Central Council of Church Bell Ringers

Principle 1 – Organisational Purpose: The board is clear about the charity’s aims and ensures that these are being delivered effectively and sustainably.

Rationale

Charities exist to fulfil their charitable purposes. Trustees have a responsibility to understand the environment in which the charity is operating and to lead the charity in fulfilling its purposes as effectively as possible with the resources available. To do otherwise would be failing beneficiaries, funders and supporters.
 The board’s core role is a focus on strategy, performance and assurance.

Key outcomes

The board has a shared understanding of and commitment to the charity’s purposes and can articulate these clearly. See 1.4.1 below

The board can demonstrate that the charity is effective in achieving its charitable purposes and agreed outcomes. See 1.4.2 below.

Recommended Practice	Evidence of application / explanation	Areas for improvement / implementation
1.3 Determining organisational purpose
1.3.1 The board periodically reviews the organisation’s charitable purposes, and the external environment in which it works, to make sure that the charity, and its purposes, stay relevant and valid.	Under Council rules, the Trustees are required to review its objects each 3 years (this review). The Trustees have reviewed the objects as part of this review and have concluded that they continue to reflect the Council’s purposes and are aligned with the external environment in which the Council works.	As with all charities, the Council’s object is to deliver public benefit (as required by its Objects and the Charity Commission). Structurally, the Council is comprised of ringing associations, which could result in unintentional conflict between its duty to member ringing associations and the public benefit. STRATEGY 1 <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Making the Council’s charitable purpose more prominent on its website. - Including an explicit “public benefit test” in major Trustee decisions.
1.3.2 The board leads the development of, and agrees, a strategy or plan	The Trustees have developed a set of Strategic Priorities, published in 2020. These Strategic Priorities have guided decision-making on new	Whilst the Strategic Priorities have been transformative, there is no formal procedure to review them. The Strategic Priorities are published on the Council’s website, but their location is not prominent. that aims to achieve the organisation’s charitable purposes and is clear about the desired outputs, outcomes and impacts.	initiatives, including the establishment of a new residential ringing course courses and the “Cast of 1,000” project. They have in particular highlighted the Council’s role in promoting the advancement of ringing at all levels, and not merely at the recruitment and basic training stage.	STRATEGY 2 – STRATEGIC PRIORITIES <ul style="list-style-type: none"> – Review the Strategic Priorities at least each 3 years and assess progress against them annually. They have been reviewed during 2022/23. – Publish the Strategic Priorities more prominently on the Council’s website.

1.4 Achieving the purpose
1.4.1 All Trustees can explain the charity’s public benefit.	There is generally good awareness of the Council’s charitable purpose, the external environment and consequently those areas where it should act, where it should not and where it should seek partnerships with other ringing organisations.	The “public benefit” test applied by the Charity Commission differs from a ‘layman’s’ interpretation in some areas and excludes some purposes which are commonly regarded as ‘not-for-profit’ or for the community’s benefit. STRATEGY 3 – DEFINITION OF PUBLIC BENEFIT <ul style="list-style-type: none"> – Publish the Charity Commission’s public benefit test more prominently on the Council’s website and include it at the end of each annual report.
1.4.2 The board evaluates the charity’s impact, outputs and outcomes on an ongoing basis.	Oversight is provided through the system of executive sponsorship, where each Workgroup’s activities are sponsored by a named trustee. The Council reviews its performance annually when producing its annual Trustees report and its report to members.	The risk register is not subject to a formal process of review. STRATEGY 4 – RISK REVIEW <ul style="list-style-type: none"> – Formalise the process by which each section of the Risk Review register is revised, perhaps assigning specific sections to nominated pairs of Trustees, to ensure that review of the full register takes place annually. Note on day-to-day management

	The Council has a risk register and performs a governance review each 3 years.	The Council is a small charity which is wholly reliant on volunteer effort, meaning that Trustees often become actively involved in initiatives rather than restrict their role to an oversight function. As a result there is no institutional division between management and oversight. Large charities enforce a clear distinction by establishing separate boards of Trustees and management, each with its own leadership. However, this structure does not always work well and there are well-publicised cases where boards of charity Trustees have become remote from operational detail and ineffective in maintaining oversight over their organisation. Charitable companies will typically have a range of both executive and non-executive directors serving on a single board. Given the Council's size and income, the current structure is regarded as sufficient to meet the organisation's needs for the following reasons: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. there are eight Trustees, all of whom are elected rather than appointed (meaning they come from a range of backgrounds). 2. all material spending or risk decisions require the approval of a trustee meeting and cannot be taken by individual trustees 3. no single initiative involves the active engagement of more than one or two Trustees at any time, meaning that a significant amount of peer review and scrutiny over decisions is provided by the other, unconnected trustees. 4. the Trustees have the power to appoint additional Trustees if additional expertise is required

		5. an increasing workload is being performed at Workgroup level, with the establishment of additional workgroups and task-focused teams. Workgroup Leaders meet informally as a team to discuss operational issues and this approach is encouraged.
1.5 Analysing the external environment and planning for sustainability
1.5.1 The board regularly reviews the sustainability of its income sources and their impact on achieving charitable purposes in the short, medium and longer term.	The Council has a small sustainable source of operating income through its membership subscriptions and return on investment which, as a wholly volunteer organisation, is sufficient to meet its core operating costs. Project funding is generated through specific appeals, stakeholder relationships (such as CCT) and grant applications.	The Council's forecast annual income stream is not sufficient to fund any paid resource, and comes solely from membership fees. Lack of a core admin /technical team has long been a key constraint. Ultimately it is for the Trustees to strike the right balance between the Council's ambition and its funding needs. STRATEGY 5 – RECURRING EXPENSE <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Consider whether there is a need to develop an increased core operating income stream through regular giving or monetisation of existing services to supplement membership income.
1.5.2 Trustees consider the benefits and risks of partnership working, merger or dissolution if other organisations are fulfilling similar charitable purposes more effectively and/or if the charity's viability is uncertain.	Strong relationships exist with the Association of Ringing Teachers (ART), the Ringing World, and other organisations providing services to ringing (such as the Bradfield and Hereford courses). The Council's president and/or deputy president attend ART management committee meetings. The Council also maintains close partnerships with other organisations working in the same field (such as CCT and the Association of Festival Churches). The Council recognises those areas where individual ringing associations should lead

	and those where the Council can add value as a national and international body
1.5.3 The board recognises its broader responsibilities towards communities, stakeholders, wider society and the environment, and acts on them in a manner consistent with the charity’s purposes, values, and available resources.	Trustee meetings are attended by the Council’s Public Relations Officer to help ensure that trustee decisions are mindful of the needs of church, civil society and government. The Council’s charitable objects encourage the place of ringing in communities, with the result that recent projects have included: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • work with the Big Ideas Company to promote ringing among urban and disadvantaged communities • work to promote good safeguarding practices across ringing through partnerships with the Church of England SCIE, ThirtyOne:Eight and Ann Craft Trust. • the Women in Ringing project. • work with schools to develop an appreciation and interest in bell ringing • work with the Churches Conservation Trust to support alternative uses for redundant churches • the Ringing Remembers project The Council has an equality and diversity statement	The Council’s website and publications could do more to emphasise its values and the place of ringing in wider society and to reach out to all communities. STRATEGY 6 – SOCIAL RESPONSIBILITY <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Development of the Council’s website to highlight ways in which ringing inspires and is appreciated by people of all communities - Strengthen the Council’s policy framework to include a code of conduct and additional policies which make clear its stance on matters of bullying, safeguarding, discrimination, complaints and whistleblowing.

Principle 2 – Leadership: Every charity is headed by an effective board that provides strategic leadership in line with the charity’s aims and values.

Rationale

Strong and effective leadership helps the charity adopt an appropriate strategy for effectively delivering its aims. It also sets the tone for the charity, including its vision, values and reputation.

Key outcomes

- The board, as a whole, and trustees individually, accept collective responsibility for ensuring that the charity has a clear and relevant set of aims and an appropriate strategy for achieving them.
- The board agrees the charity’s vision, values and reputation and leads by example, requiring anyone representing the charity reflects its values positively.
- The board makes sure that the charity’s values are reflected in all of its work, and that the ethos and culture of the organisation underpin the delivery of all activities.

Recommended Practice	Evidence of application / explanation	Areas for improvement / implementation
2.1 Leading the charity
2.1.1 The board and individual trustees take collective responsibility for its decisions.	Decisions are made collectively at Executive meetings, notes of which are published and circulated to Council Members.	Busy agendas can lead to restrictions on time, especially for strategic decisions. STRATEGY 7 – EXECUTIVE DECISIONS <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Use of strategies to improve collective decision-making, such as collaborative working among Trustees, circulation of papers for comment ahead of Executive meetings, structured agendas highlighting key points for decision-making and organisation of meeting agendas to give priority to key decisions.
2.1.2 The chair provides leadership to the board and takes responsibility for ensuring the board has agreed priorities, appropriate structures, processes and a productive culture	The Council currently has a highly visible and active President, who has played a key role in the development of the Council’s Strategic Priorities 2020, their agreement by the Executive and presentation to Council Members.	The Council is a small charity, reliant on the effort of a small group of volunteers, including its Trustees. The drive and engagement of the President is important in the work of most Workgroups and Trustees, creating a

He supports Trustees by investing in specific decisions or projects within their areas of responsibility where help is needed.	higher degree of dependency than would be typical in larger organisations with the associated risk of over-commitment or burn-out. STRATEGY 8 - DELEGATION <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Develop greater capacity within Workgroups to enable Trustees to reduce their management responsibilities and focus more time on their governance role.
2.1.3 If the charity has staff, the board makes sure that there are proper arrangements for their appointment, supervision, support, appraisal, remuneration and, if necessary, dismissal.	N/A
2.1.4 If the charity has volunteers, the board makes sure there are proper arrangements for their recruitment, support and supervision.	Volunteers are sought via The Ringing World, social media, a Volunteering section on the Council's website plus its network of contacts. The 'Presidents Blog' brings in potential volunteers and a wider range than previously. The structure of Workgroups with named Executive Sponsors and regular meetings attended by Workgroup Leaders encourages volunteers to connect with Executive members and other Workgroups. As a volunteer organisation, the Council offers considerable scope to volunteers to create or	Success in attracting volunteers remains patchy and the volunteer pool needs to be expanded and refreshed. The Council's small size and dependence on its volunteer-base mean that there is not always an exact match between its resource needs and the skillsets of available volunteers. STRATEGY 9 – VOLUNTEER RECRUITMENT <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Recruit more strategically, giving greater prominence to areas of work where additional volunteer support is needed, and being as clear as possible about the existing skills gaps.

	shape initiatives which are aligned with their own strengths and interests, where these help deliver the Strategic Priorities.
2.1.5 The board's functions are formally recorded. There are role descriptions that define trustees' responsibilities for all trustees that differentiate clearly between the responsibilities those of the chair and other officer positions and outline how these roles relate to staff or volunteers where they exist.	Role descriptions exist for all Trustee roles and define the officers and ordinary Trustees differently. All are published on Council's website. A published organisation structure shows Executive sponsorship roles. The Council's Rules and Standing Orders define the functions and accountability of the Executive and of individual Workgroups.	The Council's small size means that there is not a strong institutional division between management and oversight and varying degrees of blurring exist between being Trustee and working roles. Whilst a degree of overlap is inevitable in a small organisation, this can cause individual Trustees to give less priority to their strategic and oversight roles and to overlook rather than work through established Workgroup structures. Refer to Strategy 8 – Delegation above.
2.1.6 Where the board has agreed to establish a formally constituted subsidiary organisation/s, it is clear about the rationale, benefits and risks of these arrangements. The formal relationship between the parent charity and each of its subsidiaries is clearly recorded and the parent reviews, at appropriate intervals, whether these arrangements continue to best serve the organisation's charitable purposes.	The Council does not currently have any subsidiary organisations and operates as an unincorporated association. Its role is to act as an enabler and to offer strategic direction rather than to operate services directly.	.

2.2.1 The board agrees the values, consistent with the charity's purpose that it wishes to promote and makes sure that these values underpin all its decisions and the charity's activities (see also Principle 1).	The Executive Board has a strong sense of accountability to and shares the values of the Council Members who elect it and through them the ringing associations which they represent. Meetings and discussions reflect the Council's position as a volunteer-driven organisation in which the Trustees rely on the confidence and support of Council Members and ringing societies, from whom they are generally recruited. A number of policies have been developed to underpin the Council's values, including a policy on Conflict of Interest, which requires Trustees and Workgroup Leaders to make an annual declaration and Trustees to consider the potential for conflict of interest at the start of each meeting.	Refer to Strategy 6 – Social Responsibility above
2.2.2 The board recognises respects and welcomes diverse, different and, at times, conflicting trustee views.	The Executive is a group with more diverse ringing experiences than has hitherto been the case and differing views are heard. While individual Trustees lead on some areas, challenge from “non-experts” in the areas under discussion is respected. The President encourages all Trustees to speak.	The diverse ringing and professional backgrounds of the Executive are published at the time they are elected by Council Members, but do not appear on the Council's website. STRATEGY 10 – TRUSTEE BACKGROUNDS - Publish biographies of trustees on the Council website. There have been no face to face Executive meetings for two years due to the COVID pandemic with the result that opportunities for collaborative working and informal

2.2.4 The board supports any staff or volunteers to feel confident and able to provide the information, advice and feedback necessary to the board.	The Executive sponsorship system ensures that each Workgroup Leader communicates regularly with a named Trustee and can use this route to inform board decisions. Further interaction with Workgroup Leaders takes place through quarterly Executive meetings with workgroup leads.	Quarterly meetings tend to focus on the priorities of the Trustees rather than candid feedback from Workgroup Leaders. There is no formal mechanism by which Workgroup Members and other volunteers can speak up where they feel something should be improved. Volunteers may not be certain about the degree to which the Trustees will be receptive to feedback. STRATEGY 11 - FEEDBACK <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - The Trustee board would benefit from more regular feedback from Workgroup leaders on the support they receive from the Trustees, the frequency and format of the existing quarterly meetings with the Executive.

2.3.1 All trustees give sufficient time to the charity to carry out their responsibilities effectively. This includes preparing for meetings and sitting on board committees and other governance bodies where needed. The expected time commitment is made clear to trustees before nomination or appointment and again on acceptance of nomination or appointment.	Trustees are generally well prepared before Executive meetings and prompt meeting/action notes have improved follow up.	Trustee Role Descriptions do not currently indicate the expected time commitment. STRATEGY 12 – TRUSTEE ROLE DESCRIPTIONS <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Enhance Trustee Role descriptions to indicate the expected time commitment. The Microsoft Teams platform employed by the Council is designed for use in a corporate environment where all resources, including email, workflow and documents are held and managed centrally. Some Trustees and volunteers find it difficult to run the tools available within Teams alongside their personal business and/or volunteering for other organisations. STRATEGY 13 – TEAMS PLATFORM <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Develop additional training on the way in which Trustees and volunteers use the Teams platform to collaborate.
2.3.2 Where individual board members are also involved in operational activities, for example as volunteers, they are clear about the capacity in which they are acting at any given time and understand what they are and are not authorised to do and to whom they report.	Where Trustees work directly on initiatives, the small size of the Council and the requirement for Executive approval of key decisions, including expenditure commitments over £1,000, ensures that information is routinely shared with other Executive members.	Refer to Strategy 8 – Delegation above.

Principle 3 – Integrity: The board acts with integrity. It adopts values, applies ethical principles to decisions and creates a welcoming and supportive culture which helps achieve the charity’s purposes. The board is aware of the significance of the public’s confidence and trust in charities. It reflects the charity’s ethics and values in everything it does. Trustees undertake their duties with this in mind.

Rationale

Delivering the charity’s purposes for public benefit should be at the heart of everything the board does. This is true even when a board’s decision might be unpopular. Everyone who comes into contact with a charity should be treated with dignity and respect and feel that they are in a safe and supportive environment. Charity leaders should show the highest levels of personal integrity and conduct.

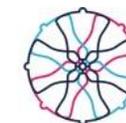

To achieve this, trustees should create a culture that supports the charity’s values, adopt behaviours and policies in line with the values and set aside any personal interests or loyalties. The board should understand and address any inappropriate power dynamics to avoid damaging the charity’s reputation, public support for its work and delivery of its aims.

Key outcomes

- The board acts in the best interests of the charity’s purposes and its beneficiaries, creating a safe, respectful and welcoming environment for those who come into contact with it.
- The board makes objective decisions about delivering the charity’s purposes. It is not unduly influenced by those who may have special or personal interests. This applies whether trustees are elected, nominated, or appointed. Collectively, the board is independent in its decision making.
- No one person or group has undue power or influence in the charity. The board recognises how individual or organisational power can affect dealings with others.
- The board safeguards and promotes the charity’s reputation by living its values and by extension promotes public confidence in the wider sector.
- Trustees and those working for or representing the charity are seen to act with honesty, trustworthiness and care, and support its values.

The Council's constitution provides a number of checks and balances, requiring that significant financial and governance decisions must be presented to and ratified by Council members. A system of authorisation limits is applied over financial decisions. The Council's rules require the Trustees to obtain the endorsement of the Council's Members for key financial decisions.	Whistleblowing Policy which would support an individual Trustee taking action in the unlikely event that the normal decision-making process failed. Refer to Strategy 6 – Social Responsibility

Principle 4 – Decision making, risk and control: The board makes sure that its decision-making processes are informed, rigorous and timely, and that effective delegation, control and risk-assessment, and management systems are set up and monitored.

Rationale

The board is ultimately responsible for the decisions and actions of the charity but it cannot and should not do everything. The board may be required by statute or the charity’s governing document to make certain decisions but, beyond this, it needs to decide which other matters it will make decisions about and which it can and will delegate. Trustees delegate authority but not ultimate responsibility, so the board needs to implement suitable financial and related controls and reporting arrangements to make sure it oversees these delegated matters. Trustees must also identify and assess risks and opportunities for the organisation and decide how best to deal with them, including assessing whether they are manageable or worth taking.

Key outcomes

- The board is clear that its main focus is on strategy, performance and assurance, rather than operational matters, and reflects this in what it delegates.
- The board has a sound decision-making and monitoring framework which helps the organisation deliver its charitable purposes. It is aware of the range of financial and non-financial risks it needs to monitor and manage.
- The board promotes a culture of sound management of resources but also understands that being over-cautious and risk averse can itself be a risk and hinder innovation.
- Where aspects of the board’s role are delegated to committees, staff, volunteers or contractors, the board keeps responsibility and oversight.

Purchase of packaged website, internet and enterprise software services. Typical suppliers are established corporations who supply the same services to many thousands of customers globally and in the UK. 2. 4.3 Actively managing risks
4.3.1 The board retains overall responsibility for risk management and discusses and decides the level of risk it is prepared to accept for specific and combined risks.	A risk register is published on the Council's website.	There has been no structured discussion on risk appetite. This is sometimes a complex area to understand and will need time and space to focus on it. Refer to Strategy 4 – Risk Review
4.3.2 The board regularly reviews the charity's specific significant risks and the effect of these risks added together. It makes plans to mitigate and manage these risks appropriately. Trustees consider risk that relates to their situation and where they work, for example charities working with children or vulnerable adults will probably look at risks relating to safeguarding.	Regular discussions of risk now take place in Exec meetings.	The risk register focuses on operational, financial and some reputational risks, but does not cover strategic risks and important external factors which may significantly impact the Council's ability to achieve its charitable objects. STRATEGY 19 – STRATEGIC RISK - See 4.3.1 and use the Charity Commission document CC26: Charities and Risk Management to include a broader view of risk.

charity's approach to risk at least every year. The board describes the charity's approach to risk in its annual report and in line with regulatory requirements.
4.4 Appointing external examiners or auditors
4.4.1 The board agrees and oversees an effective process for appointing and reviewing its external examiners or auditors if they are required.	The Council's constitution requires that one or two independent examiners are elected annually by the Council's members). The Trustees actively identify suitably qualified candidates and encourage them to put their names forward. The Council's rules allow the Independent Examiner(s) to receive professional help where appropriate, minimising any key person dependency.

Principle 5 – Board effectiveness: The board works as an effective team, using the appropriate balance of skills, experience, backgrounds and knowledge to make informed decisions.

Rationale

The board has a key impact on whether a charity thrives. The tone the board sets through its leadership, behaviour, culture and overall performance is critical to the charity's success. It is important to have a rigorous approach to trustee recruitment, performance and development, and to the board's conduct. In an effective team, board members feel it is safe to suggest, question and challenge ideas and address, rather than avoid, difficult topics.

Key outcomes

- The board's culture, behaviours and processes help it to be effective; this includes accepting and resolving challenges or different views.
- All trustees have appropriate skills and knowledge of the charity and can give enough time to be effective in their role.
- The chair enables the board to work as an effective team by developing strong working relationships between members of the board and creates a culture where differences are aired and resolved.
- The board takes decisions collectively and confidently. Once decisions are made the board unites behind them and accepts them as binding.

Recommended Practice	Evidence of application / explanation	Areas for improvement / implementation
5.1 Working as an effective team
5.1.1 The board meets as often as it needs to be effective.	There are monthly meetings of the whole board with additional email chat and Zoom meetings of sub-groups. The schedule of meetings is decided well in advance and is also posted on website.
5.1.2 The chair, working with board members and where they exist staff, plans the board's work and meetings, making sure trustees have the information, time and space they need to explore key issues and reach well-considered decisions.	The agenda and relevant documents are usually provided in adequate time.	Refer to Strategy 7 – Executive Decisions.
5.1.3 The board regularly discusses its effectiveness and its ability to work	The board is relatively small and most issues are resolved between individuals informally.	There have been some occasions where communication has not worked well enough and trustees have only been able to

Implementation of previously-agreed Trustee actions is not formally monitored. STRATEGY 20 - TRUSTEE MEETINGS <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Consider a fixed agenda item for all trustees to mention concerns about their own or other areas of work. - Consider a fixed agenda item to cover previously agreed trustee actions, mentioning if they are on-going or completed or stalled
5.1.4 Where significant differences of opinion arise, trustees take time to consider the range of perspectives and outcomes, respecting all viewpoints and the value of compromise in board discussions.	Disagreements are generally further discussed outside the formal full meetings, either by subgroups or by personal exchange of views. As above, this works in most but not all situations.	As above (5.1.3)
5.1.5 The board collectively can get independent, professional advice in areas such as governance, the law and finance. This is either on a pro-bono basis or at the charity's expense if needed for the board to discharge its duties.	During 2021 advice was obtained on a pro-bono basis to assist with Risk Management and insurance matters and paid-for advice was received on the development of the Council's safeguarding policy framework. A wide range of professional skills is available to the Trustees from among the Council's members and within the ringing community.

5.2.1 The board has, and regularly considers, the skills, knowledge and experience it needs to govern, lead and deliver the charity's purposes effectively. It reflects this mix in its trustee appointments, balancing the need for continuity with the need to refresh the board.	The board is an elected body so itself is constrained by the range of volunteers willing to stand for election. The Council's rules do however allow for the board to appoint up to two other trustees specifically where necessary to secure an appropriate balance of skills. Workgroup leaders and members are chosen on the basis of their skill set and interests, although the pool of potential volunteers is limited.
5.2.2 The board is big enough that the needs of the charity's work can be carried out and changes to the board's composition can be managed without too much disruption. A board of at least five but no more than twelve trustees is typically considered good practice.	The current size of the board (8 with the potential to appoint two additional trustees where additional skills are required) fits this good practice.
5.3 Overseeing appointments
5.3.1 There is a formal, rigorous and transparent procedure to appoint new trustees to the board, which includes advertising vacancies widely.	Vacancies and forthcoming elections for trustees are well advertised on the Council website, in The Ringing World and on social media. All appointments to date have been by election.
5.3.2 The search for new trustees is carried out, and appointments or nominations for election are made, on merit, against objective criteria and considering the benefits of diversity. The board regularly looks at what skills it has and needs, and this affects how new trustees are found.	Nominees are required to provide a short biographical statement for consideration by Council Members and each individual Each Trustee role is covered by its own role description which clearly sets out the demands of the role and the skills and expertise needed.	The small number numbers willing to stand for election to the Trustee board creates a restriction. Since 2018 no contested elections have occurred. STRATEGY 21 – TRUSTEE RECRUITMENT <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Seek additional ways to publicise the work of trustees and opportunities to serve.

Principle 6 – Equality, Diversity and Inclusion: The board has a clear, agreed and effective approach to supporting equality, diversity and inclusion throughout the organisation and in its own practice. This approach supports good governance and the delivery of the organisation’s charitable purposes.

Rationale

Addressing equality, diversity and inclusion helps a board to make better decisions. This requires commitment, but it means that a charity is more likely to stay relevant to those it serves and deliver its public benefit. Recognising and countering any imbalances in power, perspectives and opportunities in the charity, and in the attitudes and behaviour of trustees, staff and volunteers, help to make sure that a charity achieves its aims. All trustees have the same responsibility for the charity, so they must have equality of opportunity to contribute to decision making. Board diversity, in the widest sense, is important because it creates more balanced decision making. Where appropriate, this includes and centres those communities and people the charity serves. This increases the charity’s legitimacy and impact. Equality and diversity are only effective and sustainable if the board works to be inclusive, ensuring that all trustees are welcomed, valued and able to contribute. Boards that commit to equality, diversity and inclusion are more likely to set a positive example and tone for the charity by following an appropriate strategy for delivering its purpose and setting inclusive values and culture.

Key outcomes

- The principles of equality, diversity and inclusion are embedded in the organisation and help to deliver the charity’s public benefit.
- Obstacles to participation are reduced, with the organisation’s work designed and open for everyone included within its charitable purposes. This supports the charity to challenge inequality and achieve improved equality of outcomes.
- The board is more effective because it reflects different perspectives, experiences and skills, including, where applicable, from current and future beneficiaries

Principle 7 – Openness and accountability: The board leads the organisation in being transparent and accountable.

Rationale

The public’s trust that a charity is delivering public benefit is fundamental to its reputation and success, and by extension, the success of the wider sector. Making accountability real, through genuine and open two-way communication that celebrates successes and demonstrates willingness to learn from mistakes, helps to build this trust and confidence and earn legitimacy.

Key outcomes

- The organisation’s work and impact are appreciated by all its stakeholders.
- The board ensures that the charity’s performance and interaction with its stakeholders are guided by the values, ethics and culture put in place by the board. Trustees make sure that the charity collaborates with stakeholders to promote ethical conduct.
- The charity takes seriously its responsibility for building public trust and confidence in its work.

Central Council of Church Bell Ringers

For Executive Approval – 23rd July, 2023

Recommended Practice	Evidence of application / explanation	Areas for improvement / implementation
	dates of monthly Executive meetings are scheduled in advance and the notes of each meeting are published and circulated to Council Members within 14 days of each meeting.
7.1.3 As part of this strategy, the board thinks about how to communicate how the charity is governed, who the trustees are and the decisions they make.	The Council's website includes a governance section containing a list of all Trustees with contact details. The calendar of Trustee Meetings is published in advance. The Council's rules, standing orders and policies are published in the governance section. A dedicated web page containing an updated list of decisions (including policy positions) is now available as a result of a decision made by the 2021 AGM.	RECOMMENDATION: - Trustee Biographies - refer to 2.2.2
7.1.4 The board ensures that stakeholders have an opportunity to hold the board to account through agreed processes and routes, for example question and answer sessions.	The Council's constitution requires the Trustees to report to Council Members at its Annual Council Meeting on the Council's financial results, financial forecast and activities, including the work of each workgroup. Its rules provide a number of means by which Council Members can hold the Trustees to account, and the Trustees make themselves available for informal conversations throughout the annual Council weekend, of which the Council Meeting forms part.	The opportunities provided at annual Council weekends are largely restricted to Council Members only (the representatives of the Council's affiliated societies). External stakeholders (other than the Chair of the Ringing World Ltd.) do not generally receive invitations and events are not planned with the interest of external stakeholders and the general public in mind. STRATEGY 27 – ANNUAL COUNCIL WEEKENDS <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Consider making greater use of Open Meetings (at the Council Weekend and at other times) on subjects of interest to both external stakeholders and the ringing community.

7.1.5 The board makes sure it speaks to stakeholders about significant changes to the charity’s services or policies.	Major changes are publicised through President’s Blog and articles in The Ringing World. In 2020 the Trustees and volunteers participated in the Church of England’s Covid Recovery group to ensure the needs of bell ringers were fully understood. In 2021 the Council’s Safeguarding Officers engaged directly with the Church of England’s Safeguarding Training and Development Manager on the implementation of a new training framework within the Church of England and its application to bell ringers. .	A more proactive relationship with leaders of ringing societies would be valuable. STRATEGY 28 – ASSOCIATION LEADERS - Consider establishing a forum for Assn leaders.
7.2 Developing a culture of openness within the charity
7.2.1 The board gets regular reports on the positive and negative feedback and complaints given to the charity. It demonstrates that it learns from mistakes and uses this learning to improve performance and internal decision making.	As a small, volunteer-run charity with no direct beneficiaries the number of complaints is very small. Contact details for all trustees are published on the website and the President (and other trustees) receive feedback direct. “Complaints” where they are received generally relate to disagreement with the Council’s public stance on a specific issue or the conduct of other organisations, rather than defects in the Council’s own services, Feedback is reviewed by the President and passed on to the team concerned or discussed at Trustee meetings.	There is no structured process for assessing feedback received directly by Workgroups, but the number of complaints received by the President and Trustees, who are very accessible, is sufficiently small that formal measures are not considered necessary.

7.2.2 The board makes sure that there is a transparent, well-publicised effective, and timely process for making and handling a complaint, and that any internal or external complaints are handled constructively, impartially and effectively.	Refer to 7.2.1 above.	Refer to Strategy 6 – Social Responsibility
7.2.3 The board keeps a register of interests for trustees and agrees an approach for how these are communicated publicly in line with Principle 3.	The Register of Interests is published on the Council's website and update annually.
7.2.4 If a charity has staff, the trustees agree how to set their remuneration, and they publish their approach.	N/A
7.3 Member engagement
7.3.1 In charities where trustees are appointed by an organisational membership wider than the trustees, the board makes sure that the charity: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • has clear policies on who can be a member of the charity • has clear, accurate and up-to-date membership records • tells members about the charity's work • looks for, values and takes into account members' views on key issues • is clear and open about the ways that members can participate in the charity's governance, including, where applicable, serving on committees or being elected as trustees. 	The criteria for membership in all categories are clearly set out in the Council's constitution. A full list of members is published on the Council's website and updated when changes to representative members are notified to the Secretary. Contact details for all Trustees are shown on the Council's website. Communication to Council Members, is achieved through regular emails, including a fortnightly President's blog.
