjoyment: more often we go to another parish where it is the task of some members of that family to keep the bells ringing. We cannot judge another family on the strength of one visit, nor can we expect to change local tradition despite the fact that ours may be a more ideal family. In short, an Englishman's home is his castle. The remarkable thing is the freedom with which we ringers can enter another parochial home—the church and tower—to do practically as we wish, even to the extent of a new type of hush-hush ringing at midnight and in the early hours!

More ringers live in parishes with bells than without them, and there is frequently much more ringing of the bells locally than we sometimes imagine. Most ringers will be staying at home at Christmas, and to the joy of all, many who owe their introduction to the Art at home will be returning from school, college and work away from home, very often with greater knowledge gained, and an enthusiasm deepened because of new experiences and a widened vision. Thus many a family will be reunited and strengthened because of the presents of service all will wish to offer, and which will enhance and beautify the offering of the parochial family in its worship at Christmas. This is, of course, why Christmas bells are what they are or have become to many—something expected, but something different and more lovely than at other times. It may be that as Christmas strikes home its claim upon and call to the souls of men, so too the bells add their challenge as they sound in men's ears. Those who ring the bells know they are expected, and they seek to fulfil that expectation, but to those who ring them they are no different nor more lovely except for the Festival which they proclaim.

As long as Christmas remains our bells will be expected to ring. Because this is so every parish with bells must surely have a place for its ringers in its fellowship. Indeed, the ringers must take their place in the fellowship of the parish. The hope is often expressed that the spirit of Christmas might continue. In a very real sense this spirit can be maintained if the parochial family keeps its bells, which recall the birth of Christ, ringing throughout the year on many occasions and at frequent intervals as a living witness that the ringers are ever active within the family.

We will end with the last verse of our carol, interpreting any local reference as we will to our own inspiration:—

O magic moon! O mystic stars!
O music of the night!
Your 'Gloria in Excelsis' sing,
O praise Him in the Height!
'On earth be Peace, good-will to men!',
It is the Angel's song—
Ring Cornish bells, ring one and all, come sweep the Hymn along!
Ring Cornish bells o'er land and sea,
Ring 'Gloria tibi Domine!'

BELFRY GOSSIP

Congratulations to Mr. Ernest Morris. He rang his 1,800th peal at Loughborough Foundry on December 8th, his 1,500th tower bell peal at Croft on December 6th, and his 300th handbell peal at Barrow on December 12th. He informs us that his next book, 'Tintinnabula,' is now in the press and all illustrations passed. It should be on sale early in the New Year.

Advent Sunday at Britford, Wiltshire, was marked by four first peals of Grandsire Doubles. The band deserve peal cards for the occasion.

When the Bishop of Malmesbury rang after the rededication of Bristol Cathedral bells the question arose, 'How many ringing bishops are there?' The writer has rung with two, but are there any more?

Further to the recent correspondence concerning Stedman Cinques in the Whittingtons, we are informed that the peal of Grandsire Cinques rung at Newport on November 22nd contained nine courses in the Whittingtons. Is this the first time that this has been done in a peal of Grandsire Cinques?

Carlton Colville, Suffolk, bells were rung to a peal on November 25th to mark the decoration that day at Buckingham Palace of Mr. P. W. Mobbs, of Carlton Hall, with the O.B.E. Unfortunately his son-in-law, Mr. J. Garrod, the tower captain, was unable to participate in the peal.

Three ringers with 154 years of Sunday service ringing at St. Bartholomew's, Penn, behind them were commemorated by a peal on the bells on November 29th: Tom Hinsall, the verger, was for many years treasurer of the belfry fund, Jeremiah Bloore was a former secretary, as also was Arthur Roden. These tributes by fellow ringers make pleasant reading.

Cambridge University Guild have set Oxford University Society something to emulate. Six ringers rang two handbell peals of Minor simultaneously. There were, naturally, two conductors and also two umpires. We congratulate them on their powers of concentration.

Two letters have reached us this week addressed to 'The Ringing World,' Woking. Since 1942 our address has been at Guildford. Both were from correspondents of long standing.

We hope our readers will enjoy 'Our Christmas Quiz.' Even if you cannot find all the answers have a shot. Even with the many profound students in the Exercise we do not expect an all-correct entry.

We regret to hear that the 93-year-old veteran, Mr. Frank Sinkins, is in Belgrave Ward, Grove Hospital, Tooting, S.W.17. He will miss his ringing for Christmas for the first time since he started at the age of 11. To his many friends he sends his best wishes, which we are sure are fully reciprocated.

Paul Webb is chairman of the Birmingham University Society of Change Ringers in more ways than one. He went to ring the treble at Hagley and found that he was catching 'handstroke' well above the sally, so he lengthened the rope's end, pulled up a chair, and rang a quarter peal of Bob Minor sitting down.

The former captain of Chelsfield, Kent, ringers, Mr. John Parker, and Miss Jennifer George were married at Chelsfield on December 6th. After the ceremony the bride and bridegroom rang in a touch of Grandsire Doubles with the best man, Mr. D. Parker, ringing the treble. This was followed by a quarter of Grandsire Doubles rung by Miss J. Outhwaite 1, Miss V. Colt 2, J. Parnell 3, R. Martin 4, D. Manger 5, C. Rowe 6.

ESTABLISHED 1570

MEARS & STAINBANK, 34, WHITECHAPEL ROAD,
BISHOPSGATE 2599. LONDON, E.1.

BRISTOL CATHEDRAL'S RING OF EIGHT REDEDICATED

The band that rang during the service of rededication of the bells of Bristol Cathedral. Left to right: A. V. Bennett, E. Abrahams, F. C. Mogford, F. G. Leaker, H. S. Gregory, E. J. Brown, Dr. R. J. Brocklehurst, A. A. Hilliar. [Photo by courtesy of 'Bristol Evening World.'

IN the presence of a large congregation, the bells of the bombed Temple Church, now rehung in the north-west tower of Bristol Cathedral, were rededicated by the Bishop of Malmesbury (the Rt. Rev. E. J. K. Roberts) on Tuesday, December 2nd. Among those attending the service were the Dean of Bristol (Dr. D. E. W. Harrison), the Archdeacon (Ven. P. G. Reddick), the trustees of Temple Church, and the Master of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association (Mr. W. H. Trueman).

Following the prayer of rededication which was said at the foot of the tower steps, the Bishop formally presented the bells to the Dean, saying: 'Receive these bells, which have been solemnly rededicated, as a sacred trust committed unto thee, as Dean of this Cathedral Church; and take care that they may be ever and only used in God's service and for His glory.'

A red pilot light in the ringing chamber then flashed its warning to a waiting band made up of senior members of the various city towers, who pulled the bells off and rang rounds for two minutes. At the conclusion of the service it was most appropriate and a great honour for those present that the Bishop of Malmesbury was able to join them for a few moments and take part in the ringing of one of the first touches.

The remainder of the evening's ringing was, at the express wish of the Dean, limited to some 20 or so selected members of the City and Rural Branches, representative of as many towers as possible. Methods rung were Grandsire, Stedman and Double Norwich, and the care which the Ringing Master (Mr. F. D. Mack) took in placing his bands for touches was rewarded by some quite good ringing, despite the dazzling power of specially installed photographic lighting equipment and a cameraman flitting through the circle of ropes taking 'close-ups' of various ringers in action. Needless to say, of the many classic profiles photographed only very few appeared in a disappointingly brief item in the B.B.C.'s television programme 'View on the South West.'

The tone and 'go' of the new bells are very pleasing, and Messrs. John Taylor and Co. (who were represented by Mr. J. P. Fidler) are to be congratulated on a fine job. A word of praise must also go to Messrs. Joseph Bryant, who donated an excellent set of ropes complete with royal blue sallies.

TWO LONDON SOCIETIES HOLD JOINT MEETING

Another very pleasant annual gathering took place in London on December 6th, when the joint meeting between the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths and the Middlesex County Association and London Diocesan Guild was held. Members and friends totalling over 70 from all the Home Counties appeared in the towers during the afternoon or evening, and by their countenances all seemed satisfied.

The ringing, at St. Botolph's, Bishopsgate, in the afternoon, and at St. Leonard's, Shoreditch, in the evening, was also well up to standard for such an occasion. A highlight of the day was, of course, tea in the Fan Makers' Hall, which was prepared and served by Mrs. Davis and other prominent helpers, who again showed how sympathetic and understanding they are towards the needs of man—the young and the not-so-young, as it was noticed several 'veterans' were there feeling at home in more senses than one.

Although there was no business to transact, one recent sad event, in the death of Geoffrey Carter (a member of both ringing Societies) was referred to by Mr. W. H. Coles, and the meeting stood in silent tribute to the memory of a late friend. Mr. T. J. Lock then extended a welcome to all members of the Cumberland Youths (a formal gesture which is taken in turns), and to everyone else present who were not members of the Middlesex County Association. Mr. F. J. Cullum replied, and looked forward to the pleasure of many similar occasions. He added, with appreciation, the fact that his Society had been permitted to ring a peal at Hillingdon, and offered reciprocation.

A vote of thanks, by Mr. Coles, was accorded to the two incumbents for the use of the bells and hall, to the tower-keepers, and to Mrs. Davis and the several other ladies. He also mentioned that the peal of Erin Caters at Hillingdon referred to was a very good one and contained some excellent striking.

The ringing was in charge of Messrs. Butler and Cullum, and all tastes were catered for by courses and touches of a variety of odd- and even-bell methods.

THE BELLRINGER'S NIGHTMARE

(Death-watch beetles, etc., cause havoc in St. Martin's Tower, Brasted, Kent.)

Our captain, Fred, was quite a normal chap who seldom got into a flap,
But hearing of the tower's danger, his conduct had become much stranger.
He muttered to himself at lot—of death-watch beetles and wet rot,
And it was easily discerned that Fred was very much concerned.
He was a coleopterist and eke a campanologist,
And his concern with bug and bell led to the following sequel.

. . . . .

The night was dark, the wind was cold as up
came our bell-ringer bold,
He hurried through the entrance gate because he thought he might be late.
Straight up the belfry steps he ran, as only good bell-ringers can,
But why he'd come he could not tell, unless it was to ring the bell.
'As sure,' he said, ' as my name's Fred, I really should have stayed in bed.'
It came to him as quite a shock when midnight
chimed out from the clock.
He climbed up to the belfry floor and tried the switch inside the door,
It wouldn't work!—In consternation, Fred cried out: ' Oh, botheration!'
His language always was refined, quite parlia-mentarily inclined;
You see, he'd been to public school and self-control was there the rule.
As in the dark he fumbled round, he heard a
deathly ticking sound,
And nearly bolted down below when up above,
a ghostly glow
Emanating from the beams, threw phosphorescent, fitful gleams
Which spread around an eerie light, enough to show a creepy sight,
For death-watch beetles in great hordes, crawled out from holes in beams and boards.
He stood and watched them, petrified, and couldn't move howe'er he tried
As on they came in serried ranks indulging in the queerest pranks,
Of which, the strangest thing they did, was form
into a pyramid,
Reaching up to where there swung, the ropes
by which the bells were rung.
Upon it somehow all took hold and the bells
they wildly tolled.
This, being in the dead of night, gave the village
quite a fright.
The Rector scrambled out of bed and very soon joined up with Fred;
The two churchwardens also came and the treasurer did the same.
The architect sent word to say he couldn't get there till next day.
The hon. sec. with an anxious look, arrived
complete with minute book,
The builder, showing great goodwill, came in his car from Crockham Hill;
They stared aghast at what they saw, and with one voice they cried ' Oh lor!'
Nor knew what else to do or say but stood there as the floor gave way;
And down they went with startled yells—men,
beetles, floorboards and the bells.
But fortunate they were, you see, below there stood a Christmas tree
Erected on the tower floor, which broke their fall, and what is more,
They, like a lot of presents lay, snug in the branches, on display.
The Rector as he clambered down, was heard to say, with ne'er a frown,
But not with any sign of glee: ' I'll have to tell the P.C.C.
That certainly life's not all honey, for now we'll need a lot more money.'

And if you ask concerning Fred—he woke, and found himself in bed. J. P. H.

LEICESTER DIOCESAN GUILD

Melton District Dinner

The annual dinner of the Melton District was held this year at the Midland Woodworks Canteen in Melton Mowbray (by kind permission of the management). Eighty-eight ringers and wives and friends sat down to a sumptuous spread, which had been prepared by the canteen manageress and her staff.

Amongst the guests were the Vicar of Melton (Canon C. M. S. Clarke) and the Rev. A. G. L. Lancaster, Vicar of Waltham-on-the-Wolds, The president (Mr. Paul L. Taylor), Mrs. Taylor and friend, vice-president (Mr. E. C. Turner) and Mrs. Turner, the peal secretary (Mr. Shirley Burton) and Mrs. Burton, and Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Williams were also present.

Mr. Williams proposed the toast of 'The Leicester Diocesan Guild,' and Mr. Paul Taylor very suitably replied. The chairman (Mr. J. H. Cook) gave a welcome and proposed the toast of 'The Visitors,' also one to a very popular lady ringer on her birthday.

Mr. E. C. Turner replied for the visitors, and the whole company rose and sang 'Happy Birthday.'

A very good evening's entertainment followed, given by Ken Burton and his quartet, and a very fine demonstration by trick-cyclist Jack Skinner. There were also games and dancing.

Northern District

The Northern District held its December meeting at Stevenage—a bad day with fog and damp making things more dismal than they really were. To visit a church on its patronal festival is a great honour, but it's sad to relate that the District did not respond to this meeting. After tea the fog really came down and kept away those who would have made the trip if the weather had been reasonable.

Ringing commenced at 3.45, followed by a short service and tea. Mr. Fred Plummer took the chair for the business meeting. The secretary informed the members that the C.C. census was going along very well and so far everyone had been very quick in their replies.

The meeting was very concerned about the great increase in the cost of the annual report. It was proposed that this be put on the agenda for the District A.G.M., to be held at Hitchin on January 3rd.

Further ringing continued until 8.40, when some very good striking was obtained.

Methods rung ranged from Plain Bob Triples to Cambridge Major.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

RESIDENTIAL COURSE FOR RINGERS

Dear Sir,—The warden of Dillington House, near Ilminster, Somerset, which is a College for Adult Education, run by the Somerset Education Committee, has suggested that a short residential course for ringers should be held there, and has put forward for consideration the period Monday evening, April 6th, to Friday morning, April 10th, 1959 (i.e., shortly after Easter).

Whether such a course was organised would depend on the degree of support likely to be forthcoming, and I should be glad if anyone interested would let me know by not later than January 10th.

It is at present proposed that the course should consist of lectures, discussions and visits to neighbouring towers. The fee would be seven guineas per student, which covers board and accommodation and any transport required by students for visits to towers.—Yours faithfully,

E. A. BARNETT,
Hon. Secretary, The Central Council.

'EXCELLENT GOOD SENSE'

Dear Sir,—I have just read the letter from Lucile M. Corby ('R.W.', December 5th), and my immediate thoughts were, What excellent good sense!

What a change from the letters of some gentlemen, who squabble and fuss, and even haggle over a difference of a few pounds in the reported weights of tenor bells!

A most refreshing and thoughtful letter, and I wholeheartedly support her last sentence.—Yours sincerely,

JACQUELINE S. KING.
Chepstow.

'GOLDHANGER COLLEGE BOB MAJOR'

Dear Sir,—With reference to the peal of 'Goldhanger College Bob Major,' published on page 771 of your issue of November 28th. This is method No. 282 contained in the Collection of Plain Major methods, and I shall be glad if the authors of this book can say if it has been correctly named as a college method, or should it be recorded as Goldhanger Imperial Bob Major, having regard to the contiguous places in 1-2?—Yours faithfully,

J. W. GRIFFITHS.
Chester.

THE PRIZE RING OF CARRS

Dear Sir,—Mr. W. G. Wilson wonders (page 793) what happened to the prize ring of six by Carrs, of Smethwick.

They are the back six of the eight at Pennsett, near Dudley, Staffs.

The late Tom Miller had a wonderful yarn about how he tuned the 'tribbles' after having apparently found they were all the same note to begin with.

Other ringers may comment on the quality of the bells.—Yours sincerely,

SIDNEY O'C. HOLLOWAY.
Smethwick.

BELFRY CUSTOMS IN WARWICKSHIRE

Dear Sir, — The item in recent Belfry Gossip concerning Guy Fawkes' Day ringing prompts me to write this note, for I am now embarking upon a task that I have long since hoped to undertake.

It is my intention to compile a list of belfry customs currently observed in Warwickshire (including the cities of Birmingham and Coventry), and to this end I have prepared a questionnaire which, I hope, ringing captains will complete for me at towers that I am unable to visit personally. As far as I am aware, the last survey was prior to 1900, the results appearing in the admirable 'Church Bells of Warwickshire' in 1910. Since then, ringing customs must have undergone drastic changes, but to what extent? I hope to find out, and am sure that my many ringing friends in the county will co-operate.

If any Warwickshire ringers care to drop me a line I shall be most grateful. I hope to visit a good many towers during the next four weeks in search of belfry customs.

The questions I shall ask concern all Sunday service ringing (even single bells for early services and weekday celebrations, etc.) and 'traditional' uses such as the curfew, Guy Fawkes ringing, Easter Vestry, and so on. Naturally, this list could be greatly extended, but space does not permit the inclusion of all the occasions on which bells might be rung.

I am particularly anxious to discover whether the 'Passing Bell' has died out—it was last rung at Knowle only a few months ago, when on the customary payment of 1s., the age of the deceased was rung in twenties.—Yours faithfully,

ANTHONY A. UPTON.
Knowle, Warwickshire.

HANDBELL MUSIC

Dear Sir,—I have just noticed in your issue of September 5th (page 579) a letter from Mr. Robert Yendall querying the advantage of employing 'numbers' rather than 'musical letters' in writing handbell music; yet Mr. Yendall states that he has been ringing handbells for 74 years. The main advantage of numbers is that the 'music' is then independent of any key to which a set of bells may be tuned.

It should be remembered that the 'Morse code' system which I had advocated was intended for schools, youth clubs and the like, whose simple sets of bells may be variously tuned. Not long ago I was asked to judge a competition between four schools, each of which had their own lettered music for the key of their own ring for the same tune. The tunes were simple and numbering would have enabled each school to use the same set of music without any of the transposition to which Mr. Yendall takes exception.

As I have already pointed out, the system is not intended for the more elaborate sets of bells apparently used by Messrs. Yendall and Chant, nor for advanced musical compositions. For these many well-tried methods exist, and they are not here in question.—Yours faithfully,

M. D. BELL (Col.).
Ashtead, Surrey.

MR. IVIN'S QUIP RESENTED

Dear Sir, — I consider the remarks from Stephen Ivin in last week's Belfry Gossip in extremely poor taste, and I think he owes me a public apology. I have rung ten peals with him, and have no particular wish to ring any more. He is far too unreliable and temperamental.—Yours sincerely,

A. PAT CANNON.
Dorking, Surrey.

Dear Sir,—I would rather ring seven peals in a day with Mr. Cannon than 120 of Bob Doubles with Mr. Ivin, even if the latter behaved himself in an adult manner, which is in itself highly improbable.—Yours sincerely,

ROBIN G. LEALE.

P.S.—If Mr. Ivin wants his hat back he can have it for half-a-crown as it is four sizes too big for me.—R. G. L.

Dear Sir,—Mr. Stephen Ivin's unfavourable comments in Belfry Gossip (page 792) are typical of this brilliant but temperamental young ringer.

When Stephen has travelled half the miles that Pat Cannon has to give young ringers their first peal of Plain Bob Doubles, Minor or Major, he can consider himself as being of some real use to the Exercise as a ringer.

There is too much of this type of backbiting amongst the ringing fraternity of today, which does no good to anyone; alas, we seem to have our fair share in this area.

Knowing them both personally I suggest that Stephen try to adopt Pat's gift for taking a joke against himself before making any further remarks of this type.—Yours sincerely,

G. K. DODD.
Highclere.

P.S.—We can probably find a spare rope in the next seven-in-a-day attempt if you are interested.—G. K. D.

TOM TOLLADAY'S 12,000

Dear Sir,—With reference to Mr. Wilfrid G. Wilson's notes on 'Campanology' (page 793), there is a reference to Tom Tolladay's 12,000, and a bound volume of 'Campanology' in the belfry bookcase of St. Mary-le-Tower, Ipswich.

Being a member of St. Margaret's Society, Westminster, in the '90's, I well remember W. (Bill) Truss singing the song of Tom Tolladay's 12,000 Grandsire Caters, which was rung at Fulham. The first verse was (I quote from memory)—

Tom Tolladay ahold of the treble he took,
And at his brother ringers so serious did look.
He bade them now all get their ropes and be ready,
And when they were ready, he shouted, 'Now steady.'
Chorus:—
So ring away, pull away, ring my boys ring,
As this long peal has been rung we'll merrily sing.

The other verses had the names of all the ringers. Probably the whole song is in existence today.—Yours, etc.,

G. E. SYMONDS.
Ipswich.

HESTON'S RECORD

Dear Sir,—Without detracting from the very fine efforts of the ringers at Heston in ringing not only 14 quarter peals for Sunday services this year, but also achieving two on one day with different bands, I do rather wonder how many of those 18 regular Sunday service ringers attend the practice night with any degree of regularity. I believe very few. Some, I know, are not able to; but if the four recruits Mr. Webb mentions are ever to ring anything more than rounds they must have the help of experienced ringers.

There has, I regret to say, grown up over the last few years an idea amongst some of the older members of our towers that when young learners are introduced into their belfries, they are no longer needed, and in some cases not wanted. Nothing is further from the truth. They are the people who can teach our learners more from their wealth of experience than any of the people in their late 20's and early 30's.

Let us have less of this apathy and boasting of individual and collective achievements, good as the effort may be, and get on with the job of teaching the learners how to ring, coupled with good handling and striking; for without them our bells will not be rung on Sundays in the future, and after all, that is what they are put in church towers for.—Yours faithfully,

D. FOWLES.

Cranford, Middlesex.

Note.—We feel certain that there was no spirit of boasting on the part of Heston ringers in their performance. It was reporting an actual fact for the encouragement of other towers. —Ed.

STEDMAN CINQUES AT CANTERBURY, 1924

Dear Sir,—I am afraid that Mr. E. Barnett is in error when he states in 'The Ringing World,' dated December 5th, 1958, that the peal of Stedman Cinques rung at Canterbury Cathedral on December 18th, 1924, was in the Whittington position.

The composition of this peal, composed by the late F. Hayes, is published in the Kent County Association report for 1925, page 97, peal No. 2,922, and the composition has 19 courses in the inverted tittum position, and 19 courses in the handstroke home position, the bells being turned with a bob at 1. This type of composition is normally used for half-muffled ringing, and is not suitable for ringing with the bells open. Probably the reason why the late Mr. E. G. Buesden, who conducted the peal, made use of this composition was to avoid the complexity of a normal turning course, as it was the first peal on 12 bells by 11 of the band.—Yours sincerely,

CHARLES W. ROBERTS.

Waltham Abbey.

OBITUARY

MR. W. A. NORMAN

We regret to announce the death of Mr. William Archdale Norman, of Hatfield, Herts, in the early hours of December 1st, aged 84 years.

A native of Sharnbrook, Beds, he learnt change-ringing as a youth and rang in many churches around Sharnbrook and Rushden. He was also active in handbell ringing.

For the last 27 years he had resided at Hatfield, where his widow is well known in the district in connection with her school. Mr. Norman had been a keen reader of 'The Ringing World' since the early days of its publication.

MEMBERS OF THE RAILWAYMEN'S GUILD who forgathered at Crewe on November 29th to honour the 70th birthday of Mr. W. Frank Stenson, the Guild's secretary. For story of the unsuccessful peal attempt see page 809. Although a peal was not scored, it was a very happy birthday.

SWANSEA & BRECON GUILD

Southern District

Saturday, December 6th, was certainly an ideal day for the annual District meeting, held at Sketty. The good attendance was a surprise to everyone.

Mr. J. A. Bennett, of Bristol University, who attended the meeting, was many years ago a probationer at Sketty, and his visit brought back old memories. Most towers in the District were represented.

The new vicar (Rev. Garfield James) conducted the service, and in his address referred to the bells as being 'Church music beyond the stars.' The lesson was read by Mr. Derrick Ashtridge.

The highlight of the District secretary's report was the announcement that the eight bells will be in the tower of St. Mary's Church, Swansea, by Easter.

Mr. J. T. Williams was elected hon. District secretary, and Mr. Trevor Roderick thanked the outgoing secretary for his services since Mr. Ernie Stitch resigned. Mr. Arthur Hoare, in his reply, thanked them all for their kind remarks, and hoped that the change would revive fresh interest in the Southern District. Mr. J. M. Roderick was re-elected hon. District auditor.

The next meeting will be held at Gorseinon in March, 1959. Five new members were elected (two resident and three life members).

It was proposed to give a grant of £5 towards the cost of installing St. Mary's bells.

Mr. Wilfred Williams proposed a vote of thanks to the local ringers, their wives and friends, for the excellent tea provided, and Mr. J. T. Williams thanked the Vicar for the use of the bells, and conducting the service, also the organist for presiding at the organ.

Ringing during the day was above the average and the bells were lowered at 8.30 p.m., bringing to a close a successful meeting. J. A. H.

LLANDAFF AND MONMOUTH ASSOCIATION

A very enjoyable meeting of the Monmouth Branch was held at Magor on December 6th. Despite the cold weather, a goodly number of ringers attended and enjoyed this little-used, pleasant ring of six bells.

The service was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. J. E. Clayton-Evans, and the Rev. Ivor J. Richards (Rural Dean of Raglan) read the lesson.

A most welcome tea was afterwards served in Magor Church School, prepared by Mrs. Clayton-Evans, the headmaster and their helpers. The Rev. Ivor Richards sincerely thanked these kind folk.

New members were elected from Abergavenny and Caldicot. Progress was reported from Caldicot and Blaenavon, where there were large bands of young people.

Abergavenny was decided upon for the annual Branch meeting in January. Mention was made of the Branch dinner, to be held in Newport on February 7th next.

SURREY ASSOCIATION

The quarterly Northern District meeting at Mitcham on November 29th proved a most representative one, there being present 42 ringers from 15 towers within the District. Ringing in the afternoon on the six bells at Christ Church varied from rounds and Grandsire to Cambridge Minor. Evensong at the Parish Church of SS. Peter and Paul was conducted by the Vicar, after which tea was enjoyed in the Parish Rooms. This had been prepared under the supervision of Mrs. Collins, assisted by Mrs. Oatway and the local young ladies.

At the routine business meeting which followed, nominations were invited for officers for 1959. The only change made was at the suggestion of Mr. H. V. Young, who declined nomination as a committee member and nominated the Rev. C. Marshall, of Leatherhead. The collection for the bell fund amounted to £1 4s., and after the usual vote of thanks the ringers adjourned to the Parish Church for ringing until 9 p.m.

AMONG AMERICAN BELLS

By GORDON BENFIELD

ROPES pulled up to the ceiling; the chiming apparatus still connected; the usual courses of Bristol and Double Norwich in their picture frames; an odd Association membership emblem and photographs of prominent change-ringers, past and present; photographs of towers . . . there they were, all the familiar things that a ringer looks at to kill time in an empty ringing chamber as he begins to wonder if he's come to the meeting on the wrong day. Familiar, yes—but very strange, because I was in the heart of Chicago, Illinois, U.S.A.!

It was my privilege recently to travel some 4,000 miles through the United States on an English Speaking Union Travel Scholarship. The purpose of my trip was to study certain aspects of American education, and I was certainly kept very busy with a full schedule of interviews, visits and new experiences; but not too busy to look for some bells—what ringer ever is? That's how I came to be standing in the ringing chamber of Mitchell Tower at the University of Chicago, and how I came to have other experiences which I feel I should like to share with readers of 'The Ringing World.' Let's carry on then where we started out, in Chicago.

UNPULLED FOR 45 YEARS

Yes, the ropes are still there in the ringing chamber of Mitchell Tower, where the 10-bell Alice Freeman Palmer Memorial Chime hangs, but no one has pulled them for 45 years. For a few brief years in the first decade of this century, when the bells were installed by Mears', change-ringing was actually practised in Chicago by a band imported from this country. The first 720 of Bob Minor was rung in November, 1908, and one of the band, Frances J. Rimes, is still living in the city. By 1911, however, change-ringing had stopped for what seems to be a not unfamiliar reason. A letter of the president's secretary of the day notes: 'We have never been able to do much change-ringing owing to the nervousness of our neighbours.' An expression of that nervousness in the form of a letter of a student of the day is worth quoting:—

> 'It is between 3 and 4 o'clock in the afternoon of a "sane" Fourth of July, and I find myself suddenly thrust to the ragged edge of dementia by the insane ding-dongings of those everlasting bells. If I were a self-respecting student, I should proceed at once to organise an expedition to drag them down from the belfry the next dark night and make "versunkene Glocke" of them all in the bottom of Lake Michigan.'

While change-ringing was discontinued, tune ringing was practised from the first and never permitted to lapse. The University's 'Societas Campanariorum' organise the ringing three times a day for short periods, ending with the 'Alma Mater' at 10.5 each night as a tribute to the athletes of the University, to speak to them of 'love and loyalty and sacrifice and of hope and inspiration and endeavour for the morrow.' The director of the 'Societas' is Mr. James R. Lawson, the carillonneur of the Rockefeller Memorial Chapel's 72-bell carillon. It was at Mr. Lawson's invitation that I found myself among the bells of Chicago, and I was privileged to watch him play a Sunday afternoon recital on the carillon and to be taken by him to examine the fittings of the Mitchell Tower bells. Mr. Lawson, who has been in England this summer, is a man of great determination, and he is making serious plans to try once more to introduce change-ringing, or at least, the 'ringing up' of the bells. A set of ropes has already been delivered! The bells are almost certainly still ringable, requiring only minor renovations. Mr. Lawson can handle a bell and has some students who are anxious to start, so although we cannot envy him his task we can and should wish him well.

CHARLESTON'S BELLS

In late October it was still very hot in South Carolina, and when his open bedroom window is directly underneath a tower and the bells strike every quarter of a stuffy, sleepless night, even a ringer begins to wish them ill—especially when the Westminster first quarter is the complete repertoire, and this is appropriately repeated to mark the second and third quarters and the hour!

But the bells of St. Michael's, Charleston, have plenty to be mournful about, and in the light of subsequent sunny days I became rather fond of them. They came from Whitechapel in 1764, eight in number, and were hung for ringing though little was ever practised. They were brought back to England after the Revolution as a prize of war, only to be bought by a London merchant and shipped back. When they arrived at the dock the townspeople, overjoyed to see them back again, swarmed on board ship, dragged them away to the steeple and rehung them immediately.

Later, two bells cracked and were sent back again to England to be recast. During the Civil War the bells were sent to Columbia and were burned in the great fire there. The metal was salvaged, sent to England and again recast. Knowing their sad story—and this is only part of it—I must say that as I stood on the frame, looking at their broken wheels and stays and listening to the Rector of St. Michael's describing the affectionate regard the people have for their old bells, a strange feeling of sadness overcame me and, had it been more British, I could have wept for them myself. They are still chimed regularly and play a great part in the life of the city.

RIVAL SCHOOLS

There are, I believe, 15 towers in America with bells hung for ringing, but at only two of them are the bells still rung up and change-ringing practised. Both these towers are at well-known American independent boys' schools — Kent School, Connecticut, and Groton School, Mass.—and there has always been both friendly rivalry and frequent united endeavour to improve their knowledge of the art. It will not seem strange to readers, I'm sure, to be informed that by coincidence one of the schools I found myself wanting to visit officially was Groton, and the business side of my appointment with the headmaster soon led us on to the subject of bells. So came about my introduction to the Rev. Malcolm Strachen, the member of the school staff responsible for training the boys to ring. With Mr. Strachen I climbed the magnificent tower of the school chapel and pulled up the tenor of the 22 cwt. Mears eight. Unfortunately, the boys who do the ringing could not be freed at that time without considerable inconvenience, but I was very thrilled to learn that the bells are rung every Sunday morning—rounds and plain hunting, with sometimes an attempt at Grandsire—and that although he has never been to England and had to learn his ringing from an English instructor many years ago, Mr. Strachen is doing a grand job keeping the art of change-ringing alive in this corner of New England.

HANDBELL RINGERS

I must not conclude this brief account of my experiences among the bells of America without mentioning the very happy times I had in Washington, D.C., and Kansas City as a guest of Branches of the American Guild of English Handbell Ringers. It was my privilege in Washington to share for three days the home of the secretary of this enthusiastic Association, Mrs. Norman Erb, and to meet and ring tunes with members of her band. I don't think I could ever forget the warmth and generosity of their welcome and their eagerness to hear English bell news.

At the village Presbyterian Church in Kansas City I found myself guest of honour at a well-attended social evening planned by two bell choirs who, after enduring my talk on English change-ringing, gave a delightful programme of tune ringing. I shall long treasure a tape-recording which I was given of the combined singing and bell choirs performing a special arrangement of the hymn 'O God our help in ages past.' I had hoped to visit in Boston the president of the Guild, Mrs. Arthur Shurcliff, who though now advancing in years is still a well-respected and powerful force behind American ringing. I was very sad to learn, however, that she was ill in hospital. I took the liberty of writing to her on behalf of English ringers (she did ring in England many years ago), wishing her well, and was pleased to receive a cheerful reply only last week.

There is certainly no lack of interest in the ringing of bells in America at the present time, and if this article does something to sow the seeds of a greater concern for what they are doing I'm sure any such recognition will be applauded by our friends across the Atlantic.

WINCHESTER & PORTSMOUTH

Christchurch District

The annual District meeting of the Christchurch District was held at Christchurch on December 6th. Forty ringers attended and there were visitors from Kingston-on-Thames, Wimborne and Southampton District.

The annual Guild service was conducted by Canon R. P. Price (Vicar of Christchurch). An inspiring sermon was preached by Canon C. Dudley Kirkham (rural dean), based on the text 'Fellow-workers with Christ.'

Tea was served in the Priory Restaurant, and this was followed by the meeting. As the chairman of the District, Rear-Admiral D. H. Everett, was unable to be present, Canon R. P. Price acceded to the request of the members to preside. The hon. secretary's report for 1958 recorded an increase of nine members. He also reported that there had been an increase in the number of ringers attending the four quarterly and the four practice meetings held during the year. Reports on the activities of all towers in the District were given, and these showed an overall picture of steady progress in seven out of the 11 affiliated towers. The remaining four towers were reported to be lacking in recruits and interest in the Guild activities.

District officers elected for 1959 were: Chairman, Rear-Admiral Everett; secretary and treasurer, Mr. W. T. Godfrey; vice-chairman, Mr. M. J. E. Best; joint Ringing Masters, Mr. W. E. Cheater and Mr. R. Marlow; representatives to the executive committee, Mrs. F. J. Marshallsay and Mr. A. V. Davis; auditor, Mr. R. Hurst.

The meeting was informed by Mr. H. A. Mitchell (captain of Bournemouth, St. John's, tower) of an appeal which had been made for £1,000 for an immediate repair of the bells and a projected repair of the tower and spire. A donation of one guinea was voted to the fund and a collection was also made at the meeting. Any donations from friends of the tower or visitors who have enjoyed the pleasure of ringing on the bells during their summer holidays should be sent to Major C. F. Ball, 20, Branksome Wood Road, Bournemouth.

After some discussion, the meeting agreed to take no further action at present in reorganising the George Williams commemoration dinner, which was not held during the past year owing to the lack of support, and financial difficulties.

Good use of the Priory bells was made both before and after the annual meeting by all those who attended. W. T. G.

HAPPY RINGING AT CHRISTMAS AND THROUGHOUT 1959

is the sincere wish of the

to its members and to ringers everywhere.

When its inception was being considered, 3 years ago, invitation was issued in these columns to ALL ringers, interested in the promotion of sound training and ringing development at all stages, to join in the project. Those who did have since proved the value of College influence and effort, but equally with the vital need for continued expansion of this activity. Indeed, the College has recently been honoured with an invitation to co-operate with a County Education Authority in courses in ringing subjects at a College for Adult Education—open to all—and detailed plans may shortly be announced. Meanwhile, once again, a sincere invitation is extended to ALL interested in the FUTURE of ringing to write (enclosing stamp) for particulars of College membership and of how mutual aid can create facilities for training where hitherto not possible. Tower and Association secretaries are invited to write (stamp, please) of any difficulties in planning ringing training. Local College members can be put in touch, and the College can help in other ways, and will gladly do so on request to: The Registrar, C. of C., 40, Parkstone Avenue, Southsea, Hants. 3553

KENT BELL-RINGERS' TOUR IN THE WEST

A delightful weekend had a party of Kent ringers from Tunbridge Wells, Brenchley, Edenbridge, Maidstone and Canterbury in the West Country on November 1st. At their headquarters at Chippenham they were joined by two car loads of Wiltshire ringers.

An unfavourable start was made at Zeals, Wiltshire, but the memories of this 6-bell tower were soon wiped out by the nice eight at Castle Cary, after which everybody was more than ready for lunch.

The heavy, majestic ring (6) at Queen Camel was followed by Ditcheat and the lovely ten at Evercreech. The bells of Chewton Mendip made a wonderful finish to the day's ringing.

Sunday was a busy and strenuous day. Leaving Chippenham at 7.45 a.m. for Bristol, the first ringing was at St. Mary Redcliffe, where the party were not only impressed by the beautiful bells but the magnificence of the church. At St. Ambrose's (8) there were so many of their own ringers in the small belfry that it was quite a squeeze to get the visitors in. After ringing at St. James', despite the heavy rain a visit was paid to Clifton Suspension Bridge to admire the view.

Lunch at Bath was followed by a look round the Abbey. At 2 p.m. we left for Chippenham and rang on the eight of St. Paul's. These bells were rung half-muffled in memory of two local ringers killed in a road accident.

Evening service ringing was at St. Andrew's, Chippenham. The bells here when rung at a steady pace are pleasing to listen to. Tunbridge Wells was reached at 12.30 a.m. on Monday.

All the party are indebted to Mr. Harry Heath for arranging the tour, and also to Mrs. Heath for the wonderful tea she provided on Sunday. J. L.

THE RINGING WORLD

OFFICIAL JOURNAL OF THE CENTRAL COUNCIL OF CHURCH BELL RINGERS

'The Ringing World' was founded in the year 1911 by John Sparkes Goldsmith, who remained its proprietor and editor until his death in 1942.

No. 2491 Vol. LIV FRIDAY, DECEMBER 26, 1958 Registered at the G.P.O. for transmission as a newspaper. 6d.

A UNIQUE MEETING

IT was surely one of the most unique ringers' meetings that could be held. Not that the business side of it was any different from any other ringers' meeting. It was the place where it was held. The place? Quex Park. The meeting? The annual of the Quex Park Society of Change Ringers.

The Society was originally formed in 1880, but lapsed for years, until it was re-formed some years ago by the ringers of All Saints', Birchington.

To those of you who have rung here, your visit would have probably been made in the summer, or at any rate when the hours of daylight are longer. If your visit was under these conditions, have you ever stopped to think what it is like on a late afternoon of a cold, damp, foggy November day? The trees are bare, the grass is still sodden from all the rains, the spire is just visible in the approaching darkness.

The nearer the tower you get, however, you can hear that you are not the first one to arrive. You can see a glimmer of light from one of the windows, and catch a smell of wood smoke from a fire in a side room, which is probably half way up the chimney by now, and hear the voices—'Steady with that barrel, Bert,' or, 'Mind those sandwiches, Jack.'

The 'Boys' are there; the fire is half way up the chimney; the kettle on the grid (two bricks) and just starting to sing. There are enough to ring so we have a touch or two until 'Tea up' is called. We sit on forms and have a good tuck in, and afterwards listen to stories of the old boys who used to ring there, and some about the not-so-old boys who still ring there.

The estate agent, Mr. Graham, comes in, and we settle down to business, perhaps less formal than some, but nevertheless conducted in equally as good a manner as any.

The minutes are read and confirmed, the balance sheet is presented and approved. The officers for the year are elected: Jack Russell as secretary and captain; as the proposer said, 'You did it all right last year, so you might as well do it again.' Bert Luck is re-elected as vice-captain and Ted Milsted is the obvious choice as steeplekeeper—after all, he works on the estate, and he can get to the tower quite easily.

Mr. Graham promises to replace the one or two panes of glass that have been broken, and to install a new fireplace. He then retires to his television and we to our ringing until the barrel is broached.

The room warms up and so do the ringers, and we really enjoy a sing-song; snacks are passed round, including baked potatoes. Bill Bridges' banjolele works overtime, and nobody seems to notice that it is not tuned in properly.

At 9.30 the door is opened by one of the minions of the law, who is quickly followed by two more; they are regaled with a glass and a snack. A course of Grandsire is rung specially for their benefit—their first experience of ringing—and they leave us while we proceed to lower the bells. The hands of the clock now point to 9.50, another annual meeting is over and we go our separate ways: the writer for his last bus, with the hope that next year he may get another invite to what can be called a unique meeting.

INSPIRATION FROM A REDEDICATION

'THE RINGING WORLD' of December 5th contained a report of the rededication of the bells of Chipping Campden, and as I was going to that Gloucestershire village a verse ran through my mind—

> In Thy house, great God, we offer
> Of Thy own to Thee.'

Little did I know that it was to be sung that afternoon. By our ringing of the bells we offer something that is peculiar. No one else can do that; a machine may produce similar sounds, but that is not a personal offering.

This offering must be of our best. If it is our best it matters not whether it be Spliced Surprise or plain rounds; and then when the last 'That's all' is called we shall be sure that, at least, our ringing has been found acceptable, if nothing else.

In the time that is left, let us do all that we can to improve our own standard, and in doing so help others. Meetings in many places are not so well attended as they might be—not only by those of higher standards but by many who might well benefit.

Let us retune in this way, that our message may be spread farther and wider. For some it will mean a lowering as these bells were lowered; for others a lifting up.

The rededication of bells is a costly and great event. How much less costly in terms of money is our own rededication. The one ring of bells rehung and rededicated will spread a message over a larger area, but it is small compared with the area covered by those 40 or 50 ringers who came to Chipping Campden for that service of rededication not merely of bells, as the Vicar said, but of the ringers themselves.

BELFRY GOSSIP

Supt. Claude Rush writes that the fund for the restoration of Eye bells has now reached £1,209. This year he had 14,000 greeting cards printed with the church as a picture, and all these have been sold. His collection of salvage, mainly waste paper, amounted to 110 tons, and from this source he realised £608. Waste paper had been received from Suffolk, Norfolk, Essex, Kent and Hertfordshire. Congratulations on a really colossal undertaking.

Mr. Jim Bennett, of Grundisburgh, left last week for a world tour. The first stage of his journey is on the S.S. 'Dinteldyk' for San Francisco, via Panama.

The captain of the Benefield, Northants, band (Mr. C. L. Page) took part in his first peal on December 6th. It is hoped that his success will encourage other young learners in this tower to emulate him.

Over 2,000 copies have already been sold of the popular Ringer's Diary and the publishers anticipate the print order of 3,000 being exhausted in a few days. Who said ringing was a dying art?

The front cover of 'The Field' for its issue of December 25th contains a beautiful picture in colour of the ringing of the Christmas bells at Sopley, Hants, a 5-bell tower with a ground floor ring. All the ringers are handling their bells correctly.

The offer of the warden of Dillington House, near Ilminster, Somerset, to arrange a short course for ringers (see page 843) should make an appeal to many of our readers. Dillington House is the Somerset College for Adult Education, and although it dates from the 16th century it has been internally modernised to accommodate 40 people. The house stands in formal grounds and is surrounded by spacious parkland.

The 50th anniversary of the first peal of Cambridge Surprise Maximus, rung at St. Mary-le-Tower, Ipswich, in August, 1908, was commemorated by a peal of Cambridge Surprise Royal on the bells on December 13th. It was intended to ring Maximus but last-minute illness reduced the band. Mr. Lewis W. Wiffen, of Braintree, is the last survivor of the first peal. When the original peal was ended, someone remarked: 'We have rung the first peal of Cambridge Maximus.' To this, Mr. Wiffen replied with his usual witticism: 'Who can say this was not done before Noah went into the Ark?'

East London members suggest for an 'Any Questions'—'Is it pleasant or otherwise to have a skin like a rhinoceros?'

The morning service on Sunday, January 4th, at Leicester Cathedral is being televised on I.T.V., 11.15 a.m. to 12.15 p.m. The bells will be on the air before and after the service.

This has been a year of loss to the University of London Society. At St. Olave's, Hart Street, the headquarters church of the Society, an in memoriam peal was rung on December 6th to John Leigh Morris, David Priestley and Geoffrey Frank Carter.

Mr. W. Wilson rang the seventh bell of Holy Trinity Church, Wandsworth, to a quarter peal of Cambridge Surprise Major on November 27th without a stay or slider. This was due to the incumbent allowing All Saints' Church Youths to teach the new curate to ring.

The general restoration of Lichfield Cathedral is estimated to cost £200,000, of which about £130,000 has been raised. The top of the south west spire has been taken off to a depth of 6 ft., and there is no knowledge as to when the bells can be rung again.

THE BARNSLEY & DISTRICT SOCIETY 1909-1959

By H. CHANT

AFTER a preliminary meeting in December, 1908, the first meeting of the Society was held at the Windmill Inn, in Shambles Street, Barnsley, on Saturday, January 9th, 1909. How many ringers were present is not recorded in the minutes, which for the first few years of its existence are recorded only annually; but Albert Nash afterwards stated that 'about 50 members were present at the foundation.' The balance sheet records that '37 subs. at 1/-' were taken at the meeting.

Who provided the original impetus is uncertain, although I imagine that both A. Nash and C. D. Potter had a great deal to do with it. The reasons behind the formation are less nebulous.

After the formation of the Yorkshire Association in 1875, a 'West Yorkshire Society,' which C. D. Potter describes as having 'flourished in the Barnsley area as late at 1879,' appears to have gone out of business. The Minor ringers of the Barnsley area appear to have had a thin time at these early Yorkshire meetings, and a growing desire was felt to form a society in which Minor ringers would have greater opportunities.

C. D. Potter always emphasised this as being the principal aim of the Society and, indeed, at the resumption of the meetings after the 1914–18 war, it was stated in the minutes that: 'As this Society was first formed for the upholding of Minor methods, six bell bands may claim first privileges at all times.'

The officials elected at this meeting were: President, C. D. Potter (Barnsley); secretary-treasurer, A. Nash (Wath), and vice-president, W. Woodcock (Darfield).

WOODCOCK'S VICTORY

The W. Woodcock mentioned here was a fine Minor ringer who was continually experimenting with Minor methods of the Treble Bob variety. His notebook contains in addition to established favourites of that period many methods with a footnote in his elegant handwriting, 'W. Woodcock's composition' or 'Woodcock's transposition.' Some of the methods are hopelessly false, others irregular, and quite a few have 5ths place without the treble behind; but some are 'regular' methods, and one at least—'Woodcock's Victory'—has found its way into the Central Council's Collection under the name which he gave it.

I have no doubt that most of them were rung at Darfield or Wath or both, as the names of ringers of both these towers appear on the peal boards hanging in the belfries of both. W. Woodcock died in 1921, aged 65.

C. D. Potter held office in one form or another, apart from the year 1911, until his death in 1939 at the age of 83. Although never a great ringer (he rang, I believe, one or two peals), his enthusiasm and generosity knew no bounds. He was the backbone of the Society almost until the last few months of his life; a venerable and much-respected figure. Founder of a reputable building firm, he was by trade, I believe, a stonemason, and a great authority on church architecture. My earliest recollections of him are of a slightly stooping figure with a stick, white-haired and with a large walrus moustache, showing me round the various churches that we visited during the Society's monthly meetings.

When he settled for a short time in Royston about 1933, he found the bells silent owing to lack of ringers. This would not do for C. D. P.! He approached me and almost bludgeoned me into taking on the training of a brand new team! In due course the ringers were sufficiently competent to perform for Sunday service—and C. D. P. insisted that they should not do this until I considered that they would 'not make a mess of it.' I came over from Felkirk for the occasion, and the sight of Mr. Potter's beaming face as we descended the belfry steps after a creditable performance more than compensated for all the effort entailed.

Alas, the band has recently gone to pieces and the bells are once again silent.

'THE BRAINS OF THE SOCIETY'

If C. D. Potter was the 'heart' of the Society, Albert Nash was the 'brains.' When a serious accident during the war years badly burnt his face and reduced his hands to shapeless stumps, it impaired neither his mental ability nor his power to transform this into active ringing both on handbells and tower bells. He was at home on any number of bells from six to 12, and was constantly encouraging Minor ringers to move to higher numbers; and many peals of Surprise Major which he conducted contained often two, three or more ringers who normally rang at 6-bell towers or had what he termed 'a 6-bell foundation.'

He did a great deal of research into Minor methods, both regular and otherwise, and his notebook, crammed with information about ringing, from Minor to Maximus, is among my most treasured possessions. His charts of Minor methods now hanging in Wath belfry are works of art which should be perused by anyone interested in this subject. Well educated, he was an excellent speaker with an acute sense of humour and a ready wit.

On one occasion after listening to a speaker at some local meeting talking at length about nothing in particular, he was asked as he rose to speak about some relevant point or other, by this same gentleman who was in the chair, if he would please be brief as many ringers were anxious to return to the belfry.

Albert's reply was: 'Brevity is my strong point—it ought to be yours!'

The meeting, if I rightly remember, quickly terminated.

He relinquished the office of secretary-treasurer in 1912, but was later president in 1929.

In 1910 Charles E. Bell, of Darfield, was elected vice-president in place of W. Woodcock. C. E. Bell was a dapper little figure who could ring quite a few Treble Bob methods, and who died in 1956 at the ripe old age of 90.

The year 1911 saw a double change in the officials, J. Easter, of Wragby, becoming president and G. Hunt, of Horbury, vice-president.

JOHN EASTER

John Easter must have been a popular figure seeing that he was chosen in preference to C. D. Potter after both had been nominated for the position. He was certainly a remarkable man. He took up change-ringing at Ackworth at the age of 60, where he learnt to ring Bob Minor. Shortly afterwards he joined the Wragby company, where he learnt Treble Bob methods, and at his death could ring no fewer than 24 Treble Bob methods! His favourite method was Primrose Surprise. He rang two peals—the first at Tong in 1908 with the famous Tong company, conducted by the well-known Minor ringer George Bolland, and the second at Wragby in 1910, which was the first on the bells by a local band.

For the last 21 years of his life he was head gardener at Nostel Priory, and when he died in 1912 at the age of 75, Lord and Lady St. Oswald were mourners at his funeral. 'All along the pathways through Nostel Park the coffin was borne shoulder high by relays of bearers, and after the funeral service in the church, he was laid to rest beneath the shadows of the church he loved so well,' writes an eye-witness (Frank Atkinson). He was also president in 1912 when he died.

In 1912 a J. Holmes was elected vice-president in place of G. Hunt, and C. D. Potter moved into the position of secretary-treasurer in place of A. Nash who expressed a wish to retire. In the two remaining years that were left before the 1914–18 war ended the meetings for a few years, the officials were F. Tinker, of Penistone, a quiet and faithful ringer, who was elected to fill the position left vacant by John Easter, with Henry (Harry) Cutts, of Royston, as treasurer and C. D. Potter as secretary.

The creation of a separate position as treasurer was due to the influence of C. D. P., who confided to me many years afterwards that it was better if 'one could keep an eye on the other'!

The man chosen as treasurer, H. Cutts, was 'the last of a once-famous band' at Royston. A fine ringer of treble bob methods who rang in peals with the Wath and Darfield bands. I have heard both Panther and Gill speak highly of him both as a man and as a ringer.

Charles Walsh, of Wath, who was elected vice-president in 1914, I remember as a fine tenor ringer who always intrigued me by ringing in his shirt, minus his collar and tie, with his braces slipped from off his shoulders and dangling by his side, whilst his trousers maintained their position by some miracle of equilibrium. He was as strong as an ox and made light work of the most awkward tenors.

There were two committee meetings during the year with a view to purchasing a cup and starting an annual contest. The war, however, put an end to any further developments and nothing more was heard of a contest until the mid-1920's.

The meetings of the Society restarted in July, 1920, when a general meeting was held at Brookes Hotel, Barnsley, although there is evidence of activity by the Society in the two years preceding the meeting. C. Walsh was elected president and Arthur Panther, of Wath, treasurer, with C. D. Potter as secretary, the last two retaining these positions until 1930.

PEALS ON MEETING DAYS

Arthur Panther was a member of the excellent Wath company, where his father was a ringer before him. He was asthmatical and never whilst I knew him really enjoyed very good health, but was always cheerful nevertheless. No one was ever more devoted to the Society than Arthur. On one occasion a young and enthusiastic member arranged to ring in a peal attempt at Almondbury on the same Saturday that the Society were holding a meeting at Cawthorne. He called at the meeting on his way home and was greeted as he entered the belfry by a glaring Arthur, who said: 'And where's tha been?', although it was obvious that the question was superfluous.

The much-surprised youth admitted that he had been 'ringing in a peal,' whereupon A. P. told him at great length and in no uncertain terms what he thought of people who put peals before meetings—especially Barnsley and District meetings—and wound up a verbal fusillade with: '. . . and tha never does it again. Does tha understand?' The youth understood. He never repeated the offence, for offence it was.

Herman Rusby, of Cawthorne, who was present at the time, recently asked me if I still remembered the incident. Remember it? After 30 years or more I can still feel the lash of Arthur Panther's tongue!

BATH AND WELLS DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

Taunton Deanery Annual

The A.G.M. of the Taunton Deanery, held at Milverton on December 6th, was the most successful for many years.

During the afternoon and evening ringers were present from over 30 different towers: 14 towers within the Deanery were represented, with visitors from towers as far apart as Radstock (Bath), Dulverton, Havant (Portsmouth) and Ealing (Middlesex).

The Guild service was conducted by the Association Master, the Rev. Henry Warren (Vicar of Exford).

At the business meeting which followed a very enjoyable tea, the Deanery vice-chairman (Mr. S. G. Coles) welcomed to the meeting the Master, general secretary, peal secretary and treasurer, and commented that this was the first Taunton meeting that he could remember at which all the Association officers had been present. He then invited the Master to preside for the ensuing business.

In his report, the secretary (Mr. A. H. Reed) stated that the Branch membership had increased by nine to 119 and that one new tower, Ruishton, had joined the Association.

All the Branch officers were re-elected for 1959, and six new members were elected to the Association: Messrs. Baker, L. Hellings, Holway and E. Pike (all of Sampford Arundel tower), and Miss Jennifer Lowman (Ruishton) and Mr. Adrian Bird (Wellington).

Quarterly meetings for 1959 will be held at Rockwell Green, Creech (St. Michael's) and North Curry, with the annual meeting at St. James', Taunton, subject to the local incumbent's permission. Weekday practices were also arranged for January 8th at Wellington, and Wednesday, Feb. 18th, at Sampford Arundel.

The Association treasurer stated that he was getting some response from Parochial Church Councils asking them to pay an affiliation fee to the Association.

The meeting closed with the Ringing Master (Mr. W. Gigg) expressing the usual vote of thanks to all who had contributed to the success of the meeting. The ringers then returned to the tower to make use of the bells until almost 9 p.m., in a variety of methods to Double Norwich and Cambridge Major.

THE SUFFOLK GUILD

A well-attended District meeting took place at Woodbridge on December 6th, when ringing on the fine eight was enjoyed until an adjournment was made for tea.

At the business meeting Mr. C. W. Pipe outlined the proposed amalgamation of the Ipswich and Woodbridge Districts. Mr. Clifford R. Lovett, of Grundisburgh, was elected District secretary.

Further well-struck ringing up to Spliced Surprise took place, and thanks were accorded Mr. A. Stanley Woodard for obtaining permission to ring and arranging the tea.

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION

Eastern District

The holding of the winter meeting of the Eastern District at Goole on December 13th was made memorable by the presence of the Mayor and Mayoress of Goole. There was a Christmas tea for the 85 ringers and friends, an iced Christmas cake having been made for the occasion by Mrs. J. J. Taylor, of Goole. This was cut by Mr. A. E. Sellers, of Beverley Minster, the oldest ringer present. Thanks to the Mayor (Mrs. Campling) and the Mayoress (Miss Campling) were expressed by Mr. L. M. Woodhead, and the Mayor replied by welcoming the Association to Goole.

Mr. Sellers presided at the business meeting, when the following new members were elected: Miss Elizabeth Mortimer and Mr. Alan Grundy (Selby Abbey), Miss Frances Fairbank and Mr. Malcolm Lincoln (Beverley Minster). An invitation to hold the next meeting at Howden was unanimously accepted. A vote of thanks was passed to the Vicar (Rev. M. Hanson) for conducting the service, and to Mrs. J. J. Taylor for the Christmas cake and tea arrangements. Both replied; Mrs. Taylor remarking that she enjoyed working for ringers and the Church.

Church Bell Hired by Americans

A 17th century 5 cwt. bell from the disused Church of St. John, Stanton, West Suffolk, was hired two years ago by the U.S.A.F. at Shepherd's Grove base for 50 dollars a year. With the closing of the base shortly the bell is to be returned to the Stanton Parochial Church Council.

The bell has been hung on a tripod outside the base chapel. Prior to that the bell had not been rung for 50 years.

Capt. J. W. Prigden, the base chaplain, recalled that at his last station in Louisiana the chapel had used a brass bell from an old railway train, and at another base in Missouri a bell from an old steamship which plied the Mississippi.

BARNSLEY & DISTRICT SOCIETY

The meeting at Wakefield Cathedral, with ringing in the afternoon at Sandal, on December 13th, was attended by representatives from 14 towers.

The president (Mr. Noel F. Moxon) presided at the business meeting which followed tea in the Brook Street School. Mr. Harold Chant announced that 'The Ringing World' was publishing a history of the Society in connection with its jubilee year. It would be given in instalments. The Editor hoped it would induce more young members of the Society to take the journal. Mr. John W. Moxon (Sandal) supported this appeal.

One new member, Roger Turbitt, of Shelley, was elected. The Society's jubilee year would start with the annual meeting at Barnsley on January 10th.

Proposing a vote of thanks to the Provost, the president also thanked Mr. John E. Kirby, the local company for arrangements and the ladies for the tea. The Rev. Parry Oakden replied on behalf of the Wakefield company. The Sandal company was also thanked.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD

North Dorset Branch

Thirty-five ringers representing 15 towers were present at the annual meeting of the North Dorset Branch held at Sherborne on December 13th. The Guild Office was conducted by the Rev. R. A. Wells (hon. secretary) in the Abbey, the lesson read by the Rev. R. Longridge and the address given by the Vicar (Canon Wingfield-Digby).

The annual meeting was held after tea at Coombs Café, with the Rev. R. S. Chaffey Moore in the chair. The interim statement of accounts showed a balance in hand of just over £30.

It was announced that the hon. secretary, having served for three years, had asked to resign, and that Mr. B. Powlesland, one of the Ringing Masters, had also resigned on leaving the district. The following elections were made: Chairman, the Rev. R. G. Chaffey Moore; vice-chairman, the Rev. R. A. Wells; hon. secretary, the Rev. R. N. Longridge; Ringing Masters, Messrs. W. Shute, B. Ridout and A. E. Woods; committee, Mr. J. Ralph and Mrs. D. M. Wright. The Archdeacon of Dorset was elected an honorary member.

Meetings in 1959 will be held on the first Saturday of each third month, instead of the second Saturday as at present. Those provisionally fixed were: Compton Abbas (March), Yetminster (June), Motcombe (September) and Blandford (December), subject to the approval of the new incumbent.

A donation of 2 gns. is to be sent in response to an appeal by Mere for new ropes. At Branch services it was decided to take a collection for a fund to meet belfry needs. The meeting ended with the usual votes of thanks.

Ringing was resumed at 6.30 p.m.; parties also visited Lillington and Yetminster.

ROUND AND ROUND CHELTENHAM

Amid the fog on November 29th, ringers from St. Albans and South Wales joined forces for a day's ringing around Cheltenham. The party of 15 represented nine towers.

The two cars met head-on in a narrow road near Chedworth, Glos, and it was on the six bells at Chedworth that the day's programme started, with Plain Bob Minor. The easy-going eight at Prestbury were followed by Bishop's Cleeve's beautiful octave.

After a short break for lunch and getting lost in the fog, Leckhampton was finally reached. This is one of the five rings in Britain where the ropes hang in the chancel. The heavy-going six at Brockworth were perhaps not the best bells to choose for our first attempt of London.

Upton St. Leonards and Barnwood were visited before the party divided. The St. Albans car vanished into the fog in search of the meeting at Tewkesbury Abbey, while the Cardiff party rang a course of Cambridge at Churchdown, Grandsire, Stedman and Bob Minimus on the five at Swindon Village, and Grandsire, Stedman, Cambridge and Kent at Great Witcombe.

We left Gloucester after satisfying various thirsts and appetites at 9.30 p.m., with thoughts of thanks to incumbents and tower captains who made such an enjoyable day possible. C. C.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

THE PEAL AT BOW, E.3

Dear Sir,—The correspondence columns of 'The Ringing World' are nearly always interesting, very often surprising and even, as in the issue of December 5th, astonishing. Firstly, we get a letter from the Rector of Bow denying that he had given permission for a peal, yet only in the previous paragraph saying: 'The ringers obtained my keys from the Rectory.' This seems to be another case where there is disagreement after the event has taken place, and I feel, in fairness to both sides, that the Exercise at large, and the public in Bow, should know the truth behind this peal attempt. I myself know nothing of the details, but I do know some of the ringers concerned. They are men of integrity, and I cannot believe that they would do anything to bring themselves into disrepute.

Surely the solution is obvious. Either the rector had been properly approached, and had given permission for a peal, or else the band 'grabbed' the tower under false pretences. If the former is the case, then presumably the organiser of the peal had written to the rector and received a reply. It can hardly have been a refusal since the keys were obtained from the Rectory. If these letters are in existence (and I should hope they have been kept), they should be submitted to two responsible persons, such as the president of the Guild for which the peal was rung and, on the rector's side, to a senior clergyman in the diocese. Their findings should be published in 'The Ringing World' and in the local papers circulating in Bow. If the rector really had given permission for a peal, then he should have the courage to admit to his angry parishioners that the blame was entirely his. If on the other hand the peal was obtained by false pretences, the organisers should be censured by the appropriate Guild.

It may well be that the rector will claim he gave permission to ring, but not for so long a time. I should find it difficult to believe that he did not know what the term 'peal' meant: as incumbent of a church with a famous ring of bells, and as one so senior (he signs himself also Rural Dean), he must have this knowledge.

May I suggest that all peal organisers in writing their requests, for their own protection and for the good name of the Exercise, put down quite clearly not only the time they hope to begin ringing but also the time they expect to stop. There can never be any doubt then, and the blame cannot come back on the ringers.

And now to my second, and greater, piece of astonishment. Is Mr. Ernest J. Rowe really advocating that the public should do violence to ringers who displease them, and even disable them? Read his letter in any way, and I cannot make it mean anything else — it is not, surely, facetious? This is irresponsible talk from one who is a ringer. I can assure Mr. Rowe, and any members of the 'belligerent' public, that if I suffer at their hands, they will not only face an assault charge but find themselves defending an action for damages in the civil courts. But perhaps they would not care to try.—Yours sincerely,

D. J. NEAL SMITH.

Twickenham, Middlesex.

EVENING PEALS IN BUILT-UP AREAS

Dear Sir,—Surely the time has now come for us all to ponder very seriously the harmful effects that the Exercise can suffer as a result of adverse criticism by the clergy and the public concerning evening peal ringing in congested localities on occasions other than those of national rejoicing or important local celebration. In London and environs building land is now very scarce and many of our beautiful churches find themselves completely surrounded by new housing estates, etc. The old battle cry of 'The bells were here first, therefore thou shalt endure' is out of date, and a more realistic approach to the problem must be made if we are to prevent situations arising such as the aftermath of the Bow affair and the embarrassment caused to members attending the Middlesex Association meeting at Twickenham resulting from a visiting band ringing an evening peal in the same week 'for the 626th anniversary of the foundation of the Church!'.

If we wish to indulge in evening peals in 'difficult' localities then why not make a concerted effort to soundproof the towers concerned for such occasions? The vast majority of evening peals are rung purely for the personal pleasure of the participants. The discordance left in the wake of these itinerant weeknight pealers reflects unfairly on the local bands who are the ones left to face the music! There are not many towers that do not lend themselves to temporary soundproofing or sound reducing treatments, and I am sure that the publication in 'The Ringing World' of various practical methods would be of interest to all concerned. With towers suitably treated in this way evening peal ringing could be a blessing instead of the curse that it is now becoming.

During the past year the enthusiastic young band of beginners at St. Peter's, Staines, led by John Taylor, have, of their own volition, carried out a house-to-house canvass on both sides of the river in order to sound local inhabitants, churchgoer and non-churchgoer alike, on their attitude to bells in general and concerning our activities at St. Peter's in particular. This voluntary survey has done much to create further local interest in our art. We enjoy the goodwill of the local residents but limit peal attempts for personal enjoyment to four per year. In this way we hope to maintain the happy relationship which now exists in this area.—Yours faithfully, RONALD I. SHEPHERD.

Staines, Middlesex.

GOSPEL OAK BELLS

Dear Sir,—I entirely agree with E. J. Rowe's letter re Gospel Oak bells (page 811). I was for many years a member of that band. We met regularly twice on Sundays, and if we did not ring out the old year and ring in the new, the residents wanted to know why.

Those were the days when we had vicars who liked to hear the bells ringing. St. Martin's, Gospel Oak, was a very keen centre for 6-bell ringing. The following are some of the well-known ringers who used to attend, unfortunately now departed: Messrs. R. Beven, F. Smith, A. Newlands, G. Newson, A. E. Bonfield and W. J. Norton. The last named is still with us.—Yours faithfully, R. NEWMAN.

PHOTOGRAPHS OF CELEBRITIES

Dear Sir, — A paragraph in Mr. Wilfred Wilson's excellent and interesting notes on 'Campanology' in the issue of 'The Ringing World' of December 5th, expressing the hope of the editor of that journal to 'publish photographs of ringers who have rendered good service to the Exercise,' prompts me to say how much I feel that publication today of a series of such photographs would be of real interest to the great majority of your readers.

Although I have had the privilege and pleasure of meeting and ringing with many of the leading members of the Exercise in the southern half of the country—I am proud of the fact that the late J. Armiger Trollope conducted my first peal—my knowledge of the leading ringers of the Midlands and the North is very little, despite the fact that many are household names through continually appearing in our paper. I am therefore of the opinion that a weekly series of photographs of ringers who come within the category defined above by the Editor of 'Campanology' would be most interesting to those readers in a similar position as myself.

The photograph of Mr. Albert Walker, of Birmingham, in this week's issue enhances my views on this subject and is a case in point as, although I feel I know Mr. Walker through his many splendid performances throughout the years, I have never had the pleasure of meeting him personally, and the publication of his photograph is most interesting.—Yours, etc.

Wembley. ERNEST H. KILBY.

ST. ALDATE'S, OXFORD

Dear Sir,—Your readers may be interested to learn that the six bells of St. Aldate's Church, Oxford, are now with Messrs. John Taylor, being cleaned and retuned. On their return to the tower, we hope some time in March or April, they will be rehung in a new iron frame and on ball-bearings, and will be fitted with new clappers, new wheels and headstocks, etc. In fact, to quote Mr. Paul Taylor: 'St. Aldate's bells will be outstanding amongst the Oxford rings for perfection and ease in going order.'

Unfortunately, the job is much bigger and more costly than was originally anticipated, for when a Faculty was applied for the architect insisted that the bells should be rehung in a lower position in the tower, necessitating also the lowering of the bell-chamber floor and the ringing room ceiling. This turned out to be a good thing, because when removed they, and the old oak frame, were found to have been badly attacked by beetle.

Over the years, possibly because of its situation in the very centre of Oxford, our tower has had the pleasure in teaching very many ringers, both students and townsmen, their first steps in change-ringing. Very many of them will no doubt remember my predecessor, the late Albert Barrett, who delighted in this work and who we still try to emulate.

It has therefore occurred to us that some of these people (and, we hope, some of those who have not yet rung on our bells but who may some time in the future) might like to make a donation to this restoration work. We can only say that if they do, their kindness will be very greatly appreciated. Gifts may be sent to me or direct to the Rector, marked 'Bell Fund.'—Yours sincerely, J. VENN

(Tower Captain).

RINGING AT BOW

Dear Sir,—I note that the band who rang the peal at Bow on November 19th consisted mainly of tower and peal snatchers. I am pretty certain that not one single member of this band has ever rung here for Sunday service. The local people do not like the bells at the best of times.

The Rector (Rev. Francis Mettrick), who I should say is one of the staunchest supporters of the Exercise, has agreed to ringing in small doses. Ninety-nine per cent. of the ringing for Sunday services has been carried out by the London County Association, who have endeavoured to stick to the rules at other times. Not so the gate-crashers—they like to stir everyone, especially round about 9 p.m.

In view of this conduct the Rector is deciding whether to ban all but service ringing. If this came about perhaps it would teach some ringers to be less selfish in the future.—Yours sincerely,

Romford, Essex. L. W. BULLOCK.

WOULDHAM BELLS

Dear Sir,—With reference to letters which have been appearing recently in 'The Ringing World' about unringable towers in Kent, it may be of interest to you that Wouldham bells, quoted by one of your correspondents as being unringable, are in fact ringable. A local band has been formed during the past year, but I am unable to say how it is progressing. I understand that the bells go rather heavily.—Yours faithfully,

MAURICE E. DOWNS.

East Malling, Kent.

LITTLE HEATH BELLS

Dear Sir,—Under Great Ilford—St. James', Little Heath, Deedes and Walters in 'The Church Bells of Essex' give the church as built in 1862, and the five bells (tenor 5 cwt. 2 qr. 22 lb. in C) all cast in 1872 by John Warner and Sons, London.—Yours faithfully, Danbury, Essex. J. E. G. ROAST.

THE NORWICH ASSOCIATION

The Eastern Branch held their usual winter meeting at Acle on December 6th. The service was conducted by the Rector (Rev. E. W. Alexander), whose inspiring address drew as its theme the Rector's own ringing progress since he came to the parish a year ago and straight away started to learn to ring. The Rev. G. C. Galley was the organist.

The meeting, presided over by the Branch chairman (Mr. E. R. Goate), supported by the Association and Branch officials, stood in silence in memory of Mr. James Spaulding, of Eccles, who had died since the last meeting.

Miss Anne Moore, Miss Susan Hubbard and Mr. Frank Balls were elected probationary members. Loddon was voted as the venue for the Branch annual meeting on February 14th.

Hearty votes of thanks were accorded the Rector, organist, and Mr. and the Misses Lidbetter for the excellent tea arrangements.

THE EXTENT OF GRANDSIRE CATERS

Dear Sir,—Some time ago you were good enough to publish an inquiry from me about James Hewett's composition of 362,880 Grandsire Caters. An interesting reply from Mr. Edgar Shepherd appeared in your columns, and in addition, Mr. William H. Hewett very kindly lent me his copy of the figures, which was given to him some 50 years ago by an old London ringer, William Weatherstone, of whom it was noted in these columns a few years ago that as a staunch Nonconformist he would never ring on a Sunday, while as a cabinet-maker by trade he also never worked on a Monday. Mr. Hewett adds that it was he who started him on change-ringing.

I feel that as a matter of general interest and as a greater safeguard against the figures of such an unusual composition being lost, their publication in 'The Ringing World' would be a good idea, and I enclose a copy.—Yours faithfully,

E. A. BARNETT.

This five times repeated, omitting the single at the halfway and the end, completes the peal.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD

Guildford District

The nomination meeting of the Guildford District was held at Ewhurst on December 13th. Ringing began on the eight bells of the Parish Church at 3 p.m. and continued in a variety of methods until 4.30, when a service was conducted by the Rector, the Rev. J. de C. Bensted.

Afterwards, tea was taken in the Church Hall, and this was followed by a business meeting, at which all the present officers of the District were nominated to serve for a further twelve months.

Ringing throughout the afternoon and evening was directed by the District Ringing Master, Mr. T. Mark White.

BALDOCK RINGERS' DINNER

Interest in ringing tunes on handbells is no new matter at Baldock, and after the traditional dinner, held at the Rose and Crown on December 13th, a feature of the evening was the ringing of 'Hark! the herald-angels sing' by a band consisting of the rector, the curate, the churchwardens and the churchwardens' wives—none of whom are ringers.

After an excellent meal there were brief speeches by Canon F. C. Brenchley, Mr. J. Welch (president of the Herts Association) and Mr. E. G. Buck (captain of the Guild). Unfortunately, a peal attempt of Cambridge was unsuccessful during the afternoon, but everyone enjoyed the dinner.

CHANGE RINGER MARK II

By E. A. BARNETT

MANY readers will probably recall the occasional notes and comments which have appeared in these pages during the past five years about a ringing machine being constructed by Professors R. J. Walker and J. Kiefer, of the Department of Mathematics, Cornell University, New York. News of this project first came as the result of a short letter from the writer which appeared in 'The New Yorker' early in 1953, and this has led to an interesting and pleasurable correspondence which has continued at intervals ever since.

'Change Ringer Mark II' was completed just over a year ago, a party at which it was the 'guest of honour' being held on June 1st, 1957. Of the party, Professor Walker wrote:—

'The machine behaved very well at its inaugural, although it did make a few mistakes; it is by no means perfected as yet. Fortunately the mistakes were not serious (the changing mechanism would stick and the same change would be repeated several times) and nobody noticed it but Jack and I. We had nearly a hundred guests at the party and most of them were quite interested in their introduction to change ringing—or else they were very polite.'

Details of the construction of the machine, together with a copy of an explanatory note handed out at the time, have recently come to hand. The note is headed 'Something About Change Ringing,' and goes on:—

'"You'll remember, my lord, that you starts by making the first snapping lead with the treble and after that you goes into the slow hunt till she comes down to snap with you again."

'"Right you are," said Wimsey. "And after that I make the thirds and fourths."

'"That's so, my lord. And then it's three steps forward and one step back till you lay the blows behind".'

Such is the quaint but incomprehensible language which has introduced the art of change ringing to many Americans in Dorothy L. Sayers' 'The Nine Tailors.' Miss Sayers goes on to explain—

'The art of change ringing is peculiar to the English, and like most English peculiarities, unintelligible to the rest of the world. To the musical Belgian, for example, it appears that the proper thing to do with a carefully-tuned ring of bells is to play a tune upon it. By the English campanologist, the playing of tunes is considered to be a childish game, only fit for foreigners; the proper use of bells is to work out mathematical permutations and combinations . . . . To the ordinary man . . . the pealing of bells is a monotonous jangle and a nuisance, tolerable only when mitigated by remote distance and sentimental association.'

By way of explanation of change ringing, let us consider the ringing of the full peal of changes on four bells: a 'change' is merely an arrangement of the four bells in some order, a 'peal' is a sequence of different changes (a short peal is a 'touch'), and the full peal is the collection of all possible changes—24 on four bells. Bells are designated by numbers, from 1 for the treble or highest pitched bell down to 4 for the tenor (probably so called because there were often ten bells in churches). The bells start out in 'rounds':—

(a) 1 2 3 4

For a second change, how about 4321? That would be very difficult to achieve in a church since the tenor would be rung last on one change and first on the next, and it would take a superman on the rope of bell 4 to obtain such a result when the bells are being rung with at most a short pause between changes. In fact, in England (and in Mark II) a bell never alters its position by more than one place in going from one place to the next. Thus, alternately interchanging the bells from the first two and last two positions, and then in the middle two positions, in going from change to change, we would have the 'hunting course' (note the pattern of any individual bell's movement):—

(a) 1 2 3 4
(b) 2 1 4 3
(c) 2 4 1 3
(d) 4 2 3 1
(e) 4 3 2 1
(f) 3 4 1 2
(g) 3 1 4 2
(h) 1 3 2 4

At this point a continuation of our pattern would bring us back to rounds (order (a)) before we had rung all the desired changes. So a slight deviation is introduced into our pattern at this point: the bell which has just come from the first or 'lead' position stays in second position for one change while those in third and fourth positions 'dodge,' and then goes back to lead position again:—

(i) 1 3 4 2
(j) 3 1 2 4
(k) 3 2 1 4
(l) 2 3 4 1
(m) 2 4 3 1
(n) 4 2 1 3
(o) 4 1 2 3
(p) 1 4 3 2

at which point our alteration in pattern must again be introduced so as not to repeat change (i). In the lovely language of change ringing, 'the bell the treble takes from lead makes second's place and returns to lead again, while the bells behind dodge':—

(q) 1 4 2 3

and so on, to

(x) 1 2 4 3
(y) 1 2 3 4

This particular 'method,' or rule for going from change to change, is called 'Plain Bob.' We have indicated the ringing of Plain Bob Singles, the word 'singles' meaning four bells. Other numbers of bells (from 5 to 12) are designated by 'Doubles, Minor, Triples, Major, Quatores (pronounced 'katers'), Royal Cinques and Maximus.' Other methods have such nice names as Kent Treble Bob, Grandsire, Double Norwich Court Bob, Stedman, Yorkshire Surprise, etc. All methods must be simple enough patterns to be executed by the ringers (one to each bell-rope) rapidly and without recourse to any charts. Consequently, on more than four bells, the bells would come back into rounds after only a few lead-ends (the second of the two consecutive changes when the treble is in lead), were not further slight modifications occasionally introduced. These are called 'bobs' and 'singles,' and are called by the conductor (usually one of the ringers) at appropriate times. You may have read, about a year ago, of the failure in England of the first attempt to ring the full peal of 40,320 changes on eight bells (usual peals are of about 5,000 changes and take three hours): the conductor forgot to call a bob about half way through!

Mark II is so named because there was a Mark I, which unfortunately did not work. (Mark II inherited some tendencies in this direction, too.) In the early stages of work on the machines, correspondence was initiated with Mr. E. A. Barnett, hon. secretary-treasurer of the Central Council of Church Bell Ringers. Surprisingly, he was not appalled at such an attempt to mechanise this 300-year-old art, and even sent descriptions of previous attempts to construct such devices. 'The Ringing World,' of which you will find several copies scattered about, has printed occasional descriptions of progress on the machines, and lists Mark I's salute to Her Majesty on the occasion of her coronation. (It also interested one young Englishman in suggesting by mail that he take a Ph.D. in change ringing at Cornell.) Most of the construction of Mark II was carried out by Mr. Donald Stevens as his senior engineering project two years ago.

ELECTRICAL RINGING—ANOTHER VIGOROUS PROTEST

A vigorous answer to the decision of the Lichfield Consistory Court regarding the installation of electrical bell-ringing in the churches of Ashley and Bagnall, which was also reported in the 'Birmingham Post and Gazette,' has been given by Mr. Edgar Shepherd in a letter to that newspaper. Mr. Shepherd wrote:—

'Dear Sir,—The news of the installation of bell-ringing apparatus at Ashley and Bagnall, noted in "Talk of the Midlands" on November 11th, will bring sadness to the hearts of many of us who have been brought up to believe that the Church should stand for truth and sincerity in its worship and oppose an uncompromising militancy to all forms of sham.

'Synthetic bells, and all apparatus designed to simulate the sound of bells being rung, have been condemned by leaders of both Church and laity, and as recently as October, 1956, the Lord Archbishop of York, speaking at the annual dinner of the Yorkshire Association of Change Ringers, said: "I regard this as one of the most bogus frauds of Christendom." "The Bradford Telegraph" followed this up by reminding us that bell-ringing is an act of worship, and the leader writer went on: "If it is to be replaced by a gramophone because sufficient ringers cannot be enlisted, then it might as well be dispensed with altogether. . . . The bells must ring out again; but their song must come from the hands and hearts of men, not from the mechanical lungs of an ecclesiastical juke box."

'The notion that bell-ringing is a dying art is a strange one, and it would be very interesting to learn upon what information the Rev. David H. N. Wells has based his statement. It is true that in some districts there are few ringers: indeed, where there are no bells it is not reasonable to expect to find ringers. The art of ringing is very old; and far from there being any sign of its demise, the fact is that there has been an astonishing growth of the practice, and at the present time it is probably flourishing far more than it has ever done. In addition to the great network of territorial and Diocesan Guilds that covers Great Britain and both parts of Ireland, there are ringing societies in the leading universities, in the training colleges and secondary schools, and even in some primary schools, so that young men and maidens, old men and children join week by week in this wonderful act of praise, seeking to perfect themselves in their art, to the glory of God.—Yours faithfully,

EDGAR C. SHEPHERD,

Vice-President and Librarian, The St. Martin's Guild of Church Bell Ringers for the Diocese of Birmingham.'

Thorpe, Surrey, Bells Ring Again

For many years the three bells of St. Mary's, Thorpe, near Chertsey, have been unsafe to ring, owing to dry rot in the bell frame. Restoration work costing £400 has been undertaken. The bells have been recast by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank into a ring of four, but it is hoped eventually to have a ring of six. For the time being the bells are hung stationary.

The tenor of the old ring was cast by Richard Phelps, of the Whitechapel Foundry, the middle bell by William Eldridge, of Chertsey, in 1693, and the other by Thomas Swan, of Longford, Middlesex, in 1753.

OBITUARY

Mr. B. H. Swinson—An Appreciation

The late Bernard H. Swinson, who died in Jersey, C.I., on November 17th, would not be known to a lot of ringers. He learned to ring as a teenager in his native St. Albans, and did most of his ringing there and in London. Shortly after passing his 21st birthday, his employment took him abroad and he found himself sojourning in Egypt. Later he served in Colombia, Venezuela, U.S.A. and Canada.

It was in Venezuela that I first met him. He always took 'The Ringing World,' and it was from an announcement in the journal that he learned of the impending arrival in Venezuela of my wife and myself. Apart from business colleagues, he was the first person we met in Venezuela, and such was his interest in ringing matters that the arrival of a kindred spirit was an event to him, and he made it his business to seek me out at the earliest opportunity—actually within ten minutes of arrival in Caracas.

Naturally, most of our conversations centred on ringing and ringers, and the question arose—could we do any handbell ringing? Bernard and myself were the only two who could ring, so we had to find another to ring two handbells in order to do anything worth while. My wife, who had no previous knowledge of ringing, volunteered to fill the breach and we were able to start regular practices. This in time led to the ringing of several peals of Doubles, and nobody was more delighted with, or enthusiastic about these modest performances than Bernard. Altogether we rang ten peals—eight in Venezuela, including the first on the South American Continent, and two in the U.S.A.

Although debarred for so long from practical ringing by circumstances beyond his control, he was keenly interested in the mysteries of composition, and published at least one meritorious peal of Stedman Triples. He had also composed several peals in plain major methods, and had contributed articles and correspondence to 'The Ringing World.'

He retired towards the end of 1957 and took up residence in Jersey in January of this year, looking forward to a long and happy retirement. However, this was not to be, and his death, which was not preceded by any illness, came suddenly. I am sure I will be expressing the feelings of those who knew him when I say how sorry we were to learn of his death, and in extending sympathy to Mrs. Swinson.

For our part, my wife and I will be ever grateful to Bernard and Mrs. Swinson for the kindness they showed to us when we were strangers in a strange land—a true example of the brotherhood fostered by our art. R. P.

MORE BELFRY GOSSIP

A maiden effort worth noting was the peal of Doubles in three methods at Nash, Monmouthshire, on December 6th. It was the first peal for five of the band, and the conductor, who had rung a peal previously, was calling his first peal.

Almost three years ago to the day, Mr. Roy Towler scored a quarter peal at Woodstock, Cape Town. Being on leave from Basutoland, he popped in to see the Cape Town ringers and have his usual quarter. He had not touched a rope since his last visit.

Scorton, Lancashire, commemorated the silver wedding anniversary of two of the band—Messrs. J. Metcalfe and Richard P. Davis—not only with a peal but a splendid repast afterwards, attended by the band, their wives and friends, and also the Vicar and his wife. Many parts of the peal had been recorded by Mr. Thomas Moss, and these were played back together with previous ringing on the back six bells. The recordings brought out the beautiful tone of the bells. The hostesses were heartily thanked for their hospitality.
